CRIMINAL RECORD.

A Negro Murdered and Dissected by a Jealous Woman.

TWO HORSE TRADERS KILLED.

The History of Breckenridge and Medelins.—Testimony of Chief of Police Moore.

SAVANNAH, March 9.—A horrible mirror was unearthed today. A negro named Isaiah Hardeman Longstreet, disappeared about September 3d. He was killed in a room, reputedly by Mary Washington, Sam Edwards and Richard Washington. His body was cut to pieces and buried under the floor of the house.

Washington and his wife and Edwards are under arrest. The women admits the killing and says Edwards and her husband were accomplices. The other prisoners deny knowledge of the crime. The cause of the murder is supposed to have been jealousy.

DOUBLE MURDER.

Horse Traders Shot to Death and Dismembered.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 9.—A special from Paris, Ark., says: News came yesterday of a horrible double murder two miles south in Bannister, this county. Two horsetraders and their stock, a man 22 years old, went into camp in an old house. That night shots were heard, and next day the young man was seen and the horse traders were missing. That evening the house burned down, and the remains found to be ashes the bones of two human beings. The young man was arrested.

DYNAMITE GOES A FURLONG.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 9.—Representatives of the college of Indiana methodist tonight for endowment bonds, the money to be awarded to E. E. Stewart of Depauw, and the second to Syrian Kahn of the state university. In May 15th the interstate oratorical contest will be held here, and Mr. Dunnett will represent Indiana. California will probably be represented.

SUTRO TUNNEL COMPANY.

NEW YORK, March 9.—Theodore Sutro, who was for five years been endeavoring to reorganize the Sutro Tunnel company, has received word from Carson city, Nev., that the bill against reorganization has been decided in favor of the defendants. The plaintiffs in the case were Frank J. Symmes of San Francisco, Joseph Aron of Paris, France, and Patrick H. Wheelon of Santa Barbara, Cal. The defendants include the Union Trust company, the directors of the Sutro Tunnel company, J. and M. Sherman, Maitland Phelps & Co., Comstock Tunnel company, and other owners who joined in the reorganization scheme.

Mr. Sutro today resumed his efforts to get the tunnel company back in the hands of the stockholders, who number 5,000 or 6,000 and are distributed over Europe as well as this country.

Assignments.

LITTLE ROCK, March 9.—The comptroller of the currency has made an assessment of 30 per cent on the stockholders of the defunct First National bank, this city, payable next Monday.

LEXINGTON, Ky., March 9.—A deed of assignment was filed today by Moses Shanks Smith, by which she places all her effects, including a number of highly-bred trotting stock, among them May King (2:09) by Volunteer, dam May Queen, that cost her $12,000 two years ago, in the hands of a receiver, A. Smith Bowman, for the benefit of her creditors.

A NEW POLICY.

Important to Settlers on Lands Acquired from Indians.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 9.—Consideration of bills for the ratification of treaties between government commissions and various Indian tribes for the relinquishment of lands by the House Indian affairs committee has resulted in a determination by the committee on a new policy. One feature will be to require settlers on lands purchased or otherwise acquired from the Indians to be residents on the land taken for three years, instead of three months, with the privilege thereafter of paying a certain amount and obtaining the title.

Bell's Successor.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 9.—Miss Jessie Lander of Mansfield, O., is installed at the White House as governess for Baldwin Lincoln Grant. She is about 25 years of age, and is said to be a good linguist.

The Rate War.

CHICAGO, March 9.—The receivers of the Atchison road sent a very net telegram to Chairman Midgley of the western freight association, concerning the recent resolution passed by that body because the Atchison refused to ratify the anti-pass agreement.

Another stab may soon be made in transcontinental rates. Ten scalpers at San Francisco are said to be receiving from the Union Pacific and other lines eastern portions of Midwinter Fair tickets, on which a rate of $18 has been made from San Francisco to the Missouri river. The Atchison road may meet this in a day or two.

To Remove the Ban.

BALTIMORE, March 9.—Cardinal Gibbons is in daily expectation of a decision from Rome in regard to the removal of the ban of the church from the order of Odd Fellows and Knights of Pythias, which were submitted to the pope by the last plenary council.

PELLARD VS BRECKENRIDGE.

Continuation of the Story as Told by Pielcott.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Mrs. Breckinridge said in 1892 Breckenridge called upon Wilson, he said, at Miss Pollard's request, to correct reports concerning her father, and asserted that there could be no sexual relation to Miss Pollard's father, since for a long time after coming to Washington she had remained in a convent. Mrs. Pollard, witness stated, had said Miss Pollard was forward, taking undue liberties with her friends, saying Miss Pollard invited Charles Dudley Warner to her (Mrs. Pollard's) house without permission.

When Miss Pollard came to tell her of Colonel Breckinridge's attempt to kiss Mrs. Wiley, Mrs. Breckinridge advised her if she had any self respect to quit him. On his next visit Colonel Breckinridge denied strongly, emphatically and frequently that the source of his attention to witness's daughter was the work of miserable gossips. Mrs. Breckinridge expressed to Miss Pollard made protest to him on character and, having Breckinridge's word of honor and the honor of his gentleman.

After the row in house Miss Pollard was formally invited and waiting on the ladies with her lawyers. Miss Mary Dunn, sister of deceased's first wife, testified to having known Miss Pollard, but her testimony was of little interest.

"No cross-examination for her. She may stand aside," said Col. Breckinridge, with a wave of his hand.

Major Moore, chief of police of the District of Columbia, took the stand. He first met Miss Pollard, accompanied by Breckenridge, in '90 or '91, or 1892. He said: "The case was suddenly thrown open and Col. Breckinridge came to inform me of the lady. He said he might have to ask my protection as the lady threatened his life. She remarked that he should promise to marry her. She second carried his revolver, and he took the day. He named May 21, 1893, and said he would marry her then if Providence spared his life."

Witness stated that Miss Pollard said she must see more threats against Colonel Breckinridge's life, as the police would deal with her.

On May 21st, at witness's office, Breckinridge said the lady was pregnant, intended relations with him, that was going to New York to prepare for the event, and he intended to marry her.

"He told me," said the witness, "that it's the intention that we have changed hands."

"It was an impressive scene," said the major. "Miss Pollard had drawn from her bosom a revolver, declaring if she had expected she would use it upon herself and him." Witness took it, Colonel Breckinridge suggesting that he should return it as a Christmas present, and something him to give it to her on her birthday.

There was a row at exercises at Major Moore said "He told me she could not account for the fact of having approached her with flowers or salaried her. That the first time he saw her he took liberties and the second night slept with her."

Moore identified several letters and telegrams that passed between himself and Breckinridge, but all were unimportant.

Beginning the cross-examination, Mr. Thompson said, dropping into the Kentucky vernacular: "Major, have you got the gun the lady pulled from her bosom?"

A messenger was dispatched to the chief's office for the revolver.

"Did you say to never salaried her?" asked Mr. Thompson, whereupon Miss Pollard cried, "No!" shrilly, and her lawyers and her friends derived witness's testimony by requesting her, which they were able to do with difficulty.

"Not that time," was Moore's answer.

Dr. N. S. Lincoln said the defendant brought Miss Pollard to him, saying she was unreasonably jealous and very nervous and needed treatment. The court then adjourned.

THAT EXPLOSION IN ROME.

The Pope Said to be Much Interested in the Particulars.

His Holiness Fears the Vatican May Be Attack on Some Day and Seeks for Information.

ROME, March 9.—The pope is deeply interested in learning the circumstances of yesterday's explosion, and has directed inquiry to be made into the details by attaches of the Vatican for his information. His holiness fears the Vatican itself may be endangered, and stated that he was seeking from the government guarantees of safety of the Vatican.

The Troubles in Sicily.

LONDON, March 10.—The Morning News publishes an interview with Manto, the anarchist leader, recently released from Sicily. Manto disavows the troubles in Sicily were not the outcome of distress among the laboring, but the result of anarchist teachings. The anarchists intended to convert a general revolution, he added. Manto said anarchist civil war was likely to happen in Sicily, yet he would not be surprised at Lombardy's outrage in Rome proved the beginning of a long series of similar outrages.

Twenty Years Ago.

AN INTERESTING NARRATIVE OF THE PAST AND PRESENT BY MRS. ANNA SMITH. ONE OF THE OLDEST RESIDENTS OF SALT LAKE.

A Romance in Real Life.

Ten Years' of Constant Suffering.

Until April 1st all Diseases will be Treated until Cured for $5.00 a Month. Medicine Free

March has come without bringing its usual history of Zion, yet nothing is very much improved, then the wonderful cures that are being effected in the Medical Institute. The advancement made in the science of medicine in the past few years is certainly remarkable, and it only is proper that the divided dragon, Church, has been made a special study, and today it is recognized by a new system of the Science of Medicine, and from out of the Dirty Jungle are, "Will I ever find relief? Will I have relief with medicine and only temporary relief?" Dear reader, you have not read Dr. Shores & Shores. If you are a careful reader of the daily papers you will find every week one of these testimonials of the cure of Dr. Shores & Shores, and then you will see that every one cured is from your own city or Territory, the name and number of the residence always accompany such statements. We read, too many times someone who labors a testimonial from some person who lives in the adjoining of Garfield for the sole purpose of having friends in Garfield to read the testimonial in the Deseret News.

Men who, and Dr. Shores & Shores have continued the most thorough that their treatment in the line now work by the medical profession. They are the leading specialists in the city, and if you have treated with others and found no benefit, call on Dr. Shores & Shores and be convinced. Consultation and examination free.

HOW IS THIS?

Mrs. Anna Smith, wife of John Y. Smith, well one of the oldest and best known families of the Territory, now

MRS. ANNA SMITH, 50 GEORGE STREET, SR.

For the years I have been an invalid, being unable to go out of the house at all, and especially in the winter. If I would look out I would get a fresh cold. I was very much afraid of a cough because hawking and spitting the mucus would drop from my throat into my throat; my chest and lungs were very sore, and I had a wrenching cough, sharp shooting pains in the chest and shoulder blades, no appetite whatever, and I was too weak to work around the house. My disease had so corrupted and undermined my system that I began to lose my memory, and at times I would have to stop and think of what I had been saying.

I was so nervous that I often wished that I were dead.

In this unpleasant condition I went to Dr. Shores & Shores. I was like many others and had no faith in advertising doctors, but I must always blame the day I called on them for after the very first treatment the hawking ceased and today I can say that I work around the house and do my work. I can sleep well, I can eat and digest my food, I have no pain in the bowels, my cough is entirely cured, my nerves are strong, my memory is good, and I feel more good than I have for years. For years I was a confirmed invalid. Under the care of Dr. Shores & Shores I have been restored to health and happiness, and I would say to others who have failed to be benefited by doctors to call upon Drs. Shores & Shores.

DO YOU

Have headaches, nervous, tickling noises in the ears, dreamy sleep, a spitting, sore throat, sore, weak and watery eyes, pains in the back, tired spots, dizzy, tired spots, pains in the mouth, tired feeling, tired spots, pains in the mouth, tired feeling, tired spots, pains in the mouth, tired feeling
