HIS LAST.

A Letter from Elder Rosa Written Before His Death in Palestine.

The many friends of Elder Adolf Haag, who recently died in Palestine, will be interested in the following extracts from a letter addressed to his sister, September 16th, only two weeks before his death. The letter is written in German:

"Dear Brother—I am almost too weak to write a letter, but since I have not written to you for over a month, I will endeavor to send you a few words. Two weeks ago, soon after my arrival, I became quite ill. I have a strong fever. Only last night I thought I was about to be consumed. My temperature is often 105 deg. Fahrenheit. My heart is also affected, and yet some time I have been so much that it seems to be a contest between life and death. Oh, how tired I am! Thoroughly exhausted to be called to me. Brother Maurer has already written to President Young and it is probable that I shall again return to Salt Lake. The best is always the best.

"I would like to relate something about my journey from Constantinople to this place, but I dare not tax my strength too much. I will however say something in order that you can form an idea of the great interest connected with my journey. We first stopped in Smyrna, the most celebrated and greatest city history of the world. From there we went to Greece, where we saw the beautiful Athens. That is something magnificent—ruins and temples of Jupiter, Diana and Minerva, the amphitheatre, etc. Those ruins are in the city, which increases very in her beauty is situated lower. What a history is unfolded before you when you stand among these ruins!

"From there we went to Alexandria in Egypt. There also it is beautiful. Our journey was continued to Cairo, and the three pyramids. In the desert we met camels. What we saw in the pyramids is indescribable. It is indeed more than an enigma.

"From this place we went to Jaffa and further on a little coast boat on the Race course to Port Said, where we again entered on Jaffa. Here I took the stage to Haifa and our next object is to reach Jerusalem.

"I must now close, I am so tired. During the last two weeks I have become so thin that you can have an idea of how I look. I can only hope for something better to come. Your ADOLF."

IN POLITICAL CIRCLES.

What Local Parties and Partisans are Doing.

The question now is—What are the Republicans going to do?

***

The Liberal convention for this county will meet on Monday next in the Tabernacle, if it can be obtained.

***

The candidates for county clerk eye yesterday don't seem to experience some inner knowledge from their source Friday.

***

The people will now think that men are the only effective stump orators in the country, and the ladies will have to be satisfied with a quiet talk.

***

"The Republicans are going to sold for my party," he said to Sam on the street now, to which Sight he added, "and they are not likely to make mistakes of being made twice."

***

An eastern paper says the stump-tail will soon be a memory; a sport of the orbit of every political stockjobber and stump speaker. Some journeyed late talk would be a much appreciated luxury.

***

A correspondent of the Standard is regulated enough to call into New Orleans on personal business only. It is a well demonstrated fact that the lady can speak for herself as well as for others.

***

"This is the third time in succession I have been turned down and every time in favor of a carpet-bagger," said one of the Democratic possibilities who arrived a little too late for the nomination train yesterday. He didn't seem to mind it much, however.

***

The Liberals in Weber met yesterday and went through the farce of nominating a full county ticket. There are some prominent men out of each on the ticket, but of course they have no idea that they will come within gunshot of being elected.—Standard.

Jarman is Irrepressible.

The unprincipled lecturer Jarman has been repeating again some of his obnoxious utterances about the Tabernacle Saints, in the Horsley-fine Baptist Chapel in London. To show what respectable people think of his vicious attacks upon an innocent people, we quote the opinion of one of the reporters of the Northern Light. Having attended the lecture, he gives it a reserved unexceptionable notice, pronouncing it disgraceful, and closes with this remark: "There is only one class who might be present on Monday night who would be worth meeting with any adventure—we refer to the police."—Millennial Star.

The Dog Fed Arsenic.

The dogs of Paris are getting good deal of trouble to the police as well as their owners, who worship more for their pounds of their sight for they should be protected upon and taken of Avila Fourteen to be fed on arsenic. There can be no question that in the very hot weather they may constitute a certain nuisance. It appears, however, from all that is said on the subject, that the more polite regulations concerning dogs are rather neglected of late. Our newspapers being frequent enough upon between dog owners and the police. The other day, for instance, an almost rabies would occurred in Paris, the cause of which was a dog. The animal was noticed by a policeman to be crazed to be without the ingredients muzzle, and was at once "arrested." If the arrest proceeding be used.

A woman claimed the animal as her property in possession of a record of an people. The article took such a lively turn that the police officers were compelled to draw their sword bayonets in their own defense. The upshot of the matter was that one of the officers was rather severely injured, and that had it not been for the assistance of a party of gendarmes on the street it is possible there would have been other fatalities. In the course of the affair the dog lost original name of St. Leopold.—London Herald.
