OGDEN.

OGDEN, UTAH, APRIL 16, 1895.

Walk Around the World.

This evening Mrs. Zoe Clayton, the women pedestrian, will leave for Portland, Oregon, from which place she will start to walk around the world in eighteen months. She starts April 17th, along the Oregon Short line to Ogden, following the Union Pacific and using the C. R. & Q. to Chicago, the Michigan Central and New York Central to New York; across the Atlantic to Liverpool by steamer, walk to Dover and cross the English Channel. Will then pass through France, Italy and Austria; through Egypt and Arabia; from Bombay to Calcutta, India, and from China to Hong Kong; take steamer to British Columbia, and thence to Portland, Oregon. She is backed by J. B. Church, of San Francisco, in the sum of $10,000, against $5,000 of Olympia club money.

Notes.

Officers from Denver passed through this city the week, having in charge James L. Lansing alias Bob Stewart, and one Cameron. They are wanted at the instance of Detective Moore, of Denver. They were captured at Pocatello.

David O. Allen, aged 21, and Emma Louisa Bates, aged 17, both of Hooperville, obtained a license to marry.

LOGAN.

LOGAN, UTAH, APRIL 16, 1895.

"Temple City" Sales and News.

Several parties are prospecting for coal near Paradise, with, it is reported, fair outside indications.

There is a fair prospect of a compromise in the Dobson case, and that publication may soon be resumed.

President Elias S. Kimball, of the Southern mission, paid a brief visit to his mountain home during the latter part of last week.

The Sunday afternoon meetings in the various wards have been discontinued, and meetings of all the wards have been resumed in the Tabernacle.

The Y. M. M. I. A. entertainment at Wellsville on Saturday night, was not a financial success. The conference on Sunday was well attended though, and many valuable instructions were given.

A fine of $50 each was imposed on the four young men from Providence who were found guilty of killing fish by the use of giant powder. An appeal was taken and bonds given.

An old gentleman who was paying more attention to objects on the side of the street than to the road on which he was traveling, was thrown from his buggy by a collision with an electric light pole on Saturday. The shafts of the buggy were broken and the old gentleman's head was bruised.

The meeting of the Logan wheel club for the election of officers resulted in the election of George F. Thatcher, president, C. L. Montgomery, vice president, and Captain and R. E. Smith, secretary and treasurer. A fine club room has been rented and is being furnished. Bicycling is more popular than ever.

A bolt dropped out of one of the shafts of a buggy, allowing it to fall down on the horse's legs, and caused a runaway. Wm. Bingham Jr., the driver, fell between the buggy box and wheel and was dragged for some distance. His left ear was torn nearly off and he was badly bruised. His companion, Jacob West, was thrown out on his head when the vehicle ran against a telephone pole, and was nearly stunned.

The Palace Hotel was sold at Sheriff's sale last Saturday as the property of the Meridian Block Co., at the suit of Kathrine Nelson. The lady bid in the property, which is worth at a moderate estimate $25,000 for $9,400. The trouble has been that the original builder and subsequent owners were too heavily involved at the start, and it took a fair income to pay interest on the debt. If properly managed there is no doubt it would be a paying investment, as the building is a fine three-story brick with all modern improvements.

It was a matter of much regret to the members of the delegates from Cache county on the occasion of the visit of the Convention to Logan on Saturday last, that through a manner the representatives of the Salt Lake papers were excluded from the hall in which the banquet was held, and were therefore unable to report the speeches made by Governor West, Delegate Sigstee and Prof. Paul. Mr. Sigstee presented the College with a numerous group picture of the delegates and made a speech eulogistic of the college. The governor's speech was also highly complimentary of that institution and the rapid progress that had been made. Ample apologies were tendered to and accepted by the newspaper men, for the unfortunate affair that had been caused, nevertheless, and they adjourned to the Dancing hall, as the guests of Prof. Kerr, of the B. Y. College.

FOR NICHOLAS.

TO WHOM DO WE ADDRESS THE CZAR ON THE SUBJECT.

Affairs at Russia are reminded of an amusing incident of an English lady and related by that clever journalist, Aurelian Scott.

Czar Nicholas, returning from paying an early visit to one of his daughters, noticed at the door of a hovel a young man with a pipe in his mouth. Nicholas went and tweaked the ear of the man.

"You are a foreigner, sir," he asked.

"Yes, general," was the reply, "I have just arrived from Paris."

"Then you are aware that smoking in the streets of St. Petersburg is forbidden. I will give you not your ignorance get you into trouble."

"Thanks, general." And the Parisian threw away his pipe.

But if smoking was not allowed neither was it permitted to address the emperor, and shortly had the latter passed out of sight when the police officer approached the traveler, and he was soon on his way to the station, where he remained until in the evening in the society of the thieves and criminals who had been arrested for previous night.

When he expostulated questioned him he told his story; how an officer in general's uniform had spoken to and advised him to throw away his pipe, and that he had done so.

"And you didn't know who the general was?"

"I don't know."

The officer let the Frenchman at liberty and made his report to the chief of the local police. The latter, thinking the adventure might have some unpleasant political consequence—that the Frenchman might lodge a complaint with his ambassador and that he (the chief) might be blamed for the sense of his subordinate—decided to inform the emperor of what had happened.

His majesty seemed amused. "Yes, said the traveler," he crowed, "I was a fine little joke, particularly for me, given for the college to which he has been engaged."

When an officer in uniform came in his hotel the poor Frenchman had indeed "Nicholas" began to regret silently having pitched to his desire to visit "the capital of the north." He was only restored to his usual cheerfulness by which Nicholas explained to him the cause of his unpleasant adventure.

"Don't tell this story anywhere," added the emperor, "and if you remain any time in Russia I will give me pleasure to prove to you that we are not as uncivilized as we may seem to be."

"Since your majesty is so kind," appeal the traveler, "may I make one request?"

"What is it?"

"That if your majesty should meet an agent you would kindly not mention it."—Merry Calendar.
