LOCAL BRIEFS.

Soldiers Dance—The enlisted men at Fort Douglas will give a dance at the Post tomorrow evening.

To Meet at Jamestown—The next conference of the "500 America First" league will be held at Jamestown, Va., next June.

School Inspection—State Supt. A. C. Nelson is inspecting the Sandy schools today, and both he and President Kingsbury will address the teachers.

M. S. Ascheim Dying—It is reported from Germany that M. S. Ascheim, for years the head of the Ascheim-McIntire company of Park City, is dying in Berlin from cancer.

The Poor Conductors—Street car conductors are ordered to forswear sweaters and woolen shirts, and appear in white shirts and collars. They must also keep brooms in their cars and see that the cars are swept and kept clean.

No Counterfeiting—It is not generally known, but the United States secret service has a watchful agent in this city, who keeps his eyes on all places where there is a likelihood of there being any "queer" work done; and he reports this locality as free from any counterfeiting.

Car Smashed—A street car smashed into a Royal Laundry wagon last evening, at Third South and Second East streets, partly demolishing the wagon, and pitching the driver, into the street. The horse was not hurt, and the car escaped with broken vestibule windows.

Burns Are Serious—Miss Clara Jennings, the young woman so severely burned in the Council rooming house early Tuesday morning, is not recovering as fast as was expected. Her burns are more serious than was at first known. She has caught cold in the wounds and complications are likely to set in. Several weeks will be required for her complete recovery.

Utah Sculptor—Karl Cummings, a Salt Lake boy who has been studying and practicing his profession as a sculptor for the last 16 years in San Francisco, has just completed his second model of a bronze statue of Robert Burns, to be erected in Golden Gate park. The first plaster cast was destroyed by the earthquake. Mr. Cummings is being congratulated by his friends.

Greek Is Released—Frank Karacousis, the Greek who shot Charles Rose near Birmingham Junction and has been detained in the county jail since last Tuesday, was released on bail yesterday afternoon by Judge Diehl. The sum given was $400 dollars. Rose it will be remembered, was shot by the defendant as he was seen entering the latter's tent. The ball lodged in his stomach, and from the effects of which he died soon after.

Good Jobs Offered—There will be a civil service examination in this city Dec. 12, for the position of veterinary inspector, with the bureau of animal industry, with salary at $1,200. There are 50 vacancies to be filled, and only 21 eligibles were secured at the October examination. There will be a civil service examination on Dec. 15, for the position of wheelwright, at $720 per annum, at the Utah and Carriage agency.

Ogden Plume Frozen—Electric service in the city was in a bad way last evening, because of the freezing of the plume on the Ogden cable. It was unfortunate, as the accident came during the rush hours of the evening and the company had to start up its emergency plant, and cut off most of the street lamps that the power might be used in the car service. However, at 9:30 the lamps were lighted again as the rush on the cars was over.

Literary Club Meeting—The Watch Literary club held an unusually good meeting last evening, in the Westminster Methodist chapel, where Miss Ethel Paul, president of the Ladies' Literary Club, read an interesting paper on "James Barrie." Mrs. John Reed of Des Moines, Iowa, who gave several readings, and there were musical numbers in which Miss Eleanor Proutt and Miss Rowena Koros took part.

Coloradoans Happy—Colorado visitors to this city remark more or less continually on the big Republican victory in Colorado, not so much from a mere party standpoint, as because of the satisfaction taken by so many Colorado people in the complete rout of Senator Thomas M. Patterson. They report his having antagonized the larger share of his own party by his arrogance, and that the fight in the state was rather against Patterson than for him. The senator has subsided, and is for the present taking to the woods to recuperate.

Tax Collections—The tax collections made by County Treasurer Carls this year up to date amount to the total sum of $1,304,541.51. During the remainder of this week the treasurer will accept payments of taxes, but this will be the last opportunity to pay before the delinquency list is made up. Work on the delinquent list will commence on Monday and will have to be advertised by the first Monday in December. Those who have not paid their taxes by the end of this week will have their property advertised as delinquent.

Gem State Potato—Haley M. Rhoades of Denver, special field agent of the department of agriculture, is a guest at the hotel, with the photograph of a Twin Falls, Ida., potato weighing five pounds and 15 inches in length. The tuber Mr. Rhoades sent to Secy. Wilson, as a specimen of what the Gem state could do in the potato line. He reports good crops in Utah, Idaho and Colorado. Mr. Rhoades enjoys the distinction of having served four years in the army as a private, and he takes pleasure in telling people that he enlisted as a private and was mustered out after four years as a private, and any man who doubts him colonel, does so at the peril of his mortal existence.

TROUBLE MAKERS RECEIVE SET BACK

Musser - Smurthwaite "Case" Against President Smith Has Been Dismissed.

WAS THROWN OUT OF COURT.

Plaintiffs Defeated at Every Turn—Knocked Out on Demurrer Three Times—Refuse to Pay Costs.

Judge Morse yesterday afternoon dismissed the case of Don Carlos W. Musser and Charles A. Smurthwaite against Joseph F. Smith, trustee-in-trust of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, upon motion of Judge C. S. Zane, who represented the plaintiffs. Judge Zane had intended appealing the case to the supreme court, but the plaintiffs refused to put up the necessary costs of the appeal so he asked that it be dismissed. It is quite likely that the action of yesterday will end the case as the plaintiffs have been defeated at every turn and had their complaints knocked out of court on demurrer three times. Twice they filed amended complaints only to have them put out of court in the same manner. When the demurrer to the third complaint was sustained by Judge Morse several weeks ago Judge Zane decided to appeal to the supreme court, but as the plaintiffs failed to put up the costs he asked that the case be dismissed and such action was taken by the court.

THE ACTION BROUGHT.
The action was brought to compel an accounting from President Smith of all the tithing fund received by him from the members of the church, and also of all property bequeathed to the church by deceased members. The plaintiffs also asked for a restraining order to prevent the defendant from investing the funds of the church in commercial enterprises. It was alleged by plaintiffs that the funds handled by President Smith amounted to at least $1,000,000 annually and that $500,000 of that amount was invested in commercial enterprises.

DEMURRER SUSTAINED.
Hon. F. S. Richards appeared for defendant in the case and interposed demurrers to the three complaints. The arguments on the demurrers were quite extensive and occupied several days. At the conclusion of the arguments each time the court sustained the demurrer of defendant and thus the latter was victorious. The case has been pending in the district court for more than a year and has attracted a great deal of attention.

FISHING IN BELGIUM.

Judge McNally Says Industry Has Become Quite Important.

The fishing industry in Belgium has become quite important in the last few years, writes Consul J. C. McNally, of Liege, formerly of Salt Lake. Formerly the people of the interior rarely had an opportunity to taste fresh sea fish. Now, with the telephone and telegraphic communication and the rapid means of transportation in cars, especially arranged for the purpose by the state railways, fish is not only distributed throughout Belgium, but is sent into Germany, Holland, France, and interior countries. There are at present 250 fishing boats at Ostend, 132 at La Panne, 61 at Heyst, and 49 at Blankenberge. The 1906 yield amounted to nearly $1,500,000. Ostend, the largest port, is rapidly developing, and the Ostend oyster can now be procured in most of all the large European centers. Mussels, lobsters, shrimps, and prawns are sold in great quantities yearly, and the trade in shellfish is greatly increasing.

LECTURE THIS EVENING.

Count Lochwitzky, Russian Exile, to Deliver Address.

Count Lochwitzky, the Russian nobleman and formerly one of the chief officials of the Russian war office, will lecture this evening, in the First Congregational church. He was exiled to the island of Sakhalin for life, 10 years ago, because of his connection with the Russian spy, and came near being lynched by a mob. He, however, once more escaped, and returned to Russia, where he became an instructor in the local Y. M. C. A. But as the count was a member of the Russian army, he fled to the United States and made his home in San Francisco. Russian emigrants are now flocking to the United States, and he has been in the country for some time. He has been through his sickness. The next attempt was assassination by the firing at him of a bullet through his window, missing his head by an inch. For the last two years Count Lochwitzky has been lecturing at a colony of 300 Russian refugees who have sought an asylum in this country from persecution at home, as adherents of the Greek church, and will secure a place for them in old Mexico. Tonight's lecture is under the auspices of the State University.

SCHOOL LECTURE BY DR. MERRITT

Instructive Address on the Administrative Features of Work.

SEPARATION OF CLASSES.

Each should Have Its Own Apartment To Avoid Confusion—Storm and Lack of Cars Affected Attendance.

The storm and the inactivity of the street cars early last evening, were the cause of a rather light attendance on the Sunday school lecture given in the Phillips Congregational church. Dr. Merritt, the lecturing field secretary, is a very interesting talker, and his lecture last evening, on the administrative features of Sunday school work, was so instructive that though the church was cold, the audience gladly sat there until after a o'clock listening. The speaker said it was not advisable to have an entire school in one room together, where the classes adjoined each other, as many of the pupils would be attracted to what was going on near by or in other parts of the room. Each class should have its own apartment, and if this was not practicable, movable screens should be provided, which would secure the desired privacy. The primary classes should be by themselves, as their exercises are entirely inappropriate for the older pupils, and the exercises of the older pupils are inappropriate for them. When pupils are absent, the teacher should either visit them in person after school is over, or send a committee from the class to find out. If a teacher is absent, it would be well for members of the class to call at her house and see if she is sick, or what the trouble may be. Then, the superintendent should have the records of the classes kept up in advance, and do nothing haphazard. Above all, he should not ask the school what hymns should be sung, but he should expect to find the hymns the congregation wanted to sing.

BIBLICAL CHRONOLOGY.

The lecturer drew a chart on the blackboard, illustrating the different cycles of Biblical chronology, stating that back of Solomon's time, chronology became rather an indeterminate quantity. It is impossible, he said, to accept now the Usher chronology of the Bible, which places the birth of Adam at 4004 B. C., seeing that scholars have in their libraries documents known to have been written 6,000 years before the Christian era. But from Solomon's time on, the chronology given is reasonably accurate. The chart showed Abraham as the center of time between Adam and Christ, with Noah half-way between Adam and Abraham, and Solomon half-way between Abraham and Christ. It was shown as a curious coincidence that the time between the exodus of the Israelites and the Christian era was the same as the discovery of America. A paper containing 25 questions as to the duties of a Sunday school teacher was read on the basis of the evening's discussions, and in response to a suggestion that some of the wall hanging illustrations of the Bible stories be changed, Dr. Merritt stated he regretted to say the criticism was not feasible.

The meeting for this evening will be held at Murray, where the local Methodist and Baptist churches will unite for the occasion.

KELLEY MAKING GOOD.

Former Salt Lake Teller of Hardships Encountered by Reservation Settlers.

S. J. Kelley, formerly a Salt Lake who is now a farmer on the Uintah Indian reservation, arrived from his "shanty" yesterday. Mr. Kelley is the holder of claim number 23 and is very enthusiastic over the prospects. He relates many interesting tales of the hardships which the settlers are now undergoing. While the majority are experiencing trouble none have signified their intention of giving up and getting out of the district. All have their houses and barns built. Many have used the natural granite in the building of these. The winter season will be spent in the construction of irrigation ditches and headgates. One project will cost more than $25,000 to build and will water 10,000 acres of the best land in the district. The bottom lands are easily watered and the crops which were once a loss of water and mud only tend to show in a small degree the vast possibilities that the reservation offers.

The bench lands have not yet been tried in every state in the Union. There are farmers are planning to get water on at least some of their land by next season. The discovery of water and the farms are in close touch with the flow so that the district will make itself known within a few years. All are anxious to have the arrival of the Moffatt road through the district, when a large and thriving metropolis will spring up. Theodore is a booming, busy little distribution center. The leading agent here is A. H. Hardock, formerly of Heber City. Mr. Hardock has opened a store and is extending the settlers credit at long chances. None of the winter money will be needed. All expect a cold winter but are ready for it and it will not be hampered in any way.
