Do you make any further arrangements regarding the mining deal?"

"Yes, sir; at the Occidental."

"Were you in Chicago in February last?"

"Yes, sir."

"Did you see Hayden there?"

"Yes, sir."

"Did he say anything to you about getting money from Humphreys?"

"No, sir."

"Did he want you to send some money when you got home?"

"Yes, sir, and I sent him $50."

"Did you tell Cutler of Hayden's proposal to send money?"

"Nothing."

"Did you have any agreement of any other kind you was to call in money at Hayden?"

"No, sir."

"Was that other your attorney in connection with Mr. Kane?"

"I don't know."

"How much will Hayden draw on the Dayton claim?"

"A. to $1,000 a week."

"Is there any mortgage on the claim?"

"No, sir."

The witness was then cross-examined by Mr. Carlin. "You were interested in mining business in 1892?"

"Yes, sir."

"Do you keep your rank account at McCornick?"

"Yes, sir."

"Did you find out you knew Mr. Hayden before you commenced this mining deal?"

"About three months."

"When were the contracts drawn?"

"At my house."

At this point the News report closed.

Women's Federation Meetings.

The meetings of the state federation of women's clubs open tomorrow, Wednesday, at 10 a. m., in Unity hall, Third South street, between Herbert and West Temple streets. The public is invited to all except to the first meeting, which is for special club business. The afternoon meetings commence at 2 p. m.

THE COMING CARNIVAL.

A Big Procession of Floats Assured—Interest in the Voting Contest.

The executive committee of the Midsummer Carnival yesterday received a collection from Manager Cutler of the Lehi Sugar factory that a check for $100 was in readiness for the carnival fund, and that in all matters affecting the interests of the project he would give his hearty support.

The work of preparing the floats has begun, and fifteen will be turned out as fast as possible. Many merchants have signified their intention of adopting a float scheme as an advertisement of their business, and from present indications it is probable that there will be over fifty floats in line on the day of the grand parade.

Late yesterday afternoon the entertainment committee, consisting of Director General McClarty and Messrs. Silva and Newman met and formulated a program for the three days, of which the following is not an outline:

THE CARNIVAL PROGRAM.

Yesterday the entertainment committee met and formulated the skeleton of the three-days' program which is destined to be a source of joy, pleasure and profit to the latter of thousands of people from outside towns who will, during the fete, touch elbows with the citizens of Salt Lake.

On the first day, July 2nd, it has been decided that the Queen of the Carnival will take possession of the city. The important ceremony is to be held at the joint building. The Queen will be met at the depot at the usual hour by thousands of her admiring subjects, and with royal pomp will be escorted to the joint building, where she will hold her court. The streets surrounding will be reserved for spectators, the grounds for the soldiery, veterans, citizens and officials, and within the grand entrance will be erected the throne of Utah's queen, around which the county queens will be grouped. A few interesting exercises, in which Gov. Wells and Mayor Glendinning are expected to take part, the Queen will be carried in a jubilee coach, robed in gold, decorated with the State's floral emblem, the sego lily, in a magnificent float, on which will be a silver throne, on account of the county queens will be given positions of honor as maids of honor. The committee has decided to make this float the greatest creation of the Decorator's art and fancy ever exhibited in the West. It will be an emblem of the State, and in its innovative features every incident will be novel. It will be drawn by twenty-four white horses, gaily caparisoned, and all the dead of land will be brought in uniform. With the Queen installed on her throne and in possession of the keys of the city, the carnival proper will open. In the evening a grand patriotic concert will be given, possibly in the Tabernacle, the participants in which will be native-born and children.

THE FLORAL PARADE.

The second day will be children's day. It will be a floral festival. The school children will be wanted to participate in it, and by the way, from the many beautiful young ladies in the city, will be chosen a 50 lb. queen. A feature of the parade will be floral dress, as many will be carried upon shoulders of children. In the evening the call to honor of the queen of the floral and her retinue will be held. The preliminary preparations demonstrate that it will be the greatest ball ever given in the intermountain country.

THE GRAND PARADE.

On the third day, the glorious Fourth, the grand entrance of the carnival will be given. The state militia, the government troops, the veterans of the city and the soldiery, drawn well apart, the queen of the Carnival will ride seated in the throne of gold, and patriotic exercises in which Utah's last states will participate, will be held. In the evening there will be a parade on wheels. It will be replete with interesting and ludicrous features. There will be a magnificent floral display, the mountains surrounding the city will be ablaze with bonfires and tar fires, and from every point of vantage the heavens will be bombarded with the most thunderous fusillades ever given. Such, in outline, is the plan for the Midsummer Carnival.

THE VOTING CONTEST.

The voting contest to queen is growing in importance. Yesterday the greatest mail was received and in the list were added Miss M. A. Tingey, Lehi; Miss Ella Jones, Salt Lake, with fifteen votes to her credit, and Miss Ruth Hodges of Kaysville with eighteen. The vote this morning stood:

Miss Josephine Donnan	[illegible]
Miss M. Hampshire	[illegible]
