DAY FOR MUD LARKS AT THE OGDEN RACES

Rain Makes Soft Traveling for the Ponies at the Meet in Junction City.

Mud and rain in plenty was dished up to the ponies at the Ogden races yesterday. It was a day for mud larks and the horses that like the soft going had an inning. In the first race, although Luxurio did not get away at the barrier, she took the lead of the race at the three-quarters and breezed home an easy winner. Salpearl was given a poor ride, which accounts for his landing in second position, while Abra was the best Kismet could do.

Harvey finished with a great rush in the second event, taking first money from M. Canoman and the Eel in the order named. Dora Payne had no chance with the break.

The rain began to come down by the time the third was run off, and Maud McGregor found the going to her liking. She took the lead at the first post and kept it home, winning over Rose Daly by a length, and Cobbleskill another length away.

Fore was the best mudder in the fourth and won over Arthur Hyman and May Bride in the order named, making every post a winning one.

A boil in the mud, Molly Montrose just lasted in the fifth race, Burning Bush coming on with a rush, lost out by a scant nose. It was the prettiest finish of the day. Halton was third, five lengths away.

Meringo proved a better mudder than Inclement in the last event and won for this reason. Cardinal Sarto did his best and landed third.

IVER LAWSON IS BACK FROM EAST

Iver Lawson, the well known bicycle rider, who has been riding at Vailsburg, returned to Salt Lake Tuesday night. Iver was called back on account of his wife's illness.

Speaking of his experience at Vailsburg, Lawson said:

"The bike season which closed last Sunday was the best Vailsburg has ever had, and to both the riders and management it was a financial success. The only hitch for the year came in Kramer's refusal to ride in the 5-mile race, the closing event for the championship, as it was originally scheduled. He managed, however, to win over the N. C. A. officials, and they, with Kramer, lost a lot of friends with the fans.

"Despite the fact that Kramer defeated Clarke for the championship, there are a great many, among them I am one, who believe that Clarke is the better man. The little Australian is riding in great form and will be heard from next year.

"As for myself, I rounded to better each week, and in the 25-mile race I was going as good as ever and much better than in the past two seasons. I am going to team with Demara in the New York 6-day race. Pye and Hehir will be together and Clarke and Moran. Big McFarland is still bothered by his shoulder, which he broke training behind pace, and may not ride.

"The boys are all in good shape and are getting ready for the Buffalo grind. I will return to the east as soon as my wife's health permits."

JUNIOR ELEVEN MEETS DEFEAT

There was a practise game on the high school campus Tuesday afternoon between the juniors and the regular team, the juniors losing by a score of 11 to 6. Once the juniors got the ball to the board line when the regulars held for downs. Convill played in the game and made a run the entire length of the field for a touchdown. The teams lined up as follows:

High School.		Juniors.
Lodge, Kessler	L.E.	Midgley.
Wilkinson, Winner	L.G.	Romney
Hall, Kirby	L.T.	Clay

AMAZING OFFER FROM BILL BRADY

Posts $10,000 Which He Will Give Jeffries If Latter Fights Kaufman Within 90 Days.

New York, Nov. 10.—William A. Brady, whose dislike for James J. Jeffries, whom he formerly managed, is well known, has posted $10,000 with a stakeholder with the understanding that the entire sum is to go to Jeffries if he will fight "Al Kaufmann within 90 days." Brady stipulates that the fight is to be the stakeholders of the wagers and of the private or in public, as Jeffries may elect, and that if held in public, Jeffries can have the entire gate receipts.

In addition to the $10,000 which Brady is willing to give Jeffries to get into the ring with Kaufmann, he also posted $1,000 to go as forfeit for a side bet of $10,000 that Kaufmann will be the victor if the fight is held. Felix Isman of Philadelphia, covered this sum, taking the Jeffries end. Furthermore, Brady bet $4,000 to $3,000 with Isman that Johnson will beat Jeffries. Max Blumenthal is to stakeholder of the wagers and of the $10,000 which Brady posted for Jeffries.

When the money was up, Isman called on Jeffries and told him that he would post the additional $10,000 for a side bet and that if Jeffries beat Kaufmann he would get at least $20,000 for the fight. Jeffries was surprised at the offer but he said, "It is so soft that it looks suspicious. Everyone knows Brady's dislike for me. I will give an answer this afternoon."

STARS DEFEAT SUGAR HOUSE BOYS

The Stars scored another victory Tuesday afternoon when they defeated the Sugar House eleven by a score of 16 to 6. The game was a hard-fought one from start to finish. The line-up was as follows:

Stars.		Sugar House.
Stillwell	R.L.E.	Barnes
McCallop	L.T.	Watkins
Brown	L.G.	Jackson
Casey-Mann	C.	Emels, Garnett
Smith	R.G.	Lindsay
Carroll, Bibb	R.T.	Irvine
Levier	R.E.	Barton
Ward, Harris	Q.B.	Hansen
Brinkley	L.H.B.	Pratt
Heusser	R.H.B.	White, Edmonds
Fuccy	F.B.	Swartz

NO GAME WITH BUTTE.

There will be no football game this year between the Granite and Butte high school teams. Word has been received from Butte to the effect that the team there could not play on Nov. 20 and Coach Moss of the farmers says there will be no attempt to take the team to Butte.

AN INDIAN WHO COULD HIT SOME

A lot of good football stories have been going the rounds lately, and some of them old ones, but none better than the one Barkie Donald, now a lawyer in Boston and a member of the Harvard advisory football committee, tells of, on himself, in a game that Harvard played against the Carlisle Indians in 1896.

It was the first time Harvard and Carlisle had met—Harvard winning, 4 to 0—and Donald played tackle against Bemus Pierce, probably the finest specimen of physical development the Indians ever had, as well as a wonderful player.

Donald, none too gentle a player, for he had to fight every day against Bert Waters, then a coach, knew how to use his arms against the Indian and also, when charging him, how to do a little execution with his elbows and the open hand, just as the play was coming on. He was playing legitimately under the old game. He roughed it with the big Indian and caught him hard several times. But finally Bemus Pierce had something to say.

"Mr. Donald," he said quietly, "you have been hitting me, and if you do it again I shall hit you." But Donald did not heed the warning, and in the next play he bowled at Bemus harder than ever for extra measure. Still the big Indian did not retaliate at the time.

But on the next play—well "I thought I was hit by a sledge hammer in the next scrimmage," said Donald after the game. "I remember charging, but that was all. I was down and out, but when I came to I somehow wobbled to my feet and went back against the Indian. I was so dazed I could just see the big fellow [illegible] about, and as we sparred off for the next play he said in a matter-of-fact tone:

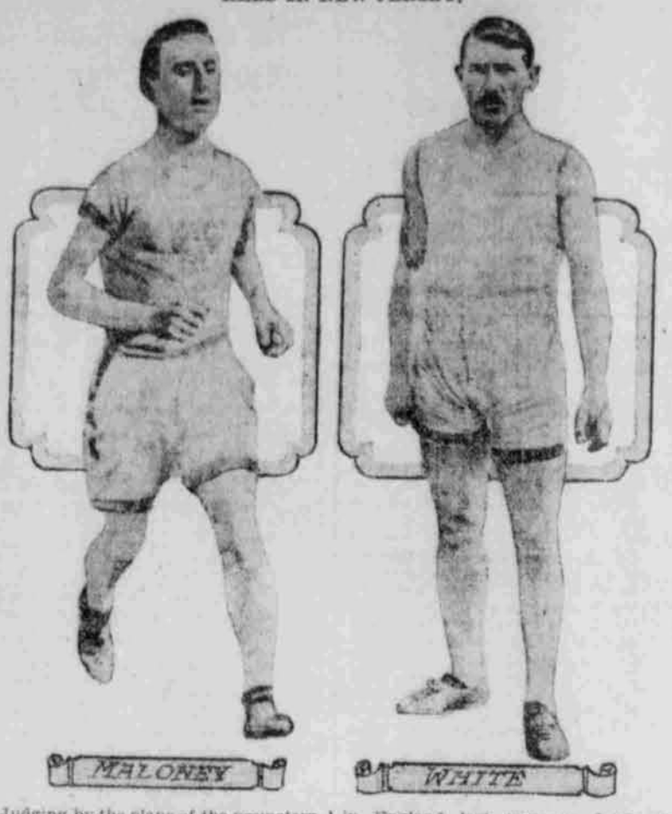
"Mr. Donald—You hit me one, two, three times. I hit you only once—we square."

"And you bet we were square," Donald always adds as he tells the story.

WOMAN'S ATHLETIC CLUB.

New York, Nov. 10.—Having invaded many other fields of man's activity, young women of prominent families in this city have incorporated what is to be known as the Woman's Athletic club. A gymnasium and grounds will be obtained and the members will endeavor to foster athletic achievements among women generally. The members so far are mostly college women.

TWO LEADING CANDIDATES ENTERED IN MARATHON TO BE HELD IN NEW JERSEY.



Judging by the plans of the promoters, it looks as if professional Marathoners are to have a big inning during the coming winter, especially in the east. Many races have been scheduled, and more are to come. The first big event on the calendar is to be held Nov. 14 at Wakefield park, New Jersey. Among the cracks entered are Matt Maloney, Patrick Dineen, Patrick White, Jimmie Lee and William Davis (Indian), Hamilton, Canada. Dineen, although he has passed his 35th year, is just as good as the youngest, as his defeat of Johnny Hayes last summer in two races proves. Pat White is the man who ran such a remarkable race against the great Frenchman Siret in the professional Marathon race over the Olympic course in England last summer, doing the course in faster time than the winner of the amateur Marathon. He also ran second to St. Yves in the Scottish Marathon in Edinburg. Matt Maloney says he is in the form shown in his remarkable race from Rye to New York, in which he broke all records. Jimmy Lee has run some wonderful 15-mile races and has never really trained for the full Marathon race. In all of his races as an amateur he has led up to 22 and 23 miles. He has been doing a lot of long work for this race and feels certain of winning. Bill Davis, the Indian, has a number of victories to his credit, having won the Hamilton Herald road race and has also a victory over Dineen in the big Boston race.

BALLOON RACE FOR BENNETT CUP

Kansas City, Nov. 10.—Believing that it is more than possible for Kansas City to be the starting point in the international balloon race for the James Gordon Bennett cup next fall, the Priests of Pallas association have called a meeting to lay plans to that end.

Harry Honeywell, the St. Louis aeronaut, is here at present and has said that on account of the comparatively low altitude and the distance from a large body of water this city is ideally situated for the start of the race.

ORAL BETTING NOT UNLAWFUL

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 9.—Betting is a crime only when accompanied by a record, registry or the use of some part of the paraphernalia of professional gamblers, according to a decision handed down today by the court of appeals.

In effect the decision holds that oral betting does not constitute bookmaking in violation of the anti-race track gambling laws. The court affirms the order of the lower courts for the discharge from custody of Orlando Jones and Sol Lichtenstein, who were indicted in Kings county on a charge of bookmaking.

In holding that the laying of odds alone does not constitute a crime, Judge Haight said:

"If a man should offer to bet the ladies of his party a pair of gloves or a box of candy, it would not be the laying of odds and publishing the same. To hold him to be a bookmaker would, in my judgment, be a departure from the rule that gives to the terms of the statute their ordinary and accepted meaning, and would be a construction which was not within the contemplation of the legislation."

Chief Judge Cullen, in his opinion, says:

"Legislation should be practical, and it is at least doubtful whether a statute making every offer or acceptance of a bet or wager a crime could, in the present state or morals and habits of the community, be enforced.

"While in reality the statute is directed against gambling, not against its incidents, the law has laid hold of certain incidents on the theory that those being prohibited the evil itself would be suppressed because of the impracticability of carrying on gambling on a large scale without some of the accessories denounced by the statute.

"How far this plan has proved successful in operation is for the legislature, not the court. To determine, and we cannot hold that the aim of these men constitutes a crime unless it falls within the terms of the statute."

In a dissenting opinion, Judge Vann says:

"The constitution forbids bookmaking without defining it, and the statute forbids engaging in it without defining it. In view of the explicit command of the constitution and the history of legislation on the subject, as well as the origin of the word bookmaking and its meaning in the country from which we borrowed it, I think the statute prohibits engaging in bookmaking with or without the aid of any writing, because writing is not of the substance and need not be resorted to, and if resorted to, is a mere incident.

"Engaging in the business of public gambling by quoting and laying insidious odds to a multitude of people was the evil aimed at, not the making of a record of the business, which is comparatively innocent."

A Methodist Minister Recommends Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

"I have used Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for several years for diarrhoea. I consider it the best remedy I have ever tried for that trouble. I bought a bottle of it a few days ago from our druggist, Mr. R. R. Brooks. I shall ever be glad to speak a word in its praise when I have the opportunity."—Rev. J. D. Knapp, Pastor M. E. GOTCH RETAINS CHAMPIONSHIP

Great American Wrestler Defeats Strong Italian in Two Straight Falls.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—Frank Gotch, champion wrestler of the world, defeated Giovanni Raicevich of Italy in two straight falls at the Coliseum here tonight. The first fall was in 18 minutes, 25 seconds, and the second in 5 minutes, 25 seconds.

The match was witnessed by the largest and most enthusiastic crowd that has attended a wrestling bout since the Gotch-Hackenschmidt contest in Chicago two years ago.

When the wrestlers were introduced they were greeted with applause, the throng in the Coliseum crowding the aisles, and preventing progress until the police could restore order.

Gotch won the first fall with a crotch and bar arm hold. The Italian gave a fine exhibition of wrestling skill, but the champion was too agile and strong for him. Gotch had his famous toe hold on the foreigner four or five times, but Raicevich resisted it successfully, the crowd giving a tumultuous cheer when Gotch, though smiling, changed his tactics.

In the second fall Gotch pinned his antagonist to the mat in 5 minutes and 25 seconds with a cross-leg hammer and wrist lock hold.

Before the championship match a telegram from Yussef Mahmout, whom Gotch defeated last year, challenging the winner of the match, was read from the ringside. Americus, who participated in one of the preliminaries, announced that he would accept the challenge if it were not taken by Gotch.

In the preliminaries Jack Olsen of Brooklyn defeated Dick Sorensen of Chicago for the middleweight champion in two straight falls.

JEFFRIES TALKS ON FOOTBALL

New York, Nov. 10.—Jim Jeffries, the retired and revived pugilist, has a few warm words to say about college football. As usual, it was necessary to corkscrew a few answers out of him before his tongue began to work freely. Jeff is no conversationalist, but he thinks his thoughts and they are usually pretty sensible ones.

"Hold on!" he said, quickly. "I'm a fighter. Maybe I ought not to have any opinions about football. It is not my game. I'm not supposed to know anything about it. Wall, y-e-h, yes. I've been reading the papers. Tell me, upon the level, have they killed seven boys already this year? That's serious. No joke about that kind of game, I guess. Now, then:

"You can say that I'm against any game that kills seven boys while it's only warming up, you might say. That sort of a game isn't worth while. No game that kills men as a regular thing is worth while.

"There have always been a lot of men in this country who stand upon their hind legs and roar about the brutality of the boxing game. Their women will pull their skirts away from the prize fighter, as if he was some sort of an animal, yet these same people go out to a football game and yell themselves black in the face at an exhibition that's too rough for men that fight for a living. The women, too, yes, sir, I've seen 'em and I know.

"Here's another thing that strikes me. Most of the boys who hit any football are only kids. They haven't their growth or their full strength. They go in there and get slammed around and they cannot stand it. They don't get a thing out of it if they win. Do you suppose all the 'rah! 'rah! business in the world could make up the loss of one boy? They risk everything for nothing. Let 'em holler about fighting being brutal. I'll tell you something; if prize fighting should kill 15 men in one year, every legislature in the country would put the game out of business. And that isn't all they'd do. They'd hang a few of the winners. This talk about boxing being brutal and football being a fine game, makes me sick. If I had a son I'd send him into the ring to fight one man at a time before I'd let him get into one of those harnesses and take his chances with 11 fellows. Yes, and he'd lose a decision to me the first time he began to talk football."

There seems to be no question about the way Jim Jeffries stands upon the question of college football.

FREDDIE WELSH IS AFTER BAT NELSON

New York, Nov. 10.—Freddie Welsh, who a few years ago was awarded a diamond belt by the National Sporting club of London, on becoming the undisputed lightweight champion of England, will start for this country soon with the sole purpose of forcing Battling Nelson into a fight for the world's championship. According to advices from London Welsh has challenged Nelson repeatedly, but without recognition, and has posted $5,000 as a forfeit on several occasions.

He now declares that if Nelson does not fight him he will claim the championship.

Welsh is well known in this country, having appeared in most of the cities where bouts were permitted. He fought Packy McFarland a close 25-round draw at Los Angeles a year ago and later he had all the best of Abe Attell in a 15-round bout.

JORDAN DEFEATS COLLEGIATE TEAM

In a hard-fought football game of 30-minute halves, the Jordan high school team defeated the Salt Lake Collegiate team Tuesday afternoon by a score of 6 to 0. Every minute of the time the boys struggled and fought like demons. The only touchdown made in the game occurred five minutes before the final whistle blew. After hammering their way down the field the Jordan high finally forced Gardner over the line. The teams will play another game on Friday.

BASEBALL UMPIRE TO BECOME LAWYER

University of Vermont, Vt., Nov. 10.—Charles Rigler, umpire in the National league, has entered the university as a law student. Rigler umpired the game in Chicago at which President Taft was a spectator, and his last services were performed in New York in the post-season series between the New York National and the Boston American league clubs.
