A Water Heater Explodes with Serious Results.—Board of Education.—Protest Against the Bidlen Petition, Etc.

(Sanpete Standard.)

Frank Middleton, son of C. P. Middleton and an old employe of the Rio Grande Western, yesterday sustained serious, though not necessarily fatal, injuries, through the explosion of a heater hot water heater in a day coach. The injuries include a scalp wound, broken left leg and a scalded eye. It is not likely that he will lose his eye. The heater had become out of shape and the car was sent to the shops for repairs. Yesterday morning a fire had been started in the heater and everything was found to be working favorably. By an ingenious device the pop valve is so adjusted that when the steam and water pressure attained sixty pounds or more, the valve raises and the surplus escapes. The valve did not work very satisfactorily and Middleton mounted a ladder which had been placed against the cars and was adjusting the rebellious pop. Suddenly there was a report which equaled that of a cannon. The force of the explosion was sufficient to hit Middleton ten feet into the air and cast him fifteen feet from the car into the net work of tracks. He had struck a rail, making a deep wound three inches long and the ladder fell across his legs, breaking both the lower bones in the left member. An extra engine was sent to the depot and Dr. Armstrong was not long in reaching the bedside of the injured man. After making a thorough examination he pronounced the injuries far from fatal. The only explanation that can be given of the explosion is that Middleton in screwing down the pop interfered with the valve causing the pressure to become too great. The corner of the car was blown off and the heater was a complete wreck.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Ogden State bank it was shown that the capital stock of the bank consists of 1,500 shares of $100 each. About 1100 shares were voted. The board of directors chosen was as follows: H. C. Bigelow, John A. Beck, John Scrowcroft, E. R. Boggs, Thomas W. Jones, M. N. Graves, A. J. Warner, N. M. Lund, Terrance and H. Dunnett, Jr., of Boston. The cashier's report showed in round numbers, cash means $9,000, deposits $193,000 and loans and discounts $210,000. The business of the bank has gradually gained throughout the year, resulting in an increase of $50,000 in deposits over 1891.

The board of education last night again had up for discussion the vacant lot behind the Grand avenue building notice and again adjourned without accomplishing the desired results. The contractors have not increased their force of workmen and are proceeding in the usual slow manner. Unless some radical move is made by them by Monday looking to the immediate completion of the building, the board will use peremptory orders to the architect to complete the work at the expense of the board, the contractors and their bondsmen to be held responsible for any deficit there may be in the fund set aside for the completion of the building.

Yesterday was law and motion day in the Fourth district court before Judge Miner and no jury cases were called for trial. Tee divorce case of Winnie Baker vs. A. A. Baker, so long before the court, was decided, a decree of divorce being granted the plaintiff, the grounds being desertion, failure to provide and adultery. Baker was only released from the penitentiary in December, having served out a sentence for adultery with a woman of the town. Since his release he has not been in Ogden. The wife is almost a girl.

Since Mr. H. C. Gilbert has assumed the management of the Ogden Gas, Light & Fuel company he has decided to make a reduction in the cost of electric lighting in this city. He proposes to do wiring for the parties engaging the light at cost, thereby assuring them of cheaper wiring and decreased cost of lights. He makes the announcement this morning that the work is being done to increase the use of lights, placing them within reach of all classes.

A rare piece of work was brought to the Weber County Woman's Fair needing Saturday by some of the wide-awake ladies of North Ogden under the leadership of their president, Mrs. H. C. Wallace. The work was done by Mrs. Alfred Barrett and shows most wonderful skill in design and patient perseverance in every detail of execution. It is designed for pillow shams and done in lovely shades of silk on cream white cashmere.

Ogden's justice-loving citizens will enter a vigorous protest on Monday night against the pardon of Malachi Dillon, the murderer of Mitchell. Over 250 prominent persons have signed the call for the meeting, which will be called to order promptly at 8 o'clock in the district court room. The purpose of the meeting is to formulate a memorial to the governor, protesting against the granting of executive clemency to the murderer.

Ogden amusement goers have never been favored with so grand a musical treat as they will be on about the first or second Friday night in February, when Manager Perry succeeds in booking the noted Salt Lake Choral Society to appear in our opera house in their most magnificent of late musical productions, "The Light of Asia."

The placer gold discoveries in Cottonwood canyon, a feeder of the Weber, give every indication of being extremely rich. The gentlemen who made the discoveries have just completed their assessment work and have taken out almost all the gold necessary to work the mine. They are very reticent regarding the mines.

The city authorities were notified by K. W. Harris & Company yesterday that $48,267, the proceeds of the sale of the sewer issue of bonds, had been placed to the credit of the city in the Chicago bank and can be drawn at any time. In addition to the amount stated the city has received $7,500 on the sale.

The interest being taken in the coming meeting in Ogden of the Trans-Mississippi Congress and Cattlemen's association is something almost phenomenal. Secretary Armstrong of the cattlemen's congress, is daily deluged with letters of inquiry.

Prof. John H. Wigmore, who has been law professor at the Imperial university of Tokio, Japan, arrived in Ogden yesterday morning on his way to Boston and went west at 9 o'clock over the Union Pacific.

The preliminary examination of sports arrested for prize fighting at Lake Point December 31 came up before Judge Green. The case is attracting considerable attention.

Last night the new Post of the Grand Army of the Republic was installed at the city hall with thirty charter members.

"AARON BURR."

Mr. Charles Ellis Gave an Entertaining Lecture Upon that Subject.

The speaker entered upon his subject promptly on time and said "I am here to rescue a man upon whose grave obloquy has been piled for fifty-seven years. Be kind enough to manifest neither praise nor blame until I have concluded." Then followed a sketch of Burr's life from cradle to grave. The sentence followed the speaker with marked attention throughout. The closing sentences of the lecture were a panoramic picture worthy of preservation. Speaking of the charges against Burr on the ground of his amours, Mr. Ellis said that when he was a boy, and seven after Burr's death, in 1836, the men of New York published a book filled with obscene pictures and lewd stories of Burr's adventures, and much of the obloquy heaped on him was due to that book, which carried adventures of the man in places where he was never seen. As an offset to these charges Mr. Ellis said that while he admitted that Burr was an immoral man, there was one prominent trait in his character that redeemed him. It was his limitless love for his daughter, Theodosia, and her only child. And the speaker:

"Love of husband and wife, however pure at first, becomes soiled with passion. The rust of the world coarsely is fixed in the black mire at the bottom of the lake. The slender stem rises through the water to the surface, spreads out there in broad flat leaves, in the center of which opens the white petals of the flower with heart of gold and breath of heaven. The passions of men and women are the soil out of which is born the white lily of life. Every hole is a blossom of love. Theodosia Burr was such a blossom. Her father wore it on his heart for high sixty years, and I tell you that no man who lavishes the unimpassioned love of a passionate body upon his child can be at heart a bad man. He may be weak, vain, unwise, erratic and an inimitable fool, as Burr called himself, but he cannot be wholly bad, and such a man has merits that are worth rescuing from the oblivion of opprobrium."

At the close of the lecture the audience manifested its feeling in hearty applause.

Miss Clarabel Hodges was introduced and sang with fine taste "Let Me Dream Again," being recalled, and "My Heart's One Thought" with equal effect. Mr. Samuel Spry was heartily applauded for his song "Alice, Where Art Thou?"

Mr. Ellis announced that the lecture of next Sunday night would be by Mr. John M. Zane, subject.—"Daniel Webster." He said Mrs. Lizzie Thomas-Edwards would sing, and he had hoped that the Spanish Mandolin and Guitar club would be present in honor of Mr. Zane.

THE COURTS RUNNING.

James Ireing vs. the York Mining company. Leave given to file answer to supplemental complaint today.

BEFORE JUDGE BARTCH.

This morning Judge Bartch resumed work on the county calendar, but nothing of importance transpired.

In the divorce case of Alice C. Malquist vs. John T. Malquist, tried on Friday, and in which his honor on Friday granted the prayer of the petitioner, the findings were presented today and argued by counsel.

In the case the judge found that Malquist, the respondent, possessed no property, but that he was in receipt of $75 per month as wages, further that he was committed adultery with Josanna Jackson. He allowed the petitioner $15 per month permanent alimony, and granted, as long after $100 as attorney's fee, in addition to the $50 previously entered.

Lorenzine Dahlquist vs. Louisa Dahlquist. This was a suit to quiet title. The defendant's witnesses not being present, it was understood that the decree should be suspended for thirty days, so as to enable him to put in any evidence he might see fit, in the meantime. The evidence for the plaintiff closed except as to rebuttal testimony.

Louis H. Adams vs. Thos. J. Lemon et al; suit for $[illegible]. Judgment granted for $[illegible] and attorney's fee of $[illegible] allowed.

H. L. Myrick vs. L. L. Myrick. This case was continued for the term.

GOLD ON EVERY BAR.

That is the Story told by Mr. Wyman, Regarding the Colorado River Finds.

The following reporter has been received from Green River:

"The members of the New York Sun expedition for the San Juan placers, have returned to Green River. They are discreetly silent regarding the San Juan, but bubble over with enthusiasm when mention is made of the Colorado river placers, and the Henry mountain region. They have personally examined every bar in the Colorado for forty miles below Dandy Crossing. Their tales of gold galore rival the wildest reports sent out from San Juan. Said Mr. Cy Warman:

"After the disclosures of Burgelin on the San Juan, we travel with no very sweet to the Colorado river. There the ray of hope broke into the glorious sunlight of reality. We found gold, real gold on every bar. We panned now on one side of the river, now on the other; small bars and large bars, all rich. We found capitalists there, too, earnestly examining every prospect through spectacles and telescopes, the actuality of their finds was only sickening one of them. You could see it in their every gesture. Our eyes. There will be big activity on the Colorado this spring. A consolidation of many of the minor claims has been made, plans matured and results almost in sight. Regarding the Henry mountains I can only say that never in my experience have I been so favorably impressed with a new camp. She's all right. There is some snow in the mountains, but we had stores of prospectors well supplied, bound for a piece of the wealth. They get it too. There is only one route and that's via Green river."

PROVO LETTER.

Street Railway Sold—Manager Cutler of the Woolen Mills.

(Special Correspondence of the News.)

PROVO, Jan. 21.—The rolling stock of the Provo City Railway Co., consisting of one flat car, two passenger horse cars, two open scarsies, one closed coach and one motor, and the engine house were sold today to R. H. Thurman for $127.50, for the payment of taxes. The total amount of taxes, city and county—amount to $4,[illegible], but as the company agrees to settle the balance, the road bed was not sold. As the rolling stock is considered as personal property, it cannot be redeemed for the price of purchase, if Mr. Thurman chooses to retain possession. It has been stated that Mr. Thurman bought in the property in behalf of the company, but this the gentleman denies, claiming that he made the bids for himself.

A. Y. M. M. I. A. conference of the associations of the southern circuit of Utah Stake will be held at Payson on Sunday. A concert will be given by the young people at the Payson Opera house.

J. C. Cutler of Salt Lake City, who has been general agent of the Provo Woolen mills, has been appointed manager, and will expend a portion of his time in this city. Goods will be consigned directly from this city instead of Salt Lake as heretofore. Superintendent Underhill will continue to look after the operation of the mills.

It is stated on good authority that the Provo postoffice is to be removed to the Reed Smoot block. The inspector was in the city and made examinations as to location, building, etc., several weeks ago.

A marriage license has been issued to John D. Chibis, aged 21, and Mary Goodmansen, aged 20, both of Springville.

S. S. Jones has returned from Cache Valley, where he has been listening to the Sunday school cause in connection with Elder John Crawford of Brigham City.

L. M. Langer, of Denver, was in the city yesterday making inquiries concerning the onyx claims in the vicinity of this city. His object was to secure some onyx specimens for the new Brown Palace Hotel of Denver. He went on to Salt Lake, but will return next week.

An excellent dramatic recital was given at the new Baptist church last night by Miss Rosa Naunus and others.

The mercury drops below zero nightly.

LOGAN LETTER.

The Fearful Explosion of Giant Powder at Richmond.—An Unexpected Assignment.—Other News.

The giant powder explosion at Richmond on Friday last was a very serious affair. The men were blasting gravel out of a bank, for the purpose of hauling it for use on the roads. The powder was frozen, and Benjamin Jones and James Kerr were standing by the fire thawing it out. The men had a stick in each hand, and lying close to the fire were six other sticks of powder. It is supposed that a cap was left fastened in the end of one of the sticks, and that it was ignited by the flame from the fire. The explosion was not only heard but felt at a distance of two miles. Lewis was blown over the twelve foot gravel bank, and Kerr was hurled in the opposite direction, alighting about two rods from where he started. Kerr was not quite dead when those who had witnessed the accident rushed to his assistance, but both his hands had been blown off, one leg was broken so badly that it was almost hanging by a piece of the skin, the knee of the other leg was crushed, and his face was a shapeless mass. Lewis was in much the same condition. Both his hands had been blown off, and his face was cut to pieces.

He lived until early on Saturday morning. Thomas Keeler, Fred Bailey and Elandor Pearl, who were standing about two rods from the fire when the explosion occurred, were blown about two rods, and were badly cut and bruised. Keeler was suffering severely on Saturday. The clothing was nearly torn from all the men. A little boy, son of Charles Walton, whose house is about twenty rods distant from the spot where the fire was located, was standing within two rods of the place when the explosion occurred. He was picked up and thrown over a fence, but was neither cut nor bruised badly. The house itself was nearly wrecked and Mrs. Walton was thrown down by the force of the explosion. Lewis had a wife and two children.

The firemen's ball at Hyrum was both a social and financial success. The hall was well filled and the music excellent.

Messrs. R. C. Easton, F. H. Cutler, Lieut. Myer and wife and Miss Clara Kenyon are among the members of the amateur dramatic club recently organized here for the purpose of producing the Two Orphans. They will probably perform here during the Stake conference.

Thaddeus Buxton, an insane young man, created a disturbance at a dance in Smithfield, and was committed to the county jail for five days. A petition was presented at the last session of the county court, from residents of several of the settlements, asking the court to take care of Buxton, as he was reputed to be dangerous, and whenever it was known that he was in a settlement the women were afraid to venture out of doors. He will most likely be sent to Provo.

Mrs. Eldredge was arrested some time since and was bound over to appear against her husband, Nathan Eldredge, who was charged with unlawful cohabitation. The lady admitted the marriage, but claimed they had been separated since the promulgation of the manifesto. Her husband was arrested in Ogden last week and gave bonds before Commissioner Bishop.

Nephi Johnson, who was arrested about two weeks ago for fornication and was put under bonds, has been re-arrested, this time for assault with a deadly weapon. Mina Hanson, the girl he ruined, claims that in the first place he accomplished his purpose by threatening her with instant death if she refused to comply with his vile wishes. She alleges that he threatened her with an open knife. He will have a hearing today before Commissioner Goodwin.

On Friday morning W. N. Thomas made an assignment to A. G. Barber. It was a surprise to everybody, as Mr. Thomas was reputed to be wealthy. But it not been for the present stringent condition of the money market he would have pulled through all right. The property placed in the hands of the assignee far exceeds in value the gross amount of the liabilities. There was only one preferred creditor—the Thatcher Brothers' Banking Co., for $1000. The names of the various creditors and the amounts due them are not named in the assignment.

LOGAN, Jan. 23.

IN ST. OLAF'S LAND.

A Correspondence from Missionaries in Aalesund, Norway.

Editor Deseret News:

Perhaps it would be of some interest to the readers of the News to hear from one in this far off land, Norway, who is laboring for the cause of truth and righteousness, publishing the tidings of glad joy.

It seems as if there were almost no desire to investigate the Gospel among the people. They say they have the word of the Lord in the Bible, and that is all they want. Therefore, all we can do is to preach the Gospel as a witness unto them.

After conference Brother Erickson and myself were appointed to labor and open up a new field in Aalesund, where the Gospel has not been preached for about thirty years. We arrived in Aalesund on the 24th of December and got accommodations at an inn. Next day we viewed the city. Aalesund is built on the tops of the mountains so one can see far out at sea. It has a population of about 9,000. It is surrounded by its fish produce and is one of the largest fish shipping ports in Norway. No farms are to be seen in this vicinity; only rocky mountains and some shrubbery. Sunday, the 25th of December, in the evening, we attended church. The ministers and people got into a discussion about certain passages in the Bible, the result of which was a very unpleasant feeling against those present. We asked permission to say a few words and were granted to do so. Brother Erickson then quoted the 5th and 7th verses of the 2nd chapter of the Galatians and bore his testimony that the Gospel which Paul preached was on the earth again. The meeting dismissed, people came and thanked us and so did the minister. Questions were then asked where we came from and it was soon found out that the Mormons had come to town and some one published a piece warning the people of Aalesund against us.

The eighth article of our Articles of Faith was published with the comment that we smuggled our doctrine in people privately behind we came out in full light. This caused a bad feeling against us. We were warned by the police not to preach. We were to be cast out and heard. A rumor was circulated that we were going to hold a meeting on the evening of the 1st of November, so men and boys had prepared themselves to break up our meeting and mob us. A policeman came and asked us if we were going to hold meeting. We answered in the negative, and tried to find out his intentions but did not succeed. In the evening another man came and asked us the same question. We began to think that something was wrong. However, we entertained our visitor and explained the principles of the Gospel to him. He got uneasy very soon and went out. Then all at once a war yell was heard and a shower of rocks came against the house. The rabble then rushed up the stairs and threw out their spoils. Over fifty men and boys rushed into our room. I arose and addressed them, explaining to them the principles we taught, and told them if they intended to convince us that we were in error, to do so in a Christian way, with love and good will and the Bible for our guide, but not with violence.

Brother Erickson gave them good counsel and answered questions satisfactory to them. The mild influence of the spirit then overcome their wrath, so they did not molest us. One of the mob told us after the others had gone that the disturbance was agitated by those professed teachers of Christianity.

It seems as if the adversary were doing all in his power to hinder us from spreading the truth in this place.

We feel grateful to our heavenly Father for His mercies towards us and we have seen He has manifested in our behalf in treating us and opening up a way for us to work for Him more fervently, for there must be more fervent in heart, or the opposition would not be nothing against us. We hope for the best that a way will yet be opened up for us so we can hold meetings so that the people can hear the Gospel or peace and good will to all that we have to proclaim.

We are all well and extend our regards to all friends at home. Your Brethren in the Gospel.

J. S. JOHNSON,
JAMES ERICKSON,

AALESUND, Nov. 3, 1892.

What's in a Name.

A rose by any other name would smell as sweet. A cold rolled and sheared horse nail is still as dangerous when moon rolling as hot forged and hammer pointed.

Look at your horse nails. If they show the marks of the shears on the edges near the point, avoid them—they are cold rolled and sheared.

The Putnam Nail is the ONLY hot forged and hammer pointed nail made by machinery in existence. It is drawn from the best Swedish iron rods at a welding heat by the action of hammers alone, polished by the water process and hammer polished, thus following the old hand process.

Thus a perfect oneness of the metal is secured and a tougher, better nail results.

There are no shear marks on its edges, for it is not SHEARED but HAMMER POINTED.

At a quarter of a pound to shoe a horse, its use costs but one cent on each horse shod. Insist on its use and pay the cent. 3d&9
