JUDGE DILLON'S OPINION.

The Liability Incurred by Schools is Not a Municipal Debt.

THE WINTER VACATION.

A Tax Levy of Two Mills to be Made by the School Board for the Ensuing Year.

The Board of Education met in regular session last night with President Stott in the chair. The members in attendance were Messrs. Baldwin, Dale, Downey, Raybould, Young, Newman, Nelson and Pratt.

VACATION GIVEN.

A petition was received from the various schools asking that they be granted a vacation beginning today and lasting until the 4th of January next. Granted.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

W. W. Batten, one of the teachers, asked for a temporary leave of absence. His request was granted.

RESIGNATION ACCEPTED.

Rudolph Aliff tendered his resignation as chairman of the committee on furniture and supplies. Accepted.

AT A RENTAL OF $25.

The committee on sites and buildings reported that it had arranged with Thomas Jennings to occupy the new room in the Hooper & Eldredge block at a rental of $25 per month. The committee had also made satisfactory arrangements with Mr. Roberts in regard to the lease of the quarters recently vacated, which was, substantially, that Mr. Roberts should be secured from loss through failure to re-let the rooms. Approved.

A JANITOR EMPLOYED.

The same committee reported that arrangements had been completed with John Green to act as all-night janitor for the board at a salary of $75 per month. Approved.

MONEY FOR JANITORS.

The committee on furniture and supplies recommended that $9 per cent. of the money collected for use of school houses be appropriated for the janitors, also that the salary of the janitor of the board's rooms be increased $2 per month. Adopted.

JUDGE DILLON ON THE ISSUANCE OF BONDS.

The accompanied opinion was received from Judge Dillon relative to the issuance of bonds:

STATEMENT OF CASE FOR OPINION OF COUNSEL.

The following is a statement of the provisions of the statutes of Utah, and the facts in contradistinction with the boundaries of Salt Lake City, Mandated Corporation and the Salt Lake City school district:

First—The boundaries of Salt Lake City are fixed by its charter, granted by the Legislature of Utah, 1851, Compiled Laws of Utah, 1876, page 286.

Second—The county seats of the several counties in Utah were, prior to the session of the Legislature of 1888, authorized to divide the counties into school districts, change the same and establish others, etc. (See same volume Compiled Laws, page 296, also section of school law, same volume, page 67, and following.) Under this condition of the law the County Court of Salt Lake County had prior to the year 1890, divided Salt Lake City into twenty one distinct school districts.

Third—Salt Lake City, by virtue of its population, is a city of the first class.

Fourth—At the Legislative session of 1890 the Legislature of the Territory passed an act entitled "An act to provide for a uniform system of free schools throughout the Territory of Utah," approved March 15, 1890. This act, by section 125, repealed all powers acts upon the subject of schools.

Section 126 of this act of 1890 provides that all cities of the first class and second class shall be governed by the laws relative to cities of similar class, and that each of such cities should constitute one school district, subsequent provisions of the act to provide for the election of a Board of Education in each of the said cities, and the appointment of a Superintendent of Schools in each either and the section 18 of said act, it is provided that the school trustees of said city, together with the mayor thereof, shall be a body corporate under the name of "The Board of Education of the City of ——."

Fifth—The act of Congress of July 30, 1886, by setting limits the rights of political or municipal corporations, county or other subdivisions in any Territory of the United States, to incur indebtedness at ending 4 per centum of the value of taxable property within such corporation.

Upon this state of the law and facts, the question arises:

First—Whether or not for the purpose of incurring indebtedness, the Salt Lake City municipal corporation and the Salt Lake City school district are one and the same political subdivision within the meaning of the act of Congress, and that the limit of both to incur indebtedness is limited to 4 per centum of the assessed value of the property, or whether, under the act, the municipality for its special purposes may incur indebtedness to the 4 per centum, and the school district to a like amount, so far as the congressional limitation is concerned.

Second—If the Legislature had contemplated that the whole of the city into a single school district by the act of 1890, would these separate school districts have been authorized under the act of Congress, to have incurred indebtedness irrespective of the fact that the municipality, for its purposes, might have previously incurred indebtedness up to 4 per centum of the assessed property?

Third—If the Legislature should repeal the provision of the act of 1890, constituting the said city a single school district and divide it into two or more, would such districts have the power to incur indebtedness, provided 4 per centum of indebtedness on the assessed value of the property had been incurred by the municipality of Salt Lake City for its special purpose?

OPINION.

I have carefully considered the statute provisions Congressional and Territorial, above referred to, and am of opinion that the municipal corporation known as Salt Lake City (Compiled Laws of Utah, 1888, sec. 56, et seq.) is not the same corporation as the Salt Lake City School District, as created and existing under the Utah Act approved March 15, 1890, under the corporate name of the Board of Education of the City of Salt Lake, which the meaning and purpose of the act of Congress of July 30, 1886, section 4 (United States Statutes, 171). It results that so far as this Congressional restriction is concerned, each has the power under proper Territorial legislative authority, to incur indebtedness to the amounts in the aggregate (including existing indebtedness) not exceeding four per cent of the taxable property within each of such corporation, or subdivision in the manner prescribed by the Congressional enactment. This conclusion also results in answering the second question in the affirmative, so far as Congressional restriction is concerned. It also results in answering the third question in the affirmative, so far as relates to the Congressional restriction.

It is perhaps not necessary to concede any enlarged signment in support of the validity of the above conclusions. It is urged that the Salt Lake City is a "municipal corporation" within the meaning of the Congressional act. The charge of the schools is not one of the ordinary duties of a municipal corporation, like the care of streets, nor does the legislation of the Territory, including the act of 1890, make education one of the functions and duties of the municipality of Salt Lake City. The school corporation provided for by the act of 1890 is a distinct corporation from the municipality of Salt Lake City, and if such school corporation is within the corrective provisions of the Congressional enactment at all, it is because it is a political corporation or other subdivision of the Territory, and not because it is a municipal corporation. I think it perfectly clear, for example, that Salt Lake county is a distinct corporation (without the meaning of the Congressional enactment) from the city of Salt Lake; they would be equally distinct if the boundaries of the county and city were identical and coterminous. In estimating the aggregate amount of indebtedness allowed to be incurred by a county, within the meaning of the Congressional enactment, the debt of the municipal corporation in that county cannot be considered. And so, conversely, in estimating the amount of municipal indebtedness allowed by the Congressional enactment, the debts of the county or other political subdivision or quasi corporation are not to be included. It would be impossible to put distinct corporations comprising, in whole or in part, the same Territorial area into Procrustean beds, and apply the provisions of the Congressional enactment. These clearly apply separately to each distinct political, quasi, or municipal corporation. (See "Dillon on Municipal Corporations," 5th edition, sec. 24, and cases there cited.)

JOHN F. DILLON.

NEW YORK, Dec 11, 1891.

In addition to the above the judge made the following recommendation:

"I add that this precise question, so far as I know, has never been expressly adjudged, and while I have no doubt as to the soundness of my conclusions, yet it would not be amiss if I would recommend (if it is permissible) that the question be raised in advance by some friendly suit for an injunction, and the lower court and the supreme court of the Territory decide it. There it needs no second thought, no doubt as to their validity, and they would bring a better price in the market."

ADDITIONAL TEACHERS.

The committee on teachers and Superintendent Millmagin recommended the employment of the following teachers:

| | Salary |
|---|---|
| Mrs. M. Hyde, Second | $45 |
| Miss Minnie Kirby, Eighth | 45 |
| Miss Theresa Jensen, Fourth | 45 |
| Miss Louie Quinn, Eighth | 45 |
| Miss Ella Ellis, Fourth | 45 |
| Mr. Stagg, night school | 75 |

OK SCHOOL WORK.

The committee on school work recommended the adoption of the following substitute for rule 20: Truancy is a serious offense and may be punishable by suspension. In aggravated or frequent offenses, the truant shall not be permitted to return to school without the written consent of the superintendent; the committee also recommended the purchase of a lot of chemicals, and also that Miss Kuhn be employed at the Eleventh school. Adopted.

A LEVY OF TWO MILLS.

The committee on finance made the following report, which was adopted:

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 17, 1891.

To the Board of Education:

Your finance committee, having estimated the ensuing year's obligations and having had under consideration the subject of the tax levy necessary to be made for the schools of this district the ensuing year, have concluded that a levy of two mills on the dollar of the district valuation as assessed, will be none too much, and therefore respectfully report the following:

Resolved, That in pursuance of law this board of Education does hereby certify to the assessor and collector of Salt Lake City the rate of two mills on the dollar of the assessed valuation of this district, as the amount necessary for the purposes established by law, and for the use and obligations of the schools of this district for the ensuing year.

VERITABLE GEYSER OF GAS.

Its Operations Witnessed by Several Hundred Citizens Yesterday.

PROPOSITION OF THE GAS COMPANY

Other Shafts to be Sunk in the Near Future. Machinery on the Way From the East.

Nearly four hundred prominent citizens, including all classes of business men and several members of the municipal government, went out to the gas wells, at Lake Shore, on a special train over the Rio Grande Western yesterday afternoon, at 3 o'clock.

The run was made in twenty-five minutes. Before leaving the train the passengers were cautioned to extinguish their cigars as the ... in that locality was so heavily it was feared that it might again be ignited.

About half an hour was spent in looking over the ground and witnessing a series of magnificent eruptions from the big well, which has been sunk to a depth of 502 feet. When that level was reached the pressure became so great that the pipe, which has a six-inch opening, could not carry off the escaping vapor and a charge was torn out along the entire length of the exterior of the iron casing. A noise like unto the roaring of a cataract was produced and the air was filled with gas. It became ignited by a spark from the engine and the country for miles around was for a day and night, after which the opening was filled and the blaze thus extinguished. Unfortunately the channel has been again blown open and the gas now belches forth with greater fury than ever before. Several wagon loads of sacked sand and sawdust have been utilized in filling up the cavity, but they were ejected with fearful force. Vast quantities of gas are constantly escaping, and at present there seems to be no means of saving it, and it is probable that the well will have to be abandoned and another sunk near by with greater precaution.

BRILLIANTLY ILLUMINATED

By order of the management the well was uncapped and the crowd of which had gathered close around the shaft rapidly ran off a distance of about one hundred yards, where they were given an impromptu demonstration of the operations of this wonderful well. First of all there was a rumbling noise, indicating the workings of some powerful force far below the surface of the earth. This was immediately followed by a terrific paroxysm, which caused the ground for some distance around to shake. A shot of shale and mud were thrown into the air in repeated jets nearly, if not quite, three hundred feet. It was a

and one that brought forth many exclamations of surprise and admiration. The gas is perfectly odorless.

Experts who have visited the locality and made a careful inspection of the ground are of the opinion that this well is situated directly over a cavernous reservoir, which is connected with subterranean channels which extend under the lake toward the island.

Two wells have been sunk by the Natural Gas company, which has represented to the City Council that it had several flowing wells of gas on its grounds in Davis county, twelve miles north of Salt Lake; that the company had since its organization expended $25,000 in the purchase of lands, machinery, etc., and had sufficient capital to sink other wells and conduct gas by mains to this city and distribute the same for merchandise and domestic uses. The petitioners therefore asked for a franchise granting the company the right of way to construct gas mains through the streets of this city, for the purpose of supplying gas for heat, fuel and motive power. A franchise for illuminating purposes was not sought for. In asking for this franchise, the company offered to furnish gas to private consumers at a cost of $1 1-3 per cent, less than the present cost of coal, and to municipal and county buildings less than 50 per cent. of such cost, and would guarantee to the city a supply of natural gas sufficient for all present or future requirements. In making this offer the company had in mind the almost certain stimulant to this city's growth which such an enterprise as the insured, and which had promised a growth in population equal to 100 per cent. in three years in the gas fields of the East.

The municipal street committee took the matter under consideration and recommended to the Council that the same be granted on condition that it shall not take effect until the gas company shall have laid its mains to the city limits, which must be done within one year; also, on condition that the gas company satisfy the Council of its ability to supply gas as claimed by it in the petition.

On this recommendation the city attorney with the committee on streets associated, were instructed to draw up a franchise as asked for.

The company has sent East for new and better machinery, which will soon be here, and within the arrival of which other wells will be sunk.
