ON DECORATION DAY.

Presentation of a Monument to the G. A. R.

BY THE WOMEN'S RELIEF CORPS.

Memorial Services at Mt. Olivet and at Fort Douglas on Wednesday Next.

Decoration Day, the 30th, will be observed this year by memorial services at Mt. Olivet and at the military cemetery at Fort Douglas, and by decorating graves in the city cemetery. The memorial services at the Fort, in honor of the army and navy dead, will be of the usual order, and no doubt will attract a large number of people from the city.

At Mt. Olivet there will be a feature in addition to the usual services of the day. There is in the cemetery a plot for G. A. R. soldiers, and for showing years past the members of the Women's Relief Corps have been engaged in procuring a suitable monument therefor. They now have completed their labors, and the beautiful piece of work has been prepared and is expected to be in place for presentation ceremonies next Wednesday at 11 a.m.

At 10 a.m. street cars will leave East Temple street carrying the Jas. B. McKean and Geo. E. Maxwell posts, G. A. R., Women's Relief Corps and others who wish to engage in the services. The company will proceed to the G. A. R. plot in Mt. Olivet, where the monument will be presented. It is expected that Mrs. Kinney, as president of the Relief Corps, will make the presentation speech, and that Mr. Alff, as commander of Jas. B. McKean post, will deliver the speech of acceptance. The musical services they will be presented with. The oration is to be delivered by Rev. T. C. Iliff, department commander G. A. R.

It was hoped that the militia, or a portion of them, would be able to take part in the services in an organized capacity, but the inability to secure arms and uniforms will prevent this except with Companies A and B, First Infantry regiment, the Denhalter and Norden rifles, which probably will engage, but in what way the matter has not been arranged yet.

FROST IN THE SOUTH.

General Crop Condition Throughout the Territory.

Had it not been for severe winds and the general frost which was felt as far south even as Washington county, the past week would have been an ideal one for crops; as it was, on the whole, it was the best week yet this season.

The week began with a cold rain, which turned to snow in cold localities, extending as far south as Kane county. This was followed by a general frost over the Territory, which, on the 16th, did some damage to potatoes, tomatoes, other tender vines, and to fruit blossoms. The damage was not general, but was confined to exposed localities. The 17th and 18th were also frosty nights.

The latter days of the week were warm, but heavy, drying winds were somewhat unfavorable to crops, and reports about the amount of growth are conflicting. The week closed with a heavy rain, quite general, beginning at night on the 21st.

Crops were refreshed by this rain, and the city all thoroughly soaked; ditch which has been backward should now take a good start. Potatoes are being planted in the northern counties. In the middle counties fall grain is in very good condition; spring grain is somewhat little and unsteady. The Tooele county grain is a foot high. Corn is coming up. Strawberries are ripening. In Utah county, also, they will soon be on the market. Bees are not doing well. The sugar beet crop has not done very well lately. Lucerne is pounding in Millard county. In the south the water supply is getting scarce. Lucerne is being cut in Washington county. Potatoes are in bloom; the general prospect is good.

Salt Lake Temple.

OGDEN.

OGDEN, UTAH, MAY 25, 1894.

More Industrialists.

One hundred and fifty Industrialists who arrived in Ogden day yesterday were well treated by the officers of the city and county. A full supply of meat, bread, potatoes and other necessaries which the inner man craves for were furnished them, and the men enjoyed a meal which has seldom of late come their way.

At four o'clock yesterday afternoon they formed line at the camp and having received permission from the city officials to parade the town, they started on the march. The procession was headed by "General" Smith and the brass band of the regiment, consisting of five brass instruments, a pair of cracked cymbals and a rather discordant snare drum; then came the clay and four racks, dressed in kitchen utility and armed with all the culinary utensils which they possessed. These were followed by the main body of the regiment. The men made a respectable appearance on parade and displayed good military discipline.

On the arrival of the procession at the city hall they were drawn up in line on Washington avenue in front of the building. The "band" discovered a pyramid of regular size, and then Mr. Smith, dressed in regulation suit from top of hose, and an unusual display of shirt front and white silk bow, addressed the citizens who had assembled to the number of about one hundred.

The "general" harangued the assemblage for about fifteen minutes on the alleged iniquities of the present administration at Washington, and a collection was then taken up among the bystanders, after which the retreat to the camps was commenced to the martial strains of "Marching Through Georgia," played by the "band."

The companies here under command of Mr. Smith are B and D, and are styled the Third regiment of the California Industrials. Tony awaited here the arrival of companies A and B, which came in at 10:30 last night and number about one hundred men. These latter companies complete the regiment. The four companies combined, and under the leadership of Mr. Smith, will take up their march towards Salt Lake City this afternoon.

Those in command stated to a NEWS representative on his visit to their camp last night that this will be the last contingent, with the exception of the peregrinating minstrel company known as the "Industrial Minstrels." New "armies" are being organized at present at Oakland and other places in California, but they will not reach the Junction city for probably two months.

Dr. Smith who is head of this division of the army, made an affidavit relating to Mayor Baskin's letter which appeared in yesterday's NEWS. He was engaged as a practicing physician when he joined the army. He is an Englishman, but has taken out his first papers. On these he claims citizenship in the United States—though he is not thereby entitled to it. His affidavit reads:

OGDEN, Utah, May 24, 1894.

TERRITORY OF UTAH, County of Weber. } ss.

I, F. Deming Smith, upon oath say that I am business general of the California Industrial army, and next in command to General Kelly. That I have just heard read the letter of Mayor Baskin to Governor West, dated May 23, 1894, and say that to the most the statements therein published in the Salt Lake Tribune of May 24th are false; that there is no arrangement, to my knowledge, existing between the California Industrial army and the Southern Pacific railway whereby the said railway has agreed to transport the said army, or any part thereof, from California, or any other place to Ogden. I further say that the said railway has, to my knowledge, demanded fare for our transportation, but we rode anyhow and without paying fare. I know that there are 1,500 men of the Industrial army now on the way to this Territory today, between Ogden and California. I further deny that 12,000 Industrials are expected to come from California on the next three months. That I am in command of the rear guard of the army and that there are not to exceed 700 more of the army to come by the way of Ogden, and they are expected here today.

I know what I am talking about, and if there were any arrangement with the Southern Pacific Railway company, as stated, it must have been made through me, and if there were any more men coming I would know it.

F. DEMING SMITH,
Commander of Rear Guard, Army.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 24th day of May, 1894.

C. E. MORRISON,
Notary Public.

CONGRESS PROCEEDINGS.

Senator Mills's Resolution Notify Hawaii.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—Senator Mills's Hawaiian resolution was considered for half an hour in the Senate today. He asked for a vote. Gray moved to substitute the resolution reported from the committee on foreign relations. The discussion continued until the hour for the consideration of the tariff bill arrived. Harris insisted upon the regular order. He asked unanimous consent that the resolutions be voted on without debate tomorrow morning. Turpie objected. Frye then asked that they be considered again tomorrow. George objected. Then followed a clash between Hoar and Harris. Hoar said it was the universal sentiment of the country that there be no interference by the United States with the domestic affairs of Hawaii.

Mr. Morgan, chairman of the foreign relations committee, fully endorsed what Hoar said. The latter was proceeding to say he hoped Morgan's endorsement of his statement would echo around the world, when Harris declared that the tariff bill was before the Senate and further discussion was out of order.

Hoar protested vigorously against the "angry and opprobrious language."

"Harris retorted that he owed less courtesy to the senator from Massachusetts than any other."

"If the senator from Tennessee was any one courtesy," jobbed Hoar, "he would not pay one thousandth million on the dollar."

This closed the fracas.
