TRUTH AND LIBERTY.

NO. 272. MONDAY, OCTOBER 23, 1893. SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH. VOL. XXVI

THE COLORADO RIVER

A Scheme on Foot to Make It Navigable for 900 Miles.

MEXICO'S MINISTER INTERESTED.

Many Great Advantages to Be Derived from the Plan If Executed.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Governor Hughes of Arizona had an important conference with Minister Romero of Mexico, touching improvements of the Colorado river, which would add to its importance as a channel of commerce. The governor represented to Romero that Colorado was the second largest room on the Pacific coast. He said that with securities at the mouth and with some dredging along the course of the stream it could be made navigable for 900 miles, far up into Arizona and Nevada, tapping rich mineral districts in the mountains and also agricultural and horticultural regions in the lower country. He pointed out that Mexico along the Gulf of California possesses large tracts of fine timber and immense deposits of coal in both of which the southwestern portion of the United States is deficient. Governor Hughes thinks the government of the United States would make improvements necessary within its boundary, if the Mexican government would undertake to do as much within Mexican territory, the lower 150 miles of the river being in Mexico. Minister Romero was very much impressed with the representation made by the governor. He said he would recommend his government to give the matter attention. He thought the best way to proceed would be for the two governments to join in the appointment of a commission to investigate the whole question.

The Patriarch of Ireland Dead.

DUBLIN, Oct. 23.—The archbishop of Armagh, primate of all Ireland, died suddenly at noon.

All Frozened.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 23.—A sunken vessel was found converted 3 miles off the port. It is thought unlikely it is to be crossed Riverside, which has been missing since the big storm on the lake now. The crew of the vessel were Captain D. G. Farrington and wife, Joseph Hargraves, a mate, his wife John, and John Page, seamen, and two other sailors. All were undoubtedly drowned.

RAILROAD RATTERS.

A Rumor Characterized as Nonsense.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—President Samuel Sloan of the Del., Lack. & Western Railroad was interviewed as to the report that the New Jersey Central has practically obtained control of the Lackawanna. He said that the only information he had upon the subject was gotten by reading the published accounts. President Sloan said of the N. J. Central and he did not care even to discuss it. All he could be induced to say was, "It is all moonshine." On the Stock Exchange the story seems to be believed, judging by the buoyancy of coal stocks.

JOHN BULL SHORT OF CASH.

A Gold Loan of $1,000,000 Talked of.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—A dispatch to the Times from Calcutta says money is early becoming more scarce. In this connection an Englishman engages a gold loan of $1,000,000 and declares this to be an absolute necessity to avoid a panic.

NO COMPROMISE PROBABLE.

Not Enough Senators Willing to Support the Measure.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—The opinion is now general among senators, who will discuss the question at all, that the compromise bill over which they were so sanguine on Saturday, never will be introduced in the Senate. The reason for this is that the compromisers have been unable to get a sufficient number of pledges to guarantee the passage of the bill and they have said from the beginning that unless they could secure a majority they would not introduce it. The most authentic statement of the number of pledges makes it thirty-nine, or four short of a majority. The pledges are all to Democrats. In this state the Republicans have been appealed to to help out, but have all, repeal and silver men alike, refused to join the movement. Democrats positively disclaim any diplomatically say they must see the bill first. The report Republicans refuse because of the failure to provide for a free coinage and because of the silver purchase feature of the short time the Sherman law has to be continued. There is a belief that the anti-Republican factions might unite upon the bill and with the aid of the Populists and possibly a few of the Democrats, pass it.

The Democratic senatorial managers seem all at sea as to the situation. However, they are still at work among the members here and even hope to bring the President to their way of thinking in the case of failure before the senate may enter a caucus on December 1st, of 1893. The bill on the present plan or at least a modification of it will be taken up. Democrats still will press a definite resolution, if there is sufficient assistance.

For the Reduction of Fees.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Bell of Colorado introduced a bill to reduce the fees for transcribing testimony in land cases in states west of the Mississippi river. Many people go the officers of the West found it necessary to hire the new stenographic of the district reporters at heavy cash outlays. It is said the fees charged are much larger than to have the free school.

An Idol in Grief Dead.

PARIS, Oct. 23.—Madame Rachel, the Indian tragedy, died yesterday afternoon.

DELEGATE RAWLINS'S BILL.

The Representative Agrees to the Senate Amendments.

A Long Legislative Day in the Senate—Stewart Proposes An Amendment.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—The Senate amendments to Rawlins's bill for the relief of the Mormon Church was agreed to.

Kilgore reported to the bill authorizing the payment of the expenses of L. L. Williams, World's Fair commissioner from Alaska, on the ground that it would result in a deluge of such claims.

The printing bill was passed, 107 to 17. The consideration of the bill to provide for the establishment of a steam revenue cutter on the great lakes, to replace the Andy Johnson, was then resumed.

Lodge, Conf., offered a substitute including a provision for a revenue cutter for the harbor of San Francisco.

Chairman Sayers of the appropriations committee, opposing the substitute, served notice on his Democratic colleagues, that unless they joined with him in recommitting the bill for a fifth time he would not be responsible for the consequences.

Quay opened the debate in a vigorous speech in favor of the substitute and the bill was passed.

The House then proceeded to the consideration of the bankruptcy bill.

Quay opened the debate in a vigorous speech in favor of it.

THE SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—The Senate met at 10 o'clock. No adjournment having taken place since a week ago today, the legislative day of October 17th, continues.

Stewart, Nevada, gave notice of an amendment he intended to offer to the repeal bill providing a conference to be held at Washington within nine months between the delegates of the United States, Mexico, Central and South America, Hayti and San Domingo, for the adoption of a common silver coin to be legal tender between the countries represented. The consideration of the silver repeal bill was then resumed. Jones, Nev., resumed his argument in opposition to the bill.

Jones made an elaboration of the arguments he had advanced when the Senate took recess on Saturday evening, that the standard of the country could be neither gold nor silver but any material thing, but that whatever the standard might be it was quantitative and the value of each unit depended upon the number of units, and that there could be but a single standard in a country, and that one of quantity.

Last summer the British government, desiring to show its sympathy with the object of the administration in this country issued an order with a view of facilitating the descent of silver. The order was taken by New York to be the announcement of the death of silver. During this time where was the United States—the government of all the nations most interested? The position of the chief magistrate of this country on the question was well illustrated by a line from Emerson: "If on the dollar and money," but in a word of the sentiment of one, the "Genius of the Republic" admonished the President as well as Great Britain that the people of the United States did not propose to be left out of consideration as to what should be the material of their money. The United States is not yet a dependent of Great Britain and the President is not governor general. For the first time in our national history we find ourselves parting into executive through officers elected by the people of the United States, some which if not intimated are mostly appointed at the Home Guards and in Downing Street.

At 1:05 p.m. Jones remarked that he desired to yield the floor to Teller, Colorado, expressing a desire to resume his speech at another time.

To Close Today's Session.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Voorhees states to an interviewer that he would close today's session and end the legislative day of Tuesday by moving an adjournment till tomorrow. It is intended that the action may be for the purpose of calling market in shape for bringing up the silver question.

When it became apparent today that the compromise scheme has failed the silver men renewed their old motion calling for a quorum.

IN FAVOR OF THE BOARD.

An Important Decision of the Supreme Court.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—A decision of importance to the railroads in the far West was rendered today by the United States Supreme Court in favor of the constitution of the railroads. The Denver and Rio Grande was sued in the United States for the value of timber, stone and material taken from the public domain used in the construction of its railroad in sections remote from the vicinity from which the material was taken. Under the act of 1875, [illegible] the right of way and the public domain over which the grantees of rights of way may take material for the construction of the road. The case was argued by the United States that the material could be used only on the part of the road adjacent to the public domain which it was intended should be used. The court decided that there was no authority in the act to limit the use of the material to the part of the road adjacent to the public domain, but that there was no authority in the act to use it in the construction of other parts of the road which do not traverse the public domain. The court decided that the material could be used on any part of the road, wherever it may be necessary in the construction of the road. The court accordingly reversed the judgment of Colorado Circuit court.

They Nominate James Fenemore for School Superintendent.

(Special to Deseret News per Beaver Telephone.)

At the Republican county convention on Saturday, at Minersville, twenty-seven delegates were present, the having been early in the morning. There were plenty of flags, carriages and horses decorated, with banners. The convention was called to order at 2 p.m. after minor outgates were got to work on the main business, that of nominating a candidate for school superintendent for the county. James Fenemore, a prominent Methodist, and William Farnsworth, brother of the manager of the Horn Silver Mining Co., appeared to be the favorite candidates. Balloting ensued, in which there was the name of Frank Crayton, the present incumbent of the office of which expiration of his term of office judge Jones for years, George Clayton is a Democrat and took part in the Democratic convention held at Minersville a few days ago, where he was the only nominee against R. Mason, who received a majority vote over Clayton with a nomination. Arthur Gaskill moved to make Clayton's nomination for the position on the ground that the latter was changing his political lines and would join the Republican ranks.

To this effect two Republican delegates in Wm. James Cox and others of Beaver moved a stay and tried to dissuade the principal faction who only joined when the vote was taken, Clayton now inserted in many votes, Farnsworth now and Clayton one.

A committee was nominated to call county, consisting of George Mitchell, Wm. E. Bainton and W. C. Stoker. The Republicans say they are not going to spend any money in western harness.

The case sued was $50, alleged to be due on a contract for services rendered by the plaintiff in planting a lawn of [illegible] acreage, who, he stated, agreed to pay him therefor commission of the rate of 2 per cent. The transaction took place between Jan. 14 and Nov. 30th, 1892, and because of defendant's refusal to pay the commission the action was brought.

The case came up here on appeal from a Commissioner Martin's court, where judgment went in favor of the plaintiff for the sum sued.

The case was tried indefinitely in any sense. He said no name or agreement with the plaintiff, and had received no such loan through the medium of Fowler.

RE COMES TO GRIEF.

A Baker Fancy and Sensational Story in Which Liberal Ward Boss Figures Prominently.

Charles Handley, a young man who resides on D street between Twelfth and Thirteenth East, in Lincoln Park, related a rather funny and exciting story to a News representative today. It involves the reputation and standing in the community of Samuel C. Burrell, a well known contractor, and broker and political boss, Mr. Handley says that for some time past poty following has been carried on to an alarming extent in the southeastern part of the city. On Friday night some one stole twenty bushels of potatoes from him and a considerable quantity of hay. He accordingly came up to the city to locate the thief if possible, and on Saturday night stationed himself with a double-barreled shotgun and hid himself in the hay stack to watch for expected the robber would come. He waited patiently until between 11 o'clock when he perceived that the aforesaid Burrell stakes into the field, passed a pitchfork into a canvas of hay, shouldered it and started off where Mr. Handley called him, "Hold up, put hands, that belongs to me!" Burrell, as claims, was in the act of a pitch when he overheard. He says he refused to take the hay and walked Mr. Burrell out the street and marched him at the muzzle of his gun towards the City Hall. Burrell begged to be spared the humiliation of arrest and the highest bid would follow, and after long argument he gave Handley a check for $[illegible] and promised to leave the town that had been dealing from Handley ever since, we [illegible] of the latter on partial loss [illegible] the property he had taken.

BUSINESS AND MINES.

The Agricultural College Bill Reported Out.

THAT TWO CAR OTYX SHIPMENT.

Sheep and Wool Shipping From Sanpete—Mining and Business Items.

It was anticipated that the Agricultural College at Logan would have been completed on Saturday, and ready for acceptance by the board of construction. Because of this understanding the board met there on Saturday afternoon, but the contractors had not finished their job, so all there was to do was to audit some bills and discuss matters of small detail that came up. It is expected now that three weeks more time will be necessary to complete the building ready for the board to take possession of it. The recent improvements that have been made in the construction of the right wing involves an expenditure of over $10,000. The college building now presents a magnificent appearance which will be enhanced when the main or central structure is completed. This will require a $20,000 or $30,000 appropriation from the Legislature. But it is necessary for the benefit of the institution which is now a credit to the Territory and is occupying a broad field of usefulness.

THE OTYX SHIPMENT.

Moore, Hitesman & Miller are awaiting returns from the shipment of two cars of otyx which they made last week. They received orders, one from Chicago and another from Denver, that if they could procure the previous stone of given dimensions or larger, one car was to be forwarded to each of the places named. There was no difficulty in getting some large enough and the order was promptly filled. The report on its quality throughout will be made after comparison with Mexican otyx.

IDAHO SILVER TUNNEL.

An Idaho Springs, Colo., dispatch says: A mammoth tunnel scheme has been started just below town opposite the old Wenk place, by Mr. Samuel Newhouse, of London, Eng. The tunnel will be seven by eight feet in the clear and will be 3 miles in Nevada vile in Gilpin county, a distance of some four or more miles. It is intended for a double track. A large plant of machinery of the latest and most improved pattern has been purchased and will be placed in position as soon as it arrives. A large 100-horse power boiler is already in place, and a powerful Norwalk compressor is expected to-morrow. This plant will be duplicated at a cost of $[illegible] in case of an accident to the plant that is now being needed. A brick building 30 by 35 feet is now under construction to contain the machinery and blacksmith shop. The tunnel is to work will require four or five years to complete it. Although two powerful air drills will be kept at work day and night. Mr. Matt Allen, formerly of Denver, has charge of the work. The tunnel is for the purpose of cutting an immense number of rich mineral veins on Boston mountains and in Gilpin county, and also for transporting ore from the vicinity of Central city and Black Hawk to Clear creek, where endless wire power can be obtained to operate mills for its treatment. This is the third tunnel started for the purpose, but the others have been abandoned for lack of funds. This enterprise, however, is starting in in the right manner. The projectors have plenty of money to back them and are men of indomitable energy. Mr. Allen, who has immediate supervision of the work, is an old mining man, and thoroughly understands his business.

NOTES.

A meeting of the Sunshine and Lo Plata Mining company stockholders was called for this afternoon in the Dalcher bank at Ogden.

Milford county (Utah) Mr. B. A. McGinnis has received an order for 1000 feet of the Detroit otyx from Jones Clark & Co. of New York. The owners of the black otyx are to be congratulated, as the order will, no doubt, be followed by others, as both the Detroit and Black otyx has the Silver county product in the Beaver like work, the latter being firm, hard, and as black as black can be.

Mt. Pleasant Pyramid. The Mt. Pleasant Live Stock Commission & Shipping company made another shipment of twelve carloads of mixed writers, about 2600 sheep, and six carloads of wool, averaging nearly 11½ pounds, this latter on an average of 5 and 7 years. The returns from yesterday's shipments will, it is estimated, bring close to $18,000 or $20,000 home. The company is now preparing to make a shipment of lost cattle to a couple of weeks, and all parties having lost stock or any other lost better immediately with the officers.

ALL IN GOOD TIME.

When the Political Conventions Have Been Concluded.

THE UTAH COMMISSION WILL

Appoint Judges of Election for Salt Lake, Weber and Utah.—Another Point Under Consideration.

This morning's session of the Utah Commission was of unusually brief duration. It was after 11 o'clock when the members assembled for business, however, there was but little on the program of today for them to do.

All the counties have now been attended to in the matter of election judges save Salt Lake, Weber and Utah—the three most important in Utah. The registrars of those were instructed in the order not to send in names until the conclusion of the political conventions, in order that nominees for office might not get upon the list. Therefore as soon as the conventions are over the commission will receive the nominees of judges for the remaining counties and act upon them without delay.

The commissioners this forenoon, in an informal sort of way, discussed the proposition made to them last week by Messrs. C. C. Wilkinson and D. C. Dunbar as to the appointment of these men to Attorney Baldwin for the hearing of objections to voters, but it was decided not to take any definite action until the commission had secured some additional information on the subject.

Broke His Wrist.

Thomas, the nine-year-old son of Thomas F. and Eliza Thomas, who live at No. 601 west First North street, met with a painful accident last evening. The boy had mounted a horse and gone down to the river after some cows. While in front of Theodore McLean's farm he had occasion to dismount and a few minutes later as he attempted to get on again the animal took fright at a band of horses running by. The lad was thrown violently to the ground. In the fall his left wrist was badly broken. Dr. Measham was summoned and bound up the injured member for the night. Today the boy was removed to St. Mary's hospital where the fracture was reduced by Doctors Finkelnburg and Measham.

WORK OF VANDALS.

A Dangerous Practice That Should be Summarily Checked.

The actions of young hoodlums are becoming decidedly annoying, and in some respects dangerous in certain localities in the eastern part of the city, and if the parents of the culprits will not exercise a restraining hand over their progeny, the officers will have to be called to summarily stop the proceedings.

One of the exploits of a dangerous kind was perpetrated in front of the Twelfth ward meeting house last evening. Just before the hour of commencing the sabbath evening meeting, boys tied a rope from the hydrant to the fence, about six inches above the ground. Three ladies who were walking along quickly were tripped and thrown heavily to the ground, and though not seriously injured were all more or less hurt. A few minutes later an aged gentleman came along and tripped on the rope. It was with difficulty that he saved himself falling, and as it was he was severely wrenched. The rope was then cut for the protection of other people.

A liberal reward is offered for the apprehension of the culprits in this instance, and it is to be hoped that they will be caught and receive punishment that will restrain them from such criminal pranks in the future, and will prove an effective warning to other boys who are over-inclined to be wilful.

A SUNDAY MISHAP.

A Crowd of Pleasure Seekers Come to Grief in Emigration Canyon.

Nearly two years before the break of day yesterday morning Wm. Evans and Val Pringle, proprietors of the Commercial street Lou-ve cafe, Phil Adams, E. Faber and Jim Vandenberg, a miscellaneous trio of happy young bloods, started for the wilds of Parley's canyon on a hunting and fishing expedition. All went merrily enough until they were a considerable distance up the canyon, when their teams became frightened at a man carrying an umbrella. They shied from the road, overturning the outfit, and starting out on a lively course down the canyon. The boys jumped, scrambled and performed divers acrobatic feats in their attempts to escape. While some of them were seriously hurt their wounds and experience warrant such a character as to cause them to long remember their early Sunday morning drive.

The accident was attended by a more serious result than that came near causing the death of Mr. Pringle.
