SUNDAY SERVICES.

President Woodruff and Four Recently Returned Missionaries the Speakers.

The services at the Tabernacle yesterday were presided over by Elder Joseph E. Taylor and remarks were made by President Wilford Woodruff and four young Elders, recently returned from Germany.

Choir sang:

Come thou glorious day of promise,
Come and spread thy tidings far.

Prayer was offered by Elder Rulon S. Wells.

Choir further sang:

Roll on the mighty orb
A nation is reborn.

Elder Anthon Ottesen Woodruff was the first speaker. He felt most acutely his inability to express himself in a manner which would be edifying unless assisted by the faith and prayers of those assembled, and therefore he prayed that assistance. He had been laboring for over two years on foreign strands, viz., in the Swiss and German mission. Here he had been privileged to see the system of idolatry that prevailed in the nations of the earth. Intelligent, well-educated people, who had spent years of their lives in colleges of learning, were found kneeling and bowing to images of stone and stone. He had also visited the famous ruins of Pompeii where he was led to reflect upon the wickedness that once existed among the people that resided there and which caused it to pour out its judgments upon them, and again did he experience the same wonder while returning and seeing the devastation caused by the terrible tornado in St. Louis. These calamities had been proposed by the Prophets of old and likewise those of these latter days. The Latter-day Saints had been scoffed and ridiculed. They had been termed fanatics, Elists and other like names when they advocated this doctrine, but as sure as God lived, the Words of His Prophets would verily come to pass. The speaker knew that this was the work of the Lord, and in his travels in the missionary field he had experienced much joy and happiness, although the Elders in the mission in which he labored had not the freedom of speech which they desired. In conclusion Elder Woodruff admonished the young men to yield obedience to their parents and to those in authority, that eventually they might be prepared to obtain the Celestial heaven, and prepare its principles alone to the nations of the earth.

Elder William McEwan was next introduced to the congregation. Although he stood to speak in fear and trembling, the fear was not occasioned because of the ignorance of the truth of his theme. He knew it was true and was ever willing and anxious to proclaim its principles. He had been absent three years in Switzerland and Germany, during which time he had had to pay privileges of speaking to the people. His congregations, however, were not such as he was accustomed to in his own country, for in the country they were people generally who had never heard from the Gospel messenger. His first labors in the mission field were performed in the important city of Germany—Berlin. When he was assigned to labor in that city he knew nothing of the German language, and very little of the Gospel which he was commissioned to preach. In which perform prayer to God he had been blessed very highly, and he was all long hours he was able to direct himself intelligently and make himself understood by the people, whom he labored to attend. He had also labored in the city of Bonn, and there under the administration of the Elders he had witnessed the healing of the sick, without medical aid. His labors had led him to love the people of Germany, and although they were suffering quite a deplorable condition socially, he had met with many hospitable who had shown unto him a great degree of kindness and respect. His prayer was that God would bless the people of Utah, that they might learn to appreciate the favorable circumstances surrounding them and glorify their Father in heaven.

Elder L. D. Schettler followed. He, too, had been privileged to labor for two years in the Swiss and German mission. His labors commenced in the city of Munich, where Catholicism was the belief and religion of the people. He has witnessed in that city men and women whose hairs were turned with grey, bowing down to images and supplicating them of every description. This was vastly different to the religious customs of the Latter-day Saints, who worshipped a God having body, parts and passions. The Elders laboring in the Swiss and German mission had to use very precaution in attending to the duties devolving upon them, because they were not accorded the freedom of speech as accorded to the people of the United States. On several occasions he had been warned to cease preaching among the people, under the threat of being imprisoned, but the Lord had been with His servants and had saved them from the evil designs of wicked and prejudiced men. Elder Schettler had experienced much joy in his labors and closed by asking God's blessing upon all His Saints.

Elder Jesse M. Welker was the next speaker. Like the preceding brethren he had also labored in the Swiss and German mission, where he had attempted in his week way to promulgate the principles of the Gospel. When he left home he knew not that the Gospel was true, but by earnest prayer before the Lord, he had been favored with a testimony of its divinity and had been blessed to the extent of being able to preach it in a foreign tongue. He felt thankful unto the Lord that he had been called upon a scholar, and that he had been led to respond to the call. During his absence he had many times reflected upon the shining moments which he had wasted while at home, and his experience had been sometimes bitter because of such neglect. He therefore urged the young men of Zion to strive to the duties devolving upon them that they might be able to go forth when called upon and acquaint the nations of the earth with the restoration of the Gospel.

President Woodruff, in a few closing remarks, felt to rejoice in the testimonies of the young brethren who had preceded him. They had been called to the mission field and had gone and performed that duty to the best of their abilities. The Lord had been with them to their labors and he was pleased to listen to their testimonies upon their return home. He asked God to bless the boys of Zion, together with their fathers and mothers and all who desired to live religious lives before Him.

Choir sang (by request):

O, come and let us sing into the Lord.

Benediction was pronounced by Elder Heber J. Grant.

OPINIONS OF OUR LEADING MEN.

President Angus M. Cannon says of the Keeley treatment:

"I thought it impossible for one man to do what Dr. Keeley has done scientifically in counteracting the terrible evils of intemperance. His treatment strengthens men physically, mentally and morally. Over these circumstances they are given another opportunity to become men amongst men. Is there a man who loves his fellow beings that can fail to say, I view Dr. Keeley as engaged in a most commendable work? I trust his good work may continue."

FELL FROM A HORSE.

Mrs. Barlow Ferguson Meets With a Painful Accident.

While out horseback riding a little before 8 o'clock this morning, Mrs. Barlow Ferguson met with a painful accident by falling from her horse. The lady and Mr. Ferguson were riding together along First South street between Sixth and Seventh West streets, the horses jogging along slowly, when Mrs. Ferguson was seized with an epileptic fit and fell to the ground. The lady struck on her forehead and the right side of her face, which was very severely bruised and scratched. Mrs. Ferguson recovered unconscious some time but the attention of Dr. H. Robinson rendered in leaving the unfortunate lady resting easily.
