PERPETUAL LIFE.

A Convict Thinks He Has Solved the Mystery of Immortality.

HIS FREEDOM FOR THE FORMULA

Butter and Alcohol Some of the Ingredients—Incredulity of the Jailor.

New York, Oct. 18.—Homer Bost, a convict in the prison at Dannemora, Clinton county, N. Y., claims to have the secret of perpetual life, and wants to have his formula tested on the condition that if it is successful he shall be given his freedom. His cause has been taken up by Charles Brady, who was released from prison last Thursday. Bost, he says, is an intelligent colored man about thirty-eight years old, who was sentenced in a Brooklyn court to serve twenty years for burglary. His term will expire in 1902, and for his liberty now, Brady says Bost is ready to offer mankind's greatest boon.

His proposition is that he be taken from prison in habeas corpus proceedings and that he meet a committee of doctors and scientists before a judge, the latter to decide the merits of his claim. Brady says Bost's principal ingredient in his elixir of life is alcohol. A part of his treatment is to give the candidate for perpetual life an ounce of butter and follow this with a quantity of alcohol. Bost's theory is that the alcohol will sink below the butter and thus the patient's vitals will be protected from the fumes and he will not "get a jag on."

Unfortunately for the locked up Bost he [illegible] get the alcohol in prison to make a test of his theory. Brady says Bost has made this proposition to the warden repeatedly, but has always been laughed at. He also offered after an execution by electricity to restore the victim to life, but the state authorities would not take the chances of having to inflict capital punishment twice on the same subject.

Brady says Bost is well educated, intelligent and popular with convicts and keepers. He says he has been thirteen years perfecting his formula, and he believes it will prolong life as long as it is used. He will not, however, give up his secret until released. Bost's grandmother lived to be 110, and he expects to live always, if he can get the required alcohol.

THE IRON TRADE.

The Outlook for the Next Month Not Very Bright.

New York, Oct. 18.—The Iron Age will say today: Common misery seems to be drawing manufacturers in different countries closer together. The [illegible] makers have been talking of some arrangements lately aiming at more remunerative prices. The [illegible] manufacturers are trying to get together. In the market [illegible] [illegible] trade exhaust efforts are being made to render an excessive output uncomfortable by [illegible].

Bessemer pig is steadier in the [illegible] market and weaker east of the Allegheny mountains.

Billets are easier in the East, but as yet the buyers are not taking hold to any considerable extent. Bars have been making price records lately. A fair amount of structural work is coming up in New York, and quite a lot of bridge work is being placed in different parts of the country. Still, anxiety as to winter work is growing and the outlook for the next few months is far from bright. This is particularly true of those lines which are more dependent on the season when outdoor work restricts consumption. Force pig iron is a little strong in the eastern Pennsylvania markets, but [illegible] are pretty well throughout the country. There has been quite a heavy movement in tin at declining prices and some activity in lead.

AT THE TOMB OF NUNEZ.

Colombians Gather to Honor the Memory of the Dead President.

Panama, Oct. 18.—Colombia is strengthening her garrison on Bocas del Torre. Delegates from all departments of the republic are gathering in Carthagena to honor the memory of President Nunez by ceremonies at his tomb tomorrow.

Advices from San Domingo says that a cyclone has leveled 700 houses there and damaged the coffee crop in Hayti. A conspiracy has been discovered in Caracas. Inspector General Fa of the army parsons and Chief of Artillery Nonclestrol are implicated. General Penango has been arrested and many of the alleged accomplices put in jail.

Part of the garrison in Maracaibo, Venezuela, mutinied and it is reported their intention was to kidnap Crespo for their pay failed and they have fled to the mountains.

Pension Decision Reversed.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17.—Assistant Secretary Reynolds of the interior department has decided section 4716 of the revised statutes, relative to the payment of accrued pensions is applicable to pensioners under the act of July 27, 1892, granting pensions to the survivors of Indian wars. It is also held the section authorizes the widow of the deceased soldier to prosecute his pending claim under that act and receive the accrued pension to the date of the soldier's death.

This reverses the decision of the commissioner of pensions made in May, 1893.

Cardinal's Hat for Satolli.

New York, Oct. 18.—The Press this morning says: In two weeks or thereabouts, Mgr. Satolli will be elevated to the rank of cardinal. The Press has [illegible] that this information was received from the highest possible source and was thoroughly reliable.

On the Mercy of the Court.

Newark, N. J., Oct. 17.—Chas. Crossey, the hat manufacturer of this city, who is accused of stealing $14,000 from Wilson & Co., of New York, was arraigned today. He pleaded guilty and threw himself on the mercy of the court. Sentence will be pronounced on Monday next. Crossley, who is 74 years of age, manufactured hats for Wilson & Co., and would usually send them forged receipts, stating he had sent goods out of town on their account.

ON SUSPICION.

Express Officials Perhaps Complicated in the Robbery.

The Dalles, Or., Oct. 17.—After relieving F. N. [illegible] the position as agent at this place this morning, the officials of the Pacific Express company placed Ed. [illegible] in charge of the office and caused him, Messenger Tibbetts and Watchman Gilberts to be arrested. They are accused of complicity in Saturday night's robbery when $14,000 was stolen. The fact that these men were the only persons possessing keys to the door of the office and that the door showed no evidence of having been forced, caused suspicion to fall on them. They were released later in the day on their own recognizance.

Illinois Central Stockholders' Meeting.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Illinois Central was held today. The old board of directors were re-elected unanimously. President Fish made a statement to the directors showing the first three months of the year there was a small increase in the earnings, and the decrease for the year was in the passenger and miscellaneous earnings.

Word was received today from Chairman Caldwell of the Western Passenger association, who is now in New York conferring with officials, that the trunk lines had agreed to withdraw their solicitors in the territory of the emigrant clearing house of the Western roads, and the institution will be allowed to go on as before.

The lines of the Central Traffic association have [illegible] to an understanding with the Western roads regarding the rates to be charged on excess baggage. The rates will remain the same hereafter, no matter whether the passenger rates are reduced or not.

THE LEXOW HEARING.

Mr. Goff Presents More Evidence of Blackmail.

New York, Oct. 17.—Chief Counsel Goff continued to probe for evidence of blackmail at the session of the Lexow committee today. He produced witnesses who testified that the police officials were accustomed to bleed the proprietors of soda water fountains on the East Side. Someone inquired whether he had discovered any line of business that had not been compelled to pay a tribute to the police.

"I have not," said Mr. Goff, "though I have been combing the town over with a fine-tooth comb."

Senator O'Connor thought out the fact that there were at least 300 policemen assigned to watch the buildings of private corporations. This service cost the city at least $300,000 annually, and no compensating advantages were received. Mr. Goff said this estimate was a low one, and that the loss to the city was even greater.

One proprietor of a retail store admitted on the stand that he had challenged Inspector Williams to fight a duel. Williams had given Henry Maillard, the candy manufacturer, whose building is located next to the store of Reyes, the right to use the sidewalks for his trucks. Reyes complained that it interfered with his business, as many of his customers were ladies. Williams said that there had never been a lady in the store except his own wife. During the controversy Reyes had issued his challenge. "And that challenge stands today," said he, dramatically, as he concluded his testimony.

A son of Reyes told a story of a suggestion of Detective Dalton to the effect that the officer told him things would be squared if he would give Williams a gold table in the window worth $200. Williams did not get the table, however.

Ordered Other to Stations.

Washington, Oct. 17.—Secretary Herbert, after consultation with the state department, has decided at length to relieve the United States naval vessels which have been so long at Bluefields, Nicaragua. Today he sent orders by telegraph to Captain [illegible] of the Columbia to proceed with his vessel to Kingston, Jamaica. The commander of the Marblehead was ordered to proceed with his ship to Carthagena, Columbia, if the state of affairs at Bluefields would warrant the complete withdrawal of both war ships. The reason for sending the Marblehead to Carthagenia is to guard against any injury to the American interests, there, mainly in the hands of Boston firms, through revolutionary movements growing out of the selection of a president to succeed Dr. Nunez, who died not long ago. If the Columbia remains near Jamaica for a time she will be in a position to return at short notice to Bluefields should occasion require.

BRYAN AND THURSTON.

The First of Two Debates on Political Issues.

Omaha, Oct. 17.—A special to the Bee from Lincoln, Neb., says: The first of the two joint debates on political issues between Hon. W. J. Bryan and Hon. J. M. Thurston took place there this afternoon.

The reception given to the principal figures of the afternoon was hearty and enthusiastic. C. J. Smythe, of Omaha, and John P. Maule, of Lincoln, took turns in presiding. As Mr. Bryan was to open the debate Mr. Smythe made the opening statement. He announced the conditions of the debate and introduced Congressman Bryan, who was greeted with cheers.

Bryan touched briefly on silver, income tax and the Pacific railroad indebtedness. He said the income tax was fair and he was satisfied the future would vindicate his judgment. As to the Pacific railroads if he was elected to the Senate he proposed to do his best to have the government mortgage foreclosed.

On the silver issue he was most eloquent. He was sure the White Metal would be victorious eventually. He pointed to the gains it had made recently in all parts of the country as a vindication of his position.

Mr. Thurston received a great ovation. His speech was more of a general nature than that of Bryan. He appeared to be at a disadvantage, in the estimation of some, in discussing the Pacific railroads, since he was the attorney of the leading company. Still he was confident that it was to the advantage of the people of the whole country to have the government foreclose its mortgage, since it must then pay the enormous first mortgage indebtedness. Replying to Mr. Bryan's income tax views he was brief and deprecated the measure believing it would not endure. On silver the speaker became brilliant. After declaring, in the strongest terms, that he favored the free coinage of the American production, he pictured the enormous trade of foreign white metal that would be dumped into this country in the event of free coinage and in closing declared that idea perfectly preposterous.

In Mr. Bryan's closing reply he denounced Thurston for his political acts of the past.

NARROW ESCAPE.

Nitro-Glycerine Bomb in a New York Meeting.

New York, Oct. 17.—The Herald this morning says: The reception given by the Irish National Federation to Edward Blake, M.P., at Lenox Lyceum last night was productive of some results never dreamed of by its originators. In the heart of the meeting and while all eyes were turned upon Mr. Blake as he stood on the platform delivering one of his most impressive speeches, a short, stocky built, roughly dressed, bent old man walked swiftly around the back of the front tier of boxes until he reached the last one nearest the platform and to the left of the proscenium arch. In his hand he carried an old baby green gingham umbrella, which he seemed to hold with peculiar tenderness. Outside the box he stopped, hesitated a moment, and then entering, took a chair in a corner nearest the stage. The old man left in a moment. A moment later there leaped out a glare of flame and smoke and then followed the shriek of "Fire" and the simultaneous movement of 300 panic-stricken creatures to the door.

Patrolman Lillie rushed into the box and vigorously stamped on something with his feet. Then the stentorian voice of Mr. Blake rang through the big building, calling on the audience to keep their seats. "The fire is out. Come back," cried he. The flame had gone and the smoke disappeared. Lillie had put out a burning thing that had fragments of gingham attached to it and a fuse eight inches long in the center. It was a first-class nitro-glycerine bomb. Those in charge of the meeting tried to hush up the affair.

Forbidden the Use of the Mails.

Jefferson City, Mo., Oct. 17.—The [illegible] County Bond Investment company, which has by order of Postmaster General Bissell been forbidden the mails, and which had procured a restraining order returning at this term of the United States Circuit court, now in session in this city, was today knocked out by Judge Phillips ruling that no other issue by an executive officer of the government, such as is the postmaster general, could not be reviewed by the court, the two departments being co-ordinate. Postmaster General Bissell held that the company was engaged in a lottery business, and for that reason forbade it the use of the mails.

Horrible Results

OF NEGLECTED OR WRONGLY TREATED CATARRH.

The New Treatment of Drs. Shores & Shores Tried and Proven by Thousands to Absolutely Master this Dread Disease in all its Miserable and Unsightly Complications—A Case in Point.

Mr. Hendley is well and favorably known, and has a large circle of friends and acquaintances. In his recent interview with the writer, he said:

"I have had catarrhal poison in my system for fifteen years, and I can say from experience that when it is allowed to go on unchecked the result is simply horrible.

"Besides ordinary symptoms, my trouble had gone so far that the poison was beginning to decay and destroy. My mouth and stomach was eaten away in patches and holes, and I suffered fearful pain and agony at all times. I had no appetite, of course. If I did take any food the misery that always followed in my stomach was terrible—a gnawing, burning, eating away feeling. Food could not digest, my stomach was so sore and poisoned.

"For three weeks at one time I did not swallow a particle of food. My tongue was so swollen I could not shut my mouth. For years all I would dare take in the morning was a glass of water. The eating sores in my mouth were terrible, and all I could do was to keep the poison from eating into the bone.

MR. CHAS. HENDLEY, Manager City Press.

"Of course, I sought relief—have doctored most all the time for seven years. I was under the treatment of five of the best doctors in the East, but none could give me any permanent relief. They could not even check the disease, for it kept getting worse and worse until about two months and a half ago, when I was induced to go to Drs. Shores & Shores. If my condition and suffering was extraordinary, my experience under Drs. Shores & Shores' treatment is simply wonderful. I can hardly express my delight and gratefulness for their remarkable skill and success. Their soothing treatment and strengthening, purifying vegetable medicines have made a new being of me. My suffering is all gone. I eat three hearty meals a day now, and enjoy every one of them.

"I am glad to make this statement, and I sincerely hope that everyone suffering with catarrh who reads this will take a warning from my experience and not neglect it nor risk injury by fooling with some incompetent doctor, but go at once to these splendid physicians—Drs. Shores & Shores—and be cured."

Mr. Hendley's case is an unusual one, but it illustrates what the result may be if the disease is neglected or improperly treated.

Mr. Hendley's address is Sugar House Postoffice, this county.
