POLITICAL MENTION.

Democratic Illumination and Address Reading Tonight.

REPUBLICAN COUNTY RALLIES.

Non-Partisan Municipal Ticket For Willard—Meetings, Speakers and Miscellaneous.

As election time draws near campaign energies are being screwed up to the highest possible tension and during the few days which now intervene between this and the great battle of ballots political leaders, committees and stumpers will have but little rest and the dear public will be dazed to the limit. In the council halls of the respective organizations the very atmosphere seems to be electric in animation and industry. No loafers are allowed within the "inner circles" and it requires almost as much formality and red tape to secure an interview with the chairmen of the big parties as with a foreign diplomat of considerable rather.

DEMOCRATIC ILLUMINATION.

The extensive advertised and wholly prepared for illumination of private residences and meeting of the party's recent address will occur tonight.

ACCEPTS SHORT'S CHALLENGE.

D. C. Dunbar, chairman of the Democratic county committee, last evening sent the following reply to Chairman Farnes's letter which was published in last night's NEWS, challenging Mr. Van Cott, to discuss the question as to whether the Republican or Democratic was most favorable to education:

Dear Sir—I have this moment received by messenger your letter of this date submitting a challenge for debate between the respective candidates for county superintendent of schools. I had been told some time five minutes before the receipt of this letter that some such challenge had appeared in The Tribune this morning, but I had not seen it and my attention had not been called to it. I regret that your letter was not as prompt in reaching me as it being furnished to the Tribune, because Mr. Van Cott was in my office today and I should have discussed the matter with him. He is billed to speak every night except Sunday, right between now and election day, but I am gladly cancel one of his appointments in order that he may meet your candidate in public discussion. It may take until tomorrow for me to ascertain when and where the debate shall take place. As soon as I can I will notify you as the earliest possible hour.

SPEAKING FROM WAGONS.

John T. Caine and B. H. Roberts addressed a large meeting at Mercur while last night, and drove over to Stockton this morning, where the U. P. train was held for them awaiting their arrival. They then proceeded to Ophir and Lemington where the train stopped thirty minutes at each place permitting them to make addresses to the people for that period.

HALLOWE'EN SPRITES.

They Are Sure to Be Abroad in the Land Tomorrow Night in the Form of Salt Lake Hoodlums.

The quiet and peace-loving citizens of Salt Lake will do well to profit by past experience and lock the doors of their houses and outbuildings, make fast their gates and put a watch on their premises tomorrow night for it will be Hallowe'en and of late years Hallowe'en has been observed hereabouts with a vengeance on the part of the ever ubiquitous and mischief-making small boy. And even his big brother and other boys' big brothers have not failed to tear up bridges, wrench gates from their fastenings, carry them blocks away and leave them hanging on the tops of telegraph and telephone poles, overturn wagons and other vehicles, exchange neighbors' cows and horses and indulge in divers other similar sport to the damage, inconvenience and indignation of unoffending persons.

A repetition of this sort of business will without doubt occur tomorrow night with more or less trifle and citizens should act accordingly. One year ago there was much wanton destruction of property in addition to the perpetration of the many harmless little tricks enumerated and the police were appealed to in vain for the reason that they were unable to calm the miscreants.

Hallowe'en is popularly and superstitiously believed to be a night when witches, devils and other mischief making beings are all abroad on their baneful midnight errands; particularly those aerial people, the witches, are said on that night to hold grand revelry. Little fear need be entertained in this city from fairies or other fanciful beings. The "spirits" that hold high carnival in Salt Lake have infinitely more substance than shadow and if peopled accordingly might be more circumspect in their observance of a festival which contemplated as such use as that to which it has been put.

SPECIAL HALLOWE'EN POLICE.

Chief of Police Pratt this afternoon announced that he would put on a force of special police officers tomorrow night and station them at points of vantage throughout the city where they will be able to nab some of the young vandals who apparently find so much satisfaction in their mischief.
