DESERET EVENING NEWS.

5 O'clock -EDITION.-

TRUTH AND LIBERTY.

NO. 262 MONDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1894, SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH. VOL. XXVII.

POPULIST ADDRESS.

John Swinton Speaks to Members of His Party in New York.

WHO WILL BE NEXT PRESIDENT?

Alleged, He Says, if the Election is Thrown Upon Congress and Populists Hold the Balance of Power.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—John Swinton addressed 200 members of the People's party last evening. What he said was earnest if not at all times complimentary to those whom he addressed, and the indications are the People's party will have him up for mayor of this city in their convention today. The boom was set in motion before he had been speaking fifteen minutes and had become so pronounced that by the time he finished three cheers were given "for our next mayor."

Mr. Swinton shook his head negatively.

The first thing Mr. Swinton said to the New York Populists was:

"It is not impossible that the next President of the United States may be a Populist." Then he read an extract from a published dispatch from California in which the writer asserted that the chances of the Populist ticket were so good the fact that the Democratic and Republican parties were combining against it. "My hope is in the wind. It is possible that the election of the President may be thrown upon Congress and that the Populists may hold the balance of power. In view of this contingency it is well for us to consider our candidates. Now, I ask, shall be the Populist President in the event that one can be elected?"

At this question, which was propounded seemingly in seriousness, half a dozen men in the audience called, "Peffer!"

"No," said Mr. Swinton, "Peffer will not do. He has the misfortune of being regarded as a comic person. That is fatal. If he would shave his preposterous beard he might answer, but not otherwise."

"Hogg, of Texas," shouted a voice.

"No, no," said Mr. Swinton. He lost his countenance in burying sorrowfully he will not do."

"Stalling," said somebody.

"Said!" said the orator, "he is not fit to be mayor of a country village."

Allen, of Nebraska, and Lafe Pence, of Colorado, were next named by the audience.

"One is too young and the other is a socialist," said Mr. Swinton, disparagingly.

"Waite and Lewelling," cried a voice in the rear of the hall.

"That is better," said the orator, "but you have not hit it yet."

The two hundred Populists scrutinized their house and finally a female voice exclaimed,

"Governor Altgeld!"

"Now you have it," said Mr. Swinton; "he is the man. He will prove a national Parkhurst in the cause of human emancipation. Remember his money go out and work for him, and don't forget that a new era is dawning now that the day of human slavery is almost at an end."

A TRAITOR.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 1.—It is reported that Tsai Hsiang, chief magistrate of the district, has left Tien Tsin. As it has been reported that Hsiang was interested with others in furnishing information to Japan of the movements of the Chinese forces on land and sea, it is now believed the fugitive Tsai will be unable to render additional assistance to the enemy.

Tsai Hsiang is believed to have been the person who notified the agents of Japan of the Yalu river expedition, which resulted in the sinking of that transport and the drowning of over 1,000 Chinese soldiers. Later advices from Tien Tsin say that nothing is actually known of the destination of Tsai of Tien Tsin, but it is believed his Japanese friends have succeeded in smuggling him to some place of safety from which he will shortly escape to Japanese territory. It is said that Tsai is not the only Chinese official implicated in furnishing important war news to Japan.

Official advices from Tokio say the Japanese government has declared lead to be contraband of war. The docks at Nagasaki, Japan, are full of cruisers, warships and other vessels, undergoing repairs.

The Japanese army which has been marching upon Moukden ever since the battle of Ping Yang, where the Chinese were completely defeated, losing over 10,000 men, the majority of whom were taken prisoners, recently occupied Hsiohsu on the frontier of Manchuria, without opposition.

SURPRISING A FRENCHMAN.

Emperor William says He Will visit the Paris Exposition.

PARIS, Oct. 1.—The Gaulois today says Emperor William recently received a Frenchman passing through Berlin and said to him: "I shall meet you again at the Paris exposition in 1900."

The Frenchman expressed his surprise. The emperor thereupon said: "I know the French character; once I say I shall go to the exposition, I know what I have to do in order to carry out my intention."

Fell Heir to Millions.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—Benjamin Price, who has been connected with the Cook county jail as clerk for more than fourteen years, is, it is said, between $3,000,000 and $5,000,000 richer today than he was a week ago. This is the amount of property left him by his father, whose death occurred recently. It is scattered over America, England and Australia, and until the solicitor can get a complete inventory of the property its exact value will not be known.

An Editor Dead.

LEWISTON, Ills., Oct. 1.—J. M. Devinney, editor of the Carthage, Ills., Republican, died here last night aged 66. He was for a time at Canton, Ills., the Fulton Democrat, at Lewiston, Ills., also the Reporter, at Havana, Ills. He has served and edited the Carthage Republican for thirty years.

DEATHBED WEDDING.

A Pathetic Scene in a Hospital—The Dying Groom.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Oct. 1.—A romantic interesting the happiness of two young lovers had a singularly pathetic final scene here last night. The hero was brave Henry Rozelle, the fair one a beautiful young girl. The scenes State of New York, lying at the wharf here took fire last evening and among the first to respond to the alarm was Rozelle and Tender company No. 1, of which William Hesser is a member. As the truck passed a corner Hesser was thrown off and a wheel passed over his body, crushing his chest. He was taken to the hospital and when informed that he would not live he requested his sweetheart, Annie Mitchell, to which he was to have been married in a month. The dying fireman could scarcely speak above a whisper so he expressed a wish to make Annie his wife before he died. Friends hunted up the private assistant clerk and at a late hour he was found and a license was secured. A clergyman and the parents of the young girl and the fireman's mother hastened to his bedside. There was no time to be lost, for he was growing weaker every moment. As the ceremony was about to begin the injured man raised into unconsciousness. The doctor waited for a return of reason, but to vain. He felt the patient's pulse and announced to the guests that he was dead. The young girl threw herself on the dead body of her lover and clung to it until led weeping away.

INJURED WHILE WRESTLING.

One of the Combatants Brought to a Hospital in a Helpless Condition.

ERIE, Penn., Oct. 1.—Artin Carnahan, of Wesleyville, was brought from the Edinboro state normal school to the Hamot hospital last night in a most pitiable condition. Carnahan and William R. Beasly, a fellow student, engaged in catch-as-catch-can wrestling. Carnahan broke his back trying to throw his adversary over his head.

Technically it was a fracture or dislocation near the lumbar nerve the nerves and dorsal vertebra. Carnahan fell to the ground paralyzed and without sensation from the breast down. The hospital surgeons are considering a remedy to remove the pressure to the spinal cord as the only possible case. The patient is conscious and has no physical suffering.

Searching for Heirs.

JOLIET, Ill., Oct. 1.—Thirty years ago there lived in this city Sarah McLaughlin and Bridget Leady. Their maiden names were Mr Nassau. From here they went to Ottawa, Illinois, where all trace of them was lost. A thorough search of the United States is now being made for them as a valuable estate of their deceased sister is awaiting for them in California.

SERMON ON THE WAR.

Civilization and Christianity Against Barbarism and Paganism.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Rev. Dr. McArthur preached last night to Calvary church, Fifty-seventh street, near Sixth avenue, taking for his subject the Chinese war as representing Civilization and Christianity. The war now raging, he said, between China and Japan is one of profound interest to all intelligent statesmen and churchmen. The war is really between barbarism and civilization, between hoary conservatism and modern progress, between heathenism and Christianity. The European world has had no adequate conception of the greatness, actual and potential, of these Eastern nations. These nations are now awaking themselves from the slumber of centuries, they are putting on their armor, they are girding themselves for a place on the great scene beats of the world. They have had the model of the Yalu river started Great Britain, France, Germany, Russia, Italy, America and the world. It will create new discussions as to naval armaments. The Chinese fleet, if it had been united in the presence of the Japanese vessels, probably we could not have placed in eastern waters during the time since the war began a naval force at all adequate to contend with that of Japan. Nothing will greatly help Secretary Herbert in his plan of the building of naval ships for the United States government. This victory has startled the confidential advisers of every throne in Europe. Japan has cropped out once more into the forefront nations of the world. She has struggled long against the conservative element within her own boarders, but the progressive element has triumphed. She has dared to adopt the results of the highest civilization of her international affairs to be worthy of a place beside the most progressive nations of the world. Her educational system asks no apology when compared with that of Europe and America.

"The nation that will not serve God, the Bible teaches us, must perish. We may add, in harmony with this truth, as its natural consequence, that the nation that will not obey the highest laws of civilization of its day must perish."

CAUSE AND EFFECT.

Results of the Literary Effort of Miss Dearborn.

ORANGE, N. Y., Oct. 1.—Miss Jane B. Dearborn, for twenty-five years principal of the Dearborn Morgan school, and James Edison Mills, state geologist of California, are to be married at San Francisco next month. About thirty-five years ago Miss Dearborn and Mr. Mills were schoolmates at Brooklyn. Mr. Mills studied geology and was returned to the industry. He was married in California. He will died several years ago. Last September at a convention at the Congregational church in Orange, Miss Dearborn read a paper on "The Application of Woman's Formative Power to Church Work," which was printed in the New Church Messenger. Mr. Mills was much interested in the article and wrote to the editor of the Messenger, Rev. Charles H. Mann, regarding the author. Thereupon a correspondence between Miss Dearborn and Mr. Mills was begun which has resulted in the engagement.

CHINESE ADVICES.

Foreigners Threatened With Assault by the Soldiers.

JAPANESE CRUISERS OFF CHOO TOO

An Insurrection in the Province of Shan Tung.—Infringement of the Neutrality Laws.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 1.—Dispatches from Tien Tsin say private advices have reached the latter city from Peking warning foreigners from proceeding to the capital. The road and waterways from Tung Chow to Peking are alive with soldiers, hostile to all Europeans. Several British residents of Peking have been assaulted, including Mr. Teale, the interpreter of the British legation, Dr. Dudgeon, and others, journeying south.

It is rumored that the British steamer Ivone, which arrived at Tien Tsin on Sept. 19th from Shanghai, having on board a number of Maxim rapid firing guns and ammunition for the Chinese, has infringed on the neutrality laws. Representatives of the British government are understood to be taking action in the matter.

INSURRECTION IN CHINA.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—A dispatch from Chee Foo to the Pall Mall Gazette says advices say Japanese steamers are sighted daily off that port. It is added that the nature of the operations are unknown, but the movements are regarded as tending to confirm the story of the Japanese landing to the northward of Chee Foo.

The British squadron in northern Chinese waters is cruising in the Gulf of Pe Chili.

An insurrection is said to have broken out in the province of Shan Tung. The result of the uprising or its nature are not known.

IN THE INTEREST OF TRADE

Between the United States and the American Colonies.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 1.—Joseph Howard Wheeler, representing the New Zealand government, is en route to Washington to urge upon the President and secretary of state, the desirability of stimulating trade between the United States and the Australian colonies. The foreign trade of the colonies last year amounted to $200,000,000. To secure a share of this Finance and Germany are suggesting lines of steamers. Wheeler is confident that if American capital will put in a fleet of steamers to the colonies, the venture would prove lucrative and would divert from European countries much commerce which properly belongs to the United States. He claims that his countrymen would prefer to import from the United States in preference to European nations, transportation facilities being equal.

TROUBLE ABOUT EGYPT.

England and France Not on Intimate Terms any Longer.

PARIS, Oct. 1.—The Figaro says M. De Cosse, the French ambassador at London, returned from that city more discouraged and the belief gains ground that he has been unsuccessful. The Figaro adds: "Our relations with Great Britain for some time past have reached a difficult point. The question in the discussion of the Egyptian question is no longer ventured upon between Paris and London."

The Paris Temps, as already stated, announces today that De Cosse has resigned and will be succeeded by Baron De Courcel, who was president of the Bering sea tribunal arbitration.

LARGE FACTORY BURNED.

Narrow Escape from Death of Several Firemen.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—The factory of Jones & Nuenberg, furriers, in the six story, double brick building, 510 and 512 West Thirty-fourth street, was turned this morning. It was the largest factory of the kind in America. The loss is $74,000. A number of firemen had a narrow escape from death by the building practically breaking in two, the walls falling in front and on the sides.

New York Exchange.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—The share speculation opened irregular. Sugar was freely sold and a break occurred of 1½ to 8¾.

Distilling made a new low record of ¾. The sales showed a loss of 1½ compared with the final transactions last week. Sugar and distilling both recovered ½. After 11 o'clock a general selling movement resulted in the establishment of a lower range of values. Jersey Central is down 2¾ lost, 1½ Southern Pacific, preferred, lost preferred and the rest of the list 1 to 2 per cent. At noon sugar recovered ½.

FOR FIGHTING A DUEL

The Combatants Sentenced to Four Months' Imprisonment.

BERLIN, Oct. 1.—Herr von Kiderlen-Wachter, Prussian minister to Hamburg, and Herr Poindiff, editor of the Kladderadatsch, have been condemned to four months' imprisonment in a fortress for fighting a duel near Berlin on April 18.

Five shots were fired and Herr Poindiff was wounded in the arm. The cause of the encounter was an alleged libel upon Herr von Kiderlen, then chief of the press department of the foreign office which Herr Poindiff published in the Kladderadatsch, the comic paper which became notorious for its attacks upon the employes of the government.

Railroad Purchased.

DURANGO, Mexico, Oct. 1.—It is announced here that the railroad running from Altata on the Pacific coast, to Durango has been purchased by a syndicate of New York capitalists and will be immediately extended to this city, where connection will be made with the Mexican Intercontinental. C. P. Huntington is said to be at the head of the syndicate.

PROBABLY A GREAT SWINDLER.

Arrested on the Charge of Using the Mails for Fraudulent Purposes.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 1.—U. S. Post Office Inspector J. D. Kew has arrested a man who is believed to be a swindler with a national reputation. He was arrested at the instance of using the United States mails in conducting a scheme to defraud, and was taken under the name of Henry Smyth. Details are not yet obtained which, it is believed, will prove beyond a doubt that this Henry Smyth is the man who recently in Chicago introduced Joseph Jaeger, a prominent merchant of Macon, Ga., Joseph Rawn, of Knoxville, in the same state, and Michael Brunner, of Cadillac, Mich.

In July and August last several prominent Chicago business houses reported to the mercantile agencies and U. S. postoffice inspectors that they had received orders for goods from Macon, Mississippi, signed by Joseph Jaeger, a reliable dealer in stoves, hardware, etc. They examined the correspondence upon this and discovered that Jaeger was used as a Bait-office business man and consequently they had no hesitation in filling the orders and shipping the goods. C. M. Livingston, of Chicago, was one of the victims, for it subsequently developed that the real Joseph Jaeger has never ordered goods from Livingston, and did not receive those which the latter shipped to Macon.

Upon investigation it was learned that some clever swindler had signed the order for the goods with a rubber stamp which printed Joseph Jaeger's name in red ink and in large capital letters, while the body of the order was written with a pen and in black ink. The rogue had anticipated the arrival of Jaeger's bills, received the goods and disposed of them.

A succession of swindling conducted on the same plan was reported from various cities in different parts of the country.

The similarity of the methods indicated that the same swindler was operating in each case. For the past month he has been practicing his profession in California.

Hayfield Pleads Guilty.

BURNS'S ASSASSINS.

Their Call at the Office of Dr. Moore, in Orangeville.

AN ADMISSION OF THE CRIME.

Those Who Attempt to Follow Them Threatened with Death—Nick's Talk.

[Special to the News.]

PROVO, Oct. 1.—Jesse W. Fox Jr., is in Orangeville, he is the city this morning, having been summoned as the grand jury. He gave the following information in regard to the visit to Orangeville of Moses Rolford and James Mansel, the murderers of Sheriff Burns. They arrived in town Wednesday evening after dark—the evening of the day on which Burns was killed—accompanied by Abner Kofford, the brother of Moses. Mansel went to the office of Dr. Moore for the purpose of having a bullet extracted which had entered in the left side, right under the skin of the shoulder.

Dr. Moore went down to the store to buy some cotton during the forenoon. There he found Moses and Abner Kofford, who were buying provisions. Dr. Moore, the two Koffords, and Frank Carroll, a saloon keeper, returned to Dr. Moore's office. Carroll tried to hold the lamp while the operation was performed, but became sick and said he could not do it. Abner Kofford then remarked that he could, held the lamp in one hand and the pistol in the other while the operation went forward. When the bullet had been extracted Dr. Moore gave it to Mansel, saying, however, "You can keep that bullet, you do not need it any more." Mansel replied, "Sheriff Burns doesn't need it any more, either. He is dead." Dr. Moore exclaimed, "My God, you haven't killed Sheriff Burns?" Mansel answered, "Yes, we've killed him!"

The outlaws left the doctor's office about 9 o'clock that evening. Boots they went away Kofford said, "Tell everyone that wants to follow us that the more comes the fewer return. We don't intend to be taken alive and suffer the fate of Heath Davis."

Dr. Moore and Mr. Carroll remained in the office till next morning, being afraid to venture out. The citizens of Orangeville did not know of the visit until Thursday morning.

Considerable indignation was expressed by the citizens at the delay in making them acquainted with the presence of the marauders, and a search was at once instituted in the surrounding country. In the Skyroom Deputy Sheriffs Powers and Nuttall and Sheriff Lloyd, of Carbon county, arrived. The citizens filed down out with horses and guides and the officers went south to hunt the fugitives.

A party from Mount Pleasant came to town later and followed the other officers.

Mansel gave no explanation as to how he received his wound.

COUNTY COURT BUSINESS.

Reports of Officers at Today's Resting —A Petition, Etc.

Selectman Moses presided at this day's sitting of the county court, Selectmen Carlson and Hamberger were also present.

Sup. Joel F. Allen, of the county infirmary, presented his report for September. During the month six inmates had been discharged, two died, nine were admitted, sixty-two was the greatest number during the month, and the present number is fifty-four.

Sheriff McQueen reported that 5,644 meals had been served to fifty-one prisoners in the county jail during the month of September.

County Physician Worthington's report showed that there were three patients now in St. Mary's hospital and one at St. Mark's.

County Treasurer Lynn reported that there are funds now on hand sufficient to pay all registered county warrants up to No. 2,600.

A petition was read from residents of Sugar and Farmer's precincts, calling attention to the bad condition of the road and bridge over Canyon creek and Eleventh South street, and asking that the same be repaired. Referred to the City Council.

Supervisor Mickelsen (road district 32) was instructed to put in a bridge across Willow creek, east of the meeting house, the cost not to exceed $50.

UTAH COMMISSION.

Adjournment of This Morning's Meeting Until Tomorrow Night to Appoint Election Judges.

The Utah Commission held a meeting at their official quarters in the Industrial House building this forenoon. There was no business of a public or important character transacted. The question of appointing judges of election was discussed for some time, after which an adjournment was taken until tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. At that meeting the first batch of judges will be named. As the list is a long one and the task somewhat tedious, several sessions will be necessary to complete the work.

Commissioner George W. Thatcher came down from Logan this morning and will remain for several days.

A Severe Blow.

On Saturday, Father Wm. Grimshaw, of the Tenth ward, received a severe injury, owing to the men who flush the sewer running a hose over the sidewalk at the corner of South and East Temple streets. Mr. Grimshaw, who is 75 years of age, was walking along the street, and did not see the hose which was stretched across the sidewalk. He was knocked down by the force of the water and fell heavily to the ground. He was assisted to his residence, which he was able to reach by himself. A doctor was called and dressed the injured man's head. He was confined to his bed all Saturday and Sunday. A lot of people who had witnessed the occurrence were inquiring at his residence yesterday to learn the extent of the injury. Mr. Grimshaw is well known in this city and has many friends who know how unfortunate he is in being so severely injured. He was able to be about his home yesterday, but was confined there the greater part of the day and Saturday. He says he heavily "shocked" as a result of the accident. The sewer hose in question belongs to the Sanitary Flushing Company, and it is the first time that complaints have been made to the company of the hose being left across the sidewalk. The guard is said to be the city one, and he is liable to damages resulting from the accident.

MR. STODDART HERE.

The Well-known Actor Arrives and Starts on His Work.

"J. H. Stoddart, New York," read the register, in a certain private hotel, in a manner that appeared in the Telegram regarding this morning, in a cramped, cobbed-up, English style of writing. The owner of it, as the public knows, is the eminent New York actor, who has come all the way from his home in Rit a Fair and Confidence engagement with the Home club in the play of Saints and Sinners.

Mr. Stoddart was kept busy during the morning shaking hands with his many old time friends who called at his hotel. Later he met Edith Chewett Rowbotham, the lady who plays the part of his daughter, at the theater, and spent an hour in rehearsing. He meets the full cast for rehearsal on the stage today.

To a News representative, who met him in the box office this morning, Mr. Stoddart said that he had had a very pleasant journey across the continent. "Decidedly," he said, "when I have come to Salt Lake with the Union Square or the Palmer company, it has been in the heat of midsummer, and the journey has been somewhat trying, as I appreciated the cool weather on the road this time, I can tell you."

Asked whether it was not somewhat unusual for him to make tours of this sort, Mr. Stoddart replied that he had not done such a thing for a dozen years or more, having all that time been tied up with Mr. Palmer, and going back to him to rehearse a new piece or to open as the Salt Lake engagement was over. "But I was glad that your Home club made me a proffer at a time when I happened to have leisure to accept it. You know the home of your city as a seat of intellectual taste and talent is not confined to the West, but in New York we know very well that Salt Lake has for years had stock companies that would be a credit to any large city, either. From what I know and have heard of the present Home Club I anticipate that they will give a better performance of Saints and Sinners. For myself I may say that I have played Jack Fassnider so long that it is almost second nature to me; it is a fine part, and one of my favorites."

Mr. Stoddart looks hale and hearty and is as brown as an Indian—the result of a month's sojourn at his farm in Lewarren, N. J., where he logs most of the time fishing.

Frost Warning.

THE TWO JUDGES.

Criminal and Civil Business in the District Court.

PRISONERS SENTENCED TODAY.

The Surry tragedy.—Mrs. Amanda Anderson Has Set Out Her Divorce Yet.

Judge Bartch began his week's work in the Third district court this morning by denying the motion for a new trial in the case of Ely Wright, the youth who was convicted last week on a charge of stealing a bicycle. A little motion was argued in regard to the case of Emil Jarmuth, the confidence and of Frank Johnson, convicted on a charge of stealing a horse, buggy and harness.

In both cases the attorneys for the defendant noted an exception, J. W. Corey, on behalf of Jarmuth, taking sixty days in which to prepare a bill of exceptions.

When Wright was called up for sentence his counsel (Attorney Rich) reminded the court that the evidence against the lad was of a purely circumstantial character and asked for leniency. The defendant admitted, however, in answer to the court, that he had been previously convicted and served a term in the penitentiary for larceny.

Sentence—Eighteen months' imprisonment.

Jarmuth then came forward. Attorney Corey called the court's attention to the fact that there had been considerable sensation in this case when the defendant was convicted, and said that up to this time Jarmuth had always borne a good character.

Sentence (the same as Johnson's), three years in the penitentiary.

HANDLED OVER EIGHTEEN MONTHS.

Jack Handley, colored, convicted on January afternoon of an assault with a deadly weapon upon Bob Fletcher, with intent to kill, came up for sentence.

After hearing Attorney F. E. McGurrin in mitigation of punishment the court court committed Handley to the penitentiary for eighteen months.

DOWN ON ONE POINT.

Earl Stephenson, the incorrigible Reform school youth, was arraigned before the court in the garb of that institution, was brought up with a view of his being committed to the penitentiary, on the petition of the managers of the Reform school. The offence for which he was sent to the Reform school was burglary at Hinesman's shoe store. As, however, Attorney Armstrong, on behalf of the defendant, attempted the indictment under which Stephenson was convicted, Judge Bartch directed that the case go over until tomorrow morning.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY.

James Marsh was arraigned on a charge of stealing a dark brown mare, the property of Fred Bland, in Summit county, on August 24th, and pleaded not guilty.

A NEW TRIAL WANTED.

Judge Powers moved for a new trial in the case of W. M. Riley, convicted last week of intoxication, basing his application on the grounds that the Judge's charge was not in accordance with the statute, taxes drawn by a stenographer, neither was it written by the Court. After argument Judge Bartch took the matter under advisement.

THE SUNDAY TRAGEDY.

A lengthy controversy ensued between Prosecuting Attorney Howat and Judge Corey, the defendant's counsel, in reference to the setting for trial of the case of Frank Roe, the alleged Murray wife murderer. Judge Corey did not want to have it set for another two weeks, at least, but the prosecution insisted upon the trial opening on Monday, October 8th.

Judge Bartch eventually took time to think the matter over.

SAM UNCE STANDS UP.

Before Judge Merritt.

In the case of Fraser & Chalmers vs L. C. Trent, the hearing on motion for stay of proceedings, pending settlement of bill of exceptions, was set for Tuesday, October 2nd, at 2 p. m.

Fernando Rojo et al vs John F. Cooper. The hearing of this case, on an order to show cause, continued from Friday, was resumed, with the taking of testimony for the plaintiff.

In the divorce suit of Amanda W. Anderson vs Andrew P. Anderson, heard and submitted on Saturday, the court now denied the motion prayed, and gave plaintiff's counsel leave to amend and replead.

The case is a peculiar one, the only ground on which the decree was sought being cruelty. The parties married in the year 1885, and there is one child. Mrs. Anderson's statement is that on March 25, 1892, the defendant brought to the house a young girl she named Adelbrech, but on relative of other, she stayed with them and assisted in the house work; that the defendant became enamored of her, and in the presence of his wife conducted that he loved the girl, took her out driving and to entertainments, and showed her a great deal of attention. The wife resented this and finally drove the girl from the house. The husband went off and joined Miss Anderson. The pair went to Nevada together and remained for some months in that country, but lately returned to Salt Lake.

Marriage License.

The county clerk today issued a marriage license to Charles Bailey, 24, and Violet Wilson, 20, both of this city.
