THERE was a meeting of the joint city and county building in the council chamber at 4 o'clock this afternoon. One of the items of consideration was the fire-proofing of the joint city and county building.

MR. R. J. A. O'REILLY, heretofore acting district superintendent for the Pullman Palace Car company with headquarters at Ogden, has been made superintendent for that company over the Rio Grande Western and Union Pacific as far east as Denver.

A LARGE Cinnamon bear, killed in Ogden canyon, was brought into the city yesterday. It was purchased by an enterprising butcher who had it cut into steaks and roasts in a few moments and sold to customers before an hour had rolled around. This from the Ogden Tribune.

THE report of the Young Ladies' Aid Society for the year ending Oct. 5, showed the receipts from various sources to be $2,[illegible] and the disbursements, $2,[illegible]. There is a balance on hand of $[illegible]. The average number of families assisted monthly was thirty-seven. Miss Noomi Cannon is president and Miss Agnita B. Cannon, treasurer.

AT an early hour this morning an car No. 101 of the city railway was returning from Fort Douglas, the coils of the motor became ignited and in endeavoring to extinguish the blaze, Motorman Cossitt accidentally allowed his left hand to be caught in the machinery. As a result he has lost the index and third fingers. Dr. Hicks amputated the injured members.

THE City Council held a brief and uninteresting session last night. The work of revising the ordinances was continued. The principal discussion was on the question of granting liquor licenses. A motion by Rich to the effect that in all cases wherein bonds for license were not approved by the mayor, the same should be referred back to the Council for final action, carried.

"ALL those who enjoyed Actor Harris' art as the Squire in 'Alabama,'" says the San Francisco Chronicle of Sunday last, "will learn with sorrow of his last illness. He deserved to be spared many years, for he did his part in making life brighter and better. What is more, he was a gentleman off the stage as well as on, which is more than can be said for many of his fellows." Mr. Harris appeared with the "Alabama" company at the Salt Lake Theatre only a few weeks ago, and his acting delighted all who witnessed it.

STILL IN SESSION.

Two Meetings Held by the Merchants and Railway Officials Today.

NOTHING DEFINITE DONE YET.

Satisfactory Progress is, However, Being Made.—Expect to Finish Tonight.

The merchants of this city and the representatives of the railroads mentioned in last evening's News adjourned last night (without arriving at any conclusion as to the new transportation schedule proposed to be accepted. The same gentlemen met again in secret session at the Knutsford at 10 a. m. today. At noon they adjourned until 2 o'clock this afternoon at which time they all filed upstairs once more, entered the Council chamber and barred the doors.

One of the gentlemen was interrogated by a News representative just before he went into the meeting as to what had been accomplished at the sessions so far held. He replied "I have nothing to say other than there has been a great deal of discussion pro and con and that satisfactory progress is being made. We will not complete our labors this afternoon but hope to do so tonight. When we do we will immediately make our report to the president of the Chamber of Commerce, after which it will be given to the newspapers for publication."

AT HIS OLD TRICKS.

Henry Redden, alias "Dead-Eye Dick," Again in Trouble.

CHARGED WITH POCKET-PICKING.

He is Already Under Indictment by the Grand Jury for a Similar Offense.

Henry Redden, alias "Dead Eye Dick," is the name of a repugnant looking individual whose history in this city and elsewhere does not seem to be made up of good examples or charitable deeds. Shortly before two o'clock this afternoon Mrs. J. H. Banks, who resides with her husband at No. 51 North First West Street, left the clock corner on Main street to board the Agricultural Park street car going west. The street was crowded with pedestrians at the time and she had proceeded but a short distance when she was heard to cry out, "Stop that thief!" At the same time she started in pursuit of a fast fleeing man thereof. The former was halted by several gentlemen and an hubaub later Mrs. Banks seized him by the collar just as Policeman Fitzmaurice appeared on the scene and took him in tow. He was escorted to the City Hall northwith and gave his name as Henry Redden, naturity as English, occupation as a painter and age as 60.

At the police station Mrs. Banks informed a News reporter that as she was making her way through the crowd to the car she felt somebody's hand in her pocket and turning quickly discovered that it was Redden, who she declares was unable to get her purse, which contained $40, but who possessed himself of her spectacles and case.

As the offender was being searched he endeavored to venture an explanation to Mrs. Banks, but she exclaimed—with an almost mesmeric voice, "Stand back, sir. O, I recognized you all right. You are 'Dead Eye Dick,' a Denver tough. I used to know you there years ago."

This declaration seemed to cause the prisoner considerable alarm, and he fairly whined as his intended victim continued, "Gentlemen, he is an old, old pickpocket, and an all round bad man."

The accused was arrested on the charge of picking a lady's pocket near Godbe's corner a few months ago. The committing magistrate held him to await the action of the grand jury. That body found an indictment, and the case is now pending in the Third District court. Redden will have a hearing tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

Redden met with a painful accident this afternoon shortly after being placed in the city jail. He unintentionally put his fingers under a huge lever in the hands of Jailer Raleigh just as it was descending with comfortably force. He screamed as though he had lost an arm. The wounded members were immediately dressed and the chances are that Redden will not pick any pockets for some time to come even if he is discharged by the court, which is not likely.

A $1000 BLOWOUT.

A Severe Accident at the Power, Light and Heating Co's Works.

They had a little difficulty with the machinery at the Power, Light and Heating company's works at 5:30 this morning which may result in a diminution of the artificial illumination this evening, but the company's foreman, Mr. Rush, informs us that no hopes to have the regulation quantity on duty tomorrow night. It seems that a boiler became too heavily charged with water and the excess was carried off into the cylinder of a low pressure engine, this having the effect of starting out the bolts and taking off one side of the cylinder, the force of the explosion was such as to bend both the piston and connecting rods and wrench the low pressure side engine altogether, while inflicting such injuries upon the high pressure engine that it as well as the other will have to be replaced. The engine was not watched closely enough, but no fault is attributable to the fireman on this account. For the present one side of the engine will be plugged and run singly till repairs can come from the East. Jun.—now the force are hard at work. The damage will be not less than $1000, no one hurt.

PRINTERS ARRESTED

Charged by L. R. Rhodes with Conspiracy.

Yesterday a number of members of the Ogden Typographical Union were arrested charged with conspiracy, on the complaint of L. R. Rhodes. The complaint without change, abbreviation or punctuation is given below as sworn to by the editor of the Post. It's a long sentence, but that is probably a fault of "legal" literature:

"L R Rhodes of Ogden city in the county of Weber on behalf of the territory of Utah on oath complains that Charles Abernethy E D Stack D W Bichert B A Canlos J H Miracle, George G Taylor and E H Picker of Ogden city in the county of Weber and Territory of Utah on the first day of September in the year 1892 at Ogden city in the county of Weber and Territory aforesaid, one L R Rhodes was a person who then and there followed the profession trade and calling of an editor and was then and there engaged for a long time prior thereto, and thereafter, and up to the time of filing this complaint the sole proprietor, owner and manager of a certain public newspaper during all said time printed and published daily in Ogden city, Weber county, Utah Territory, known and called "The Daily Post" by which profession trade and calling and by reason of his being then and there the proprietor, owner and manager of said public newspaper, he obtained his livelihood and large gains whereupon Charles Abernethy, E D Stack, D W Bichert, B A Canlos, J H Miracle, George G Taylor and E H Picker, did then and there, well knowing the premises, unlawfully and maliciously conspire, combine, confederate and agree together to injure and ruin the said L R Rhodes in his profession, trade and calling of editor and to injure and ruin the business and trade of the said L R Rhodes in the publication of the newspaper aforesaid, as proprietor, owner and manager thereof, and to deprive him of his good name therein, and of all future gains and profits therefrom by then and there during all of said time, printing, publishing and publicly and openly circulating and distributing daily a sheet or paper called "The Journal," each issue of which contained and contains unjustly malicious, false and unprovoked attacks in print, upon and against the said L R Rhodes, expressing disapprobation of him both in his capacity as an editor and against his character as an individual and upon and against his business and trade as the proprietor, owner and manager of the newspaper aforesaid, and by persuading, coercing and procuring others to join them in the conspiracy aforesaid, and causing, procuring and persuading others to withhold and withdraw their patronage from the said L R Rhodes in his business and trade aforesaid and from his newspaper contrary to the form of the statute in such cases made and provided and against the peace and dignity of the people of the Territory of Utah, and wherefore complainant prays that a warrant may be issued for the arrest of said Charles Abernethy, E D Stack, D W Bichert, B A Canlos, J M Miracle, George G Taylor and E H Picker, and that they be dealt with according to law.

L. R. RHODES,
Complainant."

The printers named in the complaint were arrested and admitted to bail in the sum of $250 each. Tale they furnished.

At 7:30 in the evening they appeared before Judge Miner to have a hearing. E. M. Allison prosecuted and Palmer & Murphy and Judge Magiente appeared for defendants. Neither side was ready to plead and by common consent the case was postponed until Tuesday, October 18th at 7:30 p. m.—Ogden Standard, Oct. 11.

SPIRITUALIST MATTHEWS.

Governor Thomas Declines to Honor the Requisition Papers From Colorado.

After mature deliberation, Governor A. L. Thomas this afternoon declined to honor the requisition papers received from the governor of Colorado, asking for the surrender to the Denver police authorities of "Dr." Frank O. Matthews, the so-called spiritualist, the particulars of whose arrest were given in the latest edition of yesterday's NEWS. Matthews is accused of defrauding people in different parts of Colorado previous to his arrival in this city.

Governor Thomas, upon examining the requisition papers, came to the conclusion that they had been very crudely prepared, and that the law bearing upon the matter had not been complied with in many essential particulars. He has therefore determined to return them to Colorado's governor for correction.

In the meantime Matthews will be held here. The governor states that he would be doing wrong to grant the man's extradition on the strength of the papers now sent to him.

NETHERCOTT EXONERATED.

As Intimated in this Paper His Arrest was a Mistake.

Readers of the NEWS will remember the account of the arrest near the Warm Springs on Saturday last of Captain Alexander Nethercott by Chief Paul and Captain Donovan on a charge of grand larceny. It was intimated at the time by this paper that one had been guilty of a serious mistake as the accused was a well-known and respected citizen.

Regarding the affair the Ogden Post of this morning says, under the caption of "AN UNGODLY CHARGE:"

"Alfred Nethercott of this city was arrested in Salt Lake Saturday on a charge of grand larceny—stolen or taken from the South Ogden Building association, and was brought before Judge Bishop yesterday to answer to the charge. It required but a brief time for the judge to satisfy himself that there was really no foundation for the charge, and Mr. Nethercott was speedily released from custody.

It seems that some five months ago Nethercott bought a team of the South Ogden Building association, on time, and that no charge had been made upon the books of the association. Nethercott had made several payments on the account, almost sufficient to balance it, but it seems that the credits as well as the purchase were ignored. Seemingly there was gross neglect and thoughtlessness somewhere."

DELINQUENT ADMINISTRATORS.

Probate Judge Bishop of Ogden Looks Them Up.

The following order has been issued by Judge Bishop of the Ogden Probate Court:

"In the matter of the estates now pending in the Probate Court of Weber county, Utah, in which proceedings have been had since October 1st, 1891, the due administration of which has not been completed and discharged entirely;

Whereas, It appearing to the undersigned probate judge of Weber county, Utah Territory, that a large number of estates of decedents and incompetent persons is pending in this court, wherein no proceedings relative to the administration of said estates have been had since October 1st, 1891, and

Whereas, such delay and neglect tend to a complication of the rights of persons interested therein, as well as to confuse the titles of the real estate involved, and operating as it does unnecessarily extensive liabilities of sureties, a due regard for all concerned and public policy demand that the administration of all such estates should be proceeded with and finished.

It is therefore ordered and judged and decreed by the court that executors, administrators and guardians be and they are hereby required to appear and show cause, if any they have, why they should not proceed regularly to the due administration of said estates.

It is further ordered that the clerk of this court issue hereto directed to home citations to all administrators and executors and guardians of said estates who have failed or neglected to appear for such purpose on or before November 1, 1892, to appear and show cause why the administration of said estate should not proceed, to the end that all said estates may be duly and completely settled, and guardians discharged and their bondsmen released.

A GRAND SIGHT.

The Naval Parade Today in Honor of Columbus.

ON THE MAJESTIC HUDSON.

Royal Salutes Fired from Batteries on Either Shore.

A MILLION SIGHTSEERS.

Description of the Imposing Parade—Cheers after Cheers from the Vast Host of Spectators.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Yesterday the people of New York, Brooklyn and Jersey City turned out and lined up along Fifth avenue to witness the parade of school children in honor of the Columbian anniversary. Today they line up on each side of that greater, grander thoroughfare, the Hudson River, to witness the imposing naval parade. To even a greater extent than yesterday, the city is hailed in bunting and the nation is extended to the sightseers themselves, almost every one displaying the national colors on the lapel, or elsewhere as a personal adornment. All carts of these cities surrounding New York harbor, except those bombing on the route of the parade, are almost deserted. It is estimated that not less than a million people are massed on both shores, from the Battery to Grant's tomb, witnessing the stately proceeding, as it moved majestically up the Broadway of waters, the majestic Hudson river.

The start was made at half-past twelve o'clock from Gravesend bay in three columns, 500 yards apart. The foreign war vessels occupied the center with the United States vessels on either side as an escort. As the line entered the narrows, a salute of twenty-one guns was fired from either shore. The order of the parade was as follows: The patrolling fleet, commanded by the naval militia of New York, to clear the way; the naval division consisting of the United States steamer Miantonomah, United States frigate Philadelphia, the French flagship D'Aldetoe, the United States steamers Atlanta and Dolphin, the French gunboat Hussard, the coast survey steamer Blake, the United States steamer Vesuvius, the Italian cruiser Italia, the United States ship St. Marys, the revenue steamer Grant, the Spanish cruiser Infanta Isabel, the lighthouse steamer Amanda, the revenue steamer Dexter, the U. S. steamer Cushing.

A special escorting fleet followed the naval division. The first division of it was composed of the fire and dock department boats and fifteen yachts; the second division, seventeen chartered boats and seventeen yachts; the third division, of twelve steam and ferry boats; the fourth, of fifteen steam and ferry boats; the fifth, of twenty-five steamboats and tugs; the sixth, of twenty-two tugs; the seventh, of twenty-eight propellers, steamboats and tugs; the eighth, of twenty-five tugs and propellers; the ninth, of eight merchantmen; the tenth, of fourteen merchantmen; the eleventh, of 8 cats illustrating the progress of shipbuilding since the days of Columbus; the last, of a fleet of the naval reserve, consisting of sixteen tugs, divided in four squadrons.

As the parade passed Battery Park another salute of twenty-one guns was fired; then a mighty hoo amongshore began their cheers, and as the majestic procession continued its course up the river, the cheers swelled to a mighty roar from hundreds of thousands of throats. When One hundred and twenty-fifth street was reached the boats cast anchor and Mayor Grant with the municipal guests passed along the line amid the booming of cannon and the parade was at an end.

Among the guests of the parade committee are Vice President Morton, Secretary Foster, Secretary Whitney, Governor Flower, Mrs. U. S. Grant, Minister Egan and ex-President Cleveland. The day is perfect. There is not a cloud in the sky.
