ROUSING WELCOME TO GOVERNOR FOLK

Executive and Party Charmed With Organ Recital and Praise Utah Artists.

FINE RECEPTION AT ALTA CLUB

Speeches Made by Distinguished Citizens—Gov. Folk Delivers an Epigrammatic Address—A "No Pass Party."

Gov. Joseph Folk of Missouri arrived in this city yesterday afternoon at 6 o'clock and after five hours of mingling with Salt Lake's citizens it was just plain Joe Folk, a promising presidential prospect who departed for the west. While in Salt Lake Folk delivered himself of a hundred epigrams which were all pointed on actual conditions of the day, and he was cheered by Democrats and Republicans alike as a future occupant of the presidential chair. Judge William H. King offered the toast to him as the next president, and the response to it was hearty from all parts of the banquet hall.

In the visiting party were Gov. and Mrs. Folk, Gen. James A. De Armond of Butler, adjutant-general; Gen. Emmett Newton, Springfield, inspector-general; Gen. George S. McGrew, St. Louis, paymaster-general; Mrs. McGrew; Gen. Henry P. Lay, Warsaw, judge advocate-general; Gen. Henry Lee, Columbia, commissary-general; Mrs. Lee; Col. Tom J. Landrum, St. Louis; Col. E. E. Rand, St. Louis; Col. Phillip D. Mullin, Kansas City; Col. Thomas C. Hennings, St. Louis; Col. F. X. Craft, St. Louis; Col. Charles H. Haskell, St. Louis; Mrs. Haskell; Col. R. J. Balch, Monett; Col. E. H. McHenry, Stansbury.

ACCEPT NO PASSES.

The entire party can produce railroad tickets like the ones people pay for and theirs were paid for. In bringing his fight on public perquisites home to himself and his personal opportunities, Gov. Folk has forbidden himself the time honored privilege of a railroad pass. And the same applied to his staff who joined with him in taking this trip on a cash basis.

TRAIN WAS LATE.

The governor's train yesterday was an hour late, but this fact interfered only slightly with the plans. At the depot Gov. Cutler and Col and Mrs. E. F. Holmes met the train, and carried Gov. Folk in the Holmes automobile to the Tabernacle. The rest of the party and the committee which had welcomed them at Ogden, followed to the Tabernacle in carriages, and here an organ recital was tendered them. As the party entered they were greeted with the swelling strains of "Dixie" which carried a thrill to every southern heart in the party. "The Pilgrim's Chorus," from Tannhauser, "Mignon Gavotte," "Communion in G," "Old Melody" and "Star Spangled Banner" completed the organ numbers. In addition Mrs. Emma Ramsey Morris sang "The Flag Without a Stain" in a manner that charmed the audience, and Mrs. McDonald of Pittsburg, a famous church singer, rendered a selection in stirring style.

PRAISES UTAH ARTISTS.

Gov. Folk was enthusiastic after the recital in his praise of both organist and soloists. He said: "I have been charmed by the wonderful music in your famous tabernacle this afternoon, as I never was charmed by mucis before. I had heard much of Utah's musical standing, and the great number of artists that it has, but I was not prepared to listen to such magic music as we have heard this evening. That organ is a wonderful, almost human thing, and as to the organist, it seems to me that he almost makes it talk. Another feature that was most pleasant to us was the singing of the ladies. I never realized before how grand the "Flag Without a Stain" really is. Mrs. Morris, the young woman who sang it rendered it in such a manner as to stir my soul to the very depths. I want to say this, that if either she or Mr. McClellan come to Missouri we will do all in our power to show them in substantial and fitting manner that we appreciate the rare treat that they gave us today, for it was indeed a rare and delightful occasion. They are both great artists and we would take great pleasure in showing them our appreciation."

ALTA CLUB BANQUET.

The banquet at the Alta club following immediately after the recital, was opened with a brief address of welcome by Governor Cutler. He pleasantly referred to the fact that Utah had not the same problems to fight as he had met in Missouri because Utah hadn't the cash to tempt the boodler that Missouri has had. He referred to his guest in closing as one of the most distinguished visitors of the season.

The guests were seated in the large dining room, at four tables arranged in the shape of a hollow square. In the midst of the tables potted plants and cut flowers were banked in profusion while red asters were used liberally on the tables. The speakers were Gov. Cutler, Gov. Folk, Senator Reed Smoot and Judge Wm. H. King, former Democratic congressman from Utah.

GOV. FOLK'S SPEECH.

Gov. Folk's address, responding to the welcome of Gov. Cutler, bristled with epigrams and was one which its hearers will not soon forget. He dealt with Utah, Missouri, graft and grafters, and with the duty of citizens to their country. He pointed out the great fact that no man can now tell where the east begins and the west leaves off, and that all sectional boundaries in America are growing less distinct as the people come to understand each other better.

"Manhood is the only patent of nobility in the east," he declared, "and I note the resemblance of men and women in Utah to those in Missouri. The longer I live and the more I go over the country the more I realize that there is not much difference in men after all. I have learned that the good people are the same everywhere, and the bad people alike wherever you go." He narrated the fact that he was born in Tennessee and reared in Missouri, to which state he said he now belonged.

Gov. Folk talked at some length on the resources of Missouri, dealing with everything from her great crops to her mules upon which neither the sun nor anything else ever sets.

Referring indirectly to the fight he has himself carried on against boodle and graft he stated that he had observed that men who resisted the operation of law breaking grafters gained the ill will of the corrupt element, and he then declared that the best thing any official can have is the ill will of the corrupt, and the hatred of the lawless. "I would rather have them against me than for me in any political fight," he said. "In my official position I didn't want their friendship. I would rather have their ill will than their good will. A dozen law breakers can make more noise than 500 good citizens, but they don't count for as much."

FIGHT FOR CIVIC REFORM.

Continuing with the subject of the fight for better government, Gov. Folk said that the last three years had seen Missouri take the lead in the fight for civic reform. It had been a profitable fight, he said, from even a sordidly commercial point of view, but it had been profitable also, he declared, from a better standpoint, because it had been a fight for the right. An executive he considered should always enforce the laws and not try to form opinions as to their usefulness or value. "There has never been a time," he stated with his usual epigrammatical terseness, "when men and women were needed more in public life than today, and never a time when fewer are needed who are in politics for revenue only."

SENATOR SMOOT.

Senator Reed Smoot followed Gov. Folk with a few well chosen words in which he praised his ideals of citizenship and wished him well in his career.

JUDGE KING.

Judge William H. King made the final speech, opening it with the suggestion that it would be well to drink to "Governor Folk, the next president of the United States." His remarks indicated a belief that no man, Republican or Democrat, was so well fitted to fill the Roosevelt chair as was Gov. Folk, and he was roundly seconded by the applause.

Following Judge King's address the party broke up into a general reception in the main hall, where many people were gathered to greet the distinguished Missouri boodle-buster. Following a reception the party was invited by Col. E. F. Holmes and Mrs. Holmes to visit their residence, and a short time was spent in looking through the art gallery before departing.

At the depot farewells were said by men and women in both parties, and as the visitors pulled away into the midnight darkness their loud cheers for Utah and her people were heard by those who remained as long as the sound would carry.

Recovers From Bright's Disease.

Eben E. Rexford, known all over the country as "the Poet of Shiocton," and as a writer on floriculture and a contributor for years to the Ladies' Home Journal, who had Bright's Disease so badly, has full recovered. Here's his letter to a friend:

Shiocton, Wis., April 3, 1904.

Robt. M. Dadd, Milwaukee—Dear Sir: You ask me what I think of that treatment. I think it saved my life. During the attacks of Renal trouble I suffered all, it seems to me, that a man can suffer and survive. I treated with physicians and drank lithia waters till my stomach rebelled at sight of them. Nothing seemed to permanently benefit me. Up to the time you enclosed a circular of Fulton's Compound with the lithiated remedies prescribed by my physicians I had never heard of it. I determined to try it, and got from it the first substantial relief. I did not quit when I felt better, but continued it for months after I felt entirely well. I advised several friends about it, and in every instance it gave entire satisfaction. I feel I can never be thankful enough to you for calling my attention to it. Yours,

EBEN E. REXFORD.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Grand theater presented a new bill last night in the shape of "Whirley Girley," which proved to be an offering on very similar lines to those which had gone before. There was hardly the usual big attendance, and perhaps the fact that much the same sort of bill was running at the Lyric under still another name, had something to do with the falling off, for it is too much to expect Salt Lake to support a double bill of burlesques for an extended period. With the advent of melodrama, into which the Grand management is soon to plunge, a different financial story will no doubt be told.

Mr. Burkhardt last night was again the larger part of the show, and his sliding antics and dialect stories proved as agreeable as ever. The chorus girls seem to have exhausted the resources of their wardrobe the first night, for there have been few changes since, and some of the trousers they wear suggest that a kindly stage manager ought to inform them that benzine is good for grease spots and that men send that sort of thing to the tailor at regular intervals for creasing.

Everything about the show went with the usual rush and whirl, and will continue to do so for the next two or three nights.

* * *

Harry Horsley, whose benefit at the Theater occurs on the night of Monday, the 25th, has just received a handsome testimonial from the veteran Australian manager, J. C. Williamson, in the shape of a $10 check for the occasion. Mr. Williamson passed through Salt Lake in 1873 with his play of "Struck Oil," and at that time Mr. Horsley took part in the production.

BAMBERGER IS GETTING BUSY.

President Salt Lake & Ogden Road Places Orders for Sixty-Pound Steel.

WILL SOON BE ON MARKET ST.

Story of Northwestern Coming Right Into Main Street Creates Considerable Merriment.

President Simon Bamberger of the Salt Lake & Ogden Railroad company today placed orders for 1,000 tons of 60-lb. steel for immediate delivery, from the Colorado Fuel & Iron company. In addition another order was placed for 1,500 tons of the same steel for delivery during the first week of December. Mr. Bamberger stated this morning that he expected to let the contract for the laying of track on Market Street, under the franchise granted by the city council last week, just as soon as he had consulted with the city engineer upon the matter.

Regarding the franchise granted the Salt Lake & Ogden considerable amusement was occasioned on Railroad Row this morning by the publication of a story that was started by a knot of gentlemen gathered in the Chicago & Northwestern local office three weeks ago. A former railroad man jollied General Agent Walker and asserted that the Northwestern was coming into Salt Lake over the Salt Lake & Ogden. Arguments were introduced to show how the great system could come in over a single line after first electrifying its motive power. It was then gravely given to the "News" by the jokester as a great "scoop," but declined with thanks.

The spectacle of a great railroad system unloading thousands of passengers, tons of freight, carloads of cattle and livestock, merchandise, steel bridges and other bric a brac on Market street would be most charming—it would be so handy to the new postoffice, you know.

SLACKENING UP.

Passenger Traffic Dropping Off With Advent of Fall Weather.

The overwhelming passenger travel which has been a feature on the transcontinental lines passing through Utah this summer has slackened up somewhat during the past four days. This state of affairs, however, is only temporary, for on Friday next the first of the colonists' rates will go into effect from Chicago and points east. From Missouri river points a rate of $20 has been put in for Utah common points, and one of $25 has been put in for California common points. This will mean that thousands of homeseekers will come west. This travel will not be as heavy on the Pullman service as the fair business, but the tourist and chair cars will be loaded to the limit on all trains.

WESTERN PACIFIC.

Construction Outfits Go Out to Garfield To Begin Work.

It is now almost a matter of hours before the dirt begins to fly at the Salt Lake end of the Western Pacific. Men and outfits are today being shipped to the point of the mountain in the vicinity of Garfield Beach and ground has been already broken for a camp. During this week actual grading will be commenced. For the next three years until the line is completed there will be plenty of work for every man who has a pair of hands or a team.

COLONIZER HERE.

F. C. Gibbons Arranging Special Trips to California.

F. C. Gibbons of the Western Colonization & Investment company, with headquarters at Los Angeles, is in this city making arrangements for weekly colonist special trains to southern California over the Salt Lake Route. Special rates have been secured and in all probability the first special train will leave Salt Lake next Sunday night. Mr. Gibbons claims to have a list of 700 names of residents of this state who will take advantage of these personally conducted tours.

GETS O. S.L. CONDUCTOR.

Still Another Employe Goes to McCune's Road in Peru.

George L. Hickey, formerly trainmaster on the Oregon Short Line, and car accountant here, writes from Peru that he likes the country and will move his family there next month. Incidentally he is on the lookout for good men for the Cerro de Pasco road, and has made an offer to Conductor C. C. Woolard of the Short Line. It has been accepted, and Mr. Woollard will leave for South America next Sunday. He offers the conductor $100 in gold a month and all expenses while in the employ of the company. He is also asking for a good locomotive engineer to accompany Mr. Wollard and enter the employ of the company.

BULLFROG SITUATION.

All Eyes on Best Paying Property in the World Today.

Goldfield, Nev., Sept. 12.—The first train over the Goldfield road arrived here late last night. At the depot an immense crowd of citizens was present to witness the important event fraught with so much importance to the industrial development of the district. A big celebration will be held during the last three days of the week to mark the advent of the railroad.

Regarding the Goldfield extension to Bullfrog the Reno Gazette prints the following:

"The Goldfield extension of the Tonopah railway is to be carried into Bullfrog. Back of the project are J. W. Brock and Charles R. Miller of Philadelphia, and W. L. Carden and A. C. Briggs of Tonopah. The former are prominent and very wealthy Philadelphians, and the fact that Brock is interested is evidence that the scheme is not a vision but one that will soon be crystalized into a reality. Yesterday afternoon late they filed their articles of incorporation for a million and a half dollar company at Carson and as soon as they complete the preliminary organization they will issue bonds and let the contract for grading.

"The road will run almost direct from Goldfield to Bullfrog. It will have an easy grade and will be 75 miles in length. Whether its terminus will be at Bullfrog town, Beatty, Gold Crater or Rhyolite has not been announced, but it may enter more than one of these camps.

"The projection of the Tonopah-Bullfrog railway confirms again the story that Borax Smith and the Clark railway were shut out of building from Las Vegas into the southern camps by the Harriman interests.

"Several months ago, so the story goes in railroad circles, the Clark road was entrapped into an agreement that it was not to build extensions into the southern Nevada field no being tapped by the Southern Pacific lines.

"As soon as it was printed the story was denied by the Clark interests but within two weeks after F. M. Smith started to construct his road out of Las Vegas for the Bullfrog district. He was compelled to stop operations although he had covered 15 miles of territory and had ordered many hundred thousand dollars worth of costly material. To emphasize the order to stop work the rates on ties and other equipment that he was importing was raised to an exhorbitant figure and the construction of the extension was made next to impossible.

"Work was quickly abandoned and the announcement made that the extension would not be constructed.

"This left the way open to the Tonopah Railroad company, which is working in harmony with the Southern Pacific interests. Surveys were at once run from Tonopah and Goldfield south into Bullfrog and the new Bullfrog Railway company organized."

According to official railroad statistics the Tonopah railway is the best paying railway property in the United States and probably in the entire world. Its record even surpasses that of the V. and T. during the best days of the Comstock.

The road, according to the statement of Alonzo Tripp made to the writer, cost a little less than $600,000. It was hoped that it would pay a reasonable dividend and take up all its bonds within 10 years, but to the astonishment of its owners it made profits amounting to over $60,000 a month for the first ten months of its existence and they show no sign of dwindling.

Several months ago the road had made enough to pay for itself and now the owners are drawing down in dividends approximately 100 per cent a year on their investment of more than half a million.

The invasion of Bullfrog by the Tonopah company will be of tremendous importance to Reno and the other towns of that section. It will carry all the southern Nevada traffic to the northward and Reno will continue to be the distributing point for the southern Nevada country, including Tonopah, Goldfield and the great Bullfrog country.

Trout Fry for Provo River.

The Rio Grande Western will tomorrow plant 300,000 young mountain trout in Provo river for the benefit of fishermen two years hence. The consignment of fry left the United States hatchery near Leadville, Colo., today, and is being rushed through to Provo in a special express car.

SPIKE AND RAIL

C. O. Whittemore, local counsel for the Salt Lake Route, returned from Las Vegas yesterday.

J. H. Manderfield, traveling freight agent of the Salt Lake Route, has gone to Colorado and Wyoming on a business trip.

J. A. Reeves, assistant general freight agent of the Oregon Short Line, has returned from the Trans-Missouri freight bureau meeting at Manitou.

Two carloads of letter carriers returning from the convention at Portland are due to arrive in Salt Lake this afternoon over the Rio Grande en route to Denver.

The Southern Pacific is to extend the broadgaging of its lines first to Keeler and later to Mojave. Mina, it is said, will be the base of operations, where all supplies will be stored.

CITY CONVENTION.

Republicans Will Hold One in This City, October 2.

At a meeting of the Republican city committee, late yesterday afternoon, it was decided to hold the city convention in Salt Lake, October 2. The place was not designated. The meeting was held in the rooms of the Young Men's Republican club, and in addition to choosing the time for the convention, the primaries were slated for Wednesday evening, Sept. 27, and the precinct conventions for Friday evening, Sept. 29.

There were present City Chairman Fred C. Loofbourow, Secretary J. Parley White, C. A. Buckwalter and S. A. Stanford, proxy for Geo. Wilson, First precinct; J. J. Meyer, proxy for Earl Ripley, Second precinct; T. L. Irvine and Harry S. Anderson, Third precinct; Jos. C. Sharp, proxy for Ralph Guthrie, Fourth precinct; W. L. Leaker, and T. R. Black, proxy for S. C. Wing, Fifth precinct.

E. J. Eardley was unanimously chosen to fill the vacancy in the Second precinct, A. S. Reiser having withdrawn his candidacy.

The main portion of the meeting was given over to the discussion of the appointment of delegates, and it was finally decided to choose them on the figures of the 1901 election.

NEW FOREST RESERVES.

Mr. Pinchot's Visit May Result in Several New Ones and Additions.

Senator Reed Smoot said to a "News" representative this morning that the visit of Mr. Pinchot to Utah and the report he would make at Washington would undoubtedly result in the creation of several new forest reserves, and in two additions to existing reserves. He looked for a proclamation from the president within two or three weeks by which 2,700,000 acres of the more than 5,000,000 ordered withdrawn, would be released to the public domain, but the remainder, something like 2,300,000 acres, would be put into the new reserve and additions. In Senator Smoot's opinion the new reserves will consist of the following: La Salle reserve, situated along the La Salle mountains in Grand county; Pine Valley reserve in Washington county; Fillmore reserve in Millard county, and Juab reserve in Juab and Sanpete counties, while the additions would be first to the present Uintah reservation, taking in the land adjacent to the water ways along the new proposed Strawberry proposition; second to the Sevier reservation in Garfield and Piute counties.

"OUT WEST" STORIES.

September Issue of Magazine Has Several of Local Interest.

"Out West" is a magzine that is appealing to a good many readers who live in the Rocky Mountain country. They like it because of the stirring and incisive articles that it publishes on topics that relate to the great west. The September number, just received by the Deseret News book store, contains two articles, profusely illustrated that will be of uncommon interest to Utah people. One is by President Joseph F. Smith, on "The Truth About Mormonism," and the other is by Judge E. F. Colburn on "Salt Lake City." Another is by Luther Burbank, scientist, and deals with the marvelous manner in which by grafting and other processes he is giving the world many new kinds of fruit.

A tonic that makes rich, red blood. Brings strength, health and happiness to the whole family. Nothing equals Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea as a tonic. 35 cents. Ask your druggist.

ACTION AGAINST SUNDAY THEATERS.

Decisive Move Will be Made to Prevent Violation of a Wholesome State Law.

SUGGESTIVE POSTERS DOOMED.

Mayor Morris Says He Will Give Strict Orders to Police to See that The Law is Enforced.

From present appearances the article in last Saturday's "News" relative to the exhibition of objectionable posters, is having a good effect. Prof. Paul of the L. D. S. university and Bishop Preston served notice on the bill posting company to cover the show printing in the vicinity of the university, and the bill posters promptly complied. Not only that, but Mr. Anderson, the manager of the Bill Posting company, stated that the questionable posters were placed there without his knowledge, and he is in such entire accord with the sentiment against putting out such posters, that he has notified the theaters concerned that his company will refuse to post anything in future that could be classed as objectionable.

Mayor Morris in his turn says that he will give strict orders to have the police look out for such violations of the ordinances in future, so that theatrical managers, bill posters, and property owners alike have an interest, aside from the moral questions involved, in seeing that such printing hereafter is not allowed to be posted.

In this connection, the "News" has received the following letter:

Salt Lake City, Sept. 11.

To the Editor.

I desire to thank the "News" for the article in Saturday's issue calling attention to the loud, not to say obscene posters, with which the dead walls of the city have been so profusely plastered of late. In view of the fact that the whole school population of the city passes by these walls several times a day, I think the police should see that no such indecent exhibitions are allowed.

Now that this subject is being agitated, will not the "News" agitate another of no less importance to the morals and good order of the city? I refer to the subject of Sunday night theaters, burlesques, horse plays and "leg shows" now going on without interruption. I believe that the great preponderance of public opinion in Salt Lake, "Mormon," Jew and Gentile alike, favors a proper observance of the Sabbath and it should cause us all to blush with shame when we know that in "wicked cities" like New York, Boston and Philadelphia such "shows" as Salt Lake allows every Sunday night, would not be tolerated for a moment. Sunday here is one issue on which Salt Lake Christians can "get together."

CITIZEN.

There is no sort of question that the recent opening of several burlesque and theatrical houses on Sunday nights has sent a shock throughout this community, where for so many years the rule has been rigidly adhered to that Sunday theatrical shows should never be tolerated. The "News" took early steps to consult the mayor and city attorney on the question and was informed that there is at present absolutely no ordinance preventing theatrical performances on Sunday nights. There is a state law on the subject, however, and it is understood that if the city authorities do not pass an ordinance prohibiting the sort of "shows" that are now going on on Sunday nights, the sheriff's office will take action in the matter. It is known, however, that the mayor and several members of the city council have the matter under consideration, and it is believed that a stringent ordinance will be passed governing the subject. It is also reported that in case something is not done immediately, the Ministers' association will take up the question and inaugurate a crusade to remedy the evil. The Sunday schools and Mutual Improvement associations of the city, also have a standing committee on such questions, and they too, can be relied on to lend all the aid in their power to see that Salt Lake City is not allowed to take its place in the list of "wide open" western cities.

FOREST SUPERVISOR MEEKS

He Resigns and Ranger Clark Ordered To Take Charge of S. L. Reserve.

(Special to the "News.")

Washington, D. C., Sept. 12.—Forest Supervisor James E. Meek, of the Salt Lake forest reserve, transmitted his resignation yesterday. It was accepted, and Forest Ranger E. H. Clark, of Manti forest reserve, was ordered to go to Murray, Utah, to assume charge of the Salt Lake forest reserve.

DEATH OF C. F. DIXON.

Aged and Respected Citizen of Payson Passes to His Rest and Reward.

Word has been received in Salt Lake of the death of Christopher Flintoff Dixon of Payson. His demise occurred yesterday and his funeral will take place from his late residence tomorrow afternoon beginning at 3 o'clock. The deceased is one of the oldest and best known residents of Utah county and he leaves many relatives and friends to mourn his departure. He was 83 years of age and had been a sufferer for some time. He was the grandfather of Mrs. John J. McClellan.

BUSINESS NOTES.

O. W. Nyberg, a Park City confectioner, today made an assignment to the Utah Association of Credit Men. His liabilities are $1,500, with assets of about $700.

Today's bank clearings were $629,424.72 as compared to $485,215.04 for the same day last year.

A copy of the articles of incorporation of the Intermountain Power company of Elko, Nev., was filed in the secretary of state's office today. The company is capitalized at $1,500,000, divided into shares of the par value of $1 each. James J. Chambers is president; Bismarck Snyder, secretary, and resident agent for Utah. The other incorporators are E. J. Raddatz, C. O. Ellingwood, W. J. Craig, S. M. Devy and Gideon Snyder. The company will construct a power plant for the purpose of furnishing power for motive and lighting purposes.

THREE JURORS ARE SECURED.

Shockley Case Dragging Along Slowly in the District Court.

DEFENDANT IS QUITE HOPEFUL

Most of the Jurors Called Have Formed Definite Opinion of Guilt or Innocence.

Up to the noon hour today only three jurors had been accepted and sworn in to sit in the second trial of the case of the State of Utah against James M. Shockley, charged with the murder of Amasa L. Gleason, a street car man, on the night of Jan. 6, 1904. None of the jurors examined at this morning's session were acceptable to the defense so they were excused for cause at the request of Attorney H. A. Smith, who is defending Shockley. The three jurors sworn in were secured yesterday afternoon. They are J. J. Hunt, Edward Rushton and Joseph J. La Bee.

Of the 50 jurors summoned to appear in Judge Armstrong's court this morning, only 37 were present for their voir dire examination. Out of that number five were excused and the names of the remaining 32 were placed in the jury box. The first nine jurors called into the box today were William Keyton, Joseph W. McMurrin, Harry Brown, Jerome Bourgard, P. F. Engler, C. T. Husbands, George Mueller, James Barrow and T. J. Stringer. Each of them had formed an opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the defendant which they could not set aside very readily, and they were accordingly challenged for cause by Attorney Smith and were excused in one, two, three order.

WILLIAMS MAY SERVE.

Louis E. Bamberger, W. D. Williams, F. W. Allen, C. J. Finell, Arthur Frewin, James Devine, J. E. Beveridge, T. H. Lindley and George E. Burbidge were then called into the box. Mr. Bamberger was exempt from jury service for the reason that he had served on jury within a year from the time he was summoned in this case. He was accordingly excused. W. D. Williams was given a rigid examination and is a prospective juror, as he had not formed a set opinion as to the guilt or innocence of defendant and stated that he could enter upon the trial of the case without any feeling of prejudice against the defendant. The examination of the other jurors was not completed when the court took its noon recess, and they will be further examined this afternoon.

SHOCKLEY IN GOOD SPIRITS.

Shockley was brought into court by Deputy Sheriffs Sharp and Emery. He appeared to be in much better spirits than at any time since the incarceration, and has great hopes of securing a more favorable verdict on this trial.

DISSOLUTION OF THE SWEDEN-NORWAY UNION.

Breach May Follow Reassembling of Delegates, Swedish Authorities Preparing for Such an Eventuality.

Stockholm, Sweden, Sept. 12.—The delegates of Norway and Sweden appointed to discuss the dissolution of the union of the two countries, will reassemble at Karlstad, Sweden, Sept. 13, and as it is declared here that the Swedish conditions are unalterable the outcome seems to depend on the Norwegian acceptance of these conditions. The tone adopted by the Norwegian newspapers appearing this morning is very threatening and is considered to be specially significant coming after yesterday's meeting of the Norwegian delegates. It is recognized that a breach may follow the reassembling of the delegates and the Swedish authorities are preparing for such an eventuality.

Christiania, Norway, Sept. 12.—The newspapers continue to somewhat heatedly discuss Sweden's refusal to agree to an arbitration treaty. The Morgenbladet says Norway is prepared to dismantle her new fortifications in order to show her love for peace and desire for a settlement with Sweden. But not a gun nor a stone shall be moved until the arbitration treaty is signed.

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES WITHDRAW THEIR NAMES

Chairman Miles of the Philadelphia City Committee Gets Several Letters of Withdrawal.

Philadelphia, Sept. 12.—Chairman Miles of the Republican city committee today received letters from the Republican organization candidates for the county offices to be voted for at the November election withdrawing from the ticket. The candidates who withdrew are Harry C. Ransley, candidate for sheriff; John B. Lukens, candidate for coroner; Hugh Black and Jacob Wildemore, candidates for county commissioners.

A special meeting of the Republican county campaign will be held to fill the vacancies caused by the withdrawals. Ransley is president of the select council and is one of the local Republican leaders. Lukens, Black and Wildemore are ward leaders and prominent in the councils of the party. They were nominated by the regular Republican convention held some time previous to Mayor Weaver's break with the organization. Since then a committee of 21 citizens have endeavored to secure the nomination of an entire new ticket for the purpose of securing reform within the party. The city party, a reform organization, and the Democratic party have announced their opposition to any ticket that may be named by the Republican organization.

THREE JURORS ARE SECURED.

Shockley Case Dragging Along Slowly in the District Court.

DEFENDANT IS QUITE HOPEFUL

Most of the Jurors Called Have Formed Definite Opinion of Guilt or Innocence.

Up to the noon hour today only three jurors had been accepted and sworn in to sit in the second trial of the case of the State of Utah against James M. Shockley, charged with the murder of Amasa L. Gleason, a street car man, on the night of Jan. 6, 1904. None of the jurors examined at this morning's session were acceptable to the defense so they were excused for cause at the request of Attorney H. A. Smith, who is defending Shockley. The three jurors sworn in were secured yesterday afternoon. They are J. J. Hunt, Edward Rushton and Joseph J. La Bee.

Of the 50 jurors summoned to appear in Judge Armstrong's court this morning, only 37 were present for their voir dire examination. Out of that number five were excused and the names of the remaining 32 were placed in the jury box. The first nine jurors called into the box today were William Keyton, Joseph W. McMurrin, Harry Brown, Jerome Bourgard, P. F. Engler, C. T. Husbands, George Mueller, James Barrow and T. J. Stringer. Each of them had formed an opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the defendant which they could not set aside very readily, and they were accordingly challenged for cause by Attorney Smith and were excused in one, two, three order.

WILLIAMS MAY SERVE.

Louis E. Bamberger, W. D. Williams, F. W. Allen, C. J. Finell, Arthur Frewin, James Devine, J. E. Beveridge, T. H. Lindley and George E. Burbidge were then called into the box. Mr. Bamberger was exempt from jury service for the reason that he had served on jury within a year from the time he was summoned in this case. He was accordingly excused. W. D. Williams was given a rigid examination and is a prospective juror, as he had not formed a set opinion as to the guilt or innocence of defendant and stated that he could enter upon the trial of the case without any feeling of prejudice against the defendant. The examination of the other jurors was not completed when the court took its noon recess, and they will be further examined this afternoon.

SHOCKLEY IN GOOD SPIRITS.

Shockley was brought into court by Deputy Sheriffs Sharp and Emery. He appeared to be in much better spirits than at any time since the incarceration, and has great hopes of securing a more favorable verdict on this trial.

DISSOLUTION OF THE SWEDEN-NORWAY UNION.

Breach May Follow Reassembling of Delegates, Swedish Authorities Preparing for Such an Eventuality.

Stockholm, Sweden, Sept. 12.—The delegates of Norway and Sweden appointed to discuss the dissolution of the union of the two countries, will reassemble at Karlstad, Sweden, Sept. 13, and as it is declared here that the Swedish conditions are unalterable the outcome seems to depend on the Norwegian acceptance of these conditions. The tone adopted by the Norwegian newspapers appearing this morning is very threatening and is considered to be specially significant coming after yesterday's meeting of the Norwegian delegates. It is recognized that a breach may follow the reassembling of the delegates and the Swedish authorities are preparing for such an eventuality.

Christiania, Norway, Sept. 12.—The newspapers continue to somewhat heatedly discuss Sweden's refusal to agree to an arbitration treaty. The Morgenbladet says Norway is prepared to dismantle her new fortifications in order to show her love for peace and desire for a settlement with Sweden. But not a gun nor a stone shall be moved until the arbitration treaty is signed.

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES WITHDRAW THEIR NAMES

Chairman Miles of the Philadelphia City Committee Gets Several Letters of Withdrawal.

Philadelphia, Sept. 12.—Chairman Miles of the Republican city committee today received letters from the Republican organization candidates for the county offices to be voted for at the November election withdrawing from the ticket. The candidates who withdrew are Harry C. Ransley, candidate for sheriff; John B. Lukens, candidate for coroner; Hugh Black and Jacob Wildemore, candidates for county commissioners.

A special meeting of the Republican county campaign will be held to fill the vacancies caused by the withdrawals. Ransley is president of the select council and is one of the local Republican leaders. Lukens, Black and Wildemore are ward leaders and prominent in the councils of the party. They were nominated by the regular Republican convention held some time previous to Mayor Weaver's break with the organization. Since then a committee of 21 citizens have endeavored to secure the nomination of an entire new ticket for the purpose of securing reform within the party. The city party, a reform organization, and the Democratic party have announced their opposition to any ticket that may be named by the Republican organization.

CAMP TAFT IS BUT A MEMORY.

State Soldiers Strike Tents and Take the Train for Salt Lake.

BIG PARADE ON THEIR RETURN

True to His Promise Colonel Lund Moved Command Out on Record Time.

(Special to the "News.")

Manti, Utah, Sept. 12.—All that is left of Camp Taft, which began its existence here Sept. 6, is a few broken water barrels. Otherwise the site cannot be distinguished from the vast area of hayfields surrounding it.

True to his promise that camp would be broken this year in record time, Col. Lund moved his command out of camp, with every vestige of its property packed on baggage wagons and en route to the depot, at 9:30 o'clock. From reveille at dawn until then every man had worked hard packing his equipment and tearing down company and battery streets. The artillery equipment was the first to leave for the depot, and following it the heavy tent equipment was shipped. At 9 o'clock 20 wagons were in line with all the remaining baggage, and as they pulled out for the depot, the command followed, marching in column of fours over the long, dusty road to Manti.

At 11:10 o'clock everything had been packed aboard the train and it departed for Salt Lake. The train is a specially heavy one, and does not plan to reach the city under two hours over regular running time. This should bring it into Salt Lake at least by 5 o'clock. It is planned to have the command parade from the depot to the armory via East Temple street. Col. Kesler of the governor's staff has charge of procuring horses for use on the cannon, and expects to meet the train when it arrives at Salt Lake. Captain S. H. Lund remained in Manti to settle outstanding accounts against the guard.
