SIDEWALKS ARE WATERWAYS.

Fifth Avenue Residents Have Cement Walks But Can't Find Them.

Property owners living along Fifth avenue are in a sorry plight. They have cement sidewalks in front of their places, but they can't find them. Mud and water flowed over them after yesterday's little showers and because of the character of grading done by the "American" board of works under the supervision of the city engineer, the mud and water from the streets drained on to the sidewalks.

The grading for the sidewalks presents many unique phases in municipal engineering. Men who are familiar with the necessities of engineering, who have seen the work done in the north bench district, have laughed at the amateurish character of the work. They have declared that a bunch of students in their first year of an engineering course surely must have done the work. Some places where the grade was already steep, the high ends of the sidewalks have been boosted eight or ten inches into the air and at the other end cuts of three and four feet have been made. When these cuts and fills were made, the grade of the streets remained as nature had left them. The consequence is that in many places the streets are from two to three feet and even higher above the sidewalks. The drainage from the hills north of the city is naturally heavy, and the added discomfort from the new condition which diverts all the surface water on to the sidewalks is certainly a thing to make the taxpayer content with "American" methods. He is the happiest man on earth and naturally will vote to retain the men in office who have "improved" his conditions so well.

A NEW SMOKE CONSUMER.

Invention on Exhibition at Lehi Visited by Salt Lakers.

Thomas R. Cutler, general manager of the Utah-Idaho Sugar company, Dr. Booker, the eastern sugar expert, and E. H. Dyer, the sugar factory builder of Cleveland, Ohio, during the week made a visit to Lehi to inspect a new smoke consumer, or as it is called smoke condensing machine, now being exhibited at that place. Some time was passed in watching the experiments and all the party expressed themselves as greatly surprised at the possibilities of the invention.

Mr. Cutler stated to a "News" representative that he saw the smoke fumes entirely consumed and the machine certainly did all that was claimed for it. It is understood that it is being investigated by representatives of smelters and that the inventors claim it will solve the problem of how to dispose of smelter smoke.

According to one of the inventors the smoke condensing machine is a mechanical device and consists of a large iron tank, but it can be made of mason work if necessary. The tank is made in sections and at each section there is a specially made screen. In the bottom of the tank there is a set of revolving perforated coils. The smoke is drawn from the furnace by means of a blower and forced into the revolving coils which are immersed in water and the smoke is then distributed evenly into the water. It then passes upwards and through each of the screens until it arrives at the top where there is a double set of revolving beaters by which every particle of smoke or mineral is threshed out. It does not make any difference what kind of smoke is put into the machine for it is never seen again. The black coal smoke, the thick smoke from zinc shavings or the choking smoke from sulphur all disappear as they pass through the machine only leaving a sediment in the bottom which can be drawn off as the machine is working. The amount of water necessary all depends upon the amount of smoke that passes through the machine. It is thought that a small stream running all the time about the thickness of a lead pencil would take all the smoke from a 100 horsepower boiler and could be used over and over again if necessary. If the machine was used for smelters it would be impossible for any of the smoke or the very finest particles of metal to get away no matter how fine it may be. With the use of this simple machine there is no need of any large volumes of black smokes hanging over large cities, neither is there any need of large smoke stacks for boilers or smelters, as the blower creates the necessary draft. About 20 exhibitions have been given to a large number of persons and all have expressed their satisfaction at the way the machine does its work.

A United States patent has been allowed to the inventors who are T. Yates, J. Devey, W. Richan and W. A. Devey, and foreign patents are under way. A company has also been incorporated under the name of the Utah Smoke and Fume Condensing company, with W. A. Devey secretary.

WANT BIG LAND TRACT.

The Salt Lake Real Estate association received a communication this morning from the governor's office, enclosing the following query from Adolph J. Fugazy & Co., of New York, in a letter dated Oct. 24:

"We have been requested by a number of men composed of professional agriculturists and cattle raisers to find for them a tract of land of about 50,000 acres. If it be possible for the same to be had in your state, kindly let us know and we will forward you full particulars."

Secy. Perkes of the Real Estate association is sending out copies of the New York inquiry to all members, with the idea of having it acted on without delay.

LINGERING COLD.

Withstood Other Treatment But Quickly Cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"Last winter I caught a very severe cold which lingered for weeks," says J. Urquhart, of Zephyr, Ontario. "My cough was very dry and harsh. The local dealer recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and guaranteed it, so I gave it a trial. One small bottle of it cured me. I believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be the best I have ever used." This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

A TIGHTENING OF MONEY

A financial crisis, similar to that through which the country is successfully passing only goes to show how easily and quickly people may become frightened, and how tight time money may become without any perceptible warning.

The new rule recently adopted by the local clearing house to allow but very limited withdrawals of funds on deposits has, in a number of cases, worked a hardship on many who need their money for investment, and who had contemplated the placing of it, where it would yield them a good rate of interest. Now we have a proposition for just such people. If they have 500 or $1,000, or double or treble that amount which they would like to invest we can show them where they can place it immediately so that their money will earn ten per cent on their investment. We have recently built $100,000 worth of fine houses on Ninth Avenue, on the line of the new street car extension and they are for sale for cash or on long time payments. We will accept a man's check for the amount he wishes to invest and which he cannot withdraw at one time from his bank, and can show him how the interest on the money, together with the increasing valuation, will equal ten per cent.

These houses are thoroughly modern in every respect, well built, perfect in location and afford an opportunity for investment rarely offered.

You can see us at 32-34 Main Street, you can see the houses by applying at 458 C Street for the keys.
