"Now is the winter of our discontent
Made glorious summer by good luck."

Thus did "Sunny Jim" Schaffer lift up his voice in song as he wended his way townward from Walker's ball park yesterday afternoon, after he, and his smoke consumers from Butte, had torn a pretty game from Father Gimlin and his followers.

After playing a fine, snappy game for nine innings, our side was given a sound, and thorough walloping in the tenth, and Butte pocketed the game. It was the consensus of opinion among the fans assembled that the doings were the best of the season to date. For nine innings the race was nose and nose, but on the home stretch in the tenth the Butte outfit put on the ginger throttle and came under the wire by six lengths.

In the beginnings of the ninth, we had one run to the good, but the gold diggers managed to seven things up. Then came the awful tenth.

The Miners may deny a conspiracy against Essick, but it was so palpable that a blind horse could see it. There were ominous shaking of heads, flashing of signals and chanting of mysterious and subdued incantations. "Slats" Davis had his fingers crossed, but it failed to effect the charm. With a demoniacal shriek the Miners massed their forces and jumped onto poor Essick. It was deliberate, premeditated and with malice aforethought. The attack was kept up until six smoke eaters had romped around the bags. Four singles and three doubles! Think of it, but weep not! We'll have another chance, and then, perhaps, "Sunny Jim's" glorious summer will be turned to "winter of discontent." It is to be hoped for anyway.

There was plenty of fine individual work during the rendition of the program. To Bill Hausen and Bert Delmas, the fans take off their hats, because of the nice home runs made by the gentlemen aforesaid. There was no scratch about them, either. They smashed the spheroid far out to left, and it sailed beautifully over the fence toward the rear of Mr. Heath's Palace of Illusions. Hausen made the first, and gets ten simoleons for the effort.

"Doitch" Muller, the expert pedestrian of the home guards, performed splendidly in left garden. Ward, our new outfielder, brought down several high ones that otherwise would have been good for a couple of bases each. Spencer for Butte also did some great fielding.

There was one mishap in the game when Fred Weed and Swindells had a collision and the former went down for the count, and had to retire from the game.

A detailed score of the doings follow:

M'FARLAND'S RECORD MILE.

Made Distance in Handicap Race in Australia in 1:49.

Further particulars of F. A. McFarland's record breaking win of a mile handicap in Australia have come to hand. Major Taylor failed to qualify in his heat, but in the final the other riders put up such a pace that the elongated Californian member of the Tribune team had to cover the mile in 1:49, which is four seconds better than the best previous record.

The report states that ten heats were necessary before the final, in which only heat winners and the second men in the two fastests heats competed. Major Taylor rode in the fifth heat, but did not qualify. F. A. Murphy winning from the 90 yard mark in 1:51 1-5, with J. D. Plunkett, a 130 yard man, second. McFarland won his heat, the fourth, by a length, in 2:00 1-5.

In the final heat the limit man was on the 220 yard mark; there were two others at 200 yards with others at 150, 140 and 130 yards. Besides McFarland on the back marks were Don Walker, the Australian champion, at 20 yards; McDonald, at 30 yards, and Farley, at 40. The task of the back markers appeared a hopeless one, as Murphy was in fine trim, and thought he would be able to duplicate the time he made in shutting out Taylor.

Farley paced for the first lap, McDonald taking up the work when Farley tired. When McDonald was forced to give up as pacemaker, Dan Walker went to the front with McFarland, and before the Australian champion had slowed down he had brought the Californian within striking distance of the limit man. McFarland cut loose and rode around the flying leaders on the outside and won by two open lengths from Plunkett, 130 yards; Webster, 150 yards, being third. Walker had speed enough left after his pacing work to finish fourth.

When the new world's record time of 1 minute and 49 seconds was announced the crowd gave McFarland a great ovation. The victory of McFarland and the fine riding of Walker, McDonald and Farley pleased the promoters of the race so much that $100 was distributed among the quartet by the secretary of the Carnival association.

Leander's Mile in 1:07.

World's records were equalled on the Charles River track in Boston on Patriots' day, when George Leander covered the fifth mile of his race with Caldwell and Stinson in 1:07, the five miles having been covered in 5:53 4-5. The time for the fifth mile equals the world's record in competition, held by Bobby Walthour. After holding the lead for 12 miles, Leander unfortunately punctured a tire and finished second to Caldwell.

The time made in the race proved that the Charles River track is one of the fastest, if not the fastest, in America. It is built to stand a mile-a-minute pace, which is the speed that Walthour of the Columbia team, who is the champion of America, expects to furnish when he returns from France.

GETTING READY FOR RACES.

Horses Working Out at Calder's Park Track—Improvements Made.

During the past week several new horses have been shipped in from California. Geo. Edwards has brought three new horses with him from that state, and it is said that they posses much speed, and wil lprobably be raced on Decoration day if it s possbie to get them n shape by that time.

Good hard work is being put on all the probable starters for the free-for-all pace and trot, and as the time progresses the indications are that it will be a very bitterly contested race.

It is one of the chief objects of Mr. Russell to make all the races more snappy, and to avoid long tedious waits between heats, and the horsemen will all be cautioned to get out on the regular time limit and no excuses will be accepted by the manugement; this rule must be enforced if patrons of Calders park are to see snappy racing.

Mr. Russell has just had a high fence built enclosing all stables from the race track and public, making a paddock out of the stall grounds; this was done to avoid having the horses and drivers bothered by an army of people after each heat, and on race day's admission tickets will be sold for entrance to same.

Frank Wilson's horse Sarah Green is now quartered at Calder's and is in care of Geo. Waite, and he has commenced to give her slow and careful work.

Red Robinson will be back from California this coming week, and he will bring with his big successful running horse, who has won several races coast, and will immediately commence work on Julia A, and will probably enter her in the free-for-all trot and pace on Decoration day.

It is said that several other good running horses will come in the same car from California with Red Robinson.

Mr. Harris, trainer for C. H. Thompson's string, is using the first Payne Long shaft Sulky in Utah, but Mr. Harris says that they are used very extensively in all easter n mile tracks, especially for Fentlemen's Matinee Racing, and it looks to be the ideal cart for that purpose.

One of the best conditioned horses so far seems to be J. T. Richard's fast California trotter. He has not missed having one day's work and should be the hardest horse in the free-for-al trot and pace to beat.

A FEW SPORTING NOTES.

On page 25 of this issue of the "News" will be found additional sporting news of national and local interest.

The challenge issued by "Unknown" to box Young Price ten rounds to a decision for a side bet, as a preliminary to the McCarthy-Sieloff contest, which takes place on the 24th, has not been accepted by the local boy. "Unknown" will make any kind of weight Price may stipulate.

An eastern sporting writer says: J. E. Achorn, the New York road driver, will leave in a few days for Salt Lake City, where he will spend the season racing on tracks in that locality. Achorn's work awheel has been more of the long distance order, but he believes a season in the west will put him in shape for hard sprinting this winter.

Jerry McCarthy, and his trainer Prof. Frank Lewis, will finish their work at the Salt Palace. McCarthy is working very hard every day to condition himself for the Chicago boy, and is now within three and a half pounds of the required weight.

There is considerable interest in the coming wrestling contest at the Salt Palace on the 13th between Charley Ross, Utah's champion mat artist, and Frank Unfried, known as the German Strong Boy. The men are to wrestle at catch weights, best two in three falls, catch-as-catch-can style. There is a side bet of $100, and the winner will take 75 per cent of the gate receipts.

Well, well, Eddie Quick is to leave us. A deal has been made whereby Butte gets Quick and our team gets Dad Clark. The former Salt Lake pitcher did not appear to like the town, so it is better to let him go. Everybody around these parts knows Fred Clark. He is a fine batter, and is one of the fastest and most accurate infielders in the business. Dad is out of the game for a short time on account of a sprained ankle, but he will soon be all right. By the trade, Quick is reinstated, but can not play in the present series.

Teddy Murphy, manager for Battling Nelson, writes from San Francisco that the fight between Nelson and Martin Connole is set for the 20th of the month. Both fighters are now in active training, and there is every indication that both will be fit to put up the battle of their lives. There is a great deal of interest in the fight on the coast, owing to Connole's good showing against Britt, and Nelson's defeat of "Spider" Welch. The latter has challenged the winner.

Sophronia I. Carnes, Director, Domestic Science Club, Indianapolis, Ind.

2056 Cooper St., INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Aug. 30, 1903.

I suffered for nearly seven years with female trouble, bearing down pains, and at times intense agony. The doctor said that I had strained myself and produced prolapsus uteri. It was a chronic and constant affection, forbidding any considerable effort. And at times I was confined for days to my bed. I felt a weight and a heaviness in the lower abdomen and across the back and loins and a sensation as if everything had fallen out when standing. There were frequent sensations of faintness at the pit of the stomach, but all these pains are a thing of the past, and four month's use of Wine of Cardui brought about a complete cure. I feel that I must give it all praise for it has changed life completely for me.
