

Good Investment. Among the roads building in Wyom-ing and atfracting no little attention is the Laramie, Hahn's Peak and Pacific, being constructed between Laramie and Encampment in southern Wyoming-----distance of 100 miles, Vast areas of copper, coal and gold fields, and tracts of fimber, agricultural and stock-rais-ing districts now isolated from a trunk line and thus deprived of transporta-tion facilities, are watching progress of work eagerly. A connection with the Union Pacific is made at Laramie. Thirty miles of the main line is com-pleted. Sale of common stock before bonds issued paid for seven miles of this construction besides a great deal of other work. Bonds are to be issued at $3,000 per mile as construction pro-gresses. The common stock has been on the Exchange Place curb for agents present. H. M. Cushing, traveling passenger agent for the Rio Grande, cas re-turned from a three weeks' visit in Nevada and parts of Utah. He visited Ely, Tonopah, Goldfield and other camps, returning through Carson and Virginia City. To get from Goldfield down to Builfrog, Mr. Cushing trav-eled up to Reno, out to Los Angeles, and from that point back to Las Vegas, and north to Builfrog. This long trip to cover a short distance was made to escape the blizzard which struck Goldfield a week ago.

on the Exchange Place curb for some brought out at $1.25 per share, but adbrought out at $1.25 per share, but ad-vanced 50 cents per share almost im-mediately upon appearing. Several days ago Isaac Van Horn, the fiscal agent, was reported to have made an attempt to hold the stock down to $1.25 per share after announcing the company's plans, but could not keep it below $1.75 per share. It has been strong around $2 recently. Conservative estimates say the road will handle approximately 35 cars of freight per day during the first year of its existence and doublt this amount every day during the second year. DENSE WINTER FOG.

City Shrouded in Mantle of Mist This Morning.

IN THE HOUSE. The big fight over the consolidation of the University and Agricultural col-lege begins to loom up. Pederson today introduced two measures into the house. prescribing the courses to be taught in both institutions, which are duplicates of measures introduced in the senate yesterday by Bullen. The idea is to de-fer the real question by compelling con-siderationtion of other measures relat-ing to the same subject. To effect con-solidation, the state constitution must be amended, and the fact that it will require a two-thirds vote of both houses to submit such an amendment to the people gives the "antis" hope that no action will be had on the question dur-ing the present session. Bishop Clawson Relates Old-Time Experiences at Regular Meeting

One of the most interesting meetings of the Daughters of Utah Pioneers was held yesterday at the Lion House, where Bishop H. B. Clawson, one of Utah's most prominent pioneers, stood Utan's most prominent pioneers, stood before a large assemblage of members and visitors and related reminiscences of his early days, beginning with the first days of Mormon dramatic history, in which he took first part, and includ-ing incidents of his association with Joseph Smith in Nauvoo days and memories of the tragic events which made that place forever historic in the minds of his followers

The invitations for the old-fash-ioned ball on Jan. 31, were submitted and details of the affair discussed. A study meeting of the society will be held in two weeks, in which the his-tory of the discovery and colonization of America will be treated in lectures by members and a general study out-line. The society is entering on a new sphere of usefulness in these studies and all eligible daughters are cordial-ly invited to enroll themselves for the benefits of a study of the struggles of the country's ploneers as well as the country's ploneers as well as the Utah ancestors.

It will be a comparatively easy matter for them to prevent a vote owing to the short time left to this session and the big amount of necessary legislation that is pending. Of course if Mr. Smoot's friends are sure that he has a majority of the senate on his side, they may permit a vote, but not other-wise. Apparently there is nothing to prevent his case being continued to the end of his term." When the attention of Senator Smoot was called to it this afternoon, he said: "We want a vote, and are ready at any time. There will be several senators to be heard on my side of the case, and I understand Senator Dillingham will be the next one to address the senate, but he will not speak before next week.
