NEWS OF THE MINES.

Improvement in Stock-Selling on the Exchange Today.

MAMMOTH FIRM AND STRONG.

Sum [illegible] Stocks Share in the Day's Trading—Down in Sevier—Dips and Spurs.

With Miller Vigus at the helm and [illegible] Hudson as the accommodating [illegible], in the absence of the official marker who was sick, the proceedings on change today were really interesting and marked with greater activity than for some time past.

In the regular order of things, Anchor was the first stock called, but it did not score a sale until later in the roll, when the announcement was made that 200 shares had changed hands at $1 per share. Ajax took part in the day's business by recording an exchange of 100 shares, the stock bringing but 80 cents, which is four cents lower than the lowest figure at which it was sold yesterday.

Two transfers of 500 shares each resulted from the call of East Golden Gate, and one of the brokers lost five dollars very smoothly in the transactions. He figured in both moves by selling 500 shares at 10 cents and immediately thereafter by buying the same stock back at an advance of one cent, thus necessitating the handing over of a five-dollar greenback to the other party in the transaction. The movement brought out a titter of laughter among the brokers.

Mammoth came out with excellent strength today and showed it by the consummation of two sales of 100 shares each. The first brought $3.76 while the second was one cent lower. The stock closed with heavy bidding of $3.75, but holders demanded $3.79. One hundred shares of Sunshine found a taker at $2.60, at which figure more of the stock would have readily found a market. A bid of $20 for thirty shares of Centennial-Eureka fell short of its purpose and the stock remained on the board at $65 asked.

Out of nineteen unlisted stocks to which attention was directed, but one, and that Swansea, scored a sale. It went at $2.20 and $2.19½ was the closing bid. Some interest was centered in [illegible] Anaconda and Lil [illegible] Pittsburg, but no transfers were negotiated. The Buckeye of Tintic was offered at 7½ cents, but no bids materialized.

The closing figures were as follows:

DOWN IN SEVIER.

The Richfield Advocate Tells of Mining Matters There.

Sam Newhouse and Sam Gulbe came down to Richfield last Saturday night and with Charles Lammersdorf drove on up to the Sevier mine Sunday morning. The first two gentlemen represent the great English-American syndicate which secured an option on the Sevier last June. Mr. Lammersdorf owned 140,000 shares, the controlling interest in the property and sold it at sixty cents per share to Mr. Gulbe's people who have paid $51,000 of the purchase price. That leaves $43,000 yet due on the mine and in addition the new company will have to pay interest on the money for nearly a year and will remit for all amounts expended in the interim by Mr. Lammersdorf on improvements; so the aggregate will come to nearly $50,000 and the time for payment is June 14th. The matter is so arranged that if [illegible] settlement is not made Charles Lammersdorf will still control the Sevier.

William Dodge, one of Southern Utah's veteran prospectors, was a Richfield visitor a few days recently and was seen by an Advocate reporter. For the past seven years Mr. Dodge has been with the Sevier people and probably knows the ground as well as anyone else. He says the present prospects for that property are brighter than ever before and that a great boom is in store for the district. The company has not yet quite finished blocking out the great ore bodies, having still some [illegible] feet to run. As soon as that task is completed the force will be increased and a busy summer put in on the great mine. Mr. Dodge has a [illegible] prospects of his own [illegible] which he [illegible] good things. One is the Golden Eagle and Utah and a later location is the Way Up. They are situated a little less than a mile southwest of the Sevier and surface assays have shown from two to five dollars in gold and silver.

Three practised mining men from Park City are J. C. Nevin, Robert Blake and George Blake. They were in Richfield Monday en route by wagon to Marysvale where they will wander over the hills in search of gold. They tell the Advocate that this Sevier country is getting a big reputation all over the north and that this summer will bring a horde of prospectors [illegible] from all over the West. Mr. Blake is an old placer miner from California and will keep his weather eye open for sands that pay. The three gentlemen will remain in these parts at least a month and if nothing turns up to hold them will go back to the Park country. If they make a strike, however, they are able to command enough capital to work the ground up into a [illegible].

Sam Whitford and Andrew Pattison have a contract for the grading of the R. G. W. wye at the mouth of Sevier canyon and began work on their contract last week. On Sunday they were inspecting the [illegible] of the [illegible] and [illegible] upon a boulder weighing about three hundred pounds which they, being of [illegible], at once recognized as gold bearing quartz. A close examination [illegible] free gold in [illegible] as big as pinheads and the rock, a yellow quartz, is very like the ore found in the Sevier district. From its smooth appearance and because it differs materially from the mineral formation peculiar to the immediate vicinity in which it was found Messrs. Whitford and Pattison are of the opinion that the yellow quartz was been washed down the canyon to [illegible] some distant spot.

Myron Harvey gives another version of the Annabella gold excitement. He tells the Advocate that John Gardner, Elias Gardner, Ed. Clark, Will Clark, Myron Hammett and Thomas Huff have united in a regularly organized company to search for the precious metal. For a long time men have known there was manganese and some galena near Annabella, but it is only recently that the gold rumor has been afloat. Messrs. [illegible] of the above company found a number of beautiful specimens three miles south-east of town and they seemingly are rich in gold and silver. Assays will soon be returned.

Jim Billings, who is in with Andrew Ross, of Joseph, on some property adjoining the Annie Laurie on Mount Baldy, showed some nuggets pieces of gold and silver quartz in town a day recently. The rock is almost pure white and shows free gold in specks and seams running all through it. A McVicker assay gives $780 in gold and one on the same ore from the St. Oudner, [illegible], makes it $1,080. The [illegible] property will be vigorously worked this summer.

Dips and Spurs.

The Bullion-Beck Mining company has declared its regular dividend of $15,000, which will be paid to the stockholders on the 20th inst.

Work has been resumed at the Horn Silver mine, and all trouble over the schedule of wages under the eight-hour law seems to have come to an end.

George Dern of the Mercur company went out to the properties this morning for the purpose of distributing between $9,000 and $9,000 among the employes of the mine and mill.

Dr. G. W. Shores has returned from the Vandewater mining district, California, where he has been for the past two weeks, inspecting properties there in which he is interested. He found things in good condition.

Contrary to the usual custom, the Mercur Mining company did not declare its dividend yesterday, but the edict will likely go forth in a day or so. The reason for the non-declaration on the 10th is that several of the directors are out of town, and consequently a quorum could not be secured.

Preston, Idaho, New Era: Last week Mr. J. M. Hammond showed us a piece of galena taken from a ledge which he and others have located between Mink creek and Gentile valley. It assays 72 per cent lead, $2.50 silver per ton and has a trace of gold. They are now working the claim.

Richfield Advocate: James Locke, an experienced prospector and formerly a resident of Annabella, returned to the Sevier country last Saturday bringing with him two buckets of handsome goldbearing quartz from Rose Valley. The rock has been taken for assay to Will Hardiman, at Marysvale.

The section of country is in the northern extreme of Kern county, in a mineral belt that is 100 miles in length. Since the prospectors have been more thorough, ledges are being discovered all along this belt, and more prospecting and work is now being done in that vicinity than was ever known before.

George Goss is in from the Good Hope placers in Colorado which are owned and operated by Utah men. He states that the high water there has been a source of much annoyance to the carrying on of the work and that the large water-wheel which was recently erected has been rendered inoperative by the floating driftwood. Until this defect is remedied, operations have been suspended.

A fine display of rich looking ore from the properties of the Dipper Mining company at the mouth of Little Cottonwood canyon, is that seen in the show window of H. P. Tessel and Co. on East Temple street. The members of this company are highly elated over their prospects, and propose to throw upon the market a quantity of the stock in order to obtain cash for development purposes.

A half million dollars was extracted from the Bright Star mine, and it was only worked to a depth of 450 feet when flooded by water. The recent discovery is in the immediate vicinity of the Bright Star, thirty-five miles northeast of Caliente, and in a country where there is plenty of wood and water and all facilities for [illegible] work. It is reported [illegible] have [illegible] [illegible] are all jubilant over the prospects.

There is intense excitement prevailing on Pine mountain, Cal., over the recent discovery of what may be one of the richest mines in the United States. Daniel Robles, one of the two brothers who owned the Pine-wood [illegible] mine, has [illegible] large [illegible] of free milling gold quartz which is considered to average $50 per ton the entire width of the ledge and length of the claim. Free gold, it is said, can be seen sticking out of the quartz in large clear pieces, and specimens of the quartz will run up to the thousands. Even in the walls gold is obtained and shows to be [illegible].

What seems to be a rich placer mine was struck in Fresno, Cal., on Monday, and it is causing considerable excitement among miners, because they think it may be valuable. While a workman was digging a hole for an electric light pole he penetrated [illegible] of hard pan on the corner of K and M streets and struck a [illegible] bed of white sand. Being an experienced miner it struck him as a gold deposit, and he panned out some of it and got 8 cents to the pan. He immediately carried away what sand he had dug out. It is not known how large the bed of sand is, but several years ago a similar strike was made in another part of the city while digging a cellar. It is surmised that a streak of pay dirt runs entirely across the city. If it is all this rich the dirt will pay about $25 per day to the man with the ordinary rocker. It is in the residence portion of the city.

THE L. D. S. COLLEGE.

An Interesting Report of the Attendance and Work During the Academic Year Just Closed.

Prof. Willard Done, president of the Latter-day Saints' College, has submitted to the college board of trustees a brief epitome of the attendance and work at the college during the tenth academic year, which closed yesterday. In it the following information is given:

STUDENTS IN ATTENDANCE.

[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]

Of this total, 161 were males and 94 females; 69 have entered in the first year preparatory course, 37 in the second, and 7 in the third; 7 in the first year normal, 4 in the second, and 4 in the special normal course, 83 in the business course, and 78 in special work.

The four who have been following the second year normal course—Maria James, Susan Kernel Grant, Alice Rich Smith and Hubert R. Hesner—have completed the course and received certificates as normal graduates. One student of the business course—Walter Walker—has completed that course and received a special certificate from the instructor in charge.

According to Church standing the students are classified as follows: Seventies, 2; Elders, 14; Priests, 19; Teachers, 11; Deacons, 38; members, 120; non-members, 9. Total, 175.

Of the non-members one has become converted to the Gospel while in attendance, and others have entered into favorable investigation. The religious spirit of the institution has been all that could be desired. Fast meetings, general and regular theological classes and testimony meetings have been very enjoyable.

According to residence of the students there are registered from Salt Lake City, 122; Salt Lake State county wards, 47; other States of Utah, 15; Colorado, 9; Idaho, 2; Arizona, 1; New York, 1. Total, 255.

The teachers are entitled to the highest praise for efficient work under difficulties. On account of a variety of circumstances the faculty will necessarily undergo a great change next year. Instructors Maycock and Paxton have been called on missions to Germany. Instructors Woodbury, Haag and Forbes will engage in other work, Miss Smith is studying to become a kindergartener, Dr. Tanner has been called to the presidency of the Agricultural College, and Miss Babcock will devote her time elsewhere. In addition to the four members of this year's faculty who will remain—the president and Instructors Nelson, Chamberlin and Mills—the following have been secured for next year: John J. McClellan, music; Levi E. Young, B. S., English and mental science; James L. Gibson, B. S., science, and Bertha Wilcken for ladies' work.

It is intended next year to cut out all work below the high school grade, and thus dispense with much of the annoyance which has come from the association of elementary and advanced study. The work proposed for next year is outlined in our "preliminary announcement." The serious lack is in our building accommodations. May I again urge upon you the necessity of giving this matter your immediate attention?

HIGH SCHOOL EXERCISES.

They Will Be Held in the Salt Lake Theater Tomorrow Night.

The graduating exercises of the High school will be held Friday evening. Though in previous years the Salt Lake Theater has proved to be much too small to accommodate those who desired to be present, it is the largest available building and will be used again this year.

Much dissatisfaction was felt last June because of the presence of so many very small children and others who cared little for the exercises, and who made much disturbance, preventing others who had a deep interest in the exercises from being present. To avoid a similar occurrence this year, the board of education has determined to give admission by ticket, the tickets [illegible] to children and others who would be likely to receive the benefit from the exercises. The general arrangement of seats is as follows:

On the stage, the graduates and members of the board of education; [illegible] former members of board and representatives of the press; parquet, high school pupils three [illegible] [illegible], teachers [illegible] [illegible] pupils, state [illegible] judges, mayor and city council, [illegible] principals and teachers [illegible] and representatives of other educational institutions; [illegible] who desire [illegible] this year.

The general public will be admitted to the rest of the house. No seats will be reserved after 8:30.

1,000 Children Wanted.

The managers of the State Centennial desire to have 1,000 children sing some patriotic songs during the festival proceedings on July 24. For this purpose, school children who can sing are invited to meet at the Assembly Hall on Saturday and Tuesday next, at 2:30 p. m., to commence the necessary training, under direction of Prof. E. [illegible] Daynes.

College Field Day.

The students and teachers of the Latter-Day Saints' College, with their friends, will spend field day at Calder's Park tomorrow. Cars leave the line every fifteen minutes, between 10 a. m. and twelve m. and every hour thereafter.

No Meeting.

The Microscopical Society of Utah will not meet tomorrow evening as expected, the meeting having been postponed until further notice.

AMUSEMENTS.

SHEA AT THE THEATER.

A fair house greeted the portrayal of Josephine, Empress of the French, at the Theater last evening. The story of the divorced wife of Napoleon is an interesting one, showing the devotion of the woman to her husband and the ruse of her enemies. Miss Shea's rendition of the role of the unhappy Josephine was a finished one, though the effect in some of the strong scenes was somewhat marred by the inability of the lady to speak intelligibly in the [illegible] Edmund L. O'Connor, who assumes the role of Napoleon, is an actor of ability and he made a good part of the piece. [illegible] [illegible] members of the company were given [illegible] ability, in the great drama of Napoleon's [illegible]—Mr. C. W. [illegible] [illegible] as [illegible], Mr. [illegible] as [illegible], and Tracy [illegible] as [illegible]. The [illegible] of the ladies were [illegible] and the scenes at the dance very effective. Tonight Nell Gwynne will be given.

LYCEUM.

The Lyceum continues to draw fair houses and the bill presented seems to please the audiences immensely. The singing of Miss Payne and the [illegible] of Mr. [illegible] are the [illegible] of the bill.

[illegible] COMPANY.

Brigham Royce, the erstwhile stage director and actor of the Grand company, has come to grief in his project of taking a company to Los Angeles for a summer tour. It was given to the News that [illegible] arrangements had been made and that [illegible] Hospital building was being fitted for [illegible]; but the withdrawal of Mr. [illegible] from the contemplated [illegible] of A Fair Rebel to be produced here that week by the company, and the [illegible] of [illegible] engagement by Mr. C. W. King at Denver, with numerous other [illegible], served to hasten the end of the organization and all plans are off. Jennie Kennark and her husband expect to go East right away and the other members will perhaps stay a while, until favorable opportunities present themselves at least.

OGDEN.

Ogden, Utah, - June 11, 1896.

Junction City Items.

Paul Pearson was brought from Smithfield, Cache county, by Officer [illegible] of Salt Lake and placed in county jail, charged with [illegible] a [illegible] near Smithfield, which is said to have been in operation a number of years.

The Power Dam buildings at the mouth of Ogden canyon are making rapid progress towards completion. The machinery for the [illegible] mill is being put in place.

The ten mile bicycle road race from Ogden to the Hot Springs was run yesterday. Deakins and Ziegler won first time and place, Jenkins and Haskell next.

The list of school teachers elected by the school board will be made public on Friday evening.

An Italian, named Joseph Murari, was fined $25 for fishing in Ogden canyon.

A number of the schools have their closing exercises this week.
