RACE FOR SUPREMACY.

Mammoth and Dexter Almost Neck and Neck on the Lackanga.

ONE TRIED, THE OTHER TO BE TRIED.

Good Business in the Pit This Morning—Great Gold Strike in Idaho—Market and Force News.

There is a race on between Mammoth and Dexter—a race for supremacy. Both stocks have been vying for the "dr" for several weeks past, and they still continue. One advantage the latter has over the former is that of its increased value, although it is not clear from that Tonopah record. Mammoth is the better property, and could hold its own if it would only do so. Honestly it tried and tried, Dexter to boot, being tried with chance of its pulverizing rapidly as might an article of a similar kind in a mortar of a mortar and a ball in Brickville.

The race was the afternoon on yesterday's call, both stocks contributing to the sensation of the session. Dexter in a merry, merry-go-round manner. Mammoth handed out nearly 1,000 shares at figures ranging from $1.07 to $1.14, with the latter quotation a closing bid of $1.09. Dexter was little as to quantity and all business around the outer circle, yet business around the inner circle was lively, and the price ranged from $1.07 to $1.14. This also was proof at the close, there being quotations at $1.07 asking for the stock. The other sellers of the day were distributed in both classes. Eagle had at its close and was offered at 19c, Iron Silver was offered at 70c, and Grand Central was offered at 90c, while Sunnyside found a taker at 40c, in the unlisted class. Horn Silver sold at 1 cent, Little Pittsburg at 70c, and South Swansea at $1.05. There was a decided weakness in some of these put selling, and after a good day's business the list closed in a strong and active market.

The closing figures were as follows:

GREAT GOLD STRIKE.

On that Runs $1,200 to the Ton Discovered in the Boise Basin.

What is believed to be one of the most important strikes of quartz recorded in this section is a matter of years was made a short time ago near the head of Gilson creek, on the divide between that creek and Lake City and about five miles from the latter place, says the Idaho Statesman. The strike was discovered by Jack Wolfe and a number of claims located before any other mailing was allowed to reach the public. One of these located is the Wolfe strike to Jake Welch, the Boise publisher. He was seen yesterday by his sister-in-law, Mrs. Scott, for a Statesman reporter, and confirmed the statements that had been circulated on the street, concerning the remarks by calling attention to a quantity of rock which was shown on the floor.

Associated with Mr. Welch in these claims is the name of the sole discoverer, Jack Wolfe, of Lake City, and Jake Williams, of Placerville, the gentlemen were "put onto" the ground by the Statesman here, who made the letter aware of the discovery of the same. The Statesman says that a ledge that is 18 feet in size at a depth of 50 feet, the point where the strike was made. They also showed at the point of discovery and cross-cut the ledge, and a couple of days ago a letter was received here from Jake stating the ledge had increased right feet in width at a depth of 50 feet and that they had cut that rate $1,200 a ton.

Mr. Welch showed the reporter a quantity of the rock taken from one of the claims in which he is interested. The richer ones are not in sight as yet. On the surface the ore assays from $60 to $80 a ton and at a depth of 12 feet, the deepest they have gone as yet, it is considerably richer, and with there and a half feet in width. From the Wolfe prospect hole, for they also are pushing ahead, a box of ore of the kind shown in Mr. Welch's ship, has been taken out and now lies on the floor. The ore is for the most part crystalline in character and it is all free milling.

Mr. Welch finished up these specimens of the quartz and passed it. The box from of the pail was filled with rock, soon at it very coarse. "You can break up any of these pieces," said Mr. Welch, "and you will find the yellow rye scattered all through it." Jumping from the small of the evening the reporter broke off a piece and of it, holds it up to Mr. Welch before it was, he exclaimed, "Look at the gold!" and sure enough the remarkably of the date will surely be realized.

Sol C. Blakeley.

Another strike of a very high order is reported in the side cut of Gilson, which gives the promise of developing into an extensive deposit of gold ore, says the Mr. Pioneer Pioneer. The vein is located in the bed of Wolfe Creek, about two miles from the mouth of the latter, and has already been traced for a mile and a half. It is about 10 feet wide, by the action of the water, women's hands. At a depth of about feet from the surface the vein shows a lime-rock formation, which is said to be the mother lode of the gold in the placer beds of the country. The discoverers, Chris Hartwig and John Zaiser, Mr. Lemon, Mr. Smith and Mr. Wolfe, are now busy in prospecting the property, and are confident that greater discoveries will substantiate the claims made for it. The ledge is so large, it seems, conclusive that it will be structured. The road to get located as compact tables.

Tidings from Idaho.

There is no decreasing change in the Yankee camps, according to advices received by the people of a notice and a half in Brickville.

"Up and Our Sweet Heart."

Visitors to the city sometimes awaken memories which otherwise would be dormant in the breast the a good friend in a sudden recognition of the desert wastes. As a review of things and times that have long in the rear for years, the following from the Tooele Transcript speaks strongly to the feelings of the present-day man:

"Our last trip to the city put us in mind of old times. The big hearted Herbert Fisher gave us a card and our sweet heart a free pass to be thankful to see the Cedar City scrub. We used to have a free pass to the same place, but it is pretty hard that is we used to cash pass the door keeper free."

"Yermah, the Dorado."

Among the featured arrivals from the Pacific coast today was Mrs. Prom Rainow Wait, author of Yermah, the Dorado, a tale of the prehistoric American sun god. Mrs. Wait is a beautiful and intellectual woman. She made a visit a few days ago to Mrs. E. H. Wells of this city, announcing her arrival here today and saying that she had spent three months in a tepee in Salt Lake in the prehistoric myths and legends of America, especially with reference to the sun worship. Prom and Yermah, Dr. Dorado. The arrangements are being made.

MUST GO ABROAD.

To Learn About Your Home.

"A short time ago I was visiting in New York state, Massachusetts and Connecticut, and I was particularly impressed with the number of times I was asked what I knew about Postum Cereal Food Coffee, made at Battle Creek.

I sincerely regret that I had never used Postum, for know of a good many who did, and I knew that it was made by men who devoted their time and study to the perfection of food and food beverages.

MRS. E. E. MONACHAN.
16 S. Waterloo Ave, Jackson, Mich.

One of my former classmates, Mrs. E. Kenney of Westerfield, Mass., seemed greatly interested that I had never used Postum. The family were very enthusiastic over the effect upon them. Said they could not enjoy life without it. The physician had recommended total abstinence from coffee, as she was injurious to her health, yet by using it, and was transformed a nervous and invalid, disappointed, but when put upon Postum Cereal Food Coffee, she quickly became well and well off of the drugs and the coffee. Now she is able to eat anything she likes without the least trouble, or any bad effects. Her life before had been one of suffering, and it is now one of enjoyment. She said it would be impossible to speak too highly of Postum.

When I was in Westfield eight years ago I visited Mr. Albert Alden, who was then a very great sufferer. Both he and his wife told me I think it would be folly for him to live more than a short time. I found him as well as the day that I visited upon knowing nothing of the change. He said he had found every quality of food, and had found almost everything he had ever heard recommended, but all of no avail, until he was led by the Postum Cereal Food Coffee. He said he used to coffee he drank was really poisonous like dye by day, and from the effects thereof he quit coffee entirely and began to use Postum. He began to get better. He is a very wealthy man and leaves a great deal, but says he would leave home for not one night without his cup of Postum.

While at Jamaica Plains, Mass., I called a friend my captain's house. He had in all his experience, far and wide, never tasted a cup of coffee that would measure with Postum Cereal Food Coffee. While he had to drink coffee he suffered from the effects of the coffee, and so mentioned the suffering of the land, but since quitting the common coffee and using Postum, he was free from pain. He said he would not give up his cup of Postum with him, and is my sincere friend in very Athenian, enthusiastic mode, which I have since used with friends, and I have found not half of what I heard in praise of Postum. Going my visit to the East, I is sufficient to say that Postum has a very firm foothold with my Eastern friends.

I wish to add that on one or two occasions I have had Postum served to me rather flat, but always know such cases that it is simply because it has not been allowed to boil long enough to bring out the delicate aroma and mellow flavor. Yours with Postum Cereal Food Coffee, made at Battle Creek.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

Sam J. Kenyon Falls Into the Lake and Afterwards Takes a Dose of Morphine.

Sam J. Kenyon went to the lake Thursday with W. H. Dunenberg and T. H. Vincent. These Mr. Kenyon and Mr. Vincent pulled a short distance from the street in a boat for the purpose of examining the depth of the water. They only had one oar, and Mr. Kenyon was standing thus, reaching for the bottom, he fell overboard in water about seven or eight feet deep. He swallowed considerable water and Mr. Vincent had some trouble to get him back into the boat, when they reached shore Mr. Kenyon was relieved from the water he had inhaled and returned to Provo to Mr. Vincent's home where he changed his clothing and thought he would go to Salt Lake, but finally concluded to remain over night. Before retiring he complained of pain in the frontal region of the water, and he sent up town and obtained some morphine, of which he took a dose to ease the pain, and soon retired. Yesterday morning when Mr. Vincent went to call Mr. Kenyon he was unconscious. Dr. Allen was called and found the patient suffering from an overdose of morphine. Strenuous restoratives were administered and Mr. Kenyon was conscious with. She came down about noon on a late train accompanied by Dr. Folsom and her son.

Mr. Kenyon remained unconscious all day but did awaken the morphine had begun of his recovery.

CONDITION THIS AFTERNOON.

The condition of Mr. Kenyon is so improved as to be able to talk to several times sufficiently to answer when spoken to and to make some trifle, but it is not thought he will be disturbed right away. It is hoped the necessity of consciousness are having more force, however, and acting have all contributed to his recovery.

Paine's Celery Compound Makes People Well.

The one true specific for disease arising from a debilitated nervous system. Paine's celery compound, so generally prescribed by physicians. It is positively the most remarkable remedy that the world has ever known has produced. Prof. Edward E. Phelps, M. D., LL. D., of Dartmouth college first demonstrated what is now known the world over as Paine's celery compound, a positive cure for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, liver complaint, neuralgia, sleeplessness, nervous diseases, and all kindred troubles. Paine's celery compound has endured, spread and speak where everything else has failed.

The Kidneys

are the seat or the starting point of many maladies, all of them serious, all more or less painful, and all of them tending, unless cured, to a fatal end. No organs of the body are more delicate or more sensitive than the kidneys. When symptoms of disease appear in them not a moment is to be lost if health is to be restored. The best way to treat the kidneys is through the blood, cleansing it from the poisonous matter which is usually at the bottom of kidney complaints. For this purpose there is no remedy equal to

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For many years I have been a constant sufferer from kidney trouble, and have tried a number of largely advertised kidney cures without benefit. At last a friend advised me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. The use of eight bottles of this remedy entirely cured my malady."—MARY MILLER, Lock Haven Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

One Large Scar

Is All That Remains of Great Scrofula Sores

Neighbors Could Not Bear to Look Upon Her—A Grand, Complete Cure by Hood's Sarsaparilla After Others Failed.

"I was taken with scrofula in my head and eyes. Not long after this, a scrofula sore appeared on my left cheek, extending from my upper lip to my eye. Other sores came on my neck and on my right arm and one of my limbs. They were very troublesome and painful and soon became great running sores. My face looked so bad that some of my neighbors could not bear to look at us and advised me to wear a bandage, but I feared this would irritate the sore and make it worse. So I Could Not Hide the Sores.

My sister, who was familiar with a case similar to mine, which had been cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, urged me to try it. Finally I was persuaded to do so, and in a short time I saw it was helping me. The sores began to heal and the soreness in my head was better. In a few months the sores on my arms and limbs all healed, those on my neck gradually disappeared and now they are all gone. I have never had any symptoms of scrofula since. One large scar on my right arm is all the sight that remains of my terrible affliction. The scrofula is also cured."—Mrs. J. M. Hatch, Etna, New Hampshire.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

JOSEPH C. KINGSBURY,

An Old and Respected Citizen, Passes to His Final Well-Earned Rest.

VETERAN DIED EARLY THIS MORNING.

A Long Life of Usefulness Spent in the Accomplishment of Good to All His Fellow Men.

Joseph Gordon Kingsbury, an old and respected resident of this city, died at 2:30 o'clock this morning after a brief illness. His last day at his post of duty as gate-keeper at the Temple Block was on Tuesday last, when he began to complain of not feeling well and was obliged to go to his home, 116 south Third East street. Since that time old age and his illness have borne him down until the peaceful sleep of death came this morning.

BIOGRAPHICAL.

Joseph Kingsbury was born in Stafford, Hartford county, Connecticut, on May 1, 1811. His father's family moved to Pittsville, Ohio, soon after his birth. He remained there until 1836, when he came to Utah. He was one of the first High Priests of the Church and was one of the first members of Salt Lake City, in 1847. He married Willard Woodruff and Peggotty D. Richards officiated. He married a Polygamist.

He was one of the pioneers into this valley, was closely associated with Bishop Whitney and Hunter and of the Bishopric of the Ward. Joseph Smith was his first father and his family was a man of great temperament, quiet, good and noble. The subject of this sketch was a man of great sufferings, and the same is true regarding the saints from the early days of Joseph Smith to the present, he was one of the few persons who laid the corner-stone of the Kirtland Temple.

In February, 1846, Elder Kingsbury was appointed one of the counselors to Bishop John Lowry, when the second ward was first organized, and in 1851 was ordained Bishop of the ward. During his long life of service Kingsbury has been an active worker and one of the foremost in doing good. His familiar face and form will be missed on the Temple Block.

Funeral services will be held on Thursday afternoon next, at 2 o'clock, at the Assembly Hall. All friends invited.

FIGHT BETWEEN TWO WOMEN.

They Go At It With Fists in Hogan's Alley on West Temple Street.

A fist fight between two women was the sequel of considerable gymnasium in Hogan's alley in the vicinity of the Utah Steam laundry, 45 S. West Temple street, shortly after noon today.

So far as can be learned, there were no eye-witnesses to the affair and the only testimony that can be heard comes from the participants. Of these the principals themselves, in that which is presented, by a glance of one of the parties to the transaction—Mrs. Hogan, who lives in the alley and adjoining, by one who is registered at the police station as Mrs. Hogan.

The women are said to have got into a conversation dispute. Then it grew to warmer proportions and finally they each bared their arms and dove into it in true, modern pugilistic style. Mrs. Hogan is very badly injured and has marks upon her that will doubtless follow her for the rest of her days, while
