

TEN PASSENGER TRAINS STALLED

In the Yards of the Union Pacific Railroad at Cheyenne.

ROTARY PLOWS ARE AT WORK.

Expected Traffic Will be Restored Before Night—Rock Island Blockade Lifted.

(Special to the "News.")

Cheyenne, Wyo., Oct. 24.—Despite the efforts of the railroad companies, traffic is completely tied up on the main line of the Union Pacific. Between Cheyenne and Sidney, Nebraska, the Cheyenne and northern branch of the Colorado Southern and the Sterling-Cheyenne division of the Burlington are blocked. Snowplows were run day and night, and a large force of shovellers were kept constantly at work, but the cuts filled almost as fast as they were cleared. Monday's eastbound overland flyer on the Union Pacific is tied up here together with a half dozen passenger trains that followed it. At North Platte and Sidney the westbound trains are snowbound. There has been no suffering among the passengers as yet, for the company has provided food through the dining cars, eating houses and lunch counters. Freight traffic has been entirely suspended.

The storm ceased yesterday afternoon but the wind continued to blow throughout the night. Today opened clear, warm and calm, and the blockades should be lifted by tonight. Officials take a more cheerful view of the situation today than at any time since the storm commenced last Saturday. The few reports that have come from the range country state that while sheep and cattle suffered some, the losses will be very slight. In one or two instances possibly where sheep were caught in the deep snow a considerable distance from hay supplies there will be probably light losses. Ranchmen are hauling hay today and cowboys and herders are gathering up the scattered flocks and herds that drifted. If warm weather prevails for two or three days the storm will prove of great benefit on the farms and to stockmen, but should a cold spell set in there will be losses.

TEN TRAINS STALLED

Cheyenne, Wyo., Oct. 24.—The four days' storm, which ended last night, was followed today by fair mild weather, which is likely to continue. There have been no losses of cattle reported, and but few sheep have succumbed to the elements.

The Union Pacific railroad has been blocked for 24 hours between this city and Sidney, Neb., and 10 passenger trains are stalled in the Cheyenne yards. Rotary plows are constantly at work and with mild weather today it is expected traffic will be resumed on practically schedule time before night.

BLEACHED FLOUR.

New Commercial Wrinkle Is Being Tried Here With Success.

The new commercial wrinkle of bleached flour is being established in this, as in more eastern markets. By this process, ordinary straight grade flour, no matter how yellowish or ruddy, is bleached a fine white, so that it appears equal to the best or high patent article. Dealers differ as to whether the doctored article can be baked so as to resemble the light, fluffy texture of the genuine high patent goods, some claiming that it cannot. At all events the consumer may not be able to distinguish the difference, so that where the mills or commission men are inclined to do so, they can charge high patent flour prices for the second grade article.

Another wrinkle is the sterilization of flour by heat. The flour is heated to a temperature high enough to kill the germ, and it is claimed that by this the flour is made practically indestructible. As a general thing, after flour has been so treated for any length of time they are liable to become wormy, and one local commission firm recently had a large lot thrown back on its hands by bakers for this very reason. But it is alleged that by the sterilization flour and meals may be kept indefinitely without their becoming wormy, or deteriorating in any way—provided, of course, that they are not stored where it is wet.
