DESERET EVENING NEWS.

DESERET NEWS PUBLISHING COMPANY, LESSEES.

MONDAY, APRIL 9, 1894.

THE DESERET EVENING NEWS is published every evening (except Sundays) at 10 Dexter Street, Salt Lake City, Utah, by the Deseret News Publishing Company.

THE DESERET EVENING NEWS is delivered to city subscribers and sold on the streets at 5 cents per copy.

THE DESERET WEEKLY is published every Wednesday morning, and contains the latest news of the week.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

Daily (Evening)	$5.00
Daily (6 mo.)	2.75
Daily (3 mo.)	1.50
Daily (1 mo.)	50
Weekly (1 year)	2.00
Weekly (6 mo.)	1.00
Weekly (3 mo.)	50
Weekly (1 mo.)	25
Weekly (3 copies)	5.00
Weekly (6 copies)	10.00
Weekly (12 copies)	20.00

Remittances should be made payable to the order of the Company.

Subscribers changing their address should always give their former as well as present address.

The News will not be sent to the Dead Letter Office unless ordered. Subscribers should pay the city office or city agents.

Communications should be addressed to DESERET NEWS PUBLISHING CO., Salt Lake City, Utah.

THE ANNUAL CONFERENCE.

The adjournment of the General Conference happy afternoon brought to a close one of the most interesting gatherings of the kind to which the Saints have participated. It was truly a time of refreshing, of peace, of encouragement and rejoicing in the members of the Church, and to this report has never been excelled in the history of latter times. The spirit of instruction and revelation rested upon speakers to a marked extent. The remarks were fervent and salutiferous, tending to bring home to the experience of the Saints, being accompanied by the power and under the inspiration of the Holy Spirit.

One feature which was made prominent in the spirit of the Conference is a matter of comfort and encouragement to those engaged in the work of the Lord. This is the development of unity and spiritual growth that is manifest among the people. The increase of humility, brotherly love, charity, earnestness in the cause of truth, intelligence, union, and of every element to the furtherance of the work of righteousness, was clearly manifest, bearing witness of growth in the knowledge of truth and in grace and good works throughout the body of the Church, among the youthful as well as those in more mature years. Never at any time have the Saints presented themselves as competent in this regard as at the present, thus giving evidence of the power and blessing of God that attend their progress.

The instructions at all of the meetings were indeed plain and precious. Counsel and admonition to the temporal affairs of the people were given so full with a clearness and precision that brought them within the comprehension of all. In a spirit of gentleness and persuasion, faults were pointed out, a source of remedying them shown, and methods indicated for avoiding temptation and danger in the future. The principles which should guide the Saints in their daily life were placed before the assemblages in a simple, powerful manner, and attention directed to the blessings that follow obedience to the laws of God.

As instance of special importance and interest to the Saints was at the Sunday morning meeting, when President Woodruff gave to them information relating to the work for those who have passed beyond the veil. This revelation through the Prophet of God of the divine will was attended by the manifestation of the Holy Spirit among the people, giving to them a comprehension and testimony of the truth of the glorious principle enunciated, and which was hailed with joy by the Saints.

The instructions regarding the sacrament, the united order, and other principles of vital importance, will also call forth a harmonious response from each member of the Church who is walking in the path of duty. Altogether the counsel, the exhortations, and the exposition of heavenly principles in it have been witnessed during the Conference just closed, are of a nature to cause great rejoicing among the Saints and to lead them to an increase of diligence in serving the Lord.

THE ARMY IN OGDEN.

A division of the industrial army from California, 1,200 strong, was landed in Ogden last night, April 6, by the Southern Pacific, notwithstanding the protest of Governor West and city authorities. They were marched together in ranks two and presented a pitiable appearance, being insufficiently clad and the pouring rain during their journey across the Sierras and the desert.

The number of a large body of idle men without means of support in any place is a serious matter. These men are now within the confines of our Territory and the problem which lie on with them must be solved. The Nevada Sun from the Sod House the state that the movement said to be put down in the frequency because it was being attended by naughty men, those who have had liquor, and "we see it is a convenient method to the cause of the Union hostilities through which the state has. But at the time that we would very much regret the repetition of anything like the occurrence at Oakland, California, where the men were removed from their stations and told to leave before morning on the security of a mandate. Such course occasioned much but bear bad traits, because the rules has spread a good deal further among the people than is commonly apparent.

Governor West's position is unfortunately correct. He has notified the leader of the pilgrims that they cannot remain here for any length of time, the people of Utah having already enough to do for their own poor workingmen, but must their expense transportation to the east from any public funds. An effort will be made to force the Southern Pacific to take them back to where they came from, and it will be assumed that this is as just as it is legal. No political determination should be allowed to delay the movement of the army into another state.

Bringing the issues that might arise to Utah, scores of industrious might be mixed in, and we have enough of our own to suffer from lack of employment, and would prefer those who were they given her opportunity. With more the entire local production is used at home, and then only a small per cent of the demand is met. The rest has to be supplied by importation, and in making home the issues begin to assume the more serious. To illustrate this it will be necessary to name but one interest, respiratory this month is the fruit of others. In the industry and farmers business, for instance, there is scarcely an object in this Territory that will not be produced. A large portion of this material is the result of the application of the Union of Utah. And yet if the local production were well nearly large trade in this question and it would supplant the imperfect article, to a very great extent, be used in wear and fabric. It is an assertion interest.

A natural result of the present industrial agitation will be an increased demand for home-made goods. There already has been a market effect in this direction. One case of it has been the more thorough advertising of home made goods. Many of those engaged in various industries have been remiss in not securing the benefits of opportunities to impress the public with what they were doing. For instance, there is a shoe factory in Salt Lake County, operated on a small scale, and a very quite article, it would seem, for not few people know of it in the product was exhibited at the Fair. The largest tower in glue in the Territory exercised the employe and commended them for their skill. Its size made this statement to the Manufacturer: Surely we never heard of glue being made here before. Had it done so, I certainly should have bought it, it is good to proved on the market at rising prices. But I have bought outside solely because I had no knowledge of any local industry. The gentleman is an honest man, and he will be a good customer if we make it worth his while to get it. This factory should and be not an home problem. As that goods become known the office of the present movement will be to give them additional patronage, which means a necessity for greater production. The inter feature opens up a field for the investment of capital in a line of great importance to the Territory, which ought to be taken advantage of.

ANNUAL CONFERENCE.

The Sixty Fourth General Anniversary of the Church.

THIRD DAY.

Sunday, April 8th.

The choir and congregation sang:

The Spirit of God like a fire is burning!
The latter day glory begins to break forth,
The kingdom of God has commenced rolling,
Let mortals and angels proclaim it throughout the earth.
Hosanna, hosanna to God and the Lamb!
Amen and amen, let the vault of heaven resound,
Amen and amen, let the vault of heaven resound.

Prayer by Elder John Nicholson.

Singing by the choir:

Hosanna, hosanna to God and the Lamb!
Let angels and all who in heaven do dwell
Hosanna, hosanna, hosanna,
Let earth and all creatures
Hosanna, hosanna, hosanna,
Hosanna, hosanna, hosanna,
Let earth and all creatures
Hosanna, hosanna, hosanna.

PRESIDENT WILFORD WOODRUFF

addressed the Conference. After he had made a few preliminary remarks upon the necessity of the servants of God being influenced by the power of the spirit in order to be successful, he announced that President George Q. Cannon would read from the Life Journal of President Brigham Young, a portion of the revelation on Celestial Marriage and Celestial Conference. This revelation dwelt upon the power of the Priesthood to bind on earth and it is bound in heaven, and of the keys of authority in sealings. Of the living and the dead. After the reading President Woodruff remarked his remarks and outlined an important and interesting character, giving additional light upon the subject, which are now in progress, and the power of the Priesthood in the work of the dead. He said he was prepared to bear testimony to the truth of the work and the power of God. President Woodruff remarked that the Lord is revealing to the people the principle of making baptisms for the dead, and he said that though it was given by three years he saw in many cases where had been made it without the proper authority, the opposite now were greater because of increased knowledge having been revealed. He said that the family organization is entirely back this Territory, and it is the duty of the people to be sealed to their dead. He said that the Lord would not be satisfied with the ordinances which require, fidelity and faithfulness that hearts are yours. He said that the Lord would not receive the sign of the Kingdom of God, and the Celestial Kingdom unless we were faithful and obedient. He said that the Lord would