While jealously contending for absolute political freedom, and taking no steps backward from the ground assumed in 1893, we must exercise all the rights to which we claim for ourselves. We must and we do in any circumstances act loyally and without the slightest hesitation. For our part we may come to do injustice to others, and during the heat of a political campaign it is not easy for men to act with calmness and follow fair right. Nevertheless, should guide our course. Live and let live, should be our motto. The old wounds are healing, and every man's one our game in all the affairs of life.

This campaign should be fought upon principle. Private character should not be assailed. Neighbors should not become enemies. Hypocrisy of purpose should be exclaimed wherever and whenever it may good. We all want that state which is the best for the people.

We submit these views. We are confident that our cause is just and that our principles will bear investigation. Thus believing, we appeal to the people of Utah to support our candidates and our party.

That Tired Feeling

Makes you seem "all broken up" when not ill, sickness, energy or appetite. It is often the forerunner of serious illness, or the accompaniment of severe troubles. It is a positive proof of thin, weak, impure blood; for, if the blood is thick, red, vitalized and vigorous, it supports life and energy to every nerve, organ and tissue of the body. The necessity of taking Hood's Sarsaparilla for that tired feeling is therefore apparent to every one, and the benefit it will do you is equally beyond question.

An Understanding on the County Bond Deal is Not Yet Reached.

WAITING FOR THE ATTORNEY

To Rule on the Thing Through—County Commissioners Have a Talk With Junius F. Wells.

The county commissioners and Mr. Junius F. Wells wrestled with the deal on the county bonds with Parson, Leach & Co., of Chicago, this afternoon.

In the contract with the Chicago people the date of delivery of the bonds was stated as September 15th. Upon request of County Attorney Williamson a request was sent to Parson, Leach & Co. asking that the words "on or about" be inserted in the contract before the date, September 15 th.

Under date of August 12 the board papers state that the matter will be held in temporary abeyance. Last week Chairman Geddes telegraphed to Parson, Leach & Co., stating that a reply according to the request of the county must be received by 2 o'clock today, otherwise the bonds would be re-advertised.

Commissioner Roberts demanded to know on our own authority the chairman sent that telegram which, it seemed to him, abrogated the board.

Mr. Wells stated that he thought a readvertisement of the bonds would involve the county in considerable trouble, as his firm had not yet signified any intention to repudiate the contract and would hold the county to its promise to deliver the bonds on September 15. Mr. Wells was also sorry to learn that any action had been taken to the bond deal without consulting with him, as he was the accredited agent of the firm buying the bonds and as such action should have been had without his knowledge.

The communication from Parson, Leach & Co. was read pending the arrival of the county attorney who had not yet put in an appearance at the time the News report closed.

A Lost Child.

A seven-year-old girl who says her name is Mary Ann Malsets, nicknamed Page, was picked up on the street today and taken to the police station. Wood Pulp Moldings.

The use of wood fiber or pulp in the shape of moldings, says The Upholsterer, is now made peculiarly available for some of the article processes to furniture manufacture. For this purpose the required powder are designed and hollow molds made after them—that is, the wood fiber, while in a soft, gelatinous condition, is forced into these molds and the moisture then slowly driven out by compressed air, while the molds of a size nothing but the finished article are in the solution can be readily turned out in single pieces and are completed without further manipulation except to trim and finish off the surface. So peculiarly adapted is this method to the art in question that delicate scrolls, flowers and all conventional patterns carved out of solid wood for furniture and molds are this satisfactorily and rapidly produced. With a little glue these ornamental pieces are fixed securely in the desired position and already perfectly resemble the finest specimens of carved wood work.

Dandruff and Baldness.

Against baldness and the appearance of dandruff is believed to be preferable to magnolia, as it does not become oily. It is recommended that applications be made by means of a paddle or brush, the substance then to be distributed by means of a stiff brush. Thoroughness of application is insisted upon, and the materials are believed to be very useful for the purposes claimed. The dandruff is somewhat the stronger of the two.

Nervous Prostration

Complete Recovery by the Use of

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"Some years ago, as a result of the close attention to business, my health failed. I became weak, nervous, was unable to look after my interests, and manifested all the symptoms of a decline. I took three bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, began to improve at once, and gradually recovered my weight from one hundred and twenty-five to one hundred pounds. Since then, I and my family have used this medicine when needed, and we are all in the best of health, a fact which we attribute to Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I believe my children would have been fatherless today but it was here for Ayer's Sarsaparilla, of which proposition I cannot say too much."—R. O. Hasser, Postmaster and Painter, Rixford, N. C.

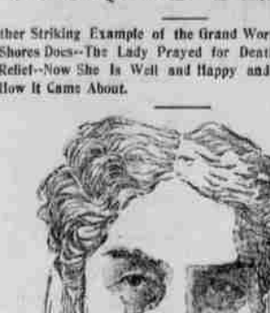
COURTED DEATH.

Another Striking Example of the Grand Work That Dr. G. W. Shores Does—The Lady Prayed for Death to Come to Her Relief—Now She Is Well and Happy and Tells the World How It Came About.



Dr. G. W. Shores—As I have been reading some of your testimonials, I wish to add mine. I was taken with neuralgia in the head, which I could not forget for three years. I have suffered with dyspepsia and constipation. I have tried many other physicians and used patent medicines until I could not look at any more. Then I was sent to different hospitals, but every time I came to my home I was worse than when I left. Finally I was given up, pronounced a hopeless case. It seemed to my friends, and that is what I wanted my relatives, which grew worse and worse, accompanied by whole crowds. Five years ago I commenced to improve, and my condition became so bad that death could not come fast enough to relieve me. I prayed for death to come until death came to my relief, and I would have been glad if death had come.

One day my daughter spoke of Dr. G. W. Shores, and I wrote to him personally, and received the special free advice, and other concerning chronic diseases, and one could hardly believe that so much good could be done in so short a time. All my old aches and pains are gone, and I am a new woman. I would not suffer such pain and misery for a thousand times what it costs me for treatment, and especially a woman who suffer as I have suffered, and whose life is a burden to them, to write to Dr. G. W. Shores and find out what ailments they have. I am an old lady and am not so spry as when I was young. But I can do all my own housework, by the very good help I get from the Shores treatment. I am 72 years of age, and I have no language to express my heartfelt thanks to Dr. G. W. Shores, for the blessed relief I have received from his treatment. If any one doubts my testimony I will write or call on me I shall be pleased to all questions and answers the truth of the above.
