NEWS OF THE WEST.

Two Women Burned to Death by the Explosion of Coal Oil Stoves.

ROBBINS' SIDEWALK PAVEMENT.

A Race With Fire—Hurt in a Wire Fence—Big Irrigation Pump—Passing Tribunals.

On Tuesday, at Tulare, Cal., while Mrs. [illegible] Hatch, aged 27 years, was making an [illegible] and was so [illegible] that her body [illegible] was almost [illegible] and death followed [illegible].

Mrs. [illegible], whose husband was a [illegible] of the Webster street [illegible] water at San Francisco, met [illegible] the company to recover $50,000, [illegible] $11,000 to pay for all [illegible] mother and seven children.

Mary A. [illegible], a half-breed, has [illegible] to recover the land on which her village is in Tolmanny Falls, Wash., [illegible] is located. The evidence tended to show the fact that her father, a white man, married her mother according to Indian customs, by purchase, giving a [illegible] for her. Two decades ago the husband left the marriage, claiming that the daughter is illegitimate and has no right to the property.

At Sacramento, Cal., on Tuesday, a [illegible] in a summer kitchen exploded burning Mrs. Sara White so severely that she cannot possibly live. Kerosene had caused that the burning oil had suddenly soaked the floor on her right side, from her neck to her ankle. An hour after the accident she received consciousness sufficiently to state that after the explosion she had [illegible] the burning house on fire, and being unable to put out the flames, [illegible] a tub of water.

Gov. Hughes, of Arizona, has [illegible] several inmates of the penitentiary under the parole law passed by the last legislature. The conditions of the parole are that the paroled person shall obtain full employment, and shall render service to reimburse the territory, in whole or in part for the cost and convenience to a term of larceny to reimburse the victim of his theft. Employment on these conditions will be given the parolee to enable them to earn the amount required. If the criminal misconduct, other prisoners will be released on parole.

The Cairo, Cal., people have been experimenting on the molasses which is produced at the sugar factory by trying to make a pavement of it instead of the asphalt pavement. We want to say to the good people of Cairo by way of encouragement, says the Lodi, Cal., county, Rooster, that some three years ago the Utah Sugar company put some of the molasses made at its factory upon the road leading from town to the factory and the good result was most satisfactory. It showed a great success in making use of the Barret system. The outcome became quite sticky and hard, the molasses making a pavement like asphalt.

A powerful irrigation pump made in San Francisco was shipped a few days ago to the Colorado Irrigation company, and will be put upon the Colorado River to raise water from the river over a wide tableland 150 feet high, and irrigate it well on the other side of the operation for a distance of some miles. It is known as a compound condensing crank and flywheel irrigation pump, and will lift 10,000,000 gallons of water a minute, or 15,000,000,000 gallons a day, for fuel, and requires 600 horse-power to operate it. The engines are high-pressure cylinders, twenty-six and compound, 30 inches, by forty-two inch stroke, of the [illegible] type. The cylinders are equipped with rotary valve gear. The water cylinders are outside packed plunger type, twenty inches in diameter by [illegible] inch stroke. The suction and discharge pipes are between the two engines. They are double cylinders, single acting. The weight is 275,000 pounds. The steam-generating plant consists of one battery of four water tube boilers of 150 horse-power each and weighs 12,000 pounds. It took nearly three months to complete the pump, and it is claimed to be the best ever made for the purpose.

Clarence Chaffe, the 15-year-old son of G. H. Chaffe, secretary of the Fresno chamber of commerce, had an exciting experience Tuesday while on the road to his father's orchard, twenty miles south of Fresno, Cal. A burning cigarette dropped into the vehicle and set the vehicle on fire, and being on the open plains, distant from any house, he had no means of extinguishing the blaze. The oiled leather top and curtains burned rapidly and he endeavored to reach the road a mile away to obtain help. He succeeded in reaching the road, but the wind blew the flames back and forced him from the vehicle. He was overtaken by two men who were hastening to the assistance of the lad, who had succeeded in reaching the road, and when within a few rods of the road the horses commenced kicking and refused to go another step. The boy got out to see what was the matter, and seeing the pole of the carriage, on fire, and the horses [illegible] he unhitched and started for the road. He was [illegible] gunshot, and after putting up the curtains and carpets the frightened horses ran away with the boy on the driving seat. The carriage, running almost from the wheels, [illegible] a mile from the village.
