CONGRESS AT WORK.

A Funny Proposition Touching All Official Incomes.

WORSE THAN AN INCOME TAX.

Resolutions Adopted and Appropriations Made by the House.—The New Postoffices.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 5.—In the Senate today Hill, of New York, gave notice that at 2 o'clock next Monday he would submit a few remarks on the pending tariff bill.

Some amusement was created by the introduction of the following resolution by George, of Mississippi:

"Resolved, That in view of the present depressed financial condition of the people, the low price of agricultural and other products, the indebtedness of the people and the increased value of money, the committee of the judiciary be directed to prepare a bill to return by 10 per cent all official salaries and emoluments by the statutes of the United States."

The resolution was referred to accordance with the rule, while some of the members twitted George on his assumed bulldozing at the expense of Mr. George, Senator Gray remarking with more that it was worse than an income tax.

At the request of Senator Hansbrough, of North Dakota, the Senate took up the bill appropriating $100,000 relief for the destitution in the Florida thistle.

At 2 o'clock the tariff bill was laid before the Senate as unfinished business, and the thistle bill went over without action.

Mr. Peffer was recognized, but Mr. Call asked the Senator to yield for a motion to go into executive session. Mr. Call reminded the gentleman that the bill was called and the motion prevailed, and the Senate went into executive session, which lasted until 5:15 p. m., when the Senate adjourned.

THE HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 5.—Dunnell's resolution, calling upon the secretary of war for a statement as to what the government was doing to protect its interests in the Union Pacific Railway, was adopted.

The House went into committee of the whole, and after some general debate by Reed on the subject of the billion dollar Congress, the urgency deficiency bill was taken up. The bill, which carries something over $1,000,000, was passed with one important amendment, providing for the continuation of the work of the census bureau until March 4, 1895, and providing for the publication in a congressional volume of 250 pages of an abstract of all the data procured by the census.

After the deficiency bill was disposed of the consideration of the sundry office appropriation bill was resumed. Only one amendment was adopted—setting aside $30,000 for the establishment of star routes in new postoffices.

Notice to Utah Sheep Owners.

DENVER, April 5.—Governor Waite issues a proclamation forbidding entrance to this state from Utah of all sheep without a clean bill of health. This shuts out 150,000 Utah sheep, and the Colorado sentiment is credited with threatening to maintain the quarantine for ten days, which will ruin the sheep.

THE ELECTION BILL.

Who Were the Murderers of Mike Callahan?

KANSAS CITY, MO., April 5.—Coroner Langdale and a jury examined witnesses today to fix the responsibility for the death of Mike Callahan, killed in Tuesday's election fight.

Patrolman Wilkie testified:

"I saw Callahan fall, and after him Foster. The shot that killed Callahan came from one from the wagon. There were three or four men around the way it, but I only knew Pate."

"Were those men deputies?"

"They were."

"By whom were they commissioned?"

"The Westport crowd by Browning, the others by Miles and Ralph Lozier, sr."

John Fleming was another Miles deputy. He testified:

"I was a county constable, appointed by Billy Miles Monday night to keep the peace."

"Did you know why you were appointed?"

"Don't know, except to keep the peace."

"Did you try to stop any one from shooting while the fight was going on?"

"No."

"Then you were not doing your sworn duty?"

"I was not sworn in to get shot."

None of the witnesses gave a complete account of the affair, and some of the Pryor deputies who were in the thick of the fight, gave little information. Not one of the witnesses admitted he had taken any part in the affair. The evidence was all in at 4 o'clock and the jury retired. In a few minutes they brought in a verdict that Callahan had been killed by unknown parties.

OKLAHOMA SHUTLERS ALARMED.

EL RENO, O. T., April 5.—The settlers in the northwestern part of the territory are becoming alarmed at the aspect of affairs, and in many instances are preparing to flee at a moment's notice.

There is a prevalence that there will be a general outbreak of the various tribes of Indians if the troops do not get them settled soon.

THE INDUSTRIAL ARMY.

General Master Workman Sovereign Knows Not His Views.

DES MOINES, Ia., April 5.—Talking today to Casey's army, General Master Workman Sovereign said: "It is my firm belief that the action of the civil authorities at Allegheny City, Pa., in arresting members of the commonweal, will go far towards scattering the public mind now treating sympathy for Mr. Coxey and his followers. An aggravation on the part of civil authorities that would give time or the followers an apparent just cause for an appeal to the national committee, will rally to his support in less than thirty days as strong a force as the civil authorities of the country can dispose.

"These are indeed trying times for the wage-workers of this country, and my instinct with the workmen on interest four continues the final outcome of the struggle. As but to be skilled with, I have an sympathy with Coxey and Kearney, greater than a common sympathy with every kind of movement intended to arouse the American people to the necessity of reform."

BREAD AND BRASS.

ST. LOUIS, April 5.—General Fry and his industrial army will leave East St. Louis tomorrow and on his way to see the National Capital, near Collinsville. This move is made by order of Chief of Police Walsh of East St. Louis, to rid the city of the army. This evening the men were engaged in cutting a supper of bread and beans in cent.

AT HOMESTEAD.

PITTSBURG, April 5.—At Homestead an order of 500 and the workmen's wages, based by the Homestead Steel Works card, and passed the principal streets on the way to the citizens grounds, where the day was spent and a good picnic, called a meeting was held, which was attended by several thousand people.

Sampler Protests.

NEW YORK, April 5.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, has addressed a letter to Vice-President Stevenson, protesting against the ratification by the Senate of the proposed Chinese treaty.

TESTIMONY IN REBUTTAL.

Further Light Thrown on the Brockbridge Case.

The Visit to the Week-ran Seminary.—"My Dear Sister Louise."—Other Books.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The first witness called in rebuttal was Dr. William A. A. Cowan, superintendent of the Western asylum, Pittsburg, a first cousin of Miss Pollard. He testified that Miss Pollard had been a boarder at his family continuously from August, 1877, to May, 1878, and afterwards visited with his sisters some of the time.

The testimony of Louise Bringhurst was taken first. Miss Pollard was living in 1878 and 1879 five miles from Leaning, Ky.

Mrs. McCleland Bower, wife of the former editor of the Weekly, testified, having a large book, took the stand.

Mr. Carter asked: "Was it possible for a young man to hold a young lady in his lap in that school or an hour and a half in the evening?"

Mr. Shelby objected as objective, and it was sustained.

Mrs. Bower stated that leaves were not permitted to see gentlemen alone, and then not once a week.

When asked to tell what the manner of Mr. Brooks was, she said impressively, as though delivering an oration: "A country gentleman, of honest face, of green habit, and the manner of a pure atmosphere and language, and reverential toward the ladies. He was an admirer of Miss Pollard's intellectual attainments, and anxious for her best development."

"Bright, but not deep," was the description she gave of Miss Pollard's mind over cross-examination.

"You would hardly expect a school girl of that age to be deep. The victory she won was notable," the witness continued, "because of her youth. Her opponents were much older."

Mrs. Louise Lowell was called and, over the objections of the defense, was permitted to tell the substance of a letter to "My Dear Sister Louise."

There was much difficulty in getting the statement in proper form. Finally, when pinned down to telling the substance of the letter, she said: "She spoke of the great disparity between their ages; of his great love for her and I think was the expression that he never knew what the same family at such different ages who loved each other so well. That was the tone of the whole letter, and of other similar letters which followed it.

Tinter, a plump colored woman, of exceedingly dusky hue, with a wealth of flaming orchid flowers in her bonnet, Mary Pollard, to her name, had worked in the house of Mrs. Thomas at 1519 H street last May. Mary did not know the meaning of the word "plaintiff," but did know Miss Pollard, and she knew Colonel Brockinridge, "who visited Miss Pollard there."

"Did you ever see that basket, Mary?" Mr. Carter inquired, handing up the basket, once the property of the Mrs. Brockinridge.

"Oh, yes," was the answer. "Been it thousands of times. That's Miss Pollard's work basket."

Mary proceeded to tell how on a day in May, Colonel Brockinridge had interfered with Miss Pollard.

"Now, Mary, what did Col. Brockinridge say about that?"

"Well the next day he walked into the parlor. He said to me, 'Mary that was an excellent talent one of the nicest lessons I ever have got in all the days of my life.' Miss Pollard said to me that you could take that way all the time, and I wished she would do it. Colonel Brockinridge said to me, 'Mary, I wish she would do it.'"

The colored lad said they were going to housekeeping in the fall. He had taken Miss Pollard and put his arms around her when he called during the month of May. (This was after his marriage to Mrs. Wing.)

Some Sign.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 5.—Despite cuts all of the 3,711 national banks in the country, under the control, have been reserves by the comptroller of the currency.

Mr. Eckles, the comptroller, regards the financial situation, as shown by the bank statements, as quite encouraging. The loans and discounts have materially increased, and the general showing indicates a rapidly increasing confidence and return to normal business activity.

Off for Indian Territory.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 5.—Senator Gorman, Representatives Springer and Wilson, of Indiana, will leave here tomorrow for the Indian territory. Senator Turpie and Senator Harris will go with them, ostensibly for the purpose of investigating the status of the residents of the territory with reference to the question of statehood, and to get the opinion of leading people on the question. The committee will go direct to Muskogee and will be absent about four weeks.

Now is the time to feed cows for winter dairying.

The best opinion among our raisers opposed to the bill to repeal the stamp tax of tobacco, and to place an end to the existence of that well grown industry, which has grown so large, and which has produced so much revenue, and which has given employment to a large number of people, and which has given more freedom and comfort.

Read the from Heath's Dairyman: "Two barrels of a pound of milk are to cheese of which will be from forty-five to fifty pounds, the water and nothing but water. Why not make a little more money on it by feeding it to pigs? Or, if we have the pigs, why not make a little more money by feeding it to them? Or, if we have neither pigs nor money, why not feed it to ourselves, and so be saved the expense of milk and of money?"

Tariff Reform.

Tariff Reform men of the Jersey mode in the Cleveland club have decided that people in the last generation are better and better than their grandfathers were their grandfathers were better than their great-grandfathers. Hit the bill.

A prominent practical statesman of New Jersey declares that in the 19th century the Tariff Reform Democrat has a tariff for revenue, and we are for it, too. Mr. Morton, a Free Trade Democrat, or free trade with 40 cents an acre. He is free and yet wear the cost of a coat of a free. As free trade he calculates that Free Trade will be more closely in accord with our system, in short, make the product to produce the money.

Hell the hell is somewhere burning and necessary so many people it knows not how to get out of it. Keep cool we are not there yet.

Tariff for revenue only.

everything was red. I had a nerve tough and I just knew I could or that I would not live over it half. My little ones came to me and when going to daddy and I would of course fall down. I was in a nervous condition, and I hardly believed I could ever be cured. I read the testimonial of Mrs. Hudson and I said that Drs. Shores & Shores were curing so many people I felt confident I might be cured. I am happy to say I am the happiest woman in Salt Lake City, for my little woman is well and well."

NEARLY KILLED HIM.

Mr. H. A. Arnold, a Leading Contractor of Salt Lake, Gives His Experience—Was Nearly Killed—Spent Over Hire Thirty Thousand Dollars and Left Him Budged—Cured Free.

H. A. Arnold, Contractor and Builder, Residence Central Park.

"Yes," says Mr. Arnold, "I have been treated before while I did not contract search I went to a specialist, who almost killed me by kindness and the delicate thing of my nose with acid. The suffering was horrible, and after that the nerve treatment caused a cause in the left temple. This had to be taken out, another case of suffering. Every doctor made me worse and my nose was a disfigurement under the terrible treatment."

"What were your symptoms when beginning treatment with Drs. Shores & Shores?"

"Well, my nose was always discharging, hawking and spitting, sore throat, a wonderful cough, I was full of cough up QUANTITIES OF BLOOD. I had sharp shooting pains in the chest and shoulder blades, my lungs were always sore. I feared I might die, my digestion was very bad. I experienced a burning sensation in the pit of the stomach that caused me much distress, night sweats, and in fact I was in bad shape.

"I went to a SPECIALIST HERE, WHO ADVERTISES and he told me he would do nothing for me, that my case was incurable, and that I had but two years to live. I went to Drs. Shores & Shores, and I tell my I have been well."

Mr. Arnold is well known in Salt Lake, and his statement will be read with great interest by many friends.
