THE REFORM SCHOOL.

Annual Report of Superintendent L. D. Holmes.

CONDITION OF THE INSTITUTION.

Number of Persons Committed Since the Opening—Annual Appropriation for Its Maintenance.

The annual report of the superintendent of the Reform school at Ogden to the board of trustees for the year ending Dec. 31, 1894, is now before us. It consists of a pamphlet of twenty-five pages, and is printed by the close in printing at the Reform school.

The report shows that the total number enrolled Dec. 31 was thirty-two, of which twenty-four were males and eight were females. The number in have of absence or on parole during good behavior was fourteen males and six females. During the year there were committed nineteen males and eight females, while the total number committed since the opening of the school, Oct. 31st, 1889, is one hundred and twenty-five males and twenty-five females.

The counties of the Territory are represented in the school as follows: Salt Lake county, 19; Utah, 8; Weber, 2; Summit, 2; Sanpete, 1.

There has been appropriated by the Legislatures for plant and maintenance since the opening, $170,042.92, including the appropriations for the year 1895 of $7,521.25.

The expenses during the first five months were $6,303.52, while during the last seven months they reached $12,274.85. The $250 per month expenses for the last seven months over the first five is fully accounted for by the amount paid for water, insurance, secretary's salary and permanent improvements.

After describing the buildings and farm of the school, the report says that the record of the school during the past six years clearly indicates that in order to success the environment of a number cannot have near the antipathies of the honorable gentlemen, who were instrumental in establishing the school, some changes must be made in the general system relative to commitments. The same should be changed, so that those who receive their education here can do so without the brand of infamy being attached to them when they leave school to face society that seems ready to destroy, rather than to build up character.

I have had much pleasure in visiting the homes of many of the children now in school, when on business in the towns and cities from where they have been sent and find many of them are of good families and all who are now on parole are either honorably employed or attending school. The courts are sometimes imposed upon by boys who are over the age of eighteen, the prison limit, and some of this class have been returned to the school and sent to the penitentiary, when their crime and their character become known.

Others who have been over age have made good records and on their release are living correct lives.

As long as children are permitted to roam the streets of city and village in idleness, they will form habits of smoking and pilfering, irrespective of parentage and rules established by the state, penitentiaries and their kindred gaols, join police squads and work heaven knows be expected to care for the rapidly increasing population.

The foundations of society rests upon the education and training of the youth, and when the parents fail to control their children, it is the duty of the state to provide suitable institutions for the proper bringing up of the wards, where they should be placed under restraint such as a wise parent would exercise to his boyish long before they have become criminals.

Subjoined to the report is the final of Hugh Garard, of the state industrial school of Colorado, and also a letter written by Hon. Allen O. Myers, governing the Utah industrial school of Ohio.

POLICE AND LEWD WOMEN.

Proceedings at the Meeting of Fire and Police Commissioners.

The Brigham Young Trust company, through its attorney, Rulon Ferguson, last evening appeared before the police commissioners to protest against the colonization of the scarlet women on Commercial street. Mr. Ferguson informed by the mail the damages arising to their property through the business, as mentioned stated July in the News. That the women had been served with a notice to the effect that if they were to Commercial street they would not be molested. Mr. Ferguson charged that to the uttermost nothing more was said and he generally complaining and charged because was being carried on within its walls.

To this accusation came the Attorney, who he said had instructed "Parson the place. If you have the evidence that Rose Watkins is running a house of ill fame and she shall be punished at once and taken before Commissioner Greenman."

Mr. Ferguson was of the opinion that he should not personally be asked to do what the police are paid for. All he wanted was the assistance of the commission in the enforcement of the law. The attorney was obliged to withdraw without the assistance he said his company sought.

The following estimate of expenditures for the year 1895 for maintaining the police department was reported from Chief Pyle:

COUNTY COURT MATTERS.

The Board's Resolution on the Justice of the Peace Problem.

At yesterday afternoon's session of the County court, subsequent to the close of the News report, Attorney Sutherland, on behalf of the Salt Lake City board of equalization, made application for an order on the treasurer to account for many delinquent tax sales, to amount about $5,000. He was requested to file a petition in writing.

With reference to the proposed removal of certain justices of the peace and constables, the points discussed were as outlined in the opinion of County Attorney Williams with respect to constitutional decisions from contest courts.

Bishopian Godbe eventually gave it as his opinion that there were no reasons for thinking that their positions were vacant at the last general election.

There ensued an conversation between the attorneys present as to whether the justice courts now holding warrants, proceedings or entertain cases could be applied for, the situation being the passage of the following by the court:

Be it resolved by the county court of Salt Lake county, that in the matter of the petition of W. J. Murray et al., relative to the removal of justices and constables therein appointed by this court, now carrying on the duties of said offices, in the opinion of said court, said justices and constables hold said office as aforesaid, therefore this court has no jurisdiction in the matter referred to.

Judge Bixby voted aye, the three Republicans nay.

The result of this is to place the issue between the newly qualified and "obstinate" justices, who will take it into the district court. The action of the county court was in holding the opinion that the old officials are proceeding before the appointed magistrates.

The court took a preliminary step in the matter of dividing Utah county in to present special precinct No. 1, of the special notice, in the county treasurer at once.

Pulled Down Fences.

Thomas Lund is suing John W. Hood et al in the Third district court, alleging that he is the owner in possession of a piece of land described as the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section 25, township 3 north, range 1 east, and that on December 12, the defendant, with force of arms and violence entered upon the premises, pulled down the fences, doing damage to the amount of $175 and leaving the place open to the trespass of the stock of other people. Wherefore the plaintiff demands judgment for $175, the cost of the trial, and for $1,000 damages.

THE LAST NIGHT.

Glosson Closes His Exhibition at the Continental Hall.

Although there was an advance in prices the Continental Mardi hall was filled to overflowing to witness the closing performance of Professor Glosson. The blackamiths were well represented, and the lecture on blacksmithing called forth considerable applause. The Symons Grocery company's horse gave the professor some trouble till was finally conquered.

The "rock act" served to illustrate the methods employed by outdoor "moneyfakers," and it was not exciting enough to sell some people.

The failure of the program was similar to the exhibitions heretofore given. The professor has gone to Ogden where he appears tonight. From there he will go to the coast.

School of Expression.

A recital will be held by the school of expression on Wednesday evening under the direction of its teachers, Louise Boyden and Ruth Eldredge, at their commodious rooms in the Daily building. The nature of the evening will be bright and varied recitations by the pupils, interspersed with music kindly furnished by friends, and promises to be a very enjoyable affair to the invited guests.

Felon in His Pockets.

The police last night ran in an individual who gave the name of John Anderson. The fellow was drunk. An inventory of his possessions was made, and included two bottles of strychnine taken from his pockets. As he showed signs of unconsciousness the officers thought he might have swallowed a third bottle, and sent for Dr. Doty, who, after making an examination, said the man was simply suffering from an excess of liquor, a conclusion which proved to be correct. Anderson was given quarters in the "drunk house" for the night.

AMUSEMENTS.

HERMANN, the famous prestidigitator, appears at the Salt Lake Theater, Friday and Saturday and Saturday matinee. At the matinee special features will be introduced for ladies and children. This engagement promises to be the most successful one this famous master of the people has ever played in this city, as it is known that his production is on a more elaborate and extravagant scale than ever given heretofore and his program is entirely novel. Hermann patronizing reputation and although his fans would hear seeing many times, he always embellishes his program with new surprises and marvels. Besides many new tricks of sleight of hand great features in legerdemain will be the introductions, "Spirit Air," "The Artist's Dream," and "The Columbian Transformation." In "Spirit Air" the magician is said to have surpassed himself in the creating, rare and ingenuity that is exhibited in the trick. From a small structure made in imitation of the legendary ark which is first shown to be entirely void and then filled with water, Hermann causes to appear birds and animals of all descriptions to the intense astonishment of all, and finally emerges from a beautiful female form. "The Artist's Dream" is a beautiful sketch and is a radical departure from any of Hermann's previous acts, it being a wonderful piece play with speaking parts, which Hermann does for the purpose of magic. The other two startling novelties will be found in "The Astrom Trunk Mystery" and "The Columbian Transformation," a bewildering national production.

Madame Hermann will be seen in her remarkable Japanese impersonations and sketches, with the aid of many different lights.

PEDRICKS PATENT CORNER was given for the third and last time last night, to an audience far above the audiences in the preceding days, but as all appreciation and enthusiasm of war cannot be confining to be that was scattered so widely as this one was. It is indeed a pity and a matter of profound regret that a production so admirably rendered should terminate in a financial collapse, especially when given for charitable purposes. But the fault was not with Professor Pedricks, who performed his meritorious task in most commendable manner. The fault lay in a mismanagement or rather in no management at all of the interests of the enterprise. It is a story that has been repeated often in this city, that if all this energy and entertainment promoters can bend the moral is always teaches so plainly.

DOCTORS DO SPEND AT THE GRAND Opera house last night for a week's run under the most auspicious circumstances to an audience large, enthusiastic and appreciative. Instead of the days that have been the rule for the regular place of amusement during the past but successful career, Kennedy's was speedily done and the stock company added new laurels to their already won.

It possesses some medical properties that relieve the little sufferers immediately. It is, in my opinion, the best cough medicine in the market." If the remedy is freely given as soon as the croupy cough appears it will prevent the attack. It is also an ideal remedy for whooping cough. There is no danger in giving it to children, as it contains nothing injurious.
