THE ex-SENATOR INGALLS.

The article which has Created Much Comment.

HAMILTON, March 6.—An article signed by the New York Truth by ex-Senator Ingalls which has created much comment, is in substance as follows:

The usual shriek about our defenseless coasts, and the bombardment of our towns, Philadelphia and Boston has been uttered. The yearly pamphlet has been issued. The blood-curdling lurid and appalling consequences of a war with Chili and Spain in 1895 have been set by each senator and representative in Congress. Editorial estimates in the metropolitan press of the amount of property within reach of an enemy's cruiser in the lower bay and Sound, and the losses that could be exhorted by the merchants and bankers have been calculated, and filed away for use in 1892. Their purpose is to scare the people to the passage of a naval appropriation bill, and to the support and profligate expenditure of money for ships, fortifications and munitions of war.

The majority of the United States is very lazy in an emergency was illustrated in the rebellion. The war between the Monitor and Merrimac in Hampton Roads revolutionized naval warfare, and the problem has not been to construct an armor that the cannon could penetrate, and then a shell projectile that no armor could resist.

Tremendous sums have been consumed in these experiments hitherto, and the city of New York is actually at the mercy of foreign and other warships, unless the situation, and the armor we are building, at a cost of $10,000,000 will be so ventilated in 1895 as to make galleys. England, Germany and Italy would gladly sell us turrets at fifty per cent of what they cost us. The millions we are squandering upon iron hulls had better be spent in railroads, and powerful guns in each seaport town, charged and fired, which a hostile fleet could not stand.

I believe sincerely for spending a liberal sum every year for naval defense; I believe in peace, that only enemy of peace is war, and that the best way to keep it is to be prepared against war. So other nations have found it, and have so decreed. She is bound the resentment of the nations by centuries of injustice, and that so when we were helpless and broke she seized and horsed the Indian capital; she kicked France out of Egypt; she kicked the Turks in Asia and Chinese, but she sat in the lap of kicking her hard. In our civil war she did all in her power to open hostility to the Union, and then apologized for her passage. Lately we had an excitement about and punishing her for hanging our men, a crisis followed, and we have been found it wanted to go to war, and we cannot flee the danger in a minute. Immense appropriations were promptly voted for fortifications and the navy, and then, when the crisis had passed, the bill lapsed, and nothing came of it, but expenses as a visitor and submitted to be made endearingly to that great and good man. It was beautiful, but it was logic unreflective.

THE PUBLIC BUILDING BILLS.

The Work of the House Committee Closed by Millikin.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The work of the House Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds during the forty-first Congress is set forth in a formal report by Chairman Milliken. Four hundred and eleven bills were for the erection of new public buildings, and one hundred and one of buildings in progress of construction, were referred to the committee, as well as appropriations amounting to $2,000,000 of the bills reported by the committee, ninety-three passed the House, appropriating $12,575,000, the hundred and twenty-nine bills now were referred to the committee, adding appropriations amounting to $23,112,500.

Twenty-two of the bills were for buildings at towns for which house bills of similar nature had introduced. Of the Senate bills eighty-five were reported with amendments embodying the appropriations in accordance with the House bills. The eighty-five as they came from the Senate asked an appropriation of $7,500,000. As reported by the committee the amount was reduced to $3,000,000. Of the bills passed eighty-five were approved by the President, appropriating $14,171,400, and four vetoed, appropriating $350,000. The committee had before it a large number of bills, involving a much larger appropriation than referred to in any previous session, the organization of the department. The policy of the committee has been to provide for buildings in large number of places and to limit the appropriations.

GERMANY'S NAVY.

The Question of Strengthening it Discussed in the Reichstag.

BERLIN, March 6.—During debate on the motion for a second reading of the navy budget in the Reichstag today Herr Rickert said it was impossible for the country to bear the rapidly increasing burdens which are imposed upon it.

Dr. Windthorst, leader of the center, said he would support the decision of the committee. Germany, however, could not bear the support of the navy, equal in strength to that of England. In conclusion, Dr. Windthorst said: "Let the government submit, and fine words, but a practical scheme for strengthening the navy. The government's proposals have created terror throughout Germany."

Chancellor Caprivi said the ministry were unanimous in the opinion that more money would not be desired. The chancellor proposed that the vote for the two new ironclads be returned to the budget committee, where an agreement would be arrived at. Windthorst agreed.

Herr Richter contended that the revelations of the committee in regard to the navy, especially in regard to the new ironclads not exceeding fifteen knots an hour, evoked universal astonishment.

Admiral Hollman, secretary of state for the marine department, did not deny Richter's statements and admitted that a speed of seventeen knots was not attained. The department, he said, considered fifteen knots satisfactory, especially as the vessels were well built and well armed.

Richter denied that the radicals wished to express the idea that they had no confidence in the navy. They simply wished to ventilate the whole question of the navy budget, in the interest of the service.

PARNELL'S DELEGATES.

They Will Leave for America and Expect a Warm Support.

LONDON, March 6.—Parnell's delegates to America will leave on Saturday. They are greatly heartened by the news that Boulanger's friends will support the Parnellite cause in the United States.

Dublin Ireland controls the departure and prospects of O'Connor, Kelly Redmond and Harrison with the partial collapse of the McCarthyites' mission proposition. The McCarthyites at first arranged to send Abraham, Kenney and Flynn to act for O'Connor. Abraham refused, Kenney and Flynn were superseded, and T. P. O'Connor packed up his traps to come home. Now a single ambassador, Mr. Fox, goes to represent the falling factions. The latest English friends of the McCarthyites are beginning to despair of their ability to make headway against the vigor of the Parnellites.

Parnell has shown his usual skill in the selection of his emissaries. All excepting Harrison are trusted Nationalists, and can appeal with confidence based upon past personal history to the Irish-Americans. Parnell's speech at Carlisle well was a pointed bid for the labor vote. It was also meant to entice Davitt, but only stirred up Davitt's bile. Writing to the Labor World, Davitt predicts that Parnell will not immolate the workmen, denounces him for making a hypocritical profession of interest in labor, whilst actively fomenting radical feuds between the English and Irish democracies, and accuses him of being ready to wreck the Home Rule movement to pave the way for a compact like that of 1885.

The Census of the British Empire.

LONDON, March 6.—The work of taking the census of the British Empire was begun Thursday in India. It is expected to show 250,000,000 inhabitants in India, against 254,000,000 in 1881. The British Isles will be taken a month hence, and it is estimated that the population will show an increase of 15 per cent.

Lord Lytton has come from Paris to have a conference with Lord Salisbury on the possible issue arising from Emperor Frederick's visit to Paris. He does not fear that the relations between France and Germany have been seriously strained. He blames the Empress for imprudence.

THE AUSTRALIAN FEDERATION.

The Convention Discuss the Tariff Question.

SYDNEY, March 6.—At today's session of the Australian Federation convention, Munro advocated uniform duties between the federated colonies, but, he added, the interests of Victoria, a protectionist colony, must be guarded, and the conference would fail to do its duty if it allowed the important manufactures which had been started in the Colony of Victoria to be ruthlessly death with.

Mollwraith said that if the resolution in regard to tariff passed, a Federal Government could readily be formed, even though all the colonies did not join the Federation. The resolutions implied free trade, with federation and protection against the world. Absolute free trade was impossible, owing to the necessity of raising revenue.

Deakin, of Victoria, said the work of forming a common tariff was a question involving millions of pounds invested in industries built up by protection, and a guarantee must be obtained that the Federation would preserve those interests.

THE CANADIAN ELECTION.

The Annexation Cry Not So Unpopular as Supposed.

OTTAWA, March 6.—Sir John McDonald is completely exhausted today. He expects to be all right again in a few days. In an interview with an Associated Press correspondent today he estimated his majority at between 35 and 45.

ANNEXATION NOT UNPOPULAR.

NEW YORK, March 6.—A Montreal special says: An impartial estimate of yesterday's voting gives the Government a majority of from twenty-eight to thirty. The most important facts revealed by yesterday's vote are that the annexation cry is not so unpopular in Canada as was supposed, that closer trade relations with the United States are inevitable, and that the Liberals will be returned to power at the next general election.

The Mackay Case.

LONDON, March 6.—Since the San Francisco fracas, when Mr. Mackay vindicated his wife's honor, the other party, instead of presenting Mackay on the spot, has done nothing in the way of vindication unless inspiring suggestions in some American and European papers like Mackay assaulted him from behind. Mackay's London solicitors, in presenting an Anglo-French paper for Block, believe they have hit upon the original of the indicement to the libel article, and it will add additional interest to the proceedings if proof is produced connecting the San Francisco incident with the press attacks in Paris.

Rebels Without Ammunition.

LONDON, March 6.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company from Chili says information received from official sources shows that the Chilian insurgents are short of ammunition and they therefore refrain from making an attack on the capital, where the troops are well armed and prepared to make defense.

President Balmaceda's partisans are of the opinion that vigorous effort upon the part of the government troops will quell the rebellion.

Collision at Sea.

LONDON, March 6.—The British steamer Hadberg arrived at Plymouth in a damaged condition, having been in collision with the German steamer Wandrahm, from Hamburg March 1st for New York. The Wandrahm proceeded.

Wisman Killing Negroes.

BERLIN, March 6.—Tageblatt publishes a dispatch from Zanzibar stating that Wisman has punished the Kisodi tribe, and in so doing has killed 200, wounded sixty and captured fifty of the tribe's men. The German loss was two men killed and fifteen wounded. The Germans captured 60,000 head of cattle and a quantity of ammunition and ivory.

The Curious Fish.

A strange creature is the flying fish, of which there are two species and the short, stubby kind and the long winged herring. These flying fish are found only in the tropical and sub-tropical seas. The flying herring is plentiful, but the garnard is scarce. The fish are seen offener during rough than calm weather, and if pursued by enemies, or frightened by vessels, will dart from the water. The wings are without motion, except a slight vibration as the wind passes over them, and they do not move them as a bird or bat, to guide their course, but their flight is straight forward, and any deviation from this course is caused by the current of air passing over them. Their flight is generally rapid, and longer when flying against than with the wind, and they seldom fall back to the water, although during windy weather they have been known to be carried high enough to fall on the decks of vessels.

Another queer fish is the sword fish. It also is found in the tropical and sub-tropical zones of both the eastern and western hemispheres. Some of the tropical species are of enormous size, and measure from twelve to fifteen feet in length, with swords at least three feet long. This sword is much the shape of a cone somewhat flattened, the end sharply pointed. It is smooth on the top and sides, but the under part is rough. It is really an elongation of the bones of the upper jaw, and is possessed of very great strength, for with these weapons they have been known to pierce the copper sheathing of vessels and heavy plates and timbers, but although they can drive the sword far into these substances they can not draw them out, so break them off and swim away without them. A large fin extends nearly the length of the back of the creature, which is folded back when the fish is swimming, in order that its progress may not be impeded if speed is desired, but when suddenly exhausting it is often erected and acts as a sail to carry it through the water. The sword fish is very aggressive in its disposition, and will often assail fish much larger than itself. Even the whale is not exempt from its attacks. The foot of the sword fish consists of smaller fish which it kills by stabbing them with its sword. There is quite a large business done in sword fishing, as the fish is used for food. The larger species are caught by harpooning, the smaller in nets.—Ex.

THE FEDERAL CLUB

Gives a Dinner and is Treated to Some Republican Speeches.

THE MEXICAN EXHIBIT AT THE WORLD'S FAIR.

The World's Fair Directors Reply to the Demands of the Chicago Labor Unions.

By Telegraph to the News.

DEPEW AND REED.

Remarks at a Dinner Given by the Federal Club.

NEW YORK, March 6.—Chauncey Depew presided tonight at a dinner given by the Federal Club at which many notables were present. Mr. Depew, in his remarks, said: "I am here to-night, much to my surprise. The Coroner's jury holds me responsible for all the accidents on the railroad. Dismissing this, however, I will say that we are here tonight as Republicans. There are no mugwumps to doubt our faith in this world and the next. We are present to give greeting to the Republican leaders in Congress. We welcome Reed and Lodge, and regret that McKinley is not here. A Republican property constituted has nothing to defend. The Republican party always won its victories by being aggressive. We are happy, in fact, that the party of Garfield and Blaine, of Lincoln and Grant is the party of McKinley and Reed.

Depew then introduced

who was received with great applause. He said, in part: "Half the struggle in to life is to get a hearing. When Christopher Columbus discovered America, it took him three months; but it took him half his life to get a chance to discover it. Advertisement is an absolute prerequisite to the sale of goods and your best advertisers are your enemies.

"I will challenge the world to point to the equal of the Fifty-first Congress for the good it has done. We have done more than passed great measures; we have shown to the people that it is possible to have a responsible government. This country today, with its sixty millions people, cannot be governed as when it had three millions. Our government has got to be a growth of the necessities of our people, and cannot be adopted in the form of any other land."

Mr. Reed spoke of the increased work of Congress, comparing the work of the one just closed with its predecessor, and added: "What I claim for this Congress is that it has met the Democratic opposition and met Tom's speech.

CONGRESSMAN LODGE,

in his remarks, said he was not content with a vague declaration. "I am a Republican. The Republican platform stated the party to be the party of honest money. The declamation to the fact was too vague, but the filling of the proposition for free silver showed the party was in favor of honest finance. It was also the party for civil service reform, and those facts explained what he meant when he said 'I am a Republican.'"

"Of the last Congress," Lodge said, "we have given minority rule a deadly blow; we have crippled obstruction; we have proved to the American people that the House can legislate and made it impossible for any majority in the future to escape responsibility by the miserable excuse that the minority would not let it legislate."

Governor Foraker, Commissioner Roosevelt, General Woodford and Judge Arnoux also spoke.

THE MEXICAN EXHIBIT.

An Interesting Plan Forwarded by Lieutenant Baker.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Lieutenant A. C. Baker, commissioner sent on behalf of the Columbian Exposition to Mexico, forwards an interesting sketch of the plan for the Mexican exhibit at the exhibition, prepared and submitted to the government of Mexico by well-known artists of that republic. This plan represents the history of Mexico from the Aztecs to the present time, and is a history of the human race and human habitations of this country. Lieutenant Baker says the exact drawing and plans of the grounds will be given, and the artistic skill of those engaged upon the enterprise warrants the assurance that it will be carried out in a manner creditable to the republic of Mexico.

There has been received at the Latin-American Bureau of the Columbian Exposition, Cuban newspapers which give interesting accounts of meetings of the commissioners to the exposition, appointed by the government of Cuba.

Washington's World's Fair Appropriation.

OLYMPIA, Wash., March 6.—The senate today amended and passed the World's Fair bill by increasing the amount from $50,000 to $100,000. It is thought the house will non-concur in the amendment, and as there is only one more day for the session it is probable there will be no appropriation made.

The house tonight concurred in the senate amendment increasing from $25,000 to $100,000, the appropriation for a World's Fair exhibit.

The Wool Clip.

BOSTON, March 5.—The Commercial Bulletin will publish tomorrow statistical articles based upon Agricultural Department reports, in which it is shown that the total number of sheep in the country today is 45,451,123, against 44,305,072 in 1890, and consequently the wool clip will be 5,062,000 pounds less than last year, when it was 276,000,000 pounds.

Reply to the Demands of the Chicago Labor Unions.

CHICAGO, March 6.—The World's Fair directors tonight adopted a reply to the demands of the Chicago labor unions. The reply concedes the eight-hour day, and the establishment of an arbitration tribunal to settle disputes. The demand that $1.25 be made the minimum of wages and union labor be given preference, were virtually refused, the directory saying that both subjects had been referred to a special committee.

Imprisonment for Life.

PORT HURON, March 6.—Dan MacMahon, the farm hand who yesterday killed Annie Murphy and then attempted suicide, was brought into court this morning. His wounds had been dressed, and the doctors declared him convalescing. He pleaded guilty, was sentenced to imprisonment for life and was taken to the State's prison on the afternoon train.

New Process of Whisky Making.

CHICAGO, March 6.—The Takamine Ferment Company, organized by the whisky trust to exploit a new process of whisky making invented by a Japanese chemist named Takamine, has increased its capital stock to $10,000,000. The salient point in the process is a substitute or ferment call 'ed' superior power, produced from a fungus growth on rice. Its use permits completion of fermentation in forty-two hours, as against seventy-two heretofore, besides greatly cheapening it and enlarging the volume of production from the quantities of grain. Calculation based on the output of maltsters, brewers, distillers and others using ferments makes the yearly value of the discovery equivalent to $22,000,000.

A World's Fair Bill Killed in South Dakota.

PIERRE, S. D., March 6.—The legislature killed the World's Fair bill for economy's sake. It could not get the two-thirds vote for the amount asked for, $75,000.

Mysterious Disappearance.

YANKTON, S. D., March 6.—Frank Buch, a young German, who for several years operated a private bank at Freeman, Hutchison County, South Dakota, mysteriously disappeared two weeks ago. Fears were entertained that he had been murdered and robbed. Today he was found from in Canada. He is alleged to be a defaulter in a large sum and Sioux City (Iowa) banks and loaning companies are the victims.

"Gromer" Encounters a Storm.

HALIFAX, N.S., March 6.—The troop ship Gromer, with the first battalion of the Leicestershire regiment, arrived here yesterday from Bermuda. Very bad weather was experienced all the run up. Shortly after leaving England for Bermuda the steamer was boarded by an immense tidal wave, a number of seamen badly injured and twenty-five soldiers more or less hurt. Boats and arms broken, others were badly bruised and in some instances legs were broken.

WARRANTS FOR ARRESTS.

Railroad Officials Wanted on Account of the Harlem Disaster.

NEW YORK, March 6.—Coroner Levy has issued warrants for the arrest of the officers and directors of the New York, New Haven and Hartford, who have been held responsible by the coroner's jury for the deaths of the victims of the Harlem railroad tunnel disaster. These warrants were for the following officers: Charles P. Clark, New Haven, president; M. Reed, vice-president, New Haven; Lucius Tuttle, general manager, New Haven; William B. Bishop, Jr., secretary, Bridgeport; William L. Squires, treasurer, New Haven; H. M. Kochsieger, comptroller, New Haven; Charles T. Hemphead, general passenger agent, New Haven, and Charles Rockwell, general freight agent, New Haven.

Directors George N. Miller, New York; Wilson G. Hunt, New York; F. N. Trowbridge, New Haven; William D. Bishop, Bridgeport; Henry C. Holmes, Hartford; Edward M. Reed, New Haven; Charles P. Clark, New Haven; Joseph P. Clark, New Haven; Joseph Park, New York; Chauncey M. Depew, New York; Henry S. Lee, Springfield, Mass.; William Rockefeller, New York; Everett Brainard, Hartford, and Nathan C. Wheeler, Bridgeport.

From this it will be seen that a majority of the officials live outside of this State. Coroner Levy does not anticipate that he will have any trouble in securing their attendance in this city. They will probably come on here readily, for they would have nothing to gain by resisting. Should they not come, resort will be made to extradition proceedings. As fast as the arrests are made bail will be taken and the officers allowed to depart. The district attorney's office was notified of the coroner's action.

Chauncey M. Depew surrendered himself to the coroner at 4:30 and was immediately released under $25,000 bail.

Police Creates a Sensation and Attempts Suicide.

NEW ORLEANS, March 6.—When Pulitz was brought into Court this morning his face was blanched and he looked badly frightened. He was taken into the private office of the Sheriff, where he created a sensation and fell into a furious rage, waving his hands in the air and beating his breast. "Mama, Mama, my wife, my wife," he screamed, and then threw himself violently on a lounge and cried. He lay there for a long time, while two deputies tried vainly to pacify him. Suddenly he jumped up again and once more he tore his hair and pleaded for mercy, when he began to act like a raving maniac and it required the combined efforts of two deputies to prevent him from doing himself harm. He made a rush for a window and attempted to throw himself out, but was held and finally overpowered by the officers and securely handcuffed.

It is said Pulitz's mind is giving way under the great strain and that he is unable to control himself.

HORSE SALES.

Eleven Thousand Dollars for a Two-Year-Old Colt.

NEW YORK, March 6.—In the California horse sales this afternoon the following were the best sales: Bay Filly, Stamboul, dam Georgiana, by Overland, $2100; Judy Stamboul, bay Filly, Stamboul, dam Judy, by Bob Mason, $1500; bay Filly, Stamboul, dam Agnes Clark, by Almont, $1800; bay Filly, Alcazar, dam Son Son, by Simmons, to Claude Thomas, Paris, Kentucky, $4000; bay Filly, Alcazar, dam Uma, by Electioneer, $1600.

The best sale was one which had been anticipated from the opening of the auction. It was a brown colt two years old, sire Stamboul, dam Minnehaha, by Stevens' Bald Chief, and a full brother of Nancy and Baron Rose, which sold at $20,000 and $5500 respectively, two years ago at a combination sale. The first bid on the colt was $5000. But for the fact that the animal had been hurt in unloading from the cars it would have started at a higher figure. Rose, the owner, assured that the injury was slight, and Shultz raised the bid $5000. Then J. M. Forbes put in and the case lay between them. Finally Forbes reached $11,000 and Shultz backed out. Forbes taking the colt at these figures. Rose then presented the buyer with a $100 blanket for the colt. This ended the sale.

A stallion sale will go next, to be followed by the regular combination sale.
