SECOND EDITION.

DESERET EVENING NEWS.

Thursday, June 16, 1892.

LOCAL BREVITES.

The Ohio excursion which was to have run to Garfield tomorrow has been postponed.

J. T. Bennet, of Dallas, Texas, is in town. He contemplates establishing a branch of his drug business here.

All was "still as the grave" in Secretary Seller's office today, so far as the transaction of public business was concerned.

Fred A. Hines and C. Tenney, prominent business men of Ogden, were visitors at the Chamber of Commerce today.

Marriage licenses were issued today to Ace Chase, aged 21, and Emily V. Aldis, aged 19, to Peter Anderson, aged 21, and Dot Chipman, aged 18.

The members of the transportation bureau and its patrons will hold a meeting in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce at 8 o'clock this evening.

D. Savage, of the Savage Commercial company, has returned to attending to his business affairs in Salt Lake at present. He visited the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce and expressed himself well pleased with the appearance and prospects of this city and Territory.

The City Council will meet tomorrow night for the second time this week. Aldermen Hardy and Moon, however, will not be in attendance. The latter is hoeing in Deep Creek and the latter is working for the recognition of the Democrats at Chicago.

As inquiry seems to know if there is a premium on a few dollar gold piece of the coinage of 1882. There is no "premium" on any Uncle Sham coin, but there are some which command more than their face or intrinsic value because of their antiquity or rarity, perhaps the numismatist in one of them, and some of our readers may be able to supply the information desired.

ANOTHER NARROW ESCAPE.

Lightning Creates Havoc About Three Girls but Does Not Injure Them.

The item regarding a lightning stroke in yesterday's NEWS had reference to Mrs. Mitchell's residence. She is a widow living in a small lumber house in Sherwood's addition, Twelfth West between Third and Fourth South streets. She missed a deeper experience by not being at home, in that her daughters, three in number, not the full force of. One of the great flashes of lightning which caused some little trepidation throughout descended upon Mrs. Mitchell's house, striking the top of a gable and tearing the clapboards off, it then took a downward turn and played havoc generally, knocking the lath off the ceiling and three sides of the room, demolished the chimney and cut six elbow of the stovepipe into small fragments; it then proceeded to tear off two doors of the fireboard, and knocked out a pane of glass from the door on the opposite side of the room, having done about all the mischief it seemed to care about, the several portions of the bolt joined themselves together and slid to the west side of the room, cutting away enough of the wall to make an opening, thence through and taking the top off the nearest sleeper under the floor, and seeking its final resting place in the earth, leaving a hole four inches wide and two feet deep to mark the spot where it fell.

The house presents a rather demoralized appearance, besides the holes of it. The only gratuitous feature of the whole desperate performance was the complete escape of the girls, who were not even singed.

DON'T CALL ME "JOE."

A Spirited Scene In Which Dog Tax Collectors Past and Present Participate.

The mutual affection that existed between ex-Dog Tax Collector Joseph Silver and Sam Gallegani, the "Liberal" reader from the Third Precinct, did not increase to any perceptible degree when the latter was presented with the political plan from which the former had been seating for two years. For some reason there was also a decided coldness between the removed canine tax levier and the employes in the recorder's department. On one occasion a communication was sent to Mr. Silver, and he made strenuous objections to the efficacy of "Sam's" name, and after that the word "Joe" was dropped. In the meantime his successor claims to have discovered that he had collected certain moneys before he went out of office for which he never accounted. Instances were cited and the recorder at once wrote to Mr. Silver regarding the matter. This time he addressed the letter "Joe" Silver, and although the communication was written or dictated by Mr. Stanton, it bore Gallegani's signature. The following is

SILVER'S REPLY.

Mr. S. Gallegani:

Sir—Yes, Mrs. L. Gilmore and Mrs. Adkins, of Seventh South street, paid $1.50 each on account of dog tax, the balance to be paid April 6th, 1892.

If, sir, you should have occasion to address me again, you will please address me by my proper name, or I shall pay no attention to your communications.

JOSEPH SILVER.

Gallegani now claims to have unearthed other unaccounted-for "transactions," and threatens to call the attention of the city council to the results of his labors. He says that his successor will not speak to him on the street, and he is forced to take such action as will settle the matter once for all.

Latest Court News.

An affidavit of the defendant has been filed in Third District Court in the case of the Bank of London, plaintiff, vs. Robert Wallace. He says he never intended to admit that judgment had been rendered against him.

Commission of judgment was entered this afternoon in the case of the Utah National Bank vs. E. F. Sears, J. H. Johnson and O. T. Carlson, defendants. The claim was for $1000 with interest at 12 per cent. from February 23rd, 1892.

OFF TO CHICAGO.

The Straight Democrats Leave Tonight In a Splendid U. P. Special.

NAMES OF THE DELEGATES.

If the Present Itinerary is Observed Chicago Will Be Reached Saturday at 10 P. M.

The Straight Democratic delegation of this Territory will leave Salt Lake on a splendid Union Pacific special at 8 o'clock tonight. Careful and extensive preparations have long been made for the event, and to say that the train outfitters all others that have gone forth upon similar errands does not require any stretch of the imagination. It is composed of the "Idaho," "Poetette," "Evanston," "Toulon" and "Ironton" cars, all of which are marvels of beauty in design and finish. The last named is one of the most elegant dining cars in the service and is complete as and comfortable throughout. Today it was visited by hundreds of people at the Union Pacific depot, and this afternoon it was being stocked with the choicest edibles that the market could produce.

The dinner will be in charge of Conductor J. McDonald, who took great pleasure this afternoon in showing the local newspaper men the beauties of his elegant car and the splendid china and polished silver that will grace its tables.

NAMES OF DELEGATES.

Following are the names of the through passengers:

L. W. Snyder,	F. W. Snyder,
Judge Henderson,	Charles Clark,
Miss Judge Henderson,	Miss Ida Clark,
Samuel A. Mills,	A. B. Smith,
Hugh Anderson,	Orson S. Lewis,
F. J. Kinney,	Oliver Lewis,
Mrs. J. J. Kinney,	L. S. Harris,
J. Hasselden,	H. Tyler,
W. A. Parker L.	J. S. Tonnis,
Mrs. C. Moore,	Joseph S. Reid,
Mrs. Smith,	R. A. Lynch,
Miss Smith,	A. C. Upton,
E. Sackett,	Albert Young,
L. Lewis,	Mrs. Young,
W. A. Kent,	J. S. Lewis,
Judge Kelsey,	Hiram Lewis,
Mrs. H. Fox,	Robert Sinnett,
Mrs. Mary Cornell,	J. S. Brown,
Miss Laura Kelsey,	A. F. Barnes,
Miss Ella Kelsey,	J. Lewis,
Miss Annie Reed,	J. Lewis,
Miss Eliza Reed,	H. Pratt,
Miss Ella Reed,	J. Lewis,
J. Wilson,	Mrs. Lewis,
Mrs. H. Smith,	J. Sheppard,
T. Thomson,	H. Pritchard,
Mrs. T. Thomson,	Miss Lillie Young,
Miss M. Smith,	Master Lee Young,
Miss E. Smith,	Master Jack Young,
A. C. Smith,	Master Jack Young,
Mrs. W. H. Hallmark,	Master Jack Young,
Master Hallmark,	Master Jack Young,
John Hallmark,	Master Jack Young,
Master Hallmark,	Master Jack Young,
A. Schoenfeld,	Master Jack Young,
Mrs. J. A. Cunningham,	Master Jack Young,
Mrs. M. A. Smith,	Master Jack Young,
John Cook,	Master Jack Young,
C. L. Dixon,	Master Jack Young,
John M. Smith,	Master Jack Young,
E. F. Sears,	Master Jack Young,
Mrs. Sears,	Master Jack Young,
F. Thomson,	Master Jack Young,
J. Jackson,	Master Jack Young,
Mrs. Jackson,	Master Jack Young,
John A. C. Nuttall,	Master Jack Young,
A. J. Stewart,	Master Jack Young,
J. Adams,	Master Jack Young,
John Adams,	Master Jack Young,
W. W. Cluff,	Master Jack Young,
Mrs. W. Cluff,	Master Jack Young,
Joe H. Dinwoodey,	Master Jack Young,
Thos. Dinwoodey,	Master Jack Young,
Mrs. Dinwoodey,	Master Jack Young,
Mrs. Dinwoodey,	Master Jack Young,
Mrs