HANDCART PIONEERS.

How the First Company Came to be Organized to Travel that Way.

ST. CHARLES, Idaho, June 7, 1897.

To the Editor:

There is a great deal said and published about the pioneers of forty-seven, and a little about the handcarts. Myself and wife came with the pioneer handcart company. The following brief items, I believe, have never been published, as there were but three persons personally acquainted with them, and one of these has passed behind the veil—Edmund Ellsworth, captain of the pioneer company. The exact dates I cannot now give, as I lost my journal in 1856.

In the latter part of May, 1856, Edmund Ellsworth (who was on a mission), and I were laboring in the Herefordshire conference. At that time we stayed at the home of Brother Powell, near to Abergavenny, Monmouthshire. Early in the morning Brother Ellsworth said, "Brother Galloway, are you awake?" I answered, "Yes." Brother E. said, "I have had a peculiar dream during the night. It has been repeated to me three separate times. Would you like for me to repeat it to you?" I answered, "Yes." He said, "I dreamed that I was at home and went to the President's office. I saw either (President Young). He said, 'Why, Edmund, we have just been talking about you. We are thinking of having a company of the Saints to cross the Plains with handcarts next year. We would like you to take charge of the company. Will you do it?' I said, 'If you say, I will.' He asked me, 'Will you think of this dream?' 'Well, I think it is more than a common dream. I would write it to your journal and see what will come of it.'"

When we got to the conference house he wrote it, and read it to my wife and I. In about six weeks after that we were again united at the conference house. A letter was there for Brother Ellsworth from President Young. When Brother Ellsworth had read the letter he got his journal, and handed me the letter. He read from his journal what he had written, and then handed me his journal to dig pate with his knife; they were silver, word for word.

"Well, Brother Galloway, what do you say about crossing the Plains with a handcart?" I replied, "There is a motto of a highland clan which is my answer: 'What other men dare we can do,' the Lord helping us." Then He turned to my wife, "Well, Sister Galloway, what do you say?" "I will follow my husband." "Then I will enter your names as the first volunteers."

This took place in Aberystwyth, the last of June or early in July, 1855. We then commenced to talk handcart emigration. Early in December, 1855, I received a letter from Liverpool to hunt up what was left of the United Brethren, for them to go with the first handcart company that would leave Liverpool some time in March, 1856. Sixty of us left for Liverpool with over five hundred on the ship Enoch Train, for Boston.

The Pioneer company of handcarts was met at the foot of the Little Mountain by President Young and the leading authorities of the Church. From thence President Young and others walked at the head of the pioneer company to Salt Lake City early in the afternoon of September 26, 1856. Thus the dream was literally fulfilled.

I kept a journal for the pioneer handcart company, which should be in the historians office, as I delivered it soon after I arrived in Salt Lake to Captain Edmund Ellsworth, to be copied in book form.

The following named persons who came with the pioneer handcart company are living in Bear Lake valley: Charles H. Briggs, Thomas Passey, Montpelier; A. Galloway and Jane C. Gallaway and my daughter, Mrs. French, Ambosy, Idaho, whom we hailed in our handcart from Iowa city to Salt Lake City.

My wife walked all the way and helped to pull our handcart for nearly fifteen hundred miles. Such is my knowledge of the handcart origin.

M'COY WILL SERVE HIS TERM.

Appeal Case Dismissed and the Judgment of the Lower Court Upheld.

Dr. William McCoy, who was sentenced to eight years in the State prison for having performed a criminal operation upon Evelyn Bennett in this city a couple of years ago, and who appealed to the State Supreme Court, had his case decided yesterday and it went against him, the court affirming the judgment of the court below.

McCoy cited three errors upon which he relied for a reversal of the judgment of the lower court. They were the exhibition of the dead girl's photograph in evidence, claiming it was incompetent; the evidence of Dr. Allen, who examined Miss Bennett after her death and testified that a criminal operation had been performed, and the charge of the court below to the jury, who lighted to state to the jury that it devolved upon the prosecution to prove that the operation was unnecessary to save the girl's life.

All these alleged errors the court holds were proper. The latter assigned error referring to the court's instruction to the jury, the supreme court says the charge covered the point in another part, and that the instruction were favorable to the defendant, and not the reverse.

The opinion is written by Justice Miner and concurred in by Chief Justice Zane and District Judge Charles H. Hoge.

Society Islands Mission Association.

For some time past negotiations have been pending for the organization of all returned Elders who ever have been sent to the Society Island mission, into an association for the purpose of aiding the Elders who are now absent in that mission in their efforts to disseminate the principles of the Gospel among the people who inhabit the Society and neighboring groups of islands, and to elevate their moral, intellectual and spiritual standard to a higher level.

A temporary organization was effected, and pursuant to a call, quite a number of the returned Elders assembled at the residence of Elder James S. Brown on April 15th, when they were organized, and the work of aiding the twenty missionaries in their efforts to implant in the minds of those people the seeds of eternal truth, commenced in earnest with the hearty co-operation of all concerned. Frank Cutler was elected president, Thomas J. Woodbury secretary and treasurer, and a committee of three, consisting of Elders Cutler, Woodbury and E. M. Connon was elected to draft by-laws setting forth the duties of officers and members and the principal aims of the association.

At a meeting held June 1st, by-laws were accepted by unanimous vote and the organization was named The Society Island Mission association. Among the objects of the association are the following: First, the translating, writing and printing in the Tahitian language of tracts and books explaining the principles of the Gospel. Second, the publication of a series of lectures in the printing of new editions and carrying the expenses of the association. Third, to assist the mission in whatever way possible.

At this meeting a committee of three consisting of Elders James S. Brown, E. M. Cannon and T. J. Woodbury, was appointed by the president to write a letter of encouragement to the 1,000 members of the Church now in the mission, to be read at their next October conferences, and this labor has been completed.

Although released from active work in the mission, the interest of the Elders in the welfare of that people is unabated, and the mission being ripe for other labors in great need of Gospel missionaries, their labors no doubt will be a great help to the Elders now laboring on the islands.

The association expects to soon commence upon the translations of some appropriate Church works and will endeavor to raise the necessary funds for the other sums necessary, contributions of parts of the Gospel written by some of the Elders to one they left in the islands. Elder of the Elders have obligated themselves to pay a regular sum per year to aid in the accomplishment of the purposes stated.

Idaho Crops and Weather.

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho, June 8, 1897.—The weather of the week ending June 7th, was very changeable, though generally favorable for growing crops. The early part of the week was cool and cloudy with light showers. A light fall of snow occurred in parts of the eastern southern section on the night of the 1st, followed the next morning in the more elevated and exposed places by a light frost which did no material damage to crops. The latter part of the week was, for the most part, clear and pleasant.

All crops have been improved by showers, but in most instances the rainfall was not sufficient to be of lasting benefit. Winter wheat is reported in a good condition, and late sown grain somewhat improved but still doing only fairly well. Potatoes and garden truck doing nicely. Alfalfa is growing rapidly, and in parts of the western section the first cutting will begin this week. All fruits are in excellent condition and promise good crops; strawberries are ripening in the northern and Western sections, with some in the market. The ranges are excellent and stock continues to improve. All streams are falling.

Saltair Notes.

The beach management has engaged for the season the famous Fort Douglas military band of thirty-eight pieces and every Sunday from 2:15 p. m. to 10:15 p. m. a sacred concert will be given. The first concert under the new arrangement will be given next Sunday.

This was University students' day at Saltair today. It was their field day and they entertained their friends with athletic games, racing, literary exercises, etc., during the day. This evening the program will conclude with a grand ball. The University day is always a most pleasant event.

A pamphlet for free distribution, entitled, "Where Am I A.?" is now issued by the Saltair Beach company. It is a tourist's guide and contains valuable and timely information not alone for the visitor but for home people as well.

On the 25th instant the Ladies' Mutual Improvement association will lounge in its annual excursion to Saltair. Last year the excursion given by the association was one of the most successful of the season and the attendance never falls short of 5,000. This year it is expected the record will be beaten.

Mr. Isaac Horner, proprietor of the Boston house, Burton, W. Va., and one of the most widely known men in the state, was cured of rheumatism after the years of suffering. He says: "I have not sufficient command of language to convey any idea of what I suffered, my physicians told me that nothing could be done for me and my friends were fully convinced that nothing but death would relieve me of my suffering. In June, 1894, Mr. Evans, then salesman for the Wheeling Drug Co., recommended Chamberlain's Pain Balm. At this time my foot and limb were swollen to more than double their normal size and it seemed to me my leg would burst, but soon after the first application of Pain Balm the swelling began to decrease, the pain to leave, and now I consider that I am entirely cured.
