FLAG RAISING AT NORTH POLE

One Flung to Breeze by Peary Given Him by His Wife Fifteen Years Ago.

WAS ON EVERY EXPEDITION.

On Each One He Left a Piece of It at The Highest Point He Attained.

Battle Harbor, Labrador, Sept. 15. (via wireless to Cape Ray, N. F.)—Commander Robert E. Peary, who is still at Battle Harbor on board the steamer Roosevelt, conversed further today with the Associated Press representative regarding his journey to the north pole. He spoke particularly of the flags he raised at the pole and the records he left there, and he touched again on some of the assertions credited to Dr. Frederick A. Cook.

Commander Peary said that when he reached the pole the first flag thrown to the breeze was a silken American emblem presented to him by his wife 15 years ago. He had carried this flag on every one of his expeditions to the north, leaving a piece of it at the highest point he attained. The last remnants were raised and left at the pole. The explorer then raised the navy ensign, then the flag of the Chiavy league, then the flag of the Chi Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, and finally a flag of peace. Tent poles and snow lances were used as flagstaffs, and when all had been raised, the commander took several photos of the group.

RECORDS OF TRIP.

After this ceremony Peary enclosed records of his trip and other documents and personal papers in a box and buried it in the ice. The documents were placed in water-tight coverings and the box itself was water-tight so it would float if shifting or melting ice brought it to water. Commander Peary has not developed the films he took to the pole.

Referring to the weather conditions at the apex of the world, Commander Peary said he found nothing like the revolving wind referred to by antarctic explorers. The weather conditions varied from time to time, although there was probably considerable uniformity. He would not say whether or not he found currents at the pole.

Commander Peary today received a cablegram asking him to make a statement regarding a report from a Danish source to the effect that he had posted a notice on the Greenland coast to the effect that Dr. Cook was dead, making this notice a pretext for the appropriation of Dr. Cook's supplies. The explorer said to the Associated Press representative that he knew nothing of this; that it evidently was a newspaper publication. He expects to be quoted erroneously in the press as making a variety of statements.

SILENT ABOUT COOK.

Commander Peary has said already all he intends to say regarding Dr. Cook. His statement dictated to the Associated Press covers this subject fully for the present.

Peary did not see the beginning or the ending of the solar eclipse; the part he did see was obscured by clouds. He said he had experienced no earthquakes in the polar regions, explaining at the same time that it would be difficult to recognize such occurrences because of the movement of the ice and the continual grinding noise resulting therefrom.

The Roosevelt has on board a valuable collection of mineral and geological samples and specimens of northern bird, plant and animal life for the American museum of natural history.

In referring to the reception being planned for him when he reaches home, Commander Peary asked the Associated Press to publish the following statement:

"From such fragmentary reports as I have received, I am more touched, gratified and honored than I can say at the way the public has treated my work."

Bucharest, Roumania, Sept. 15.—Spencer F. Eddy of Chicago has sent in his resignation from the diplomatic corps to President Taft. Mr. Eddy is at present United States minister to Roumania and Servia.

Mr. Eddy's decision is due chiefly to continued illness in his family. Mrs. Eddy, who is now in Paris, has not been well enough to join her husband here. A DISCUSSION.

"Blood Atonement and the Origin of Plural Marriage.

A pamphlet containing over a hundred pages, has just been issued. This brochure contains a discussion on the questions quoted, between Elder Joseph F. Smith, Jr., and Mr. Richard C. Evans, the latter gentleman being second counselor to the present of the "Reorganites." The questions are entered into exhaustively by both sides, and a great deal of valuable information is given. Elder Joseph F. Smith, Jr., shows by historical data and incontrovertible deductions that the position of his opponent is untenable.

HIGH SCHOOL CADETS.

Story of San Francisco March Told in School Text Book.

In a text book which will be used extensively in the public schools all over the country, entitled "With Evans to the Pacific," Utah gains considerable recognition. The book is written by Margaret D. Cobb of Brooklyn. In one chapter, the High school cadets are given a "boost" as the special guard of honor to Admiral Evans who was given to the navy by Utah. The extract follows:

"Next appeared a battalion of 250 high school boys. Many wondered why they were there, but they were the special guard of honor from the High school of Salt Lake City. They were sent as a special mark of respect to the great admiral because Utah had given young Evans to the navy and it was in Salt Lake City that he lived before his appointment to Annapolis. How proud those boys were and how they marched! From Salt Lake schools they had come to do honor to the admiral, and it was at the personal request of Evans himself that they were given this post of honor in the line. No wonder they held their heads so high!"

STORAGE PLAN A SUCCESS.

President Cosgriff Returns from Chicago in Optimistic Frame.

President Cosgriff of the National Wool Warehouse & Storage association, returns from the far eastern manufacturing centers better satisfied than ever that this western organization so strenuously fought by the Boston interests, has not only passed the experimental stage, but is now so far advanced that the necessity of warehouses in other parts of the country, as well as in Chicago is manifest. Mr. Cosgriff found the Boston commission men had been attempting to prejudice eastern manufacturers against the action of the western men in protecting their own interests, but without avail. In fact, the sympathies of eastern woolen manufacturers are now with the western woolgrowers. One great source of profit to both producer and consumer by the western warehouse project is the guaranteeing of perfectly clean and good wools, as growers will be forced to exercise special care in this direction.

GALLERY OF ART AT UNION DEPOT

Contracts Let for Paintings for New Station at Foot of South Temple.

PART OF ORIGINAL PLANS.

Every Feature of Walls and Ceiling Is Adapted to the Work of The Artist.

The great waiting room in the new Union passenger station of the Oregon Short Line is to be made a gallery of fine art that will equal anything in the decorative line in this country. The plaster work was designed at the planning of the structure with a view to future decoration, so that the artists will have fine opportunity to display their talents there, to the best effect. The size of the apartment and its general contour also lend admirably to this result, the dimensions being 60x100 feet, by 40 feet high in the clear. The shape of the ceiling is semi-cylindrical, with semi-elliptical panels at each end, 45 feet wide by 14 feet high. Contracts have been let to A. Walker & Co. of San Francisco for the painting in oil of two historical paintings in each of these panels, the paintings being on canvas and executed in San Francisco by the best talent obtainable there. One painting represents a Mormon emigration train emerging from Emigration canyon into the valley of the Great Salt Lake, the wagons being drawn by long lines of ox teams driven by pioneers. The other painting is a copy of the famous one by Hill, of the driving of the last spike in the joining of the two Pacific roads at Promontory. In addition to this, the artists will execute some elaborate and very handsome stencil designs in colors on the cylindrical ceiling, in harmony with the panel designs.

ART GLASS WINDOWS.

Ornamentation of the waiting room of the station is to be made more complete and effective by the art glass work to be placed in the five 9x19 feet semi-circular windows in the west wall, contracts for which have been let to the United Glass Works of San Francisco. The themes represented in these windows of art glass, will include views of the Great Salt Lake, one of the valley smelters, a passenger train crossing the Lucin cut-off, the old stage coach and pony express, and buffalo feeding on Antelope island. The cost of all this is placed at $10,000 and the credit for the idea and its development of the scheme is given to Purchasing Agent A. E. Hutchinson of the Oregon Short Line, who has "worked night and day, and between times," to crystalize the scheme into realization. The contracts were given to San Francisco rather than Chicago, as the architect of the depot lives at the former place, and can have a general superintendence of the work.

NO WORD FROM MOTHER.

Chief of Police Wires for Instructions In "Kidnaping" Case.

As no word of direction has as yet been received from the mother of Yvienne Tumbleson, the young lady who was detained in Salt Lake on Monday last under the impression that she was being kidnaped, Chief of Police S. M. Barlow this afternoon wired to Mrs. Tumbleson at Pueblo, Colo., for further instructions in the case. A telegram and letter from the mother were received confirming the suspicion that the daughter was being kidnaped, but since that time nothing has been heard from the mother, and the police department is at a loss how to proceed in the matter. Yvienne is still in the care of the matron at the city jail.

BURGESS A VISITOR.

M. T. Burgess, civil engineer in charge of the work on a reclamation project in Cassia county, Idaho, by which 100,000 acres of arid land are to be brought under cultivation under the provisions of the Carey act, is in Salt Lake today. Mr. Burgess is an old timer in this state, having been connected with the engineering department of the Union Pacific when it was first brought into Utah in 1869. He was also on the engineering staff of the Denver & Rio Grande railroad when that road entered the state in 1882. Mr. Burgess was well acquainted with the men of the older generation in Utah, and recalls with pleasure his acquaintance with them. He is now in Salt Lake in the interest of the irrigation project with which he is connected.

(Special to the "News.")

Provo, Sept. 15.—The state board of land commissioners were in Provo this morning and sold at auction to S. H. Lewis for Denver buyers 239 acres of state land west of Utah lake and south of Pelican Point, at $36 per acre. The land is in section 16, range 3 south, 1 west, Salt Lake meridian. It will be cultivated for fruit growing and is pronounced to have more promise in the near future than many of Colorado's most famous fruit growing districts.

CHURCH DID NOT BUY.

The White Pine (Nevada) News of Saturday, Sept. 11, has a story about the purchase of the Cleveland ranch in Spring valley by Thomas Judd of St. George for $150,000, stating that Mr. Judd is acting as the representative of men prominent among the Latter-day Saints. It is not known in Salt Lake whether the reported deal has been made or not, but when asked this morning about the truth of that part of the report that men prominent among the Latter-day Saints were connected with Mr. Judd, President Joseph F. Smith said that if that was intended to mean the presidency of the Church, it was untrue, as neither the Church nor the 1 ders are connected in any way with the purchase.

MATTER OF CIRCULATION.

The county commissioners have decided not to award the contract for publishing the delinquent tax lists until the circulation of the papers are taken into consideration. This will be done when John C. Mackay returns from Chicago and James A. Clinton comes back from Idaho. The bids submitted on the re-advertisement were as follows: The Herald-Republican, 35 cents an inch or 10 cents a description; the Salt Lake Telegram 17½ an inch, or 13 cents a description.

She declares that the company was negligent in failing to place a man on the head of the flat car as required by the city ordinance for the protection of life and property.

GRAND COUNTY RANGE IN FINE CONDITION

(Special Correspondence.)

MOAB, Grand County, Sept. 13.—This morning the Laval mountains were whitened by snow for quite a distance down their slopes. Fine weather prevails in the valley, and the ranchers are busy cutting and putting up the third crop of alfalfa. The surrounding cattle range is in a better condition for feed than it has been for years, due to the recent rains, which have been general all over the country.

CAPTAINS OF LAST YEAR'S LEADING ELEVENS WHO ARE PLA NNING FOR COMING SEASON.

Although real football practise will not start until Sept. 20, the big universities east and west are laying plans which indicate that they expect to make a strenuous campaign. This is particularly the case with Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Pennsylvania, Chicago, Wisconsin and Minnesota, and it need occasion little surprise if these institutions start work earlier than usual. A few years ago it was the custom of these universities to frown on all preliminary practise before the last week in September, but this year all of them will be formally at work by the middle of the month and some of them secretly some time before this. There are different reasons for this anxiety to get started. Yale is still smarting because of the defeat administered by Harvard last fall. Harvard is just as keen to maintain the supremacy. At Princeton there will be a keen struggle for survival. The University of Pennsylvania authorities are not worrying about their future. They still have their annual Thanksgiving day game with Cornell. As for Cornell, the Ithacans may be expected to continue the improvement they have shown for a number of years. The addition of the Harvard game has given Cornell an importance she never enjoyed before. Yale players have been ordered to report Sept. 20, a week later than usual. Practise at Cornell will not begin until Sept. 28, but many will report at Ithaca, N. Y., before that date. Many candidates for the Harvard eleven have accepted the invitation from their captain, Hamilton Fish, to join him at Irvington-on-the-Hudson, N. Y., and prepare for the coming season. Pennsylvania men have started light work, and Captain Miller has issued an official call for all candidates to report Sept. 15. Football prospects in the west are exceedingly bright. The fight this year seems to lie between Chicago, Wisconsin and Minnesota, with the odds slightly in favor of the latter, because most of the Gophers' old team will return to school, while several of the other colleges have lost their best men by graduation.

Health and Beauty Secrets

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN.

A. L.: Treat canker in the mouth with pure alum, but close well from the teeth as it affects the enamel.

H. S.: For a quick drying home champoo simply dissolve a teaspoonful of cantbrox in a teacupful hot water. Pour on the hair and run well. Cantbrox makes a rich and plentiful lather that thoroughly cleans the scalp, removes dandruff, relieves itching and irritation and leaves the hair soft, bright and fluffy. Every article mentioned in my recipes is carried in stock by druggists and your druggist will get cantbrox for you if he cares to be accommodating.

Hattie C.: It may be a cruel way to put it, but it is only truth to say that competition is keen among women and she who is most attractive in appearance most often wins the best husband and home. It is your duty to look your prettiest. The most important step in securing a good complexion is to purify your blood. Get from your druggist 1 ounce of kardene and one-half pint of alcohol. Put these in a quart measure and add half a teacup of sugar and enough hot water to fill the quart measure. This makes a splendid blood tonic and liver invigorator and is a good remedy for pimples, blotches, sallow complexion, scrofula and all eruptions of the skin. Take 1 teaspoonful five minutes before meals and before retiring and it will put your blood in good condition for winter.

B. F. D.: To get rid of that "shiny," greasy look that troubles you, use this spurmax lotion, and it will give the skin a clear, fresh and youthful appearance. Get from your druggist 4 ounces of spurmax, dissolve it in a half-pint of warm water and add 2 teaspoonfuls of glycerine. If applied in the morning your complexion will not need retouching the whole day long. It is a true beautifier and is widely used in preference to powder.

Laura S.: Always rub gently in massaging, for if you rub hard you do more harm than good. To make a good, greaseless face cream jelly that is excellent for massaging and any purpose for which ordinary face cream is used, get from your druggist 1 ounce of almozoin, and dissolve it in a half-pint of cold water and add 2 teaspoonfuls of glycerine. Stir briskly and let stand. If too thick, thin by adding more water until you have the desired consistency. As this cream jelly contains no oils or fats it can be used without fear of causing hair to grow. It is unexcelled as a cleanser, for when applied it causes the dirt and grime to roll off and the pores are really cleared. Almozoin tends to make large pores small and prevents blackheads. It also removes freckles and tan and keeps the skin moist, smooth and pliable.

Wm. G.: To rid yourself of superfluous fat get from your druggist 4 ounces of parnotis, take it home and dissolve it in one pint of hot water. Take 1 teaspoonful three times a day, before meals.

Estelle: To make your dull and inflamed eyes bright, clear and sparkling use a few drops of eye tonic made by dissolving 1 ounce of crystos in a pint of water. This eye tonic will not smart or burn, but will rest, soothe and strengthen your eyes.

Ada R.: Dandruff and split hairs are signs that the scalp needs nourishment. Shampoo the hair twice a month with Cantbrox. Cut off all ends of split hairs. To nourish the hair roots and keep scalp in healthy condition use once or twice a week a quinine hair tonic made by dissolving 1 ounce of quinoia in a half-pint of alcohol and adding half-pint of cold water. Rub into scalp and hair with the finger tips until absorbed. This treatment will promote the growth of hair and tend to make it luxuriant and glossy.

Sadie D.: An excellent remedy for any rash or simple skin eruption and a cure for eczema and salt rheum can be made at home by mixing 4 ounces of Luxor with 4 tablespoonfuls of alcohol and a half-pint of water. Pour a little of the lotion on the affected surface and allow to dry, repeating treatment two or three times a day until the skin is restored to healthy condition.

Mrs. X.: A small bag of salt, well heated and covered with flannel, gives relief when applied to an aching ear.
