DIFFERENT STORY TO RELATE TODAY

Indians and Babies Turn Tables On the Reillyites and Lobsters.

BOTH TEAMS WERE DEFEATED.

Redskins Pounded Thomas for Nine Hits, Netting 5 Runs—Babies Hammered Castleton for Fourteen.

The Utah teams met with a reverse yesterday afternoon, and there is a different story to tell today.

Salt Lake lost to Spokane, 5 to 4; and Ogden lost to Boise, 7 to 4. What will it be today?

The game at Spokane was watched by about 500 fans, who tried vainly to keep warm. The Indians wrenched victory from the Reillyites in the last half of the ninth when there did not seem a ghost of a show for them to win. But they managed to bunch hits on Thomas and soon turned the tide of battle and warmed up the freezing fans. Five hits in a bunch, followed by an error by Delmas, caused the Salt Lakers' undoing. This combination netted four runs and won the game.

Up to this inning, Thomas had everything his own way.

The Indians made a miserable showing at bat up to this inning when they woke up and began to do things. No one expected such a pyrotechnical display and the spectators went wild with joy. The detailed score follows:

BABIES DEFEAT LOBSTERS.

After two men were out in the eighth, McIntyre of the Boise team, brought in two runs. This was the feature of the game, with the exception of the Babies' batting. Fourteen times they found Castleton's delivery and clouted the spherold out for safe ones. McFarlan was a bit wild at times, but for all that he pitched a good game. Ogden made nine hits. Boise made five errors to Ogden's one, but as the Babies won the game, the errors did not matter much. The detailed score follows:

Trophies to the value of $1,000 will be offered, and the sport is to be boomed for all it is worth. Among the business firms that have offered prizes are the following: Western Sporting Goods & Arms company, Salt Lake Hardware company, Utah Lumber company, Pacific Lumber company, King Hardware company, Smith Drug company, Carthey-Dumbeck company and Kenyon hotel.

BROWN INELIGIBLE.

Varsity Runner Debarred from Meet at Provo.

The active and rapid growth of athletics in American colleges has created a class of men known as "Athletic tramps," which the college faculties have recently adopted stringent rules to keep out of their schools. The athletic tramp registers in football or track season, and gets $20 a week for sweeping out the gymnasium from the enthusiastic athletic manager, who wants to win at all costs. The University of Utah hasn't yet been afflicted with this sort of parasite, but to guard against its coming the faculty has decided to put in force a strict study qualification rule. It provides that a man to compete in university athletics must be carrying at least 10 units of college work in good standing. The application of the rule has created an important vacancy in the track squad by dropping out a few speedy men, who were behind in their studies. The most harrassing attack came yesterday when it was announced that George Brown must leave the squad on account of deficiencies in his scholarship. Brown was dropped from a three-hour course for five unexcused absences, which left him carrying less than the required number.

His loss will be keenly felt by the squad as he was one of the best runners on the team, and that department is scantily provided with good men. The policy of the faculty, however, is not objected to, as it is known that in the long run it will protect the track team from members who haven't a full right to be on it, and therefore maintain the sport on a purely amateur and healthful basis.

THE MATINEE RACES.

First Event Will Take Place on May 20—Entries Now in.

Members of the Salt Lake Driving club held a meeting yesterday afternoon and decided to hold the first matinee on May 20. Practically all the best horses of the city have been entered for the events. The entries received today are as follows: L. H. Curtis entered Pearl; C. H. Thompson, Osmount, Amarea and Joe McGregor; James Ellerbeck, Mack; Dr. J. Casson, Ed Conroy, Tom McCoy, Cold Storage and Jeff; F. Ferguson, Miss Wilkes; A. J. Shores, The Wave; Al Pendleton, Kangaroo; Ezra Thompson, Robert E. J. T. Richards, Doctor Fraser; James Devine, Marshall Murat; Dr. G. F. Stichl, Black Shaw, A. J. Edwards, Attoka Colt; Paul Hammer, Jr., Laura Spurr; C. J. Crabtree, Bananas; P. J. Morman, Cal; John Dubel, Teddy; W. S. Jones, American Fleet.

The owners will race their horses in the classes to be decided upon by a committee composed of J. S. Bransford, N. M. Hamilton and A. T. Egan. The meet will be free to everybody. Prizes offered so far are a rubber tired cart, a $50 harness and another cart. More are coming.

ON THE RACE TRACK.

Played at 12 to 1, Follow Me Proved a Repeater and Won.

San Francisco, April 27.—Although played at 12 to 1, Follow Me proved to be a repeater and won the second race, which was highly exciting. The start in this race was in front of the grandstand, and the racegoers witnessed another accident when Chestnut stumbled and threw Jockey Smith. Edgecliffe was the choice and he outgamed Cotillion for the place in the last 100 yards. In the opening event Dangerous Girl showed marked improvement and at odds of 13 to 1 gave evidence of considerable speed, beating out Midmont and Rey del Mundo. The second race was marred by Jackful, one of the favorites, taking a tumble just after the barrier was released. Jockey F. Sullivan escaped without injury and the horse ran around the track riderless. Weather, clear; track, fast. Summary:

First race, four furlongs—Dangerous Girl won, Midmont second, Rey Del Mundo third. Time—:49¾.

Second race, seven furlongs—Laura F. M. won, Warte Nicht second, Hi Caul Cap third. Time—1:27¼.

Third race, mile and a sixteenth—Flaunt won, Possart second, Tannhauser third. Time—1:47.

Fourth race, one mile—Follow Me won, Edgecliffe second, Cotillion third. Time—1:41¼.

Fifth race, one mile—Redmont won, Hindoo Princess second, Circus third. Time—1:42.

Sixth race, one mile—Lucrece won, Ralph Young second, Forest King third. Time—1:41.

ABOUT RUBE WADDELL.

Some Say the Peculiar Pitcher Came From Borneo—It is Doubted.

Some biographies of Reuben Waddell assert that he came from Borneo, and while no proof can be disclosed, there is sufficient ground for entertaining a suspicion. The only other place that has ever been mentioned as his native land is Kansas, and for the purpose of this sketch it's 9 to 10 on either place and take your pick.

Rube acquired his eye by throwing gourds through window panes. This was when he was very young, and it gave him nothing more than a local reputation. One day in early youth his father took him to the county fair, where Rube coughed up his only nickel for three throws at the living man's head. After the first ball the living man threw up the job and took an easy position with a museum breaking rocks on his cranium.

There wasn't much on the farm to attract Rube and he left one night. The following morning they found the plow on the windmill, the corn planter was astride the roof of the neighboring church, while the hay rake was discovered in the oat bin.

A short time later Rube appeared on Broadway, New York, where Gus and Max Rogers saw him first, and the next day they sung for the first time that thrilling song, "When Reuben Comes to Town." Then all the song writers got busy, and "Reuben, Reuben, I've Been Thinking," had a good run for a while.

With plenty of fame to go on, Rube decided to be a ball player, and right there the path of the baseball managers changed from a bed of roses to slats covered with barbed wire. Unfortunately for Milwaukee he landed there in the closed season for fishing. If it had been the open season it wouldn't have aggravated Rube, but the idea of not being permitted to fish preyed on his mind and he violated all the game laws as rapidly as possible.

Tom Loftus was then at the height of his glory as manager of the cubs and it was declared that any man Tom couldn't manage was beyond help. Tom took the job of handling Rube with a smile of confidence, but whenever it came Rube's turn to pitch he was sitting on the end of a pier catching perch; and when someone else was in the box Rube was around begging Loftus to let him win the game.

Without recounting that Rube lost this and several other jobs, we jump to the great discovery made by Connie Mack of Philadelphia that the way to manage Rube was to let him do what he wanted to. These tactics, varied with the policy of insisting on his not doing the thing most desired of him, have been eminently successful, and he is still with Philadelphia, much to the glory of the Athletics and the discomfiture at times of several managers who are sorry they didn't learn the trick.

"PENNY" GOSSIP.

The big track and field meet between the University of Utah and the B. Y. U. of Provo, takes place at Provo tomorrow afternoon.

President Barter of the Grade Schools league has called a meeting for tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at the Lafayette school. Captains of the teams are requested to be present.

Physical Director Bean of the L. D. S. U. had his sprinters out yesterday and today for practise. He is giving the runners a chance to show what they can do on the Agricultural park track. Bean and members of his team will attend the meet at Provo tomorrow.

Coach Yost of Michigan is writing a chapter to prove that the professional coach does not lack sympathy with amateur sports. A college professor recently remarked that he could scrape up quite a chunk of enthusiasm for the same salary.

There is great rivalry between the Short Lines and the Cleveland Commission company baseball teams. The sum of $200 a side has been posted for a series of three games, the winner to take the pot. The first game may be played tomorrow afternoon at Walker's field. Both teams are in good shape for the conflict.

Malachy Hogan of the Chicago Record-Herald has the following to say anent the Schreck-Gardner contest: George Gardner's defeat by Mike Schreck at Salt Lake City Monday night must have been a big disappointment to the former light-heavyweight champion. Schreck has never been accounted more than a good second rater. From what I have heard of the contest he showed little improvement in his fight with Gardner.

The battle showed that the man who conquered Jack Root and gave Bob Fitzsimmons a hard fight has gone hopelessly back. He has absorbed too much punishment in the ring, and is too weak physically to undertake twenty-round bouts.

Rufe Turner is called. The crack colored lightweight can have a battle with Battling Nelson providing he agrees to his terms, which are not unreasonable. Nelson had his mind set on fighting Britt, but the latter will have nothing to do with him until he has disposed of White, though the pride of Hegewisch has offered James tempting inducements. Being anxious to fight somebody, Nelson agreed to box Turner and he made the following statement to the sporting editor of the San Francisco Bulletin the other day:

"For several weeks I have read notices in the different dailies where one Rufe Turner has been seeking an engagement with me. Now, in the first place, I wish to state that I am not anxious for a match with any colored man, not because I have any fear of his greatness, for I have seen him perform and I have not considered him seriously. For several weeks my manager has received communications from different clubs anxious to make a match between Turner and myself and he paid no attention to them for the reason that he did not think that we would draw a house large enough to compensate me for my work. I preferred to meet Joe Gans, the champion lightweight of the world. The latter has been offered very tempting inducements by the local clubs, but Joe has evaded the issue by declining to meet me. Now Rufe Turner and his friends have repeatedly stated that he could get any amount of backing to beat me. They have said they would meet me at any weight from 128 pounds up, so I hope now that they will keep their word. I will agree to meet the Stockton Terror at 130 pounds at 8 o'clock on the day of the battle, providing that one of the clubs will offer suitable inducements, and his friends make a side bet of $2,000. I am making this match against the wishes of my friends, who do not want to see me fight Turner, as he is a colored man, but I wish the public to know that Battling Nelson will not back down or show any symptoms of cowardice from any lightweight that lives, white or black. Jimmy Britt and others all over the country have repeatedly refused to meet Turner, using the color line as the barrier. I hope Turner and his friends will toe the scratch and put up their coin like good sports. If they do we won't be long in signing the articles of agreement. Gans or Turner will be the only colored men that I will do business with from now on.

"I will post the money with your paper today, and hope that I will get some action for it this time. White and Britt did their turns of bluffing, and I had to draw my money down. I hope when Jimmy Britt gets through with White that he will keep his word and meet me, as I am anxious to give him what he really deserves—a good, sound beating, but, as I have often said before, he is not game enough to enter the ring with me again, as he now realizes better than ever that I am his master."
