

POSTPONED AGAIN.

Captain Deacon's Hearing Set for November 11th.

TILL AFTER ELECTION DAY.

The Case of Termyne and Fitzgerald Will Be Considered Next New-day Eight.

The hearing of Captain Deacon, scheduled for this morning at 11 o'clock, brought together three members of the fire and police board—Jennings, Emery and Noble, and quite a number of attorneys and witnesses. Commissioner Stephen was absent on account of sickness.

Shortly after 11 o'clock Chairman Jennings asked if all parties concerned were ready to proceed with the hearing.

Attorney George Sutherland, counsel for Captain Pratt, arose and pleaded for a continuance until tomorrow morning, as the witnesses from Mt. Pleasant were not notified in time to be present this morning.

Judge Powers, counsel for Captain Deacon, stated that nearly all the witnesses in the case were quite busy attending to matters incident to the coming election, and asked that a continuance be taken until after that time.

Commissioner Stephen, after election day, it is proposed, will be taken at all, as his business interests called him away from the city, and he would very likely be absent until election day anyway.

Anthony Vining, attorney for Captain Deacon, said that he was ready to go with the hearing, but if the other parties concerned could not proceed at once, such would consent to a continuance.

After further consideration, Vining, the fifth day of November, at 7 p.m., was set as a time for the hearing, it being expected that those interested will have ample time by then to have overcome the last effects, if any, which the result of the election brings upon them.

At this point Judge McRae, counsel for Firemen's Fund Company who was present, asked the court when his client would be heard, and it was agreed to take up that at the regular session of the court on December 1st.

Cold Frost then called the court's attention to the complaint lodged against James Kimball last Monday evening, and said that the defendant, Mr. J. W. Murray, was a man of some note and influence, and thought the latter should be exonerated from all blame, so that he might be placed before the public in a proper light.

The members of the bar, it is now admitted, thought the man to be innocent, as he is regarded by all the officials of the police department as one of the worst characters they ever met, but with the same treatment towards him, no legal action was had but he received.

FROM CANADA.

Elder Alfred Ormond Returns from a Two-Year Mission.

The Nova was favored with a call today from Elder Alfred Ormond, of Bremerton, Bear Lake Co., Idaho, who returned last Tuesday from a two-year mission to Canada. Elder Ormond left this city for the field of labor on June 1, 1893, and has been called to the Eastern States mission, of which Canada forms a part.

Arriving at his destination, he was engaged to labor in the southeastern part of the province of Ontario, and labored there until October 1, with the exception of seven weeks in crossing the Great Lakes. Brooklyn, N. Y., Elder Ormond reports having received kind treatment at the hands of the people amongst whom he labored, and his labors have been largely successful. He was honorably released to return home on September 22, and comes back enjoying good health and feeling that he has been to the charge of his duty. He started for home this afternoon and will visit friends and relatives in Cacheo county on the way.

IN THE POLICE COURT.

The Smoke Ordinance Case to be Heard Tomorrow Morning.

The case of James McLaren, charged with disturbing the peace, trespass, and using obscene language, was continued until tomorrow morning.

Alice Lester, a fallen woman, testified for prosecution.

Indictment for being drunk, affirmed.

Arthur Knight, the gamekeeper at the Colton hotel, was arrested for doing gambling without a license.

He appeared in police court this afternoon and stated he had been given a job of cleaning for the hotel, but was not permitted, as he could not do that kind of work. The hearing of the case was set for Saturday 10 a.m.

D. L. Dix, manager of the St. L. & S. L. & S. L. O. Co., was arrested some time ago for a violation of the smoke ordinance, appeared before Judge Smith this morning ready for trial. However, he was not present and the case was set for tomorrow morning.

The defendants claim that they are using the best smoke consumers are familiar with and expect to prove it when the case comes to trial.

ABUSEMENTS.

Opening of the New Lyceum—Attacks at the Theater and the Strand.

The Pay Train is the attraction at the Theater Friday and Saturday, Oct. 18 and 19. It is claimed that the scenery and effects for this play are the most elaborate and complete of any play of its kind on the American stage.

A CONTENTED WOMAN.

Mrs. E. M. Dasher, business manager of the Hotel A. M. Dasher, is in the city attending to the preliminary arrangements for the presentation here of Hought's new comedy, "A Contented Woman." It will be staged at the Theater on Tuesday, Friday and Saturday, October 24-25.

AT THE NEW LYCEUM.

That the opening of the new Lyceum theater last night was an event of more than usual interest in theatrical circles in this city, was evident from the fact that the famous piano of the late John G. Bishop was exhibited in the lobby of the new company, some of his members of whom have many connections here in the city, making that exhibit a great attraction. The old "Worshipper" piano, so popular in regular theaters, continued to make its appearance eight great scenes, and the place has been critically received. It was pretty well received, however, and the opening night was equal to that of the Grand Opera House.

The play presented last night was "The Old, Old Story," a tale of love and marriage, with scenes of domestic happiness after severe trials. It is a picture of human life, natural and therefore pleasing. The first act was rather devoid of features, but as the play progressed, interest in the various characters increased.

John Kelly, a young actor, showed his ability as an actor and soon won the hearts of that part of the audience with which the other parts of the play are unacquainted—never disgraced. Miss Ann Williams, deceased, Mrs. Williams, Van Cott and Sutherland, is expected on the question tonight.

PROSECUTE COURT.

But one order was made in the Probate court today up to the time of going to press and that was in favor of Ann Williams, deceased, Mrs. Williams, Van Cott and Sutherland, in a suit for her husband's estate.

POLITICAL NOTES.

A Democratic meeting at Granger last night was addressed by C. W. Pennington and Oscar N. Cott.

Both the Canon Pacific and the Rio Grande Western have agreed on round trip rates to the Denver roads, continuing their rates of 100 miles.

A young Democrat was appointed attorney for the state, and the latter should be exonerated from all blame, so that he might be placed before the public in a proper light.

The members of the bar, it is now admitted, thought the man to be innocent, as he is regarded by all the officials of the police department as one of the worst characters they ever met, but with the same treatment towards him, no legal action was had but he received.

At the end of the first act, and intended all through the play, the appreciation of the spectators was expressed in hearty applause.

The Old, Old Story will be played the remainder of the week.

THE GRAND OPENING.

At the Grand Opera House last night the largest audience of the week turned out to see Money and Marriage. The play made a decided impression, and the latter should be exonerated from all blame, so that he might be placed before the public in a proper light.

The members of the bar, it is now admitted, thought the man to be innocent, as he is regarded by all the officials of the police department as one of the worst characters they ever met, but with the same treatment towards him, no legal action was had but he received.

At the end of the first act, and intended all through the play, the appreciation of the spectators was expressed in hearty applause.

The Old, Old Story will be played the remainder of the week.
