OGDEN.

Contract for Building Railroad East of Evanston Under Issue of Interest.

Special Correspondence.

Ogden, Feb. 26.—Yesterday Lyman Evans signed a contract for building twenty miles of the extension of the Oregon Short Line railroad east of Evanston. The work will begin about the 1st of April. W. A. Murdock, grand president of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, will be present at the meeting to be held in the city by Division 22, Ladies' Auxiliary. The members of which are the wives of the engineers of the Order of the Brotherhood. Central Pacific boys. All the stockholders in this promotion company will be represented at the meetings Wednesday and Thursday.

In the United States circuit court yesterday Max Hasseroth was fined $5 for carrying concealed weapons. He will be tried tomorrow on a charge of bribery.

WATER RIGHTS UNDER BEAR RIVER CANAL.

William Garland, the new owner of Bear River canal, accompanied by the canal manager, Lee Gibson, went to Corinne this morning. Together the gentlemen will make a thorough examination of the property, which was put in first class condition to supply the water needed for the irrigation of the land under the canal. Mr. Garland asserts that the Bear River water supply is ample and since 1896, are not good against the present owner, and that any money they may pay on bond will be lost if any change in conditions, that will have no protection for any further payments they may make on the old contracts.

There was no session of the Second district court yesterday.

A splendid house greeted the Salt Lake Opera company at the Grand last night, upon which occasion they presented a Trip to Africa. The opera was well received.

The Southern Pacific pay car is scheduled to arrive in Ogden Wednesday evening.

The Rio Grande Western will run a special to Salt Lake Wednesday for the accommodation of those who desire to attend the mines convention. As the fare for the round trip is only $1, many people will take advantage of it and a large crowd will leave the city at 2:10 p.m.

The Union Pacific afternoon train on the Short line was several hours late yesterday, not arriving until after 8 o'clock last night. Storms in Eastern Wyoming were the cause of the delay.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS.

At the regular weekly session of the board of county commissioners yesterday, the board being present, the following matters were disposed of:

C. J. Atkins sent in a petition praying for the appointment of an inspector of hides, which was filed.

A statement was received from County Treasurer Alma D. Chamberlain showing the number of sheep in Weber county and the assessed valuation thereof in Rich county, 2,000; in Davis county, 14,000; Tooele county, 4,000; Salt Lake county, 12,000; total, 32,000. The assessed valuation of each, $11,200. It was ordered that the county treasurer deduct the sum of $1 for each sheep, one-half the tax on those sheep, that being the proportion to which Weber county is entitled by law.

The county of Boreder presented a demand for his share of the tax on sheep assessed in Weber county, which referred to Boreder county.

A petition was received for the appointment of Daniel C. Walker as deputy assessor for Eden precinct, accompanied by a recommendation signed by the Republican organization of Eden. Referred to Commissioner Smith.

Citizens and residents of Warren precinct asked for the location and opening of a road in that precinct. The request was granted.

Residents of Warren asked for the erection of a bridge across the Pioneer Electric Power company's canal in that precinct, and the board took the matter under advisement.

CITY COUNCIL.

The city council met at 8 p.m. All the members were present except Councilman A. L. Brown, he is out in the west.

The mayor nominated Moroni Poulter as poll tax collector, and the nomination was put off, the communication being tabled for a week. In 1898 there were three collectors, one in each ward.

BRIGHAM CITY.

Death of Bishop A. A. Jensen—Particulars of His Sudden Demise.

Special per Deseret Telegraph.

Brigham City, Feb. 27.—Bishop A. A. Jensen of the Third ward of this city died about 1:30 this afternoon. The bishop had been around attending to business until late Saturday evening and had taken a lively interest in the Washington birthday ball held here last week. Sunday morning about 7 o'clock while starting a fire he was suddenly stricken with paralysis, with paralysis. Everything possible was done for him that physicians and care of loving friends could render, and he was heard at first that he would recover, but after terrible suffering he passed away this afternoon.

Bishop Jensen, although over seventy years of age, was very active and energetic, and one of our most respected and beloved citizens. His sudden departure is mourned by all Brigham City.

In response to Elder Franklin W. Young's query, who is the oldest person in Brigham City, born in the Church? I will say there is one at least that is older than the oldest by many years, and was born at Independence, Jackson county, Missouri, May 5, 1833; my father, Reuben Porter, who, having consecrated his property and received his inheritance by deed, from Bishop Edward Partridge.

Respectfully,

LYMAN WRIGHT PORTER,

Portersville, Morgan County, Utah, Feb. 23, 1899.

RICHFIELD.

Army Life Illustrated.

Special Correspondence.

Richfield, Sevier County, Feb. 27.—Thirty evenings ago the action of lectures being given by the high school students of this city, Miss Mae Bell appeared Utah cavalry, assisted by two of our recently returned volunteers, Corporal "A Hole" and Bert Lake in the U. S. Army. Those taking part went through all the formations of a whole day from reveille to "taps"—guard mount, parade, school, fatigue, mess etc., and all the army bugle calls were given and illustrated in actual exercise. This was a most interesting and instructive exhibition for our boys and young men, and all enjoyed it.

Councilman Job Pingree moved that the mayor of Ogden be requested to send to the high water in the Weber and Ogden rivers, and that the city be authorized to be prepared for immediate action. Carried.

KANOSH.

Death of Sarah Widney Hickerson, a Kanosh Veteran.

Special Correspondence.

Kanosh, Millard County, Feb. 24.—The funeral of Sarah Widney Hickerson took place here yesterday. She died Feb. 22 at the age of 76. She was born in Kentucky, Oct. 2, 1818 and became identified with the Church in 1846, in Illinois, and was a sister of Mr. Hickerson's first wife. She crossed the plains in 1852 and settled in Nauvoo by the Pioneer Joseph Smith, resided over in his wife, Emma. She shared in the trials and privations incident to the great exodus of the Saints from Illinois and came to Utah in 1848, where she has ever been active in good works, and faithful to the end, and was an exemplary wife and mother.

IDAHO LEGISLATURE.

Disgraceful Scenes Brought On by a Partizan Deadlock.

BILLS PASSED LAST WEEK.

Appropriation Bill Still Pending, and May Perhaps be Blocked.

Special Correspondence.

Boise, Idaho, Feb. 26.—The ninth week of the Idaho legislature closed yesterday, attended by the most exciting and disgraceful scenes ever witnessed in the law-making body of this state. For nearly two hours the house house was deadlocked. It commenced by Adams moving to reconsider the vote by which Senator Shoup's Chollie tax road bill had been unfortunately postponed. A point of order was raised against the motion to reconsider, on the ground that the last six days of the session the motion to reconsider must come by motion of those who had voted in the affirmative to table.

The speaker, D. L. Evans, of Ada, overruled the point, and a call of the house was ordered, and the sergeant-at-arms was ordered to bring in those who had refused to vote on roll call. When it arrived, however, the conditions were reversed, and the house was in the hands of those who refused to vote to raise the call. This precipitated the deadlock. The only absentee was Senator Hawley, who had not his presence was desired by friends of the bill, notwithstanding the pair. Under the rules the absentee should be sent to put after all absentees are brought in, the report of the sergeant-at-arms to be made, after hearing the roll call. In this case the pending motion to reconsider the vote on the road bill, if it be carried, to be raised the call, without the absentee being brought in, the pending motion would be decided by the speaker, who would hold the appropriation bill was the order, notwithstanding the fact that the special order had long since passed. Johnson, the mining member, had left on the afternoon train for Boise, and motion after motion to dispense with the roll call was voted down. Then a bill call was called for, which was demanded by the friends of the road bill, who were in the majority, but speaker Evans, who operates to be the Democratic nominee for governor next year, decided it, and followed it up by refusing to entertain any motion and disturbance, to allow the reading of any rule or to entertain any motion whatever except that to adjourn. Adams, he refused to recognize a motion. Avery's motion to adjourn, he had no authority to support his ruling, but the lightning rap-rap-rap of the speaker, pounded on the desk, and with the assistance of the minority directed his rulings, and he sat down. He made the point of order that he was determined to sit it out. The speaker getting tired of the deadlock, Hon. of Fremont is called to the chair. The majority then tried him, but all to no purpose. He, too, raised a roll call and ordered, sergeant-at-arms, motion put by the majority. Finally an effort was made to appeal, but the temporary speaker would not entertain it, and some of the members then determined to put it himself, but his order could not be heard above the deafening din of the speaker's gavel, and he sat down after several attempts to state the motion. Then pandemonium reigned supreme. The speaker turned blows on the desk until they were heard a mile over the building. The senators left their chamber in a body. Attaches, state officials and visitors rushed into the hall of representatives. Everybody was trying to speak, but the only evidence that could be heard was occasional, to the effect that the house should put the speaker out. Every member was in his feet, some shaking their fists, others waving canes, some tak bottles in their hands ready for any contingency. Avery, the leader of the minority, Hon. of Ada, who had been absent for some time, came in and manoeuvred to drive the gavel for a second time, and stated that he had appealed to the supreme court, and a writ of mandamus had been issued, issued and served on the speaker, and he would be there in a few minutes. The house will not longer submit to the arbitrary and domineering autocratic rulings of the speaker, or, thundered Avery, then then pounded the speaker's desk like a madman. The sergeant-at-arms had left near the chief clerk's desk, afraid apparently of the storm that was now breaking. All at the Democratic Evans then bounded into the hall and answered his name to the shouts and exultation of the majority. The call of the house was raised, motion after motion to adjourn was defeated, and finally the majority got their road bill through, and with a "whoop-la" the majority adjourned the house until Monday morning, having side-tracked the appropriation bill.

Now it is hard telling what will be the outcome. Notwithstanding the state administration forces are in the majority in the house, it is not to look as though, revealed to the arbitrary manner in which they have been treated, that a combination will be formed to act on what measures happen to still there, and delay matters so that the session expires, and it is now a question whether the appropriation bill will get through at all. The senate has all its work up to date, and its desks are practically cleared, so that they could adjourn almost any time.

Among the more important measures passed this week have been the following:

Creating a bureau of immigration, labor and statistics. Judge Bassett is the candidate most likely to be appointed as commissioner of the bureau.

To cancel claims against settlers on state lands, which have been declared forfeited.

Providing for a uniform system of laws for the incorporation of irrigation districts and villages.

Making it a misdemeanor to utilize or wantonly waste the waters of any irrigation stream.

Authorizing the county tax collector to receive from any taxpayer not less than one-half the amount of his tax at any time after assessment and before the first Monday of January following.

Amending the election law, so as to make the enrolled list, when duly attested, conclusive evidence of the qualification of a voter. (This is to prevent a repetition of the invalidating by the Supreme court of the work of the legislature of 1897, passed in strict compliance with the technical rules of the Constitution.)

To prevent the adulteration of vinegar.

Regulating the building and maintenance of bridges, across canals and ditches crossing the highways.

Providing for the appointment of a State horticultural inspector.

Providing for the holding of county assessor's institutes and joint institutes of adjoining counties.

Requiring that affidavits of assessment work on mineral claims state a statement that the stakes or monuments marking the boundaries are in place, and otherwise provide for a lien upon the time for staking off the claims after locating.

Providing rights of way for mining tunnels.

Governing claims in which allows can hold real estate from five to fifteen years.

Giving the right of appeal to the district court from orders of city councils and boards of trustees by any property owner affected thereby or any taxpayer, without costs.

Authorizing religious, social and fraternal societies to mortgage or sell property without an order from the district court.

Authorizing both husband and wife to be considered head of the family in order to be entitled to vote at school elections.

Making the county treasurer liable on his official bond for losses by payments of interest coupons, if the date any call should have been made.

Authorizing the school board of land commissioners to accept a deed in lieu of foreclosure.

Providing for the unlawful driving of stock off the range.

Giving the state prison board authority to lease convicts to the construction of an irrigation canal for the Penitentiary.

Providing for the election of a city assessor in cities of the second class.

Authorizing a short form of deeds.

Authorizing the sale of the state's grazing lands, and providing for leases for stock lifted, carcasses of any carcasses by the owner.

Memorializing Congress to make changes in the public land laws that will enable citizens to locate and make proof on their homes.

Relating the powers and duties of watermasters and providing for their pay, and for employment such device as will facilitate rights not included in the original decree.

Fish and game law, and providing for the appointment of a State game warden, and for a game warden for each county in the State.

Amending the registration act so as to dispense with a new registration every general election.

A copy of any of these bills can be had by addressing the undersigned at Wallace, Shoshone county. Many of them are still in the chairman's hands for action, and the majority of them have been approved.

WEAK, WEARY WOMEN.

"Tired and broken down women, whose lives are made miserable through the killing pains of female complaints, why do you suffer?"

"Why will you allow yourself to become blue, discouraged and despondent?"

"Why will you endure the torture of headache, backache, bearing down pains, nervousness and other weaknesses caused by the operation of local troubles?"

"If you suffer thus, it is chiefly needless and entirely your own fault."

"There is a remedy for you for all other women who suffer in this way."

"Let me read you these words, which were recently penned by a woman who suffered, who endured, who waited and who found relief."

"Mrs. H. P. G. Carson, one of the best known ladies in Butler, Pa., says:"

"For nearly three years I was under the doctor's care, a constant sufferer from female weaknesses in the most aggravated form."

"Medicine did me no good and my suffering was so great that at times I felt that death would be relief."

"At last our druggist recommended me to try a remedy about which I had heard much, but knew little."

"I took his advice and before I had finished one bottle, I was convinced that the marvelous change it made in my health."

"I am rejoiced to say that it completely cured me. I am now feeling perfectly well, able to attend to all my duties and I believe I owe my life and continued good health wholly to the use of Warner's Safe Cure."

"This is only one case among thousands in which Warner's Safe Cure has been the means of curing the distressing ailments peculiar to women."

"Tired and worn it has proved to be unsurpassed for giving quick and permanent relief."

"No woman who wishes to escape misery, to avoid suffering, to replace delicacy and weakness with health and strength, can afford to be without this great discovery."

"It is a remedy that can be relied upon, a remedy that never fails and one that has proved to be women's best friend."
