MR. GLADSTONE ILL.

The Physicians Characterize His Condition as Grave.

NO IMMINENT DANGER THOUGH.

The Result of a Walk Through St. James Park Last Night in the Raw Air.

LONDON, March 7.—Gladstone is seriously ill as a result of a chill. Last night he dined with the late secretary at Brook's club, and walked home through St. James park, though the night was raw, and became thoroughly chilled. On arrival he was put to bed and a physician summoned, in spite of the remonstrance that it was only a slight matter. This morning his condition was such that another physician was summoned. This afternoon one of the physicians made a public statement to the effect that the illness was undoubtedly serious, though, in the absence of high fever, there was no great danger at present. He is suffering from hoarseness and is kept in bed, in spite of his remonstrances declaring that he will be all right in a day or two. His doctors do not agree with this view and declare that he must not leave bed till considerable improvement has taken place.

The report of his illness spread with remarkable rapidity and inquiries as to his condition are coming in from many quarters.

Gladstone is reported somewhat better this afternoon.

Scared the Police.

LONDON, March 7.—A small tin box, with partly burned fuse, was found on the window sill of Bow street police station. After many precautions, it was opened and found to contain a cartridge filled with explosive of some sort. The police take the matter very gravely, but there are strong suspicions that some practical joker had been amusing himself at their expense.

The Prince in a Gale.

MARSEILLES, March 7.—The Prince of Wales cutter, Britannia, with the prince on board, started for Cannes today, in a gale. Some anxiety is expressed as to the outcome of the trip.

Women Masons.

Special Dispatch to the NEWS.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., March 7.—A rumor has been in circulation the past few days that Mrs. Lease is coming to Cheyenne to organize a lodge of woman Masons. Old line members of the order are having a great deal of quiet fun, however, over the announcement. One prominent Mason said: "Mrs. Lease claims to have seen the degree work done from a closet off a Kansas lodge room. Why, you might as well say I would become a Christian by witnessing the baptism of Tom, Dick or Harry."

British Soldiers Landed at Bluefields for Some Purpose Not Known. A War Vessel Needed.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—The state department has received the first official information of the British naval operations at Bluefield, in a dispatch from Minister Baker at Managua, Nicaragua. He says Consul Braida, at San Juan Del Norte, telegraphs him that soldiers have been landed from the British warship Cleopatra at Bluefields, and strongly urges that a U. S. war vessel be sent at once. There is no explanation in Baker's dispatch of the reason for the British action. It is known, however, that when the Nicaraguan forces occupied Bluefields, the reigning Mosquito chief appealed to the British consul for protection. The inference remains in the question whether the British force was landed to protect the Mosquitos or to guard the British citizens only.

SAW THE PROPHET JOSEPH SHOT.

Statement of Col. Darnell, Who Marched with the Mob While They Were Murdering Joseph and Hyrum.

Col. M. B. Darnell, of Sheldon, Iowa, is in the city. He has been in California for five months, and came to Salt Lake on the same train with W. H. Culmer, Esq., of this city, who has been on a visit to California. Col. Darnell is an interesting study to the people of Utah, from the fact that he is probably the only living eye witness of the assassination of the Prophet Joseph Smith, at Carthage, Illinois, on the 27th of June, 1844.

Col. Darnell was met by a News representative this afternoon, and in response to inquiries made a statement of what he personally knew regarding that awful deed. He said:

"You know it is a long time since then. It is fifty years ago, and my memory may be faulty in some particulars, but I will relate that only which I remember distinctly. When the Mormons came to Commerce, they changed the name to Nauvoo, and built the place up rapidly until there were about 15,000 people in the city. The inhabitants of that part of the state were of the rougher element to a great extent. [illegible]

Figures Well-Placed Can Be Made Effective—But Is It Not Necessary that They Be True?

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, March 6, 1894.

Editor Deseret News:

In discussing through the columns of the newspapers the University and Agricultural College questions, those writing in the interest of the University seem to think it necessary to find some fault with the College in order to make out a case for the University. I do not believe in that kind of argument. If the Agricultural College cannot stand on its record and cannot get a fair proportion of the public revenue upon a fair statement of the facts as they exist and not as its detractors imagine them to be, then it ought not to succeed.

There appeared in your issue of yesterday a communication from Mr. Harkness, your headlines to which gave the impression that Mr. Harkness indulged "in a fine bit of sarcasm at the modesty of the demands of the Agricultural College."

If Mr. Harkness had taken more pains to inform himself more fully on the subject, judging from his reputation for fairness, I take it that he would not have made statements that are so misleading to the public. The figures Mr. Harkness gives as to the income of the College I will show are quite misleading.

The public should bear in mind that [illegible]
