FRAGMENTS.

THERE was nothing of much importance stirring in the courts this morning.

A PHONOGRAPH has been established at Woodland in Summit County, with Thomas P. Potts as postmaster.

In the Third District Court yesterday afternoon, Carl L. Larson, a native of Sweden, was admitted to citizenship.

THERE are messages at the Western Union Telegraph office for Lawrence Carter, Burke & O'Connor and S. E. Barnes.

THE labor demonstration which was announced for last evening was again postponed indefinitely on account of the inclemptitudes weather.

THE city is at present infested with a great many vagrants and tough characters and policemen who have occasion to be out late at night should be especially careful.

COMMISSIONER SHEEHAN was occupied this afternoon with the hearing of a small civil suit, in which the sum of $10 and, relating to a plumbing transaction, was the point in dispute.

JAMES D. CUMMINGS was released from the penitentiary this morning, having served a sentence of two years for an assault with intent upon a little girl in this city.

THE joint city and county building committee held a very meeting last night to discuss the plans and specification of the jurid public building, but the result of its labors could not be learned.

A CURIOUS sample of paper mined from sealings by W. J. Woolley, of this city, was sent to the NEWS office yesterday by Mr. F. G. Brooks, traveler, of Main street.

L. C. CHOWMAN has been elected by the West Side Association as its representatives, and will leave for the east in a few days with the object of inducing manufacturers to come and locate in our midst.

THE county clerk has issued marriage licenses to the following: Edwin A. Blodgett, of Salt Lake, to Emma M. Allen, of South Cottonwood; John Myer, of Park City, to Anna Klotz, of Dover, Colorado; D. H. Woods to Carrie Harris, both of Salt Lake.

FUNERAL services over the remains of Mrs. J. L. Dwight, who died of paralysis yesterday, will be held in the Baptist church at 2 p. m. tomorrow. The deceased was a native of New York. She was thirty-eight years of age, and leaves a husband and one child.

A BAND of cheap jewelry peddlers were industriously plying their trade on the main thoroughfares of the city today and enough foolish people were found by them to make their business a paying one. The band is a swindle, pure and simple, and should be stopped by the proper authorities.

AT a meeting of those interested in normal improvement, held in the Twenty-first Ward last evening, it was decided that both male and female branches meet conjointly this season, instead of meeting separately as they had done last season. They will hold their meetings every Wednesday.

THE CIRCUS ARRIVES.

A Splendid Street Procession, Admired by a Large Throng of People.

Early this morning the fifty special cars of the Adam Forepaugh show arrived at the Rio Grande Western depot. It took but a short time to unload the large number of animals and cages. At the show grounds large crowds looked with surprise at the rapidity with which the great canvas structures were reared.

The parade took place promptly at the advertised hour. For novelty and variety as well as extent it certainly appeared to better advantage than any that have as yet been seen here. There were numerous bands of music, beautiful chariots, glittering cages, a fine display of horses and ponies, elaborate elephants and camels. The "Wild West" delighted the spectators. Open cages of wild animals were shown, with keepers sealed in their midst. It was a great parade, full of interest to the assembled throngs of people who lined the streets.

The show remains for two days, giving performances each day at 2 and 8 p. m.; doors open one hour earlier.

MR. J. E. Cooper, the owner of the show, gives it his personal attention. He is the oldest showman in active management. It is to him that many of the improvements of the circus view their adoption. He says he is the detectives, confidence workers and thieves that often make the circus a cloak for their evil deeds.

After purchasing the Adam Forepaugh show he made many extensive additions thereto, and many innovations in respect to its conduct. Among those which would most attract public attention are the rules respecting the price of the shows, which are now: Ground up to the highest possible plank. The seats are absolutely reserved for the audience, and no peddling is permitted. Noisiness and rudeness are exacted from all employes, and there is an apparent disregard for expense in not only making the audience comfortable but in entertaining them with the very best arena attractions money may secure throughout the world. And when it is also known that the tents are absolutely water-proof, it seems as if nothing could prevent the attendance from being fully equal to the capacity beneath the canvas.

WITH THE JUDGES.

A Divorce Case Before Chief Justice Zane—Other Business.

The divorce suit of Helen T. Stephenson vs. Alfred W. Stephenson, on the ground of failure to provide, came before Chief Justice Zane this morning.

The parties were married in Auckland, New Zealand, on January 20th, 1881, and there were five children issue of the marriage. Of these two only are living, a boy and girl, aged respectively six and eight years. The defendant, who is described as an expert accountant and capable of earning a hundred dollars per month, has neither furnished his wife with money nor provided the common necessaries of life for herself and children since August in last year. She has been gaining a livelihood by taking in boarders and doing washing and sewing.

In reply to the judge, Mrs. Stephenson said her husband was not in the habit of getting drunk, but he was very idle. He had been here and did so as recently as last Tuesday.

Dr. C. W. Harvey, who had been summoned to attend the family in a professional capacity, described the defendant as one of the laziest and most neglectful men he had ever met. He on one occasion, when somewhat sick, laid in bed for two or three weeks together from sheer laziness.

Judge Zane—Do you know what his general reputation is?

Witness—I don't know that he has any reputation. He has never paid me anything on my bills for attending him and his wife. As long as he could get his wife to earn money for him I don't think he will work. She appears to be an industrious woman and to work very hard, oftentimes beyond her strength.

Judge Zane granted the divorce as prayed, gave the wife the custody of the children, and upon application of plaintiff's counsel (Mr. E. D. Ingram) directed that the defendant pay $30 attorney's fee, costs, and $25 per month as temporary alimony, the last item dating from the commencement of the present action on July 20th, until now.

OTHER CASES.

Ben W. Driggs, Jr., vs. Geo. Brinkenbach et al.; dismissed on motion of plaintiff without prejudice to himself.

The case of Sarah A. Cramer et al. vs. E. R. Clute, collector, was set for November 2.

Herman Deeps vs. Ben W. Driggs et al.; foreclosure; judgment for the plaintiff; exception by Le Grand Young; also demurrer for defendant on cross complaint of the Zion's Savings bank granted.

BEFORE JUDGE ANDERSON.

The case of John Velteri et al. vs. Wm. Dilmfield, commenced yesterday, was resumed before Judge Anderson this morning, and was still in progress when the court adjourned for the noon recess.

YESTERDAY AFTERNOON'S CASES.

In the Third District court yesterday afternoon, before Judge Anderson, the case of J. F. Dey vs. J. H. Hammond was taken up, the account on which was claimed by Hoffman and W. A. Snyder. Defendant asked permission to file an amended complaint, but was refused, and Judge Anderson passed the case to the head of the calendar.

The jury in the case of John R. Taylor vs. John W. Smith, in which the plaintiff sued to recover $5000 damages for a malicious arrest and false imprisonment, brought in a verdict for the plaintiff for $500.

The case of John Velteri et al. vs. William Dilmfield was next taken up, Stephens & Schroeder appearing for the plaintiff and W. A. Rigney for the defendant. The action is brought to recover the sum of $250 for sinking a well in Tooele county. The defendant put in a counter claim for $1100 for breach of contract. The case was in progress when the court adjourned.

THE "TARNEY" THEATRE.

In the case of Frank L. Parker et al. vs. Charles F. Reynolds et al., in which the plaintiffs sued to recover some $2000, the amount of mechanics' liens on the Franklin avenue variety theatre, Judge Zane yesterday gave judgment for the plaintiff.

LETTER OF ANXIOUS INQUIRY.

The Identity of a Suicide Believed to be Established.

On the afternoon of August 27th last it will be remembered that George Hedger, a Cabinet's Park musician, discovered the badly swollen and decomposed body of an unknown man with a rope around his neck hanging to a tree on the Mansfield estate. In his head was a bullet hole, while at his feet lay a revolver, indicating suicide. The body was brought to this city and identified as being a painter who came to this city in February last.

Marshal Varney last evening received the following letter from Ohio, indicating that the man was from that place:

BRYAN, Sept. 19.

In looking over the Chicago Tribune I saw an account of a gentleman who had committed suicide in Salt Lake City by the park, and signed himself "Matt." My brother left St. Paul in February last, left a wife and daughter named Maud, and we have never heard of him since. I shall endeavor to describe him to the best of my ability. He would be five feet and over; hair auburn, blue eyes, his age about twenty-five, had a large nose and his shoulders. He would be nearly six evenings were darker than fair hair.

Please give me all the information, and if there was no one who knew him before doing the deed. Please address to his wife,

ANNA H. SHEEHY,
Bryan, Williams county, Ohio. Box 203.

Amusements.

Evans and Hoey present Hoyt's play, "A Parlor Match," at the Theatre tonight and will run for the balance of the week and on Saturday matinee. "A Parlor Match" is one of the best of Hoyt's farces and will be enjoyed by all who see it.

Charles E. Evans will be seen tonight in his last engagement of "J. Mac Carter, the irrepressible Rock Agent," and Wm. Hoey will appear as "Old Hoss," the itinerant American tramp—two characters not unfamiliar to this city.

In referring to the company and play, the San Francisco Chronicle of April 5, 91, says: "The Parlor Match, brighter than ever, with the new business and music introduced by Evans and Hoey, were seen at the California Theatre. It is a proof of the great difference there can be in farce-comedy."

Adam Forepaugh's great show paraded the principal streets this forenoon. There are ten huge elephants, and a large menagerie of wild animals of all kinds. The performance this afternoon was largely attended. There will be another performance tonight, and two tomorrow.

A BURGLAR NABBED

And Beaten Almost Into Insensibility By a Bartender.

Shortly after 2 o'clock this morning a lodging house at the rear of the Holmes block, on State street, was broken into by a burglar. He made his way to an apartment occupied by a bartender of the Chamber of Commerce saloon, and as the occupant was asleep, he at once proceeded to ransack the room in search of valuables, but made so much noise that he aroused the bartender from his slumbers, who, as soon as he began to move was accosted by a large revolver being poked into his face. He assured the intruder that he would not molest him if he would only take what only got away. This Mr. Burglar consented to do and once more continued his search for valuables. The bartender continued perfectly quiet for a short time and then suddenly sprang from his bed, disarmed the housebreaker and knocked him almost into insensibility. Officers Hickey and Janney were called in and took the thief to the City Hall, where he was locked up on a charge of burglary.

The fellow gave his name as Thomas Ward, and his age as twenty-two. He was arraigned before Justice Gee this afternoon and pleaded guilty of grand larceny and was held in default of $700 bonds to await the action of the grand jury.

THE SULTAN'S NOTE.

A Diplomatic Document to the Powers Explaining the Bardanelles Trouble.

A MISUNDERSTANDING BY THE NEWSPAPERS.

The old Nessorea Cautious is Force, so nor Goes Having Been Adopted.

By Telegraph to the NEWS.

THE BARDANELLES QUESTION.

The Sublime Porte Explains the Situation to the Powers.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 24.—The Porte has sent a circular to the powers in regard to the passage through the Dardanelles of the vessels of the Russian volunteer fleet. In this communication, the Porte says: "For several years past the vessels of the Russian volunteer fleet have been running between Odessa and Vladivostock. These ships, being under the commercial flag of Russia, are granted free passage through the straits. It has been found, however, the Porte's note continues, "that the vessels are sometimes carrying soldiers, munitions of war, and contraband, owing to a mistake as to their real character." The Porte's instructions, the note adds, given to the officers on duty at the Dardanelles to prevent any further detention of the vessels of the volunteer fleet has been wrongly construed by some of the newspapers, which have made a matter of it, which is a violation of existing treaties. The note concludes with the remark that no new measure has been adopted, and that the old one continues in force.

Oddfellows Leave.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 24.—Most of the visiting Oddfellows have left for their homes, the delegates to the sovereign grand lodge being the only representatives in the city.

Smallpox in Mexico—Coffee.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—Word has been received from the city of Campeche, Mexico, that smallpox is raging there. Over one hundred cases, and more than two hundred deaths are reported. The people are panic-stricken, and the disease is spreading.

An effort was made by one of the members of the coffee exchange to squeeze the market, but the attempt resulted in failure. Three days of bull tossing from in the New York coffee exchange have been attempting to bull the market for September coffee for some time.

Unfortunately for them, they run about of the European years and the big receipts in the cities of Brazil. The coffee began to go down and to spite of the efforts of the bull cliques it kept going lower. Yesterday there was a further drop from five to 15 points. In a week the price of September coffee has gone down one cent a pound, or about $1.37 a bag.

A Terrible Railroad Wreck.

NEWCASTLE, Pa., Sept. 24.—A terrible wreck occurred this morning on the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroad at McKinley siding. At this point a work train with a crew of fifty men were engaged in putting down a new track. While the men were at work the three top of one a freight crashed into it, piling the cars and engines up in a mass. Steam and scalding water were poured over those caught in the wreck. For a moment there was silence, then the air was rent with the shrieks of the wounded. Twenty-five were terribly hurt one of the unknown who escaped injury finished with horror.

The twin men and laborers not injured were at once set to work, these imprisoned in the debris. By 11 o'clock the bodies of eight Italian laborers had been taken from the wreck and, with Engineer Hopkins, this swelled the number of dead to nine. At least twenty men are injured, several of whom cannot recover. All the bodies are terribly mangled and disfigured. In a short time physicians and citizens were at the scene, rendering all assistance possible. All Pittsburgh is delayed, but a large force of men are at work clearing the track.

The Funeral of Jos. Wm. L. Scott.

ERIE, Penn., Sept. 24.—The funeral of the late Hon. Wm. L. Scott took place from his late residence this afternoon. The services were simple, but impressive. Among the most noted of the many distinguished persons present were ex-President Cleveland, Senator Calvin S. Brice, Governor Pattison, President Roberts of the Pennsylvania road and President Hughes of the Northwestern.

A Republican State Convention.

LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 24.—The Republican State convention was called to order here at 10 o'clock this morning by Chairman Watson of the State central committee. He made a brief speech, congratulating the delegates upon the large attendance, and predicting success for candidates to be nominated.

"If signs are true," said Chairman Watson, "the Republican National convention at Omaha (cheers) in 1892 will nominate the next President of the United States, and that man will be the glorious captain of the gallant ship of the State, the skillful navigator, the fearless leader, the bright, brilliant, and brave Thomas B. Reed."

At the mention of the name of Reed, a wind from the roof was touched and the portrait of the Speaker of State stepped in sight. The effect was magnificent. Five hundred delegates immediately sprang to their feet and cheered. In concluding his speech, the chairman introduced George R. Thomas of Grand Island as temporary chairman. He was greeted with cheers. His speech was brief, consisting mostly of a profession of Republican success.

The temporary officers were declared permanent and a committee on resolutions was appointed.

Among the resolutions introduced and referred to the committee was one opposing any foreign alliance with the Democratic party.

All resolutions were referred to the committee on platform and the convention took a recess until 2:30 this afternoon.

The committee on resolutions immediately met and began the formulation of a platform. There was a little difference of opinion as to the financial and transportation question. It was finally decided to place the Republicans of Nebraska on record as declaring for honest money and endorsing the Republican legislation in the last Congress on the silver question. Explicit endorsement of the tariff rates was demanded, and the McKinley tariff law and principle of reciprocity were warmly endorsed. The administration of President Harrison is approved, and the Nebraskans point with pride to the diplomatic victories achieved by the State and national representatives under the present Republican administration, in securing the admission of American pork into France and Germany.

Abundant Harvest in Turkey.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 24.—Further details of the Riots at Ichang, China, state that the Catholic and Protestant missions and houses of Europeans were burned. The Chinese were plundered and burned. The immediate cause of the riots was the bringing to the city of the body of a stolen child, by an unknown person. The Franciscan sisters and the priest were badly hurt. All are now on board the steamer. The consular officials are under arrest. The damage to property is $300,000.

Miss Helen Strunk by Lightning.

During the terrible storm of last Tuesday night, lightning struck a tree in front of the residence of M. Strunk of Hyrum, and split it in two, leaving the two halves standing. Miss Mollie Moles, who was in the act of pulling down a window in the second story of the house, was struck by the lightning bolt and stretched in great pain upon the floor. During the night she was afflicted with nausea, headache and pain in her body and has since suffered greatly from the shock, though, we are very pleased to be able to state, she is now much better and able to be around.—Logan Nation.

Cork Coverings for Steam Pipes.

A paper on the superior value of cork coverings for steam pipes and as a protection of water service pipes from frost has been published by a French engineer. According to the paper, one variety of these coverings which is found to be very efficient consists of pieces of cork, shaped to fit the different sizes of pipes, with milled joints, similar to the staves of a barrel, which are placed around the pipe and for the time bound to the pipe by strings. After the pipe so covered has been used with steam for some time and the cork been sufficiently dried, the crevices are filled in and the string replaced by wire—effects being also covered in the same manner—and, after the covering is finally fixed, the pores and crevices are closed by a coat of paint or lime wash.

In another arrangement, as proposed, rectangular blocks of cork, about 1 1-4 inch wide, and varying in thickness from one-fourth of an inch for small pipes to five-eighths of an inch for pipes from four inches in diameter and upward, are cemented to strips of cloth by an India rubber solution, are wound, the bands are lapped spirally around the pipes and elbows and covered by another band of waterproof canvas lapped in the same manner, so as to cover the joints of the cork bands, the whole being afterwards covered by a thick coating of paint or tar.

Earthquakes and Water.

Besides the active agencies which are continually acting to destroy earthworms, though apparently with comparatively little effect, these animals have a habit of seeking destruction on their own account, which looks very like a determined effort at suicide. On any wet morning the shallow puddles in the roadways and elsewhere are often occupied by the dead bodies of worms or by individuals at their last gasp. Have these worms voluntarily sought a watery grave? Or do they represent, as Darwin thought, merely the sickly and dying individuals which have been washed out of their burrows by the rain? Darwin's explanation is probably pretty true, but it is also credible that the healing of the puddles by the rain may have something to do with the great mortality of the annelids.

Cold fresh water seems to be practically harmless, though salt water is rapidly fatal to earthworms. M. Perrier, a French naturalist, whoever paid great attention to the group, kept various species submerged in water for months uninjured; and in this country there is one species, and another in the Falkland islands, which commonly prefer its native life or a great portion of it to stream and pools. The same earthworm is therefore somewhat addicted but when applied to those forms, which have, however, no particular relation to the normally aquatic allies of earthworms.—Chambers' Journal.

Thought They Were Fooling Him.

A young Englishman, who has been living heredoubt for a time, but who enjoys his weekly walk in the suburbs, was accosted by a little girl on Sunday and, the other day "I can't find a good soap of New York and its cars was. They don't seem to be made up to the present date. Now, I was out one afternoon strolling on the Pell-mele and I rather lost my bearings. Toward nightfall I struck into a wood road where there was no one in sight but a little girl. 'Hi, little girl,' I says, 'wherever am I bound for?' 'You're goin to Gnawed Off, sir,' says she. Uneasy about name, Gnawed Off!

"There was a village at the end of the road and I just caught a train there for New York. 'What place was that?' says I to the conductor. And he answers, as cool as you please, 'Gnawed Off.' I've looked at every map I can find and there's no such place. Now, is there a village called Gnawed Off, or was the child and the man guying me, should you think?

The reply was: "There's no town of that name, but there's Northcliff in New Jersey."

"Really!"—Brooklyn Eagle.

It is known that wasps' nests often take fire, supposed to be caused by the chemical action of the wasp upon the paper material of the nest itself. May this account for many mysterious fires in barns and outbuildings?

I feel it my duty to say a few words in regard to City's Cream Balm, and I do so entirely without solicitation. I have used it more or less half a year. I have found it to be a most admirable. I have suffered from catarrh of the worst kind for over since I was a little boy and I have tried for years, but Cream Balm seems to do even that. Many of my acquaintances have used it with excellent results.—Oscar Ostrum, 43 Warren Ave., Chicago, Ill.

We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and Bucklen's Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell so well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. A. C. Smith & Co., Druggists. 1
