FRANCE IN MOURNING

The Sad Fate of President Carnot Causes Sorrow Everywhere.

MESSAGES OF SYMPATHY.

The Crime Committed to Avenge the Executions of Vaillant and Emil Henri.

PARIS, June 25.—The deepest sorrow, dismay and anger prevails throughout France over the cowardly assassination of President Carnot. Telegrams of sympathy are pouring in from all the world. Newspapers of all shades of opinion deplore the assassination. Throughout France flags are at half mast and public buildings are draped. Mme. Carnot accompanied by three sons arrived at Lyons this morning. She proceeded immediately to the prefecture, where the body of the late president reposes in state. The death chamber was cleared and the family left alone. They remained a long time in prayer before the bier. Then the widow was led away by her sons, all weeping bitterly. Later the remains were photographed.

It is stated that Mme. Carnot does not desire the body to be embalmed and wishes it removed immediately from Lyons to this city to lie in state in the chapel of the Elysee palace. The remains of the murdered man are clad in a dress suit and across the breast is the grand cordon of the legion of honor, of which as chief of the state he was grand master. The high officers of the president's military household and sisters of charity watched the remains throughout the night. The prefecture is surrounded by troops and a strong detachment is guarding the building in which Giovanni Santo, the assassin, is confined.

On the boulevards scenes of the greatest excitement have been witnessed today. The police had difficulty in dispersing the crowds of angry people who assembled at different points calling for vengeance against the murderer and his supposed accomplices. Several Italian flags displayed out of sympathy with France's loss and draped with crepe were hooted at and at least one was torn into shreds. In every quarter fierce demonstrations against Italian residents have taken place. Nearly all Italian cafes and restaurants have been closed. But if the feeling against the Italians is strong, the sentiment of hate with which the majority regard the anarchists is still stronger. The murderer, Santo, has boldly asserted that he is an anarchist. It is reported the police are convinced that the assassination of Carnot is the result of a plot.

The government will propose to the chambers that Carnot be accorded a national funeral.

THE ASSASSIN'S WEAPON.

The weapon used by the murderer was a long triangular blade of the stiletto pattern. Upon the blade are engraved the words, "Record of Toledo." The sheath of the weapon is of velvet, with red and black stripes.

President Carnot's last words were, "Thank you, my friends, thank you."

THE MURDERER.

Santo was born at Motta, Visconti, northwest of Pavia, in December, 1873. He is a baker and was tried in Milan in 1892 for breach of peace, but was acquitted.

Santo delivered anarchist lectures of the vilest character before going to Switzerland last year. There no longer seems to be much doubt that the assassination was the result of an Anarchistic conspiracy to avenge the deaths of Vaillant and Emile Henri.

Twenty detectives have gone to Cette, department of Herlault, where Santo recently domiciled, to track down his supposed accomplices.

WHO WILL SUCCEED HIM?

It is believed ex-Premier Casimir Perier, now president of the Chamber of Deputies, has the best chance to succeed the late president. Challemel Lacour, president of the Senate; Cavaignac, Dupuy, Brisson, Constans, and General Saussier are also mentioned.

ITALIANS DISOWN HIM.

The president of the Italian Chamber of Commerce drew up an address of condolence which was signed by the chief Italian residents and presented to Premier Dupuy, who also received a message from Baron Blanc, the Italian minister for foreign affairs, saying that King Humbert, the Italian nation, the two Chambers and the government of Italy shares the grief into which France has been plunged by the hand of an Italian anarchist, a man without a country.

THE MESSAGE FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—The following message was sent by the state department:

Eustis, Ambassador, Paris, France.

Express to the minister of foreign affairs the profound sorrow with which the President and American people have heard the atrocious crime which has robbed a sister republic of its wise, humane and patriotic chief magistrate.

The President sent the following message to Congress:

"The shocking intelligence has been received that the President of France met death yesterday at the hands of an assassin. This terrible event which has overtaken a sister republic cannot fail to deeply arouse the sympathy of the American nation, which viewed termination of a career promising to do much in aid of liberty and to advancing civilization, should be mourned as an affliction of mankind.

[Signed] GROVER CLEVELAND."

THE SENATE ADJOURNS.

The death of President Carnot was a subject of prayer by Rev. Mr. Milburn in the Senate.

Senator Morgan, chairman of the committee on foreign relations, offered the following:

Resolved, That the Senate of the United States unites with the American people in expressing to the people of France sorrow and sympathy in the national bereavement they are suffering from the cruel blow of the assassin which was aimed at the peace of France and fell upon the heart of President Carnot, and as a mark of respect due to the memory of the wise, virtuous and patriotic president of the republic of France the Senate will at the close of this proceeding stand adjourned until tomorrow at 10 o'clock. The President of the United States is requested to communicate this expression of national sorrow to the government of the republic of France and Mme. Carnot. Morgan in a brief speech referred to the patriotism of the people of the French republic and the cordiality of the relations between the two republics. At 12:33 the Senate adjourned.

THE HOUSE RESOLUTION.

The House immediately adjourned after adopting the following offered by McCreary, chairman of the committee on foreign affairs:

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the United States of America has heard with profound sorrow of the assassination of President Carnot, and tenders the people of France sincere sympathy in the national bereavement; that the President of the United States be requested to communicate this expression of sorrow to the government of the Republic of France, and to Mme. Carnot, and that as a further mark of respect to the memory of the people of the French republic, the House of Representatives do now adjourn.

MOURNING IN LONDON.

LONDON, June 25.—Following the precedent adopted at the time of the death of Garfield, the British court will be in mourning out of respect to the memory of President Carnot.

The House of Commons today adopted an address to the crown expressing sorrow, indignation and abhorrence at the murder of President Carnot, and sympathy with France.

SYMPATHY IN ITALY.

ROME, June 25.—All Italian bourses have been closed out of sympathy for France.

CONSTERNATION IN BERLIN.

BERLIN, June 25.—The assassination of President Carnot has created a profound sensation in Berlin. All classes are indignant. Emperor William telegraphed Mme. Carnot condolence in warmly sympathetic terms.

ANXIOUS TO BE KILLED.

A Most Extraordinary Criminal Case in France.

A Murderer Acquitted Because His Victim had Paid Him for Beating His Brains Out.

PARIS, June 25.—The Assize court of Aix-les-Bains has just had before it one of the most extraordinary cases which can be found in the annals of crime. The accused was a boy 18 years of age, named Francois Bertholier, who was charged with the murder of an old man named Blanchard. Bertholier did not deny the crime but made the curious defense that he had killed his victim not only with the latter's consent, but in response to his pressing request. The following extract from his examination by the president of the court gives his version of the crime:

Prisoner—On the day of the arrival of the Russians, Blanchard and I went to Toulon. On the way he told me how miserable he was and how much he desired to end his life. For several hours he tried to persuade me to deliver him from his miseries.

President—Did you not ask him why he did not commit suicide?

Prisoner—He said that he had not the necessary courage and that he had religious scruples. Two days later he came to my room and awakened me, saying: "Francois I count on you for today. I want to get it over before the evening." I was very much astonished. He added: "I will sign a bill for you for 1,800 francs, which you will get from a notary at Carpentias."

President—So this sum of 1,800 francs caused you to consent?

Prisoner—I went down stairs and bought a bill stamp for sixty centimes and drew out the bill, which he signed. Then we went to Joliette to take the tramway. While waiting for it we went into a cafe, where Blanchard made me drink several glasses of peppermint. Then he gave me sixty centimes to buy a knife in a shop. When we were on the tramway Blanchard said to me: "Smoke as much as you can, it will stupify you." At Estaque we again went into a cafe where he made me drink four or five absinthes. Then we continued our route for some time, when suddenly Blanchard stopped, saying: "This place will do." We then went under the bridge which is there. Blanchard undressed and bandaged his eyes with a handkerchief.

President—Did Blanchard lay down himself on the stones there?

Prisoner—Yes monsieur.

President—How many blows did you give him?

Prisoner—Four. He told me to strike him several times and to strike in preference on the temples and where the jugular vein is.

President—You certainly followed his counsel well. Your hand struck with a dexterity that a professional assassin might envy. Did Blanchard die at once?

Prisoner—Yes. He raised himself up slightly and gave a sigh; that was all. I had some blood on my hands, so I went and washed them in the sea, which is about two hundred yards away.

President—Then you returned to Estaque?

Prisoner—Yes. I stopped at a shooting gallery where I fired some shots to divert myself.

President—And did you not feel a remorse, any terror?

Prisoner—Yes, a little.

The jury decided that the prisoner had acted without discernment and acquitted him. The court, however, ordered him to be sent to a reformatory until the age of 20 years.

CROKER WILL RETURN.

His Announcement Causes Surprise Among His Friends.

NEW YORK, June 25.—Richard Croker cabled to his real estate partner, Peter F. Meyer, saying that he will return to this city within the next two weeks, is everywhere the topic of conversation among politicians. The telegram read:

"Will leave June 23 and will arrive in New York July 1."

This news came as a surprise to Mr. Croker's friends both in and out of Tammany Hall. He had intimated before his quiet departure that he would remain in Europe until after the coming elections. It was learned last night that Michael T. Daley, commissioner of public works, Mr. Croker's closest political friend, also received a cablegram from the former chief similar in purport to the one received by Mr. Meyer.

At the Manhattan club, from which Mr. Croker resigned on his departure abroad, his sudden home coming is generally discussed. It is the general opinion that the former Tammany chieftain will return to stand at the bar of the Senate committee and demand a hearing for once and for all.

Republican politicians revived their old theory that Mr. Croker never retired from the Tammany leadership and that he made up his mind his presence is required here at once, if the wigwam is to be saved from overwhelming disaster.

William Wheeler Dead.

HELENA, Mont., June 25.—Col. Wm. F. Wheeler, ex-private secretary to Gov. Medary, of Minnesota Territory, and to Gov. Sibley, first executive of Minnesota state, died here last night, aged 70 years.

In 1857 he located the first line of telegraph in Minnesota from St. Paul to Winona. He was also one of the projectors and incorporators of a railroad from St. Paul to Duluth and secretary of the company. On the breaking out of the war he raised a company, the fourth Minnesota infantry, which was in many battles, being complimented in general orders for gallantry at Corinth.

Severe lung trouble contracted in service caused his discharge for disability. President Grant appointed him marshal for Montana in 1869, and President Hayes reappointed him. He was a native of Orange county, N. Y.

A Peculiar Accident.

HELENA, Mont., June 25.—One of the most peculiar mining accidents on record happened near Boulder. An immense rock weighing at least a ton was loosened by the heavy rains and came crashing down the mountain. It struck square over the mouth of the shaft of the Katie mine and fell to the bottom mangling two miners working there. The shaft was 100 feet deep and the wonder is that the men were not killed outright. Miners say that such a thing has never happened before within their knowledge.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

Delegates Arrive in Vast Numbers from All Parts of the Country.

DENVER, Colo., June 25.—Fully 1,200 Republicans are already here to attend the meeting of the National Republican League, and more are expected tonight. Delegations came in today from Iowa, Utah, Nebraska, Kansas, Indiana and New Mexico, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Kentucky and Tennessee.

The attendance bids fair to be much greater than was anticipated. The Indiana people, for instance, had engaged twelve rooms for their accommodation, but their numbers were so great that forty rooms were necessary to accommodate them, and some difficulty was experienced in securing comfortable quarters.

The Iowa delegation arrived this afternoon. The members attracted considerable attention as they marched through the streets to the Brown Palace Hotel, headed by the Iowa state band. The delegation is a large one and with it are all the state officials except the governor. The people of Iowa are anxious that the Republican National convention should be held at Des Moines, and the delegation has already begun operations in the way of winning delegates over to their way of thinking.

Colorado people are here in large numbers, but little work has been done so far, but the large attendance from the silver-producing sections indicate that the friends of the white metal are ready for a vigorous campaign.

Counterfeiters Unearthed.

LOS ANGELES, June 25.—A gang of counterfeiters has been unearthed on the outskirts of Los Angeles by five members of the detective force of the local police department. For the past three months complaints about spurious coin in this city and the adjacent towns have been numerous. The denominations varied from a nickel to a half eagle. The specimens of this base coinage which occasionally fell into the hands of the police, convinced the detectives that the counterfeiters were experts. A clue obtained by espionage upon an Italian purchasing plaster of Paris, acid and other suspicious compounds to a store, led to the discovery of the gang asleep in an old shanty in the outlying district. The four counterfeiters are all Italians, and are believed to be members of the notorious Alballi Visconte gang captured in San Francisco a year ago, now in San Quentin prison. A search of the headquarters of the gang revealed a complete electro-plating apparatus, over a hundred well executed but spurious coins of various denominations, four plaster of Paris moulds of fine design, a treatise on "electro metallurgy," and melting pots.

The Missouri River Dangerous.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., June 25.—The Missouri is eating away the banks at the foot of the business streets. The situation is dangerous, because the huge sand bars throws the entire stream against the bank on this side.

An Ex-President Arrives.

NEW YORK, June 25.—Jose Rodriguez, ex-president of Costa Rica, and family, arrived today on the steamer Alline from Port Lymon. They will make a tour of the United States and Canada.

THE BILL FOR UTAH.

To Be Called Up When the Tariff Measure Is Out of the Way.

STATEHOOD ALMOST ASSURED.

The Policy of Both Parties Is to Admit our Territory and the Bill Will Probably Pass.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—It is understood to be Senator Faulkner's intention to call up the bill for the admission of Utah after the tariff bill is out of the way. As the bill is unanimously reported from the committee, it being the policy of both sides to admit the Territory, it will probably pass.

DISASTER AT SEA.

The Capsizing of a Tug Causes Great Loss of Life.

NEW YORK, June 25.—The disaster caused by the capsizing of the tug James D. Nichol, off Sandy Hook yesterday is rendered more harrowing by the fact that most of the men leave large families. It is thought that no less than 51 persons perished. So far, however, only seven bodies have been recovered. They are identified as Frank Dunn, Herman Everhard, Keyser, Thomas Mason, Walter Ruckridge. The last named lived in Brooklyn, the others in New York. Among the missing are the following of New York: Frank McAleer, William Moore, Albert Palat, Fred Vohling, Solomon Orleman and Christian Beahn. Among the wreckage washed ashore are two kegs of beer. Captain John Hyde, commander of the illfated tug, is 23 years of age. I could count but 28 passengers on the tug when she left the east end stopping place pier 3, East River," said Hyde today. "There were five men in the crew, making 33, all told. We were lying off Seabright at anchor when the wind began to freshen. We raised anchor, intending to leave. We were about three-quarters of an hour from shore. The passengers thinking they might get wet, all crowded to the port side. I asked them to divide and part take the starboard side, but no heed was paid. The sea was somewhat choppy but not what could be called heavy. I thought if we ran out some distance we would make better weather. We were in no apparent danger, except for the people crowding to the port side. I suddenly saw a heavy swell bearing down upon us, closely followed by a second. I called again to the people to take the starboard side of the boat, but it was not done. When the first wave struck us, I cried: "For God's sake get over to the other side." I pulled the whistle rope then as a signal of distress and seeing the great danger, tied it down. It kept going till the Nichol went down. After the boat had careened under the second swell, Al. Hammond, a deck hand, and myself climbed through the starboard windows of the pilot house and went overboard. A life raft was near the spot where the tug sank and I made for it. There were passengers hanging to it and their struggles capsized it. When I arose to the surface I managed to grasp it again. The crew of the boat were all picked up by the tug Sayre.

"I am not a drinking man and had touched no liquor whatever. Had the passengers acted as I told them we would have come through all right."

The infant that was the only survivor of the party of six in the boat that capsized yesterday off South Brooklyn, has been identified as the child of Charles Nelson, of Brooklyn. It is thought those drowned were the child's parents and little brother, Kate Higgins, a servant, and a man who lived with the Nelsons.

Women on the Warpath.

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., June 25th.—Since the men attacked a trainload of coal and iron police at Adrian last night, the women have put on the war paint at Walston. Early today they massed and charged upon a work train, but before any serious damage was done the guards drove them off. At noon Captain Blake, of the coal and iron police in Adrian, was pounced upon and beaten by women. Stones were thrown at General Manager Fisher's train last night. Both engineer and fireman were hurt.

"It is understood, however, that this resolution is not intended to pass the title to said jail, but simply to give the use thereof to said Sandy City until such time as Salt Lake County may make such other disposition thereof as it may determine proper."

This was in response to a letter from Recorder Emil Hanvilson, in behalf of Sandy City corporation, the "cage" being required "for the purpose of keeping county and Sandy City prisoners in when occasion necessitate it."

THE SUPREME COURT.

The Last Week of the Present Term Opened This Morning.

OPINION, AND PETITIONS DENIED.

An Interesting Case Involving Property Rights—Other Appeals from the District Courts.

It was nearly 10:30 this morning—half an hour after the usual opening time—when the judges of the Territorial supreme court took their seats on the bench. The rulings consisted of one opinion and the denial of three petitions for a rehearing of cases. The proceedings of today's session are reported below.

MINER SUSTAINED.

Judge Merritt rendered the opinion in the case of [illegible] Hansen et al, appellants, vs [illegible] Fletcher et al, respondents, Judges Bartch and Smith concurring.

It was an appeal from the Fourth district—Judge Miner—and the judgment of the lower court was affirmed.

PETITIONS FOR REHEARING DENIED.

In the matter of the Anderson Pressed Brick Company vs Daniels & Williams, appellants, the petition for a rehearing was denied.

The same order was made in the case of Dennis Daniher, respondent, vs the Grand Lodge A. O. U. W., jurisdiction of Nevada, etc., appellants.

Also in the cases of Martha Turner, respondent, vs the Utah Title, Insurance and Trust Co., defendant, Frank Kimball, special administrator, intervenor, and appellant.

MONEY IN CONTROVERSY.

L. W. Bacon, plaintiff and respondent, vs John H. McChrystal and Noah McChrystal, defendants and appellants.

Appeal from Third district—Judge Bartch.

This was an action brought by respondent to recover from appellants the sum of $1,200 paid as part of the purchase price under a parol contract for the sale and purchase of land, with interest, etc. Judgment was rendered against John A. McChrystal for $1,500.00, and from the order overruling motion for a new trial this appeal is taken.

CONSTRUCTION OF A STATUTE.

The Carey-Lombard Co., respondents, vs Chas. Sheets and Thos. W. Partridge, appellants.

Appeal from Third district—Judge Bartch presiding.

This case was originally tried by a referee on stipulation of facts. The transaction out of which it arose occurred while the law of March 12, 1890, was in force; therefore it has become necessary to construe that statute as applied to the facts. Among the errors ascribed, it is claimed that the court erred in finding that plaintiff was entitled to an order of sale directing the sale of the property and the proceeds applied in payment of plaintiff's claim and costs. Motion for a new trial was overruled, and this ruling is now appealed from.

PERFECTING A DEED.

The case of Harriett T. Drake, appellant, vs Rachel Reggel et al, respondents, was first taken up on appeal from Third district—Judge Zane.

It is a case replete with legal technicalities and concerns a deed to certain property.

The suit was referred to Hon J. L. Rawlins, as referee, for hearing, and he found that the plaintiff had not any right, title, interest or claim to the property; this was confirmed by the district court; and hence the appeal.

The Inventory of Utah's Order Received by the Acting-Governor.

Acting-Governor Richards received the following self-explanatory communication this morning:
