The Yankee's Pewter Bohrar.
In the overgrown village of Drayton, Onio, several years are, there made his appearance a long-legged, lean, lank specimen of human nature, whose foul ensemble bespoke him from the land of "pork and beans," or as some seem to reckon it, "the land of steady habits, away down Eeast!" He brought up at a cake and beer shop near the centre of the place immediately stalked into the aforesaid depot of cheap fodder.—A Dutchman kept the shop, and as it was a place of common resort of the idlers and stragglers, it was tolerably well stowed when our down-cust genus, popper his long, hatchet-shaped phiz into it. He took a cool survey of things in general, and the The Yankee's Pewter Domar.

I labored with each of these quorums for some time to bring them to the order which God had shown to me which is as follows: The first part to be spent in selemn prayer before God without any talking or confusion; and the con-clusion with a sealing prayer by President Rig-don, when all the quorums were to shout with one accord a solemn Hosanna to God and the Lamb with an amen, amen, and amen; and then all take scats and lift up their hearts in silent prayer to God; and if any obtain a prophecy or vision to rise and speak that all may be edified and rejoice together.
I had considerable trouble to get all the quorums united in this order. I went from room to room repeatedly and charged each separately assuring them that it was according to the mind of God, yet notwithstanding all my lubor, while I was in the enst room with the bishops quorum, I felt by the Spirit that something was wrong in the quorum of elders in the west room, and I immediately requested President O. Cowdery and Hyrum Smith, to go in and see what was the matter. The quorum of elders had not observed the order which I had given them, and were reminded of it by President Carlos Smith, and mildlyrrequested to preserve order, and continue in payer: some of them replied that they had a teacher of their own, and did not wish to be troubled by others; this caused the Spirit of the Lord to withdraw; this interrupted the meeting and this quorum lost their blessing in a great measure.

The other quorums were more careful, and the quorum of the seventy enjoys a great flow of the Holy Spirit; many arose and spoke tes-tifying that they were filled with the Holy Ghost which was like fire in their bones, so that they could not hold their peace but were constrained to ery Hosanna to God and the Lamb, and glory in the highest.
