Geo. Wood, chief deputy in the city treasurer's, office is again at his desk, after a week's vacation in Portland.

The Orpheus club begins its fall practise this evening in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium, and is planning for a fine season of recitals.

The Commercial club has been presented by the passenger department of the New York Central with a large photo of the noted electrical engine, No. 6,000.

Contractor A. E. Shaw is pushing the excavation for the new Masonic building, as he has other important jobs in view, and quick work here is advisable.

The Country club directors propose to begin work landscaping the club's new home next week, so as to have all the work done by the opening of another season.

Orson Burrell, a Cache county farmer, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, giving his liabilities at $1,229, and his assets at $1,615, of the latter $780 being exempt from attachment.

United States Marshal Ben Heywood has recalled his force of deputies from Uintah. They were sent out to be ready for any emergency during the registration for lands on the reservation.

The matter of establishing bathing facilities at Lagoon by another season, is already being seriously considered by Senator Bamberger, and it is believed that he will see his way clear to carry out the scheme.

The long delayed postoffice boxes for the new Federal building have arrived from Connecticut, and are being put into position. When this is done, the building will be ready for occupancy. The sidewalk on the north side is completed.

The Utah Light & Railway company management has ordered trolley standards for the South Temple street extension to Tenth East, and they will be on the ground as soon as the street is ready for them. The company's engineers are arranging for the readjustment of the wires.

Commander J. W. Reed of the Geo. R. Maxwell Post of the G. A. R., has returned from Denver where he went to attend the national encampment. While there, he met his brother for the first time in 20 years. He also met the "Rebel" army soldier who took him prisoner near Chattanooga.

Teachers are still in demand for the county schools, despite the fact that the opening date has arrived. The unfilled positions only number two, however, and are both in one county. State Superintendent Nelson announces that applications for the positions will still be received if filed at once.

J. B. Wilkins of this city has been appointed supreme commander of the Knights of the Maccabees for Utah, southern Idaho and western Wyoming. Mr. Wilkins has been prominent in affairs of the order for the last nine years, and for three years has been keeper of the records of Utonian Tent No. 12, Salt Lake.

Major A. L. Thomas, Jr., had a narrow escape from death the other day. While at the mill up Big Cottonwood, his clothing caught on the projecting set screw of a shaft collar, and in an instant the major went flying around that shaft. But fortunately for him, his clothing tore loose, and he fell to the floor, more frightened that hurt. The machinery was quickly stopped in response to his cries.

William Holmes, a foreman in charge of repair work on the Second South street pavement, was yesterday afternoon run down by a buggy driven by a small colored boy employed at McCoy's livery stable. He was at work measuring a space to be repaired when struck by the buggy. The wheels passed over him after knocking him down, but he was not injured seriously enough to compel him to cease his work.

Ray C. Naylor yesterday afternoon filed on water for his new Uintah farm, and contrary to the custom followed by those who have preceded him in filing on water, he has requested only enough for the farm. Instead of a flow amounting to most of a riverfull, he asks for three second feet, which will make a comfortable irrigating ditch full of water. It is to be diverted from the Green river by a channel 13,200 feet long.

John Fielding of 328 west Sixth North street was thrown from a street car at West Temple and First North streets last night, and suffered concussion of the brain and a badly cut scalp. The car men carried Fielding to Dr. Wight's residence near by, whence he was removed to the Keogh-Wright hospital. Fielding was standing, so it is said, on the rear platform close by the step, and the car in rounding the curve threw him into the street.

Mrs. L. E. Bailey, national organizer of the W. C. T. U., spoke on Sunday on the temperance question, in the Christian church, and was listened to by a good audience. Fred George Washington, a colored man, raised a disturbance on Franklin avenue last night and threatened to do some carving with a razor he carried. Officer John Corless and Tom Milner went to the avenue and laid in wait for the negro. When the latter put in an appearance the officers seized him. The fellow struggled and during the fight Corless received a severe cut on the hand. Milner received a slight wound. The negro was disarmed, handcuffed, taken to jail and a charge of assault with a deadly weapon lodged against him.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Pioneer Stake Union Meeting Converted Into Enjoyable Reunion.

The Pioneer stake Sunday School union meeting, held last night in the stake hall on Fifth South street, resolved itself into an enjoyable social, greatly appreciated by the large body of Sunday school workers in attendance. As specially invited guests there were present President Anthon H. Lund and Elders William A. Morton and Horace S. Ensign of the general board, while the exercises were conducted by Supt. James N. Lambert, who filled the place with becoming dignity. After singing, prayer was offered by President Lund, who invoked heavenly favor on the new building and the people of the Pioneer stake. Then there was a beautiful selection by the Nelson quartet, remarks by Stake President William McLachlan; solo, Miss Mabel Cooper; remarks, President Lund; remarks, with songs in English and Japanese, Horace S. Ensign; remarks, William A. Morton; selection, Nelson quartet; benediction, Elder Charles H. Hyde. At the close of the program the members of the stake board, assisted by young ladies from the different Sunday schools, served ice cream and cake to all present, while the building was closely scrutinized and greatly admired by the immense throng.

A DAY OF OPENINGS.

Thousands of Women Turn Out to View The Beauties of Fall Millinery.

There was an outburst of millinery yesterday.

That the different stores held their openings on the same day was merely a coincident.

However, it proved advantageous. More interest was aroused; more women turned out.

And so it transpired that Monday was a great day; the streets were filled with hurrying, happy-hearted femininity; the stores thronged.

Women were in ecstasy, smiling, palavering and indulging in a profusion of adjectives.

It was a succession of "dreams," a series of "masterpieces," a maze of "creations," unfolding their splendor to delighted eyes.

Wreathed in smiles and giving vent to expressions of enthusiasm, women toyed with pattern hats, trying on this and that example, all the while lingering in the presence of their mirrored reflection.

It was the model husband who braved the bewilderments of fall fashions and accompanied his wife on the rounds. At last they wore at Keith-O'Brien's—where millinery reigns supreme. His wife was radiant; he was woe-begone. His wife saw visions of loveliness; with hands dug deeply into his trousers pockets he foresaw inevitable panic getting ready to sweep down upon the unprepared. She dallied with the newest conceptions; he failed utterly to arouse himself to an appreciation of the glories of a successful millinery opening.

Greatest interest centered at this store. Through its doors the people went and came, until the numbers reached into the thousands. The store was hustling. The millinery department was exquisitely decorated in palms and the turning leaves of autumn. The hats were enchantingly displayed, the whole affording a picture of exceeding beauty. There were hats from Paris, from New York, and marvels from its own workrooms—hats galore.
