DESERET EVENING NEWS.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1895.

FIRE AT WATERLOO.

Two Beautiful Homes Destroyed, Entailing a Loss of $6,000.

Waterloo addition was the scene of a disastrous conflagration last evening, which destroyed two of the pretty homes with which that locality is dotted, entailing a loss of about $5,000.

The fire broke out at midnight in the house of Mr. U. E. Hudson, the insurance man, and was first discovered by Mr. Hudson as he ascended the stairway into the attic of his house to investigate the cause of a crackling sound which had attracted his attention. There he found the upper floor in flames, and after quietly satisfying the sleeping occupants of the house as to the danger they were in, all hands turned their attention to the work of removing the furniture.

In the meantime a passerby had noticed the flames, and rushing over to the patrol house, an alarm was turned in to the fire department. The flames spread with lightning rapidity, and are long had spread to an unoccupied house owned by Ed. W. Duncan, of the National bank of the Republic.

Shortly after, Chief Devine arrived with the hose wagon, but as there were no fire hydrants in the vicinity, nothing could be done. Then the steamer was sent for, but by the time it arrived and was in operation both houses had been reduced to ashes, which, with the bare walls, was all that remained of what had been an hour before two beautiful houses.

Quite a portion of Mr. Hudson's furniture was destroyed, the loss on that being estimated at $1,000, while the destroyed buildings were valued at about $3,000. Both houses were owned by insurance, Mr. Hudson having $3,500 on his.

The cause of the fire was a defective flue, which had been overheated by a fire lighted in the parlor during the evening.

UTAH GILSONITE DEPOSITS.

Secretary Hoke Smith Anxious to Prevent Them Falling Into the Hands of a "Ring."

Washington special dispatch to the New York World under date of the 14th inst.: Secretary Hoke Smith has decided that the enormously valuable gilsonite and asphalt deposits on the Uncompahgre and Uintah Agencies, in eastern Utah, shall not fall into the hands of the gilsonite ring, whose operations were recently disclosed in the World. Learning through the World, that these deposits, worth many millions of dollars, were liable to be monopolized by a few men whose headquarters are in New York and St. Louis, Secretary Smith sent word yesterday to Director Walcott, of the geological survey, that he wanted a reliable and competent geologist to investigate the mineral deposits of the reservation.

Director Walcott suggested Prof. George H. Eldridge, of the survey, who was acutly thereafter summoned to an interview with Secretary Smith. As a result of the interview Prof. Eldredge will start tomorrow for Utah, to begin an investigation. He anticipates no serious obstacles.

Gilsonite is worth about $120 a ton. It is the purest known form of asphaltum, and is used extensively for making mineral paint, insulators for electric wire, coating for pipes, non-boiling paint for ships' bottoms and a score of other important industrial products. The richest asphaltic deposits lie in eighteen townships, extending about fifty miles along the eastern border of Utah. There is no railroad through this section of the Territory, but one has been projected.

AFTER INDEMNITY.

James Donnelly Returns from Honduras—A Slow Process.

Last February the United States warship Montgomery, Captain Davis, was sent to Honduras to investigate the murder of a citizen of this country named Benton, father-in-law to Mr. James Donnelly, a real estate dealer of this city. The inquiry resulted in obtaining the facts as follows:

In 1887 Mr. Benton, a New York merchant, went with his family to Honduras, settling on the east coast near Brewer's lagoon. A large tract of land was ceded to Mr. Benton, title to which was to be given by the government of Honduras after five years, provided the conditions as to cultivation were complied with by Mr. Benton. Shortly after Mr. Benton settled on this tract a company of Spaniards commenced operations at the lagoon in the mahogany business, assuming the name of the Brewer's West and Profiro company, between whom and Mr. Benton some difficulty later arose. On the morning of March 16, 1894, six members of the Spanish company visited Mr. Benton's plantation, called that gentleman out and shot him dead in his own dooryard and in the presence of his wife and children, afterwards driving the family from their house on pain of death. The widow reached the coast and immediately set out for New York, where Mr. Benton had a brother residing. The United States government was notified of the crime and made a demand on the government of Honduras for a thorough investigation. A pretended inquiry was made but it was not until the Montgomery backed up our government's demands that the real facts were discovered and the guilty parties apprehended. One of the assassins turned state evidence and is now held aboard the Montgomery as a witness, while the remaining five are in prison at Tegucigalpa, the capital of Honduras, awaiting trial.

The value of the Benton estate is fixed at $35,000 and the suit for damages includes the sum of $25,000 for the death of Mr. Benton. Heirs are three heirs, the widow of the murdered man, Mrs. Donnelly and the brother who resides in New York. In order to comply with the laws of Honduras it was necessary for the heirs to make application as I described through the courts, and it was for this purpose that Mr. Donnelley went to that country. The evidence is conclusive and Mr. Donnelley has no doubt but that the indemnity will in time be paid.

From Darkness Into Light.

SWEET GUM, Tenn., Oct. 15, 1895.

To the Editor:

Feeling somewhat inclined by the spirit of truth which I have received, I desire to write a letter for publication that the world may know, and more especially the Elders who may read it, that the good seed is being sown, and that some at least has fallen in good ground and is bringing forth fruit unto righteousness. And now the one topic upon which I will write about is "from darkness onto light," or my experience from or out of materialism into the glorious light of the true Gospel of Jesus Christ, as taught authentically.

I have from my youth been religiously inclined, and have for a number of years stood identified with the Christian church, commonly called the Cumberlite church, and I still believe that this to be right, I believed them to be apostolic in origin, in teaching, and in practice; and how I lived so long in that church and did not discover my mistake I know not unless it was that no one had been sent with a message of divine truth to me. I was perfectly contented and happy, although I felt that there was yet something lacking; for I could compare our doctrine with the Bible and there find that we taught faith, repentance and baptism by immersion, just like the Apostles did, and that was as far as we went. But I thank my heavenly Father that the glorious Gospel light has shown into my heart, and I thank Him for and praise the day I saw a Mormon Elder.

I have heard of the Mormons nearly all my life; have heard of them being killed, and of being tarred and feathered, and driven about and thought that was all right. But I am now ready to admit that they were the true messengers of truth.

About two years ago two Mormon Elders came to our county, and they stayed all night with one of my neighbors. The next morning my neighbor came over and stated that there was a couple of preachers at his house and that they wanted to preach in our church house. I asked what kind of preachers. Said he, "Mormons." I objected at first, but afterwards consented, for that night they preached, and right then and there I received a more spark of light that showed me just where I stood. I afterward invited them to my house. They gave me some tracts to read, after which I read the Voice of Warning, then Orson Pratt's works, which fully convinced me that they were indeed and in truth men of God with a message of life and salvation.

On the 2nd day of June, 1895, my self and wife, with three others, went down into the water and were baptized by one having authority, and I say I feel happy. The more spark of light which that day shone upon my vision has grown brighter and brighter, and my knowledge of divine truth grows stronger and stronger, and I trust will continue to grow more bright until the perfect day. Before I became a Latter-day Saint, I investigated the doctrine taught by them and compared it with the Bible, and I found everything in complete harmony with the Bible, and I say boldly now that there is not a man in this wide world that can attack Mormonism (as called) and come out successfully. When they overthrow the teachings of the Latter-day Saints, they will have to do it with some other book besides the Bible; for when Jesus Christ said these signs should follow them that believe, He did not place any limit whatever upon this promise. Bethlehem says these signs shall only follow those that believed under those ancient Apostles. And when Paul says "And God hath set some in the Church, first Apostles, secondarily Prophets, thirdly Teachers, after that miracles, then gifts of healings, helps, governments, diversities of tongues?" and again, Ephesians iv, 11, "And He gave some Apostles, and some Prophets, and some Evangelists, and some pastors and teachers;" and then tells us plainly for what purpose they were placed there, and how long they should last—when man comes along and tells us these things are all done away, that there is no further need of them, and when an humble Elder comes along and teaches the Gospel as taught anciently, they cry out: "false teachers, deceivers." And I thank God that some of the people are beginning to see the benefits of the true Gospel, and are being well nigh persuaded.

I believe the Gospel of Jesus Christ will accomplish that for which it was sent, and none can prevent it. I expect persecutions, for it foretold me so, but all will only strengthen my faith, and I feel that the more I am persecuted, the stronger I grow, and I feel in sympathies with those who speak against it for I know they are fighting against God. May God's blessings attend all the honest in heart is my prayer. W. J. HOBBS.

ANOTHER RAMBLER DAY.

The Rambler boys made a great showing in the Ogden races. The first event of the day was the ten mile road race, in which McCombey finished third, taking third prize and third time prize. The race around the track race, Jim Beck taking second in the mile, Fowler first, Weller second, and Thatcher third in the half mile scratch, class B, all "Ramblers" you will think, in the half mile class A, Mc-Combey second, Cornell third. Half mile, class B, Thatcher second, Fowler third. Five mile, class B, Fowler second. In this race a mix in a yellow cap got the head and fell, Cornelbear and Weller being immediately behind him, the result was a spill for these parties and the race lost to Evans. The five mile, class A, was another Rambler event, May taking first, Joe Beck second and McCombey third. Fourteen prizes in one day is glory enough for any one.

Prizes are what each and people may say.
And then they level if they please,
But Rambler's who are Rambler are they go,
Guarantees of now others two.

Moral—Buy a Rambler. Ride a Winner and you'll be happy.
