A VETERAN SOLDIER'S WOES.

A Comrade Who in This Case Is a "Missing Link." Badly Wanted by the Police.

The police have a grand larceny case in hand which has connected with it, contradictory as the statement may seem, a veritable "missing link." According to a pitifully related tale of the victim it happened about in this way:

Old Kittenberg, an old soldier, said to enjoy the distinction of having rendered his country faithful service under General Grant, but who since that time has made a brilliant set as a shoemaker, appeared before Justice Smith last evening and said in substance that on Tuesday last he met one Charles Link, also an old soldier, who claimed to have belonged to the same regiment as Kittenberg. As acquaintance was striking immediately, Link, who said he has just arrived from Denver, was invited to partake of his new friend's hospitality. He accepted the invitation and was taken to the home of his host. Old times were talked over, personal experiences recounted and the travel-beds of comrades who had met over in the great strife lovingly referred to. When the late hour of the hour suggested retirement Link was put to bed with his host's son. But when morning came Link was missing and he has been missing ever since. He had silently stolen from the house at night and as a gold watch and several other articles of value disappeared the conclusion was arrived at that they had been taken by the man from Denver. A warrant was issued for his arrest and the police are on the lookout for him thought it is thought he has left the city.

Suit for Divorce.

Hattie B. Douglas has filed a suit for divorce against her husband, Wm. R. Douglas, in the Third district court. The parties were married in Deer, Mont., on August 21, 1889, and a son was born to them on April 4, 1893. Mrs. Douglas alleges that her husband deserted her in less than two months after the birth of the child. She says he is a man of bad habits, and unfit to be entrusted with the care of the child, and she therefore asks that its custody be awarded to her.

Suit in Intervention.

Turner & Jay et al have filed suit in intervention in the suit of Remington Johnson & Co. vs Josiah Barnett et al, in which it is alleged that the intervenors are creditors of the firm of Turner & Wallace in the aggregate sum of $1,713.85, and that on June 21, 1893, Turner & Wallace executed a chattel mortgage in favor of Josiah Barnett, trustee, for all their creditors. It is then alleged that the trustee has contracted a large amount of the property into money and refuses to pay the intervenors any portion of the same. Wherefore the intervenors pray that Barnett be required to render an accounting to the court and that the proportionate amount be paid to these intervenors.

Mielstrup Discharged.

After a preliminary hearing U. Commissioner Pratt yesterday afternoon discharged J. P. Mielstrup, who was arrested on the charge of issuing worthless checks, there not appearing to be any fraudulent intent. It was shown that Mr. Mielstrup had signed a number of blank checks and left them with his daughter, and she had filled out the one in question without knowing that there was not sufficient money to the drawee's credit to meet it.

Making it Warm for Edler.

It was stated this morning in language definite and unmistakable that young Edler, who was recently admitted to the bar of this city, will have matters made very warm for him by his brother attorneys for conduct unbecoming a gentleman and lawyer in the use of profane language to the attaché with Warren Foster a few evenings ago. In explanation the young man says that he was wrought up to a high pitch and that in the climax of his talk he expected to make a hit with the crowd which he really admits did not make worth a cent." But that is not all, he is also reported as reflecting on one of the judges of the Third district court, saying that that functionary was as lacking in ability as some commissioners are in naivety. Edler will be called upon to make restitution in both cases or be called to account by the Bar association.

AN OPINION GIVEN.

Recently Mr. J. D. Thomas, of North Dakota, visited the Shenandoah Valley, Virginia, and after carefully examining the country located in Winchester, he writes to Mr. V. Richards, Land and Immigration Agent, Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, Baltimore, Maryland, as follows: "I have been in nearly every state and territory of the United States, and am frank in my opinion that this valley surpasses all other sections in the Union. The lands are low in price, and produce profitable crops. I thank you for directing me here, and shall then seeking pleasant and profitable homes to locate in this country."

Accounts Surprised.

"I had a very severe cold on my lungs that caused much soreness and gave me considerable uneasiness in regard to the result," said Mr. T. E. Smith, of Hillsboro, Mass. "A local druggist called my attention to Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and on his recommendation I gave the remedy a careful trial. The result surprised me; I recovered entirely in three days." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by druggists.
