DESERET EVENING NEWS.

SATURDAY, - September 28, 1895.

IT LOOKS LIKE NEW.

The Great Tabernacle Undergoing Some Necessary Repairs.

READY FOR THE CONFERENCE.

The Grand Building Made More Handsome—A Pleasant Surprise for Visitors to Salt Lake.

The NEWS has hitherto announced that some changes and improvements were being made at the Tabernacle and about the grounds, but no idea of the magnitude of these repairs has been given. This morning a representative of this paper took a look about the place and was astonished at the amount of work that had been done at the world-famed building.

In the first place, the structure has been thoroughly cleaned from top to bottom and in every nook and corner. Then the ceiling has been whitewashed and the walls re-marbled in blue. The columns supporting the mammoth gallery have also been remarbled in sienna and the large vacant places under the gallery at each side of the stand filled with new seats upon a raised platform, giving a good view from a furthermost corner. Leading to these places, on both sides, new stairways have been put in and additional chairs put into the choir stand to accommodate a larger number of singers. New carpets are being laid on the stands, while new marbled flower vases adorn the pulpit on the south of the stand. A little niche has been placed on each side of the stand, one to accommodate the church reporter and the other for the use of the church recorder. The seating capacity of the tabernacle and home missionary stands has been greatly increased and everything thoroughly repaired and furnished. A door has been cut in the organ at the north side of the organist's alcove, giving thorough access to the inside of the organ without the necessity of a circuitous route around the great instrument. The windows have all got new iron pulleys in them and new sash lines are up. At the south side of the organ great improvement has been made by taking out some pillars and re-casing posts, while the whole of that part has been metallined, giving it a much better appearance than it wore in its days of rough lumber and scanty paint. A new music library has been put in at the north side of the organ.

The seat improvements which have been made will increase the capacity of the great building six or seven hundred. As has been the case for a long time the use of gas as an illuminator has been discontinued and electricity holds sway; but now the globes have been removed from the jets in all parts of the building, they having been the source of much trouble in the matter of cleanliness.

A dive down into the basement disclosed the fact that the old water motors have been retired and two electric motors, one of two-horse and the other of three-horse power, substituted to fill the monster lungs of the great organ. Also it was seen that the closets were attired in neat coats of paint. And again, the heating apparatus has been so improved that much better results can be achieved and a warmer temperature secured when Jack Frost is rollicking on the outside.

Leaving the inside, it was discovered that the walls on the outside had been repainted, while the roof had in places undergone retinning, and over all shone a bright, new coat of paint.

Not only has the Tabernacle itself been repaired, renovated and made a thing of beauty as well as of grandeur, but the lawns, the trees and all the handsome surroundings of the place are continuously going under a course of improvement, as was proved by Gardener Stanley, who allowed the newspaper man his new conservatory in course of construction, the new patches of lawn which have made their appearance this year, and the new flagstone walks being put in around the Temple.

The cost of all these repairs at the Tabernacle this fall are amounting to nearly $7,000 and Conference attenders who have not visited the place since last fall will be agreeably surprised at the improvements made.

It is expected that after Conference a new roof will be put on the Assembly Hall, the present one leaking so badly as to make its removal absolutely necessary.

The old Meridian theatre will doubtless be replaced by a new and neat structure as soon as convenient. Then, with the Brigham Young monument in the southeast corner of the block and a splendid new iron railing around the entire square, the place will be a beauty spot for nature's admirers.

Active, Reliable Men Wanted.

The Contributor company desire to place a copy of their magazine, which is the organ of the Young Men's Mutual Improvement Associations of Zion, in every home in this intermountain country. They therefore advertise for an active, reliable canvasser for each Stake of the Church. Young men now have a chance to earn something, besides doing a worthy labor in placing wholesome and instructive literature in the hands of the young people. Write the Contributor Co. for particulars.

DISTRESSING ACCIDENT.

Ben Haddock Has His Arm Shattered by an Explosion.

A most distressing and unfortunate accident occurred yesterday at the Utah Stone company's quarry, in the vicinity of the Warm Springs, to Ben Haddock, a workman employed at the quarry.

Mr. Haddock was using explosives with which to loosen the rock, when one shot went off prematurely, and shattered the right hand of the unfortunate man into an unshapely mass. He was quickly removed to the St. Mark's hospital, where Dr. Samuel Hughes examined the wounded member, and decided that amputation was necessary. The operation was performed and the man left resting as easily as could be expected.

Mr. Haddock is well known in this city, he being quite a popular member of the Populist party. He is married and has a family depending on him for support, which makes this distressing occurrence all the more pitiful.

A Bad Egg Sign.

A sign like this was seen in front of a green grocery on First South yesterday afternoon: "Fresh chickens inside cheap." There was nothing particularly funny about that, but when noticed in connection with its immediate surroundings its announcement was humorous. The sign stood upon a box of eggs.

No Beets for a Week.

Manager Cutler, of the sugar works came up to the city last evening and stated that for about a week to come the company will not accept any more beets, as a supply suffic ent for about twelve days has been already laid in.

ONE WORD.

Yes, it's only one word, but it comprehends the biggest half of the volume of good living. You're getting home when you mention groceries. The quality of groceries must be above suspicion, so good that it can't be any better. That's the grace of our goods every time, which is something we need not say, for everybody in Salt Lake knows it. One word of advice. Don't tolerate anything less than good living, and make it a rule to secure the best of everything by ordering your supplies from a well equipped store, where only the best can be found and where no adulterated goods are permitted to enter.
