which was read as follows:

ORDER OF BUSINESS.

1. Reports of committees.
2. Reports of county central committee.
3. Miscellaneous business.
4. Adjournment.

(Signed) J. B. WARNER,
Chairman.
J. H. MOYLE,
J. B. TOMNEY,
JOHN W. SHAW,
H. PEMBROKE,
Committee.

Captain Middlemas moved to amend the report by substituting the name of Francis M. Dyer for that of Caleb W. West, but Mr. Dyer firmly declined, and the report was adopted. The ex-governor then took the chair, being introduced by the retiring chairman. A brief introductory speech was made and the convention listened to the reading of the platform by Chairman Judd, as follows:

The Democratic party of Salt Lake county in convention assembled makes the following declaration of principles:

1. We believe that the government of the United States is a federal sovereignty, its supreme within its sphere as designated and defined in the Constitution, and to this government we owe that allegiance it has and we believe in a willing and loyal obedience to all its laws and a strict enforcement of the same.

2. We believe that the several states of the Union are sovereign within their spheres, and that upon the preservation of their existence depends all the benefits of local self-government, the liberty of the citizen and the prosperity of the Union.

3. We are opposed to the idea of a centralized government, believing that the best government is the one that governs least, and therefore we believe in the larger liberty to the individual citizen consistent with good government.

4. We are opposed to any legislation by the federal government which tends to or operates in levying taxes for the benefit of any one class at the expense of any other, but believe that the primal idea of all taxes should be revenue and the conflict in the minds of the government officials should be to collect the revenue honestly and economically.

5. We are opposed to any legislation tending to fetter the money, as the result is a class legislation favorable to the money, and we believe that the rule of the government should be the greatest good to the greatest number, against privileges to make inequality to all.

6. We are unanimously opposed to the Australian system of any citizen being forced to vote, and we hold that it has been fully convicted.

7. We are unanimously opposed to force and fraud at the ballot box, and to any interference with them by an immense power or money. The Constitution of the United States should not be violated by unconstitutional legislation to facilitate party advantage.

8. We view the full enfranchisement of citizens in the territories as essential to our national existence before its admission to the Union, and we hold that it has been fully convicted.

9. We are unanimously opposed to force and fraud at the ballot box, and to any interference with them by an immense power or money. The Constitution of the United States should not be violated by unconstitutional legislation to facilitate party advantage.

10. We view the full enfranchisement of citizens in the territories as essential to our national existence before its admission to the Union, and we hold that it has been fully convicted.

The paragraphs were each enthusiastically received, but that relating to silver created a genuine furore. An additional resolution endorsing the Record as a Democratic organ was also adopted.

S. A. Kenner—Is this the proper time to hand in resolutions? If so, there is another that I have.

The Chair—The only be read now and we can then determine what to do with them.

Two resolutions, one endorsing Governor Thomas and the other upholding the cause of labor were then handed up to Secretary Smith, who read them amid applause.

Judge Judd—We adopted a rule declaring that all resolutions should go to the committee without debate, therefore these are entirely out of order.

Mr. Kenner—Has there been an opportunity to get them before the committee? As soon as appointed it went out and has just returned. I claim that this is the first opportunity I have had to present these resolutions and the Republican plan of "shutting out" should find no favor here.

Mr. Dyer—We want no gag law and will have none. This is a Democratic convention and every delegate has a right to be heard.

Finally the chair ruled that the resolutions might be taken up and disposed of when "miscellaneous business" was reached, and Mr. Dyer then moved that the county central committee consist of two members from each city precinct and two from each county precinct—a total of twenty-four, and that the committee be authorized to appoint from its number an executive committee of seven. This was carried, and a recess of five minutes was taken to allow each delegation to name its man. Upon reassembling the following names were announced by the chairmen of the respective delegations:

First Precinct—Lorenzo Young, A. T. Schneider.

Second Precinct—J. H. Moyle, W. Van Cott.

Third Precinct—John H. Bennett, H. Pembroke.

Fourth Precinct—P. L. Williams, F. S. Richards.

Fifth Precinct—F. H. Dyer, F. Armstrong.

Farmers—O. Van Cott.

Sugarhouse—John H. Wilson.

Mill Creek—C. H. Barrett.

East Mill Creek—A. G. Fogg.

South Cottonwood—C. G. Jacobs.

Big Cottonwood—A. A. Cass.

Union—Jas. W. Sharp.

Draper—D. B. Holmes, Jr.

Bluff—Louis Peterson.

South Jordan—John Holt.

West Jordan—Rupert Brown.

North Jordan—J. H. Bringhurst.

Bingham—M. F. Arnett.

Granger—William Bricker.

Hunter—Richard Bricker.

Pleasant Grove—H. T. Spencer.

On motion Judge Smith and Governor West were added to the committee.

The chair then announced that miscellaneous business was in order and recognized Mr. Kenner as entitled to the floor, upon taking which he announced that the Cleveland resolution would be withdrawn by consent, for the reason that several gentlemen during recess had insisted upon his being done, not because they were opposed to it, but because at present they thought it seemed somewhat inconsistent with the silver plank in the platform—which the speaker did not concede—and it was premature. After defending his position at some length, the speaker said rather than cause the convention in the matter the resolution might go, which it did. It was as follows:

Resolved, By the Democrats of Salt Lake county, that we endorse our Governor in Grover Cleveland as our choice for an upright citizen, a matchless statesman and a true and faithful representative of our Democratic principles, and we hold up the Democratic party of this county and state as the party of any other man above the term of Andrew Jackson, and therefore we stand pat with designs his nomination for President in 1892.

The other resolution precipitated a lengthy and quite animated debate, which was participated in by Messrs. Dyer, P. L. Williams, Rawlins, Cassady, Kenner, Bamberger, and others. The last named moved to refer it to the committee with power to revise, but this was lost. Finally, after one or two slight amendments, a vote was reached and the resolution was carried with a regular hurrah. It was as follows:

Resolved by the Democrats of Salt Lake county, that the Democratic party being naturally the friend of labor, we ask the support of labor, and we therefore consider which of the two great national parties is best calculated to promote their welfare and pledge to them on our own part all legitimate and proper assistance to further their well being. We are opposed to Chinese or imported contract labor, and opposed to the Chinese exclusion plan in vogue in Pennsylvania of discharging workmen for striking against paupers wages.

Mr. Dyer presented the following, which after some more discussion, terminating at times on asperity, was adopted:

Resolved, That we are in favor of the eight hours per day law on all public works, and that the minimum wages, or lowest wages shall be paid to the various trades.

E. H. Woolley presented the following, which was adopted:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this convention that the Democratic Territorial Central committee should take immediate action in securing to the organization of the Democratic party the support and aid in thorough working condition, and also, in an early day, issue a call for nominating conventions to be held in the several legislative districts, said call to specifically the place in each district at which the convention will assemble.

Judge Judd moved that each precinct appoint its committee for work. Carried.

Major Levy was introduced. He said the Jeffersonian days were not half thirty two Democratic years and all good summers. They would have a benefit at the Exposition building July 25, to raise funds, and he asked the support of the convention.

A vote of thanks was tendered the officers of the convention for their services and Mr. Dyer for the use of the hall, and the convention, after three cheers for Democracy, led by Hon. John T. Caine, adjourned.

After the close of the convention the central committee had a meeting, when the executive committee was named as follows: C. W. West, chairman; F. H. Dyer, F. S. Richards, A. T. Schneider, John H. Bennett, Jr., L. L. Williams and E. A. Smith, secretary.

A VIGOROUS PROTEST.

Against the Abolition of the Present Round Trip Tourist Rate.

The subjoined letter protesting against the abolition of the tourist rate has been issued by the Chamber of Commerce, and was mailed today:

SALT LAKE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE,
June 20, 1891.

Mr. W. C. Walker, chairman, Western Traffic Association, Chicago, Ill.

My Dear Sir—Having been informed that your board will, on or about July 1, more into effect a resolution to cease to either advance or abolish the present round trip tourist rate of $2.50 between Missouri river and Utah common points, we, memorialized before you, beg to lay the matter up and by unanimous votes instructed their officers to file and present such protest against the proposed change in the existing tourist rate to Utah. As we understand it, the railroads interested in Utah business do not desire this increase in the rate mentioned, and as organizations having the interests of Salt Lake City and of Utah constantly in mind, we deem it our duty to present our privileges to urge that no such action be taken, as it would work inalienable injury to a section of country which is rapidly building up and contributing vast sums of money to the support of the transcontinental lines, and all other roads, with which they have connections. There is nothing up here, in the shape of a resort, or health or pleasure which is arresting the attention of more than one railroad not already home, and in such instances the additional expense to cause them to make a needed advertising society. Why railroads, which are reaching out for business and which are rapidly building up California at the expense of any intermediate country is something inexplicable to us, but we feel confident that such action would cause a protest from the entire Rocky Mountains.

Hoping that the matter will be duly considered and receive the favorable consideration asked of your board, we have the honor to remain, yours very respectfully.

To be signed by the officers of the Chamber of Commerce, stock exchange, transportation bureau and our commercial clubs.

The "Century" History.

We received a call last night from Captain McDonald, who is traveling in the interest of the Century history of the great war. Captain McDonald was one of the veterans who stood before the famous Pickett's charge at Gettysburg. He came out of the affray badly knocked to pieces, but for all his maimedness he has been a regular hobby ever since. The work he is which he is taking orders for promises to be a delightful one, and the most valuable, reliable and thorough history of the war that has yet appeared. It is written almost entirely by men who were in the field, the writers being chosen from both sides. Nearly every noted officer of the conflict has contributed something. The work has no hobbies to commending with—all qualifications, the work upon its merits, and Captain McDonald personally as one worthy of general consideration.

Amusements.

The Thatcher Minstrel company were greeted last night at the Salt Lake Theatre with a crowded house. The entertainment was the best of its kind seen during the present season in this city. Thatcher and Shepherd form an inimitable duo on the stage. Last night they kept the house in a roar of laughter that was simply uncontrollable.

Dockstader's President Harrison was a masterpiece. He sprung for one visiting the Tabernacle was relished by the whole house. The male quartette, Moore, Jose, Lewis and Erdman were encored. The singing surpassed anything heard in the minstrel line in this western country. The other features of the show were excellent, and certainly received.

There will be another performance tonight, and doubtless it will draw as large a house as that last night.

For one night only, Wednesday, June 24th, the "Herb Bag" will be given at the Salt Lake Theatre. An exchange says of it: "It is a sort of modern uncommon nuisance, a drama in which Titania marries Bottom, and the grace of sweet music is wedded to the fun of the burlesquerly. Therese Vaughn is Titania and William Mestayer is Bottom.

"Therese Vaughn has a sweet voice and a pretty face. As Vera Van Veelden she is charming faultlessly pretty. Let her stand with the fan in a delicately tinted bathing suit, then in long skirts, faultlessly pretty, a sweet singer of dainty ballads—but that is all."

For one night only, Thursday, June 25th, "The Bottom of the Sea" will be presented at the Theatre. The story of this piece is said to be one of intense interest. It opens in the cabin of the steamer "Dalzel" on her voyage from the West Indies to Havre. The principals are all on board. The first scene shows the destruction of the vessel by the explosion of her boilers. The hero of the play descends to the bottom of the sea in repair a beam in the cable, and while encased in a diver's suit is accompanied by the villain at the very bed of the ocean, on the deck of the sunken passenger steamer, which is where the break of the cable took place, the villain with a hatchet takes advantage of his enemy who is at work on the broken cable, and cutting the air pipe and life line leaves the villain apparently dead and secrets to the surface.

IRRIGATION CONVENTION.

Official Circulars Regarding It Issued By the Chamber of Commerce.

THE CONVENTION TO PETITION CONGRESS

To Donate to Each State and Territory the Arid Lands Within its Borders.

The following self-explanatory circular has been issued and is being mailed by the Chamber of Commerce:

SALT LAKE CITY, July 1, 1891.

To the mayors of cities, presidents of commercial, agricultural, horticultural, industrial, scientific and mechanical associations throughout the States and Territories west of the Missouri river:

On account of the vast and growing importance of the subject of irrigation and the arid lands which form the basis of agricultural wealth and uniform prosperity in the new States of the growing West, it has been deemed necessary that information regarding the subject be collected and the proper influence brought to bear, with a view of obtaining low arid lands, ceded legislation.

Having that idea in view, the Salt Lake Chamber of Commerce, in conjunction with Governor Arthur L. Thomas, of Utah, has called an irrigation convention to be held on Thursday, September 15, 16 and 17, 1891, for the general purpose above indicated, and as further explained in the accompanying communication from the sub-committee of the Salt Lake Chamber of Commerce on irrigation, and the resolution on irrigation and the communication from that committee to the governor of Utah, together with the call issued by the governor of Utah, which includes all the several States and Territories indicated.

SUB COMMITTEE'S REPORT.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, June 4, 1891.

To Mr. Fred Simon, ex-officio Chairman of the Irrigation Committee of the Chamber of Commerce:

DEAR SIR—The sub-committee appointed to consider and prepare the outline of the call for an irrigation convention in Salt Lake City beg leave to submit the following report, viz:

We recommend that his excellency the governor of Utah, be requested to call a convention to be held in Salt Lake City on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, September 15, 16 and 17, 1891, for the purpose of petitioning Congress to donate to each State and Territory the arid lands within its borders, for purposes of reclamation, for the support of its public schools and for such other purposes as the legislature of each State or Territory may respectively determine, and that the governors of the several States and Territories be invited by his excellency to appoint thirty delegates at large from each of said States and Territories to said convention, and that the various commercial, agricultural, scientific and mechanical associations, together with the mayors of cities, be requested to appoint representatives to this convention.

JOHN W. DONNELLAN,
A. W. ROBERTS,
W. C. B. ALLEN,
Sub-Committee.

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH,
June 4th, 1891.

At a meeting of the Irrigation committee appointed by the Chamber of Commerce June 3rd at the office of John W. Garfield Beach.

The many improvements and additions which have been carried out at the field since that famous local pleasure resort came into the hands of the Union Pacific railroad company have added greatly to its attractions, and but few visitors now think of leaving Salt Lake without taking a run out to "the beach." The immense of the pleasure seekers and the unusual spell of cool and stormy weather have, of course, militated to a considerable extent against the bathing this year. Now, however, that a favorable change seems to have set in in this respect, bathers are beginning to make up for lost time. The trains are well filled each day, full advantage being taken of the hourly service to and fro.

The convenience of excursionists to Garfield is enabled in every conceivable way by those holding the reins of management there. For the present season a new and complete outfit of bathing dresses has been provided, and instead of the variety of color hitherto seen, the material is now uniformly blue. In the refreshment pavilion the accommodation is all that can be desired for; while in the cafe and restaurant on the opposite side meals are served on short order, in the best style and at moderate rates. The orchestra on the pier pavilion is occupied each afternoon and evening by an excellent band, whose music is much appreciated.

With these and other things which might be enumerated, it is no wonder that Garfield continues to grow in public favor.

Law Students Returned Home.

Joseph T. Richards and Benjamin F. Lloyd of this city have returned from Ithica, New York, where they have been attending the Cornell University. They made rapid strides in their chosen profession during their absence, and after a long and laborious term of study are glad to return home and enjoy a season of rest and recreation among their relations and friends.

Mr. Richards was elected Vice-president of the class to which he belonged.

JUDICIAL ADVICE IGNORED.

With Unpleasant Results to Him for Whom it was Intended—Other Items.

J. F. Henderson, an employe of the Mason Lumber Company, and who has figured frequently and conspicuously in the Police Court on the charges of wife beating, disturbing the peace and assault and battery during the last few months, is again in the toils. He attributes all his troubles to his alleged quarrelsome and disputable wife, and states that her course of conduct towards him has been such as to make his existence a burden. On being arraigned before the court he has each time been adjudged guilty. The fines imposed have been promptly paid. A lecture on self and family government, especially prepared for this class of cases, has been carefully and dramatically delivered for the benefit of the men to be pilled and unfortunate fellow. In each instance he has been advised by the court that inasmuch as his matrimonial fold-boat has caught nothing but stages of discontent, it would be best for him to fold his test like the Arab and silently steal away. At last this advice was accepted, and in a moment of temptation he returned last evening and it is alleged that old issues were renewed. As a result, a charge of disturbing the peace was preferred against him by his wife and he was arrested and lodged in jail. To day he entered a plea of not guilty and asked for a trial by jury. The request was granted, the case docketed for 9 p. m. Thursday.

Ed. Rush, John Daily, Peter Hands and Mike O'Reilly comprised the list of inebriates. The usual penalty was imposed.

Annie Goodwin and Effie Smith, inmates of houses of prostitution, forfeited $25 each by failing to appear for trial.

A Ride on the R. G. W.

A ride from Salt Lake to Grand Junction over the Rio Grande Western reveals the fact that the road has been greatly improved in either respects within the past two years besides being changed from narrow to standard gauge. In very many places a new road bed has been made, avoiding the curves which formerly existed, cuts and fills at a heavy expense being made to take the place thereof. The unloading which occurs at Thistle, the junction of the Sanpete valley branch with the main line, rescues the eastbound cars quite comfortable and roomy instead of being crowded as on the journey up to that point, shows the increasing travel in the granary of Utah, and perhaps also to some extent from the recent agitation in the Maryvale mines are attracting people thither.

Shortly after yesterday's eastbound train had left Thistle it was discovered that two ladies and a number of children, who had arrived there just before on the train from Sanpete, intending to journey northward, had by mistake taken the wrong train and found themselves traveling towards Colorado instead of into Utah valley. One of the ladies was so overcome with grief on learning of her mistake that she gave way to tears. A visit from the conductor, however, soon tended to console her and she to illustrate how confusedly and pleasant it is possible for conductors to be when they choose to study the pleasure of their passengers, instead of standing upon their dignity, demanding extra fare, treating the excited victims of the blunder for their carelessness or otherwise wounding their feelings, as conductors are sometimes wont to do. The gentlemanly conductor in this instance pleasantly told the ladies that they would lose nothing by the mistake but gain a longer ride, as he would have to convey them eastward to Crane Creek, a distance of eighteen miles, and then stop the down train and transfer them to it, with an explanation of their situation, which he did.

Quite a few passengers also left the train at Price, bound to Castle valley in the south or to Uintah county in the north. Signs of progress were visible at Price and also at Helper, still lower down the stream, but more in the nature of extended and better cultivated fields than in buildings. The country from there settlements on eastward to the State line and beyond, as everyone knows who has traveled over the road, is devoid of interest, being a series of barren undulating plains, broken here and there by frowning bluffs or mesas, the sides of which, worn by the action of the elements into fantastic shapes, suggested for the locality the name which it bears—Castle Valley.

Grand Junction has improved somewhat since my last visit a little over three years since, and now claims 300 inhabitants. Many passengers on the eastward journey spend the night here, so as to have daylight in which to view the beauties of the road beyond. The travel from here eastward is divided between the narrow-gauge D. & R. G. which is famous for the magnificent scenery along its route, and the Colorado Midland, more recently built, of the merits of which I cannot but able to speak, never having traveled over it.

GRAND JUNCTION, June 17, 1891.

Next Sunday in Sugar.

Mr. Charles Ellis gives his lecture on "The Utah Situation" in the Sugar House ward next Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. All invited. "Literaire" especially.

The lecture was received with great enthusiasm last Sunday night in the Salt Lake Theatre.

Fire at the Admire Saloon.

About 2 o'clock this morning the Admire saloon, at 217 west South Temple street, was discovered on fire by Police Officer Shafer. Without a moment's delay the officer turned in an alarm and in a few minutes the fire brigade was on the ground and ready for work. The flames were mostly above and behind the bar, and were soon extinguished. Just how the fire originated is a matter of query, but it is thought to have been caused by the explosion of a kerosene lamp which was located in a bracket over the bar. It is said that the officers heard the fall of fast-retreating footsteps at the rear of the premises, and suppose that it was a fire-bug making his escape. A careful examination of the premises, however, failed to confirm his suspicions.

Chief Stanton is of the opinion that the lamp explosion theory is correct, as the fire originated in the building, and that the windows and doors were all securely fastened. The loss will not exceed $100. There was no insurance.

Taylorsville Democrats.

Messrs. B. W. Young and Waldemar Van Cott visited Taylorsville last evening and addressed a large and enthusiastic audience of Democrats. A club was organized with Mahonri Spencer as president, John R. Ringhurst as vice president, and Alfred Hanna as secretary and treasurer.

THE P. O. S. of A. notice the statement of the public by saying that it is not stated that the 4th of July, 1891, be a "Red Letter Day" in the history of Americanism in this city and Territory, and in that and cordially ask the hearty and efficient co-operation of the patriotic people in this great and pleasant duty. Good speakers from abroad, of national reputation, have been invited to address us on American topics on that day.
