DEATH OF A PIONEER.

Mrs. Anna Cardon Closes Long and Honored Career.

Ogden, Aug. 26.—The angel of death came suddenly and unexpectedly last evening to Mrs. Anna Cardon, one of the oldest and most widely known pioneer women of Ogden City, bringing sorrow not alone to her family, but to a host of friends. Although over 81 years of age she enjoyed comparatively good health, and was around the home yesterday as happy and spry as ever. Shortly after dinner she went to the barncock to take a rest and was stricken with paralysis. She was carried into the house and soon lapsed into unconsciousness and died at 7 o'clock, peacefully.

Mrs. Cardon was born at Zurich, Switzerland, March 15, 1826. In 1856 she joined the Latter-day Saint Church, remaining true to her faith. She emigrated to Utah the same year, pulling a handcart over the plains. In October of that year she married John Cardon, who with six children and grandchildren and six great-grandchildren survive her.

Mrs. Cardon when a young woman, graduated from a medical college at Geneva, Switzerland, and for many years followed her medical profession, ever being self-sacrificing to comfort and bless others. She was especially considerate of the poor. In business circles she also took an active part in helping the build up Ogden, having erected several business blocks, terraces and residences. She was a most affectionate wife, a loving mother and a true friend. No arrangements for the funeral will be made until her son, J. Herman Cardon, a business man of Ely, Nevada, arrives.

GIVEN DECENT BURIAL.

The remains of Mrs. Margaret Bosse Bush, who died on August 8, at Provo, were brought to Ogden today by Undertaker Larkin to be prepared for burial.

The funeral services will be held Tuesday at the Fifth ward meetinghouse, commencing at 1 o'clock. The deceased was committed to the state mental hospital several years ago. On the date mentioned she died, and having no relatives in America, being a native of Holland, her body was sent to Salt Lake City for the medical students. Bishop John Watson of the Fifth ward, in which ward she lived so many years, heard of this action, and not being desirous of having the body used as a cadaver for medical students, arranged to have it brought to Ogden for burial. Mrs. Bush was about 60 years of age, she came to Utah 15 years ago from Holland and was a faithful member of the Church.

HOME BURGLARIZED.

Thieves Ransack Dr. A. S. Condon's Residence and Take Jewelry.

Ogden, Aug. 26.—Shortly before 9 o'clock Saturday night the home of Dr. A. S. Condon on Madison avenue was burglarized and jewelry to the value of about $300 was taken. The family had gone out visiting for a short time and on their return found the place thoroughly ransacked. A front window had been left unwatched and it was through that window entrance to the house was obtained. Once inside the burglars had nothing else to do but to help themselves to what they wanted. They secured a lady's elegant gold watch and chain, two fine solid gold bracelets, two valuable set rings, a number of gold collar and cuff buttons, several stick pins and a gold thimble. The thieves did not take any of the silverware in the home. They strewed the household goods around the rooms in every direction, leaving no place where they thought it might be possible to find any valuables. The police were called and are working on the case.

MIMIC BATTLE BY G. A. R. CORPS.

Dick Logan Post G. A. R. is arranging to give a mimic battle in Ogden Sept. 28, in imitation of the battle of Cedar Mountain, when Sheridan made his famous ride from Winchester, town 20 miles away and turned a route into a brilliant victory. E. H. Baker, who conducted the battle, had a battle in Los Angeles which attracted 50,000 people, and a man highly experienced in the presentation of mimic battles has been engaged to take charge. The location he has selected is much similar in topography to the original battleground. Baker is a veteran himself and was wounded in the battle of Shiloh.

Two Fine Sandals.—A trial and Jake Hill, got into a drunken fight Friday night in a saloon. Mertala drew a knife and made a murderous assault on Hill, cutting an ugly gash in the back of his head, and another over the left eye.

A young man employed as a waiter in a local boarding house left his work without giving notice and the pay due him, $2.50, was withheld. He came back and pulling a gun on the proprietor forcibly collected his account.

On Saturday a 200-pound boulder got away from the workmen who were laying the foundation for one of the towers of the new Yampa tramway. The rock sped down the steep slope like a shot and crashed through the roof and ceiling of the home of Mrs. Adeline Scoville. There were several people in the house but no one was hurt.

Electrocuted in Bath.—Arthur Morley, a young barber 21 years of age, was found dead Sunday morning in a bath tub in his father's barbershop. The voltage from an electrical massage attachment had burned his body terribly. He had invited a friend of his, Harry Darton, to go to his father's place and take a bath, but young Darton said he had to go to his home. Young Morley entered the bathing establishment about 10:30 o'clock the night before he was found, and that was the last seen of him alive.

Children Lost in Mountains.—Grace Lawrence, the 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Lawrence, and her cousin, Kate Castle, the same age, spent Saturday night in the mountains near Park City. At 1 o'clock Saturday evening, the children started out to meet Mr. Lawrence, when he was to come from the Jupiter mine, of which he is the manager, and being misdirected, when about a mile from home, took the wrong road and failed to find him. When he reached home and learned that the children were off looking for him, he immediately went in search of them, but failed to find any trace of the little ones. Several parties were organized and the search continued through the night, but it was 8 o'clock Sunday morning before the children were found, unharmed, sheltering themselves under a tree near the Belmont mine, four miles from Park City.
