TAX SALES RECORDS.

Yesterday Mr. Chambers turned over to Recorder Hinchcliff a new book to the county records, called, Record of Delinquent Tax Sales for the years 1896-1897-1898. The book does great credit to the treasurer's office, as it is permanently bound, in fact, all pertaining to the book is excellent, and now Recorder Hinchcliff Deputy Treasurer Scott Sainsbury, share work it is.

OWNERS' FLAT BOOKS.

The owners' flat books of the county have also been turned over to Recorder Hinchcliff, for him to make two more books, one for his office and one for the assessor's. These new books necessitate a great deal of extra work, as they are to be finished by February.

COURT NEWS.

The matter of the assignment of Jackson & Hobbs came up for hearing before Judge Hall today, and the assignee report of W. F. Adams as assignee was approved and the gentlemen discharged.

ARRESTED FOR DISTURBANCE.

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Hyrum Green, Eldridge Allen and Dell Allen for disturbing the peace on July 30th at Huntsville. The complaint was sworn to by William Hansen, before U. C. Gertsen, justice of the peace. The trouble was a family among the men.

James Pitts and W. B. Cheesley now stand today an suspension of salary connected with the gang who raise all the hell breaking into houses and places of business.

DAMAGE SUIT.

In Justice Joseph Hall's court Edward Calvert and wife are suing Andrew Green for $250 alleged damages to lost and brown crops by overflow of water.

LOGAN.

Petition for Letters of Administration—Estate Sale—Marriages.

Special Correspondence.

Logan, Cache Co., Aug. 3.—Annie H. Schenk petitioned for letter of administration in regard to the estate of Frederick Schenk, deceased. Judge Hart set Sept. 11th for hearing of the petition.

The George A. Lowe company did not exhibit Great Scotland and Jack Sheppard of Mexico, by reason of not a bracket which it is asserted they bought, and afterwards refused to take.

MARRIAGES.

Marriage licenses have the week been issued as follows: Alfred Jensen, jr., of Trenton, and Martha J. Larsen, jr., of Franklin; Harry Jones, 28, and Tessie Robertson, 22, both of Logan.

SPRING CITY.

Bidding a $10,000 School House—Gentile Rule—Will Attend B. Y. College.

Special Correspondence.

Spring City, Sanpete County, Aug. 3.—Yesterday morning ground was broken for the foundation of the new school house. Contracts are out for its construction amounting close on ten thousand dollars, a part of which will be raised by direct tax and Union Pacific bond.

The meeting house walls have been plastered and painted, and give evidence that when finished it will be a very handsome edifice and one in which people will be proud of. This city is blessed with a very fine quarry of white sand stone which makes a very fine appearance. No doubt the basement of the school house will be of this rock.

John P. Carlson's fine house, upon which he has been working for fifteen years, has also been raised to second corners, this is built of the same white sand stone, with the face cut down to smooth finish, which white lead and oil worked in the surface, which gives it a very fine appearance. With no team at its command, Mr. Carlson's attempt at beautifying Zion, together with his permanence, is worthy of commendation.

GENTILE RAIN.

A gentile rain is falling which will aid the ripening of the grain, but has put a sing in the hay making.

TO ATTEND B. Y. ACADEMY.

Mrs. Nancy Acord is preparing to leave town for Provo, the lady will be accompanied by several of the younger members of her family, whose intention is to attend the B. Y. Academy for one or two years.

COALVILLE.

Grand Welcome Awaits Volunteers to Coalville and Park City—A Broken Arm.

Special Correspondence.

Coalville, Summit County, Aug. 3.—Thomas Hawkins and Charles Shepherd, the men accused of stealing a steer from Don McFolin of Park City, were arraigned today before Justic Smith at Coalville. Both pleaded not guilty, and the preliminary hearing was set for August 16th.

Constitutian Johnson is confined to his bed with a severe attack of inflammation.

GRAND WELCOME FOR VOLUNTEERS.

This evening the city council met and decided to take the initiative in giving the boys from Helena a grand reception. A mass meeting of the citizens will be called, committees will be appointed and the despatches prize and welcome of the people which they feel for our brave boys will find a partial expression in a grand celebration.

PARK CITY'S TRIBUTE TO VOLUNTEERS.

Summit county will receive her volunteers with a reception which will eclipse any celebration ever held in the "home of the Ontario." The festivities occur at Park City, and special trains will carry the people to that patriotic city from intermediate points. Business will be suspended, the great mills will hush their thunder, machinery will stand still, the stores will close, the merchants, bankers and manufacturers, mine owner and prospector will all join in giving a grand welcome to the invincible warriors.

A BROKEN ARM.

The 10-year-old son of Mr. William H. Smith had the misfortune to break one of his arms yesterday. He was riding on a horse, behind his brother when they fell off, the latter falling on the former, causing the injury stated. Only a few days ago a daughter of Mr. Smith's met with a similar accident with like results.

FRISCO.

Baptisms Under Difficulties—Death of an Old Renegade Indian.

Special Correspondence.

Frisco, Beaver Co., Aug. 2.—The ordinance of baptism was administered to some of the young folks last Sunday afternoon. A suitable tank had been made, and the water was drawn from the well, or shaft, 30 feet deep and cool. A large assemblage of the young people with a number of the parents and friends, were in attendance, and much interest was manifest, as this was the first occasion of baptisms in Frisco after the original pattern.

An Indian named Cupsiche, said to be 95 years old, died under a tree cedar, last week, and was left on the spot for two days, when a few Indians assembled and buried him. He seems to have been an outcast for the past thirty years, as he was always alone, and it was thought by some that he was at least 120 years of age. However, it is known the other Indians would not allow him a value with them. The first day after he died anything were made of the Indians that they were going to bury him. They reported the second night, but on the morning of the third day he, with his two Bulldog dogs, was still there, and not an Indian to be found. Some of the citizens had the very unpleasant task of burying the body. If the second Indian Bill, as held by some of the whites, is not exactly correct, Mr. Indian had better have signed with from Frisco for some time to come.

CENTREVILLE.

Reception to Missionaries—Birthday Party Surprises the Friends.

Special Correspondence.

Centreville, Davis County, Aug. 3.—Centreville people will tonight tender a farewell reception to Elders Samuel J. Parrish and Joseph W. McMurrin, Junior F. Parrish, who have for missionary work in England for a year to come. There will be a library promptly interspersed with dancing.

Elder Fred Beck, of Farmington, will leave for missionary work in Great Britain on Saturday next. He was given a farewell reception last evening, at which a fine table was spread for him.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

On Tuesday evening last a joint gathering of friends assembled at the residence of W. H. Stringer, the occasion being the celebration of his birthday and birthday for others and other reasonable refreshments were served.

SURPRISED HIS FRIENDS.

Elder Aaron Porter, a—who has been laboring in the Southern States for about thirty months past, and who had given his parents understand that he would be home about the first of June, or about August 1st, gave them a good little surprise by unexpectedly appearing at the family residence in Centreville, on the evening of August 1st. Elder Porter was called home from Pratt ward to Boise, where Bishop Aaron R. Porter who was recently released from that position is under that he might go to Idaho to make his future home.

Mrs. Lura Hampton and Mrs. Charlie H. Porter of Centreville, who have been seriously ill are both reported to be improving. Mrs. Hampton being convalescent.

WEST JORDAN.

Entertainment Given in Honor of Elder William H. Bateman.

Special Correspondence.

West Jordan, Salt Lake Co., Aug 3.—A fine musical and literary entertainment was given a few days ago in honor of Elder William H. Bateman, who leaves shortly for a mission to the Northern states. The Young Republic Silver band was also in attendance and discoursed some music. A good little purse was the result of the entertainment.

LINDON.

Further Particulars of the Death of Robert H. Cobbly.

Special Correspondence.

Lindon, Utah Co., Aug. 2.—In Tuesday's "News" is given a brief account of the accident on the Oregon Short Line Railroad at Lindon, Utah, in which Robert Henry Cobbley and his team were killed by the cars of a freight train, not by the cars as at first thought. It appears that the deceased, who was a quiet, inoffensive man, had built such and was sitting upon the top or sleeper of the Union mail coach, which is about eight inches above the ground, in a stooping or sleeping position, apparently asleep, while he was doubtless, as he was walking to farm the night previously.

The young man was born February 11, 1861, and was the son of Bishop James Cobbley of Lindon ward. The father and mother have died, and the deceased remained unmarried, but were out on a visiting tour in Wasatch and Weber counties. They were telephoned from Centreville and Ogden, but could not be found at either place. His brother, Bishop Andrew of Mr. Alexander Brewer of Ogden, who volunteered to go out and look for them, they went straight from a mile and a half west of Devil's Gate in Weber canyon about 4 p.m. They drove to Lindon to a distance, then to catch the Rio Grande south bound train, arriving here at 8 p.m., finding the children in the most distressed situation.

The funeral is to be held today at 2 p.m. when Orvil Cobbley, another son of the Bishop, is expected home from the California mission.

Bishop Cobbley and family have the sympathy of the whole community, who mourn their sad bereavement.

OUR NEIGHBORS.

Weekly Crop and Weather Bulletin.

Boise, Idaho, Aug. 1, 1899.

WEATHER.

During the past week the mean temperature for the state averaged 3.5 degrees or about 3 degrees above the normal. The maximum temperature has been 90 or more in the daytime and cool at night, though not sufficiently cool for frost. Delayed reports from Bonneville county report frost on the night of the 23rd. There were some slight showers throughout the state which resulted in many light showers.

CROPS.

Active work with the hay harvest has ceased owing to the first cutting of lucern having been secured. An average crop of hay of second quality is has been saved. In some mountain sections showers interfered with the curing of hay but in general it has been generally favorable. In the Boise and Payette valleys the second crop of lucern will be ready for cutting within a week or the days. The prospects are that the second crop will equal the first and yield a good crop where water for irrigating has been sufficient.

Harvest of grain commenced last week with the weather favorable for making good progress. It is believed that the crop on irrigated lands will be a full average.

Orchard trees are in the best condition, fruit has made good growth and the crop promises to be large. Peaches are coming into market in quantities, abundance than early indications warranted. Berries are abundant and early varieties of apples are in use. Vegetables, melons and potatoes have made rapid progress on irrigated lands.

Stock with few exceptions, is in good condition. In some sections where the ranges were parched by drought, they have been improved by recent showers.

Section Director.

TETON BASIN, IDAHO.

Good Roads—Beautiful Country—Frontier Characters—Settlements in Basin.

Special Correspondence.

Teton Basin, Ida., Aug 1.—The road into the Basin, as it is called, is quite a pleasant one. Leaving Hesburg the drive is through fields of grain and meadows, meadows until the town of Teton is reached. From there the road goes over a gentle rise to the summit. Here is opened to the view a picture of rare beauty. Its grandeur was somewhat marred by our coming, as we were overtaken at this point by a heavy thunder shower.

BEAUTIFUL COUNTRY.

Teton Basin from the summit is a pretty picture, and even with the sun shining after the shower was impressive. Most of the streams enter the valley from the east, while the river comes in on the west side. Here and there now the valley can be seen dotted with patches of cultivated fields, where the settler has taken out the water and put his into the soil. There are vast stretches of natural meadow on the bottoms, and stretches near the valley from the east, so it is well watered and the land has been favorably for irrigation. The greatest drawback to rapid development is the feeling of the rank is that the people who have come to stay are few here, and who are not cultivating it.

FRONTIER CHARACTERS.

In early days another characteristic Dave is in the Basin. The dream proved so to put up with one of these and to listen to the yarns of the past and the adventures of a trapper's life, was as interesting as a story. Tonight we have met Frank Hoskins, who was sent 40 Harrington on this will go part of it off. Mr. Hoskins is a native of Utah, and was born in the Territory of this country. Dick came out in the fall of 1862 in the ox train, and settled, said not Ayers which he passed in the heavy bottom timber.

Above Harrington's place on the west side of the Basin, is a very pretty side canyon, which is known as Hoskins'. On the west side are some mountain meadows, but the majority of the settlers are located on the east side of the Basin, on Trail creek, the settlement of Teton, a ward produced over by Bishop Aaron R. Porter. The town has two stores, a dray store and saloon.

North of Teton, on Trail creek, is Chase. This ward is presided over by Bishop R. Porter. A little farther up the canyon is Alta. It is a little place, and still going north we come to Pratt ward, located on Teton creek, where Bishop Wm. Pratt presides. Pratt ward formerly was in Bishop Porter's ward from Pratt ward to Teton, which R. E. Little is the Bishop.

Improvements are being made on every side, and better homes are being built. Money is scarce, but as the settlers are determined to make each place

POCATELLO, IDAHO.

Interesting News Notes and Personals from the North.

Special Correspondence.

Pocatello, Idaho, Aug. 3.—The weather here has been very warm for the last few days, and crops in the canyons are in good shape.

Miss Ella Ellis and Emily Holder, of Salt Lake have been here for a few days visiting with their brother Mr. Wm. Holder of this city. They leave for home tomorrow. Miss Ella expects to return very soon, however, and make her home in Pocatello.

Our ward conference convenes next Sunday and President Joseph F. Smith and President Rudger Clawson.

President W. C. Parkinson is in town today.

LEIGH, IDAHO.

A Thriving and Industrious Village, Presided over by Bishop R. G. Scribb.

Special Correspondence.

Leigh, Idaho, Aug. 2.—This district is doing well, and the crops are good. The Trout Basin, and has repair developed in the past year. New houses are going up and improvements are in evidence, while a much greater acreage is under cultivation than ever before. The ward is prosperous, and the cool weather has benefited crops. All the farmers are now in the hay fields. The stock looks well but the grass is not as good as usual owing to the late rains. Bishop Scribb is well and is related on Lemhi creek. A new meeting house is in course of construction, and it will be ready to be used.

GLENWOOD, COLORADO.

A Sad Affair—Miss Mary McLeary Burned to a Crisp.

Glenwood Springs, Colo., Aug. 2.—When Dr. Clark reached the bedside of Miss Mary McLeary of little Monday he found a terrible state of affairs and the life of the patient gradually ebbing out. She was burned from head to foot of her body. The flesh was cooked to a rare on most.

It seems that Miss McLeary had gone to a neighbor across the little Monday to borrow a fire to get a meal for her brothers, who were expected home from the mines and waiting on the cinders, gave to get paper and kindling wood in, and had to be replenished, she poured a gallon can of coal oil that was standing close by and poured oil on the kindling. Some one had left a bucket of live coal in the stove and in an instant she was one mass of flames.

She ran out into the air which fanned to spread the flames and tried to get to a water tank close by, but fell down exhausted and burned to a crisp, her clothes were completely burned from her body. Even her shoes were burned to a crisp.

Her suffering was intense for many hours, when death came to her relief the retained consciousness up to the last moment.

Miss McLeary was 22 years of age and was well and favorably known about Ellis, and her sudden taking off has caused the deepest regret and sorrow throughout the whole community.—Glenwood Springs Avalanche.
