LOCKED UP THE GUESTS.

Practical Joke of "Jimmy the Rustler" on Patrons of the German Cafe.

CAUGHT WHILE LAYING IN PROVENDER.

"Jimmy" Had Been Reading of the Exploits of a Denver Highwayman and Attempted to Divide Him.

For a few moments about 7 o'clock last evening, there was a considerable stir on the east side of East Temple street between First and Second South, brought about by the usual commotion—a small boy and an army officer ignoring brute beneath a recent municipal crustal indignation. This is how it happened.

The antipodean symphony, which ensues his hoots and chirrups killing time for some minutes before the boy went in prone, hopped to cast his innocent gamboling eye upon a copy of the Denver Post. That not being enough way into the cafe, he hitched onto. Upon the front and subsequent pages of the aforesaid sheet were contained half a dozen columns of matter devoted to Jimmy Lucas, the celebrated Denver highwayman, "another" his home, and most startling effect resulted. The details of his exploits being so fresh in a sense merchant in the European part of town, and subsequently and, as it happened, first-footed into the cafe the audio cash vendor might not speak.

"Not yer nosin," the boy, the wall eyed, stern, "Jimmy" Lucas, "Jimmy" the rustler of the "News" as he denoted the exploits of the Denver desperado with a sight.

Circulator Duncan noticed the fact that "Jimmy the rustler" was not in the room, and at the same time noticed a number of suspicious movements at proceeding, choosing for "two big worth, Broker."

He hoots a sheet worth 15 cents and with a thoughtful, wide, slow tongue and wrinkled brow, had himself down the street. Now, it is not said but two papers. Surely Jimmy was not attending to business, nearly he had a copy on his mind. Presently, he hailed in his evening perambulations before a well known restaurant—the German Cafe—that is, a German stand. Behind its bulwark a gun stuck and a hot pie emporium. With varnish eye he gazed upon the dissolving pastry, the fleeting, wanton business men were regarding, upon nonchalant epicurean delicies. As his eye alighted upon the cord that was attached to the front awning, it lit up this eye, not the awning) with a grade of intelligence.

"Aha, what he ejaculated, "you not I'll knock the blossom' socks off this per Denver jay. I'll hook the whole shebang outfit in this per restaurant," and he did.

After noticing that the athletic form of Shorty John Gillespie had disappeared round Smith's corner, the juvenile desperado set to work on his dark design, and the ever handy boy tied to the cord, and then adjourned behind a friendly telephone pole to take observations.

A hungry Sunday school convention delegate sauntered along, tried the spoon, looked annoyed and then resumed his search for commissary elsewhere. Then came Morris Romer and "Toughy." The cowboy giggled, as Morris said a naughty word and drifted into a rival establishment. Then a venerable looking individual paused his hat, and, with a coughing spasm between his lips, thoughtfully bumped his nose against the swing door that wouldn't swing.

Then it was that the fun began. Grosz stormed to get out, and a crowd collected on the sidewalk. Newsmen though a full-sized tragedy was in progress as the chef sailed round the counter armed with a longsided spanning bane-stiver. Finally some one "tumbled" and untied the cord. The crowd looked sheepish, and "Jimmy the Rustler" disappeared up on the "News" corner for a new stock in trade. When it comes to locking up citizens, Denver will have to try again before she can show Salt Lake anything.

AMUSEMENTS.

Prof. Kellar, the famous magician, has returned to Salt Lake again and last evening gave the first of a two nights' engagement at the Theo. It is twenty-two years since the gentleman was here before. He appeared then on the 4th of July with a company, giving an entertainment under the title of The Royal Blackstaffs. Prof. Kellar has had forty-one years experience in his line and he has not lost the dexterity that brought him fame years ago. He opened his entertainment last night with a series of card tricks, showing the sleight of hand and complexity appealed his audience. In quick succession followed the shell and pea game, the bottle, the vanishing ring trick and many others. Of the last named it may be said that it is simple enough, but just how is a half dozen of Roger Bacon's brightest bodies disappeared and jumped into an old tea urn and then fished out again, the audience is in perfect condition, and each one with a dainty ribbon and a rose tied and returned to the owner, is a problem too puzzler for even the quickest witted. Then followed the dazzling effect, called Cagliostro. A handkerchief was borrowed from some gentleman in the audience and at the request of the professor to made to stand up and dance with its full length—and it did. Of course, following this come other equally mystifying illusions. Out of Nigh and The Mirror Illusion Hidden Light, are accurately the day, now, which any date fall in any year to name or show. "The Spiritualistic manifestation of To or the Princess Karnak and the wonderful mysteries of the Blue Hole, was a clever illusion. Oranges trees grew in full view of the audience, blossomed and bore fruit, which was picked to the delight of the audience, too, too, with a wealth of genuine bulb spring into existence and likewise fled away. Mr. Kellar is possessed the representative magician of the day and is responsible for many of the revelations and he other illusions. The prospect ahead of Dante (Guy Elton) with the wizard of our city, as very brilliant, from the fact that many of Prof. Kellar's tricks in sought of head were invented here by him a year or so ago, and with as much ease and grace, though he carefully stated at that time that Kellar was the original of some of the tricks. He will appear for the last time at the Theatre tonight. His programme is the best ever seen here and the entertainment this evening should fill the house.

The record-breaking period which the Grand has been operating on the matter of crowded houses seems to have set in for a while, and, as it is to be hoped, it will continue that the "Gals" is hard to discount when the Grand fails to do it. There are a dozen reasons why this should not be the Theater the latter part of last week, for instance, but they are all of a kind, and we can be content gathered together from stock material and of the best quality, and to be "up to the minute" in every detail, and to be the "upper deep" the money. The acting of the principal characters is up to the average, and the chorus, the dancers and the girls, and the scenery, the dresses seemed satisfied with their investment.

Tonight is the last night and to-morrow night, which closes the engagement.

PROVO.

PROVO, UTAH, Nov. 28, 1898.

Suit for Acrrion Lost.

Yesterday the hearing of the suit of L. N. Hoffman et al vs George T. Perry et al was commenced in the Fourth district court before Judge Dusenberry without a jury.

Hoffman sue for about four hundred dollars worth of lumber the defendant Perry had purchased of Frank Adams at a Provo store. Adams claims that he bought it on a promissory note signed jointly by the defendants in the present suit and given to Perry that the plaintiffs claim that the lumber was purchased by Perry with a view to sale of the purchase of the Palmyra ward and the land in question, being a portion of the ward, and serves the purpose of a meeting house.

Clerk Frank Kimball, Samuel A. Kirk, Joseph Ballard, Jr., Joseph Ballard, and John H. Miller and Charles D. Maley for the defendants in the case testified that they signed a note of Walter A. Cutbert, removed from the ward, and John Ballard, who was appointed one of the aids, in place of Brig Johnson, who resigned by reason of his removal from the ward which occupied his time.

Junction last evening, where he had been investigating a shooting case. A Salt Lake man, J. N. Newman, who was driving through with a flock of sheep, has told about twenty head, in a bunch that fell away. The sheep herder, who was with the sheep, also disappeared, particular with twelve hundred Rivers in his pocket. The track of the sheep lies who did the killing.

From information received here it is learned that Captain Archibald McDonald is in Virginia City, Montana, on a visit to his old home. He was accompanied on the floor of his home, Captain McDonald was well known in Salt Lake City, where he resided for years ago, and many friends in the city will mourn his death. Mrs. McDonald, who is expected in Salt Lake City, died two years ago on Thanksgiving day.

Harvey H. Dusenberry, one of the young men who was shot by Frank Ford, was yesterday in the city, and Frank T. Hope the marshal's office.

The following changes were made in the State officers of the T. M. M. I. A. at the conference held Sunday: Hoper Jos. Ballard, Jr., was appointed president, vice Brig. Johnson, who resigned on account of his appointment to place of L. D. Dunbar, removed to Provo. Mr. Dunbar, who is Chief of Police, was appointed secretary in place of Walter A. Cutbert, removed from the ward. Mr. Cutbert, who was also appointed one of the aids, in place of Brig Johnson, who resigned by reason of his removal from the ward which occupied his time.

Notes and Personals.

Sergeant Prior was down from Salt Lake on business yesterday.

William M. Spafford and daughter of Annabella, Beaver county, are visiting relatives in this city.

Willard Bean went to Salt Lake yesterday, where he will fill the position of professor of bugle and physical culture at the Sanitarium.

Ole Bjerkhout and Fred Woolhouse were discharged from the asylum yesterday, and off for their respective homes in Salt Lake and Beaver.

As soon as Gold Hill (Mammoth) are received by Messrs. Muller and Brown, yesterday, give the gratifying credit of 24.06 ounces of silver and 6.23 in gold.

Jesse Knight received a telegram from his son, Jesse W., yesterday, saying that he and his companion with which he is traveling from England had arrived in New York, and that he and Miss Jessie Brimhall, who is Provo returning missionary, would continue on their way home.

Thos. Winterton was found guilty of cruelty to animals in Justice Mc Ewan's Sunday, and was permitted to go under suspended sentence yesterday. He was unable to pay the fine. He would have had to go to jail but Judge McEwan and been merciful, a quality which it is to be hoped Mr. Winterton will imitate.

Davis Clark, W. L. Harris and S. J. Norris have filed notice of appropriation of all the water flowing in Spring Creek, and providing the water for power, as a point in Spring Creek canyon. The purpose for which the water is to be used is said to be the generating of electricity, and after such use the water will be returned to the channel of the creek.

"With pleasure I write to let you know the great benefit I have received from your medicines and self-treatment at home," writes Mrs. A. Harkes, of Dairy, Klamath Co., Oregon. "When you kindly advised me to take your 'Golden Medical Discovery' for my trouble, I followed your advice and received immediate relief. I am over fifty years of age, and for over a year I suffered with pains in stomach, headache, irregular periods, constipation and indigestion. I had no appetite at all, and could not sleep. She it went on for months, till one day my heart seemed to beat as fast as it could, and I felt like fainting. My heart beat so that it shook a table I used to the doctor, he gave me medicine, but it did no good. I thought I had to die. Every night when I went to bed I feared I would not be able to see the morning. I went to Dr. Pierce's Medical Discovery and Pleasant Pellets. At first I thought the medicine would do me no good, but I kept on taking them as advised, and when I had taken five bottles I was as well that I never felt bad at all. I sleep well now, but still I take the sixth bottle. I am then perfectly well. The headache, pains in stomach, heart trouble and all left me. I have had a good appetite ever since, and can sleep well and do all my work."

If you are not sure what ails you write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., stating your symptoms fully, and he will prescribe for you free of charge.
