EDITORIAL NOTES.

The German government is contemplating a project to connect the rivers Rhine, Weser and Elbe. This will be of much more worth to the nation than dabbling in war, or putting fingers in such a pie as the Berlin treaty.

Several "soiled doves" signed the petition against polygamy at the meeting of its supposed opponents. Quite consistent. A good outcry against a system established by the Almighty for the preservation of purity is likely, in the nature of things, to be echoed by the impure.

Ingersoll has been laying in a new stock of deluges. He slow all he had in his lecture on "The Gods." He made a heap of money in the business. It was quite apropos that he should spend some of it in setting up fresh divinities knocked down by the hammer of the auctioneer. At a sale of Chinese, Japanese and Mexican dolls, in New York, the Colonel was the purchaser of nearly fifty, including all others who made golden offerings at their shrine.

California produces or gathers some peculiar characters. Troy Dye, of Sacramento, had men killed so as to administer to their estates. James Klerman of Oakland makes money by mutilating the dead. A man shot himself on the Oakland wharf two or three weeks ago. The coroner could not find any relative, and the body was directed to be buried in the Potter's field. Klerman had charge of this work. Soon after, three brothers of the suicide appeared on the scene, and obtained permission to exhume the body and have it buried in another place with appropriate ceremonies. When the corpse was exhumed it was found to be naked and headless. Klerman had cut off the head and sold it to Dr. A. S. Hudson, for $5, and had appropriated and was wearing the suicide's clothing. Can heathendom be charged with anything worse than civilization?

The November-December number of the North American Review contains the following articles: "The Government of the United States," by Ex-Governor Horatio Seymour; "Systems of Offense and Defense in Naval Warfare," by Robert Paaha, admiral of the Imperial Ottoman Navy; "The Congress of Berlin and its consequences," by A. B. Old Diplomatist; "Japan and the Western Powers," by Matsuyama Makoto; "The Financial Resources of New York," by William R. Martin, Ex-President of the department of public parks of New York; "The Public Health," by Elizabeth Harris, M. D., President of the American Public Health Association; "Pessimism in the Nineteenth Century," by Rev. Samuel Orgead, D. D.; "Antipathy to the Negro," by James Parton; "The Emperor Hadrian and Christianity," by Ernest Renan, member of the Academie; "Contemporary Literature," published at 551 Broadway, New York, and for sale by bookstores and newsdealers generally.

A FALLACY EXPLODED.

COL. MALLERY, of the United States army, has been making some pretty thorough investigations into Indian affairs. He has discovered that among the many errors into which the Government has fallen in relation to the red man—who, by the by, he shows are not red, but brown—is the common mistake in regard to the numbers and decadence of the savages.

THE HERALD'S DEATH.

The Herald says: Major George Treason, a prominent member of the bar, died suddenly, yesterday morning, at 47 years of age. He was in the city on business, and was on his way to Jersey City and back in water. The grave of the late Commodore Vandeput has been walled up with masonry, and is closely watched.

THE TRIBUNE'S PROSPECT.

The Tribune prints an abstract from Linderman's forthcoming report. The gold and silver production for the year has been as follows: Gold, $15,230,676; Silver, $2,373,359. Nevada, 19,446,513; Colorado, 2,360,410; Montana, 2,200,511; Idaho, 1,150,000; Utah, 285,000; Arizona, 250,000; New Mexico, 175,000; Oregon, 1,000,000; Washington, 500,000; Dakota, 300,000; Lake Superior, none; North Carolina, 150,000; Georgia, 100,000; Other sources, Gold, $25,000; Silver, $46,728,914.

ANOTHER REDUCTION.

The Tribune gives, as the latest congressional returns, 134 republicans, 148 democrats and 11 greenbackers, and adds, in this table, California, which elects four next September, counted as the delegation now stands, two republicans and two democrats. The republicans expect to regain the third district which was taken from them by the democratic House. If this is done, the democratic majority, overall, in the House, will be reduced to one.

has proven just as much of a failure in the case of the Indians as in the case of the "Mormons." There is abundant evidence that the natives can be civilized and trained to be agriculturists instead of tramping vagabonds, and led to become self-supporting citizens instead of begging, thieving, murderous marauders.

The Winnebagos form a good illustration of this fact. The tribe has, under favorable management, made rapid strides in the ways of civilization during the past few years. The former idle, loafing and treacherous nomads now support themselves and families from the proceeds of their own labor on lands for which they hold the government patents, they live in their own houses, and send many of their children to the schools that have been established among them. Their Agent, in his annual report, shows that only about a fourth of their children are regular pupils, but thinks that if more school-houses are erected the interest in the cause of education among the Winnebagos will be increased. He also recommends the adoption of a compulsory system. But this poor showing of school attendance among these Indians, compares favorably with educational figures in some of the Southern States. In Arkansas, for instance, only one out of every twelve of the school population attend. In Alabama the attendance is only one out of every four, and in Florida one in three.

There are small tribes in Oregon who have settled down to labor for a living, and like the Winnebagos are getting ready to become tax-paying citizens of the United States. If faith is strictly kept with the Indians, all contracts rigidly observed, all promises rigidly fulfilled, and the more controllable tribes are settled upon soil which they can cultivate, tools, teams and implements being furnished them and rations to last until they can raise their own food, examples will be set to the wild and apparently untamable bands which they will be led in time to profit by, and before many years have rolled away, the great bulk of the whilom savages will be converted into tractable and industrious workers, moving forward on the highway to civilization. But while there is money to be made by civil or military operations in the present methods of swindling and slaughter, there is not much likelihood of a more beneficent and Christian policy. One thing is certain, the extermination mode is a failure; wisdom, to say nothing of justice, suggests a new departure.

was made to give him entire control of the city debt, amounting to $2,000, and on this condition he agreed to withdraw from the senatorial contest. The democratic municipal ticket was made up by E. A. Burke, John Fitzpatrick and J. D. Houston; meanwhile the citizens association held a meeting, and sent a committee to Gov. Nichols to lay before him an abstract of the frauds which have been perpetrated during the recent election. Their summary of testimony is extremely full, so overwhelming, in fact, that the governor asked if there is anything in the law which authorizes him to nullify the municipal election and order a new one. The other candidate for the federal Senate, Democrat E. Kenner, who will probably be elected, provided it is thought that under the new arrangements E. A. Burke can capture $1,000,000.

THE "SAND LOT" CASE.

The Times, editorially doubts the truth of the statement at the "Sand Lot," yesterday, but says if true, they mark Kearney as a most infamously treacherous scoundrel, but the chances are that Kearney's two of the committee members, to revolutionize Massachusetts and have the same influence here that he had among his adherents in California. His secretary, a meeting, the stupid lies, to prevent his being regarded at home. He wished to appear the shrewd and potential scoundrel rather than the stammering and impotent politician, a crawler which nature made him.

Colored Voters.

The Tribune's New Orleans special says: Gov. Wells' Congressional district has a registered colored majority, presumably retaining the seat. The majority is to Geo. L. Smith in 1878. Particulars of the Destruction of Wells' Organ—Fraud and Intimidation. On the night of November 23, the office of Wells' organ, the People, in Alexandria, was entered by a mob and fairly gutted, the premises broken, the type scattered about the street and the press thrown into the river. Wells' friends claim that there was wholesale intimidation. Wells received just six votes in the Fourth Congressional district, and the election in the Third district, national candidate, will contest Acklens vote, on the ground of wholesale fraud in throwing out his votes.

feet, which at 20 cents amounts to $2,250.00. Only these extra men were required over the former year, who were wages amounting to $200, which, after subtracting we find a saving to the Church over 1877 of $2,050.00.

The timber used for trestle-work can also be used for the final timbering of buildings, thereby causing really no outlay for trestle. But few buildings have ever been erected in the manner of this one, viz., that every stone is numbered, liberally requiring that each and every course must have three diagrams together with descriptive bills, and these must be kept on file for the quarry and one for setting. These diagrams, centers for setting arches, patterns, &c., are prepared during the winter season, in readiness for summer work.
