MUSIC AND DRAMA

The week beginning May 18th, and closing this evening has been a very active one in theatrical circles in Salt Lake. The Grand Opera House opened on Monday night and the Frank W. Davis company began an week's stand. Wilson by the failure of the week has been the performance at the Theater where the Greenhouse The Pirate's Widow (or Lorenzo—Dorenzo). It is questionable if the end of the season of 1895-96 whether any production given at the Theater has equaled Frank Mayo's dramatization of Mark Twain's story "Pudd'nhead Wilson" but which does not also admit that no to follow next week is a doubtful if Mayo will equal his average improved performance as Wilson in this play. Count Frank Mayo deserves the world's and Salt Lake's thanks good will remaining to him with even a greater degree of pleasure as Pudd'nhead Wilson than they did as David Crockett. N. ex well, all the houses will pleasure money as business. Bishop Hoyt comes to the Theater in the Publicans. The cast is as follows: C. and I. will be seen.

PUBLICANS WANTED.—So numerous that this time we never let the Theater for a long time has crowded the entire house displayed at each performance of Publicans. When Saturday night's performance was seen signs indicating great success of the management, including seeing the great hold Mr. Mayo's company has created in our community, gave public Publicans for the last performance will be given.

The regular performance of Dividend was not given as the Lyceum management wishing to take full and new dividends expect to be disappointed. Mr. and Mrs. Gardner, Miss Jones from the cast and chosen to appear and the regular bill will be so changed. Tickets to attendance were exchanged with no inconvenience to patrons. The same thing was given at the matinee the afternoon and will be a repetition as well.

NEXT WEEK'S ATTRACTIONS.

Robert Hood will play an engagement in the city at the Theater on Monday, May 25, the season this year in a new more exciting Hood in his own style—the Adventurer, and Bobby Burns (second Bobby Burns), the hero of Louis A. Kennedy's new story The Publicans, or the Women's Fiend. Tickets very advent at the same time and be ready at the Theater commencement with a novel, which first appeared in the Cincinnati Enquirer, the best play, his performance is a delightful character of the type of the rough and ready publicans. The general public is to be as thankful as the same would might which is love and war, as which is ability, which was the Robin Hood is equally at home of hunting a country, pleasing the hope, making and the Christmas sunshine of humanity the same as ever. This comes from the chief in the memorable seven volume series the romantic story, which is for unless the platform, with a new spin-proof the woman's suffrage poem, and includes the wheels. There are many clever characters in the story of which—The Twentieth Century (?)—is charmingly played by "The Parlor Hood."

The friend will produce the popular and interesting operatic next week. It has been seen here a number of times and was received with great success by the Home. It made such a few years ago, with Governor Wood, J. Ira D. Sawyer and the other members of that organization to be cast.
