

BEDRAGGLED FLAGS CAUSE RESENTMENT

Tawdry and Dirty Bunting Must Not Be Used, Says
Committee.

WORK IS ORDERED STOPPED

Meeting Being Held Today to Call
Decorators to Time—Flags Are
From Signal Code.

Since the work of decorating the streets with flags and bunting for the occasion of the G. A. R. encampment began yesterday morning, considerable objection has been raised to the tawdry and bedraggled appearance of some of the flags swinging to the breeze on the lines crossing the streets. Many of the flags, in fact a majority of them, are exceedingly dirty, and look as if they had passed through several battles prior to being strung up in this city. Many of them are tattered, and that none too neatly, said patches standing out in strong contrast with the original bunting. All of which has caused the committee in charge of the decorations to call a meeting today to discuss the matter.

Dr. G. B. Proutz, chairman of the committee on decorations, this morning said that the complaints spoken of had come to his committee, and that he personally had noticed the assortment of dirty and ancient appearing bunting used by the company which has the contract to do the decorating work. "The committee has been called to meet this afternoon," said Dr. Proutz, "when the matter will be taken up. Meanwhile the work of stringing the flags has been ordered stopped. It is a mistake to state that new flags were guaranteed in the contract. It would be unreasonable to expect that the decorating firm to use all new bunting for the decorations in this city. But it is not unreasonable to expect that they shall use clean and unpatched flags in bunting, and that the committee certainly expects that the decorations here shall be clean and creditable to the city. Mr. Koster, who has the contract to decorate the city, has a wide reputation in this line having executed the work of decorating for the last four inaugural ceremonies at Washington, D. C., also for the last G. A. R. encampment at Salt Lake City. We shall insist on clean bunting being used on the streets; otherwise it would seem useless to do any decorating at all."

"The committee meets this afternoon to discuss the matter of decorations, when the objections will be taken up and settled."

PLAN IS MATERIALIZING.

Double Tracking of O. S. L. Ordered to Facilitate Traffic.

The plan of the Union Pacific railroad, projected some years since for building a cut-off from the point where the road emerges from Weber canyon, across the point of the mountain eight miles south of Ogden and directly through Salt Lake City, seems to have taken material form. Contracts have been let to double the Oregon Short Line track from Woods Cross to Layton, at which point the cut-off from Weber canyon will join on to the tracks of the Short Line. The plan is to tunnel through the mountain at a point at the mouth of the canyon, and make a separate connection there for through passenger business, which will make a reduction of between 15 and 20 miles and a consequent saving of time on through business for the Union Pacific.

It is also said that it is the plan of the Harriman interests to eventually continue the Salt Lake street railway system north to Ogden, paralleling the Union Pacific main line, and putting in the proposed suburban line, reaching from Payson on the south to Logan.

FEMALE FORGER ARRESTED.

Emma La Moynie Accused of Cleaning
Up $100 in Bad Checks.

Emma La Moynie, wife of the man who is now serving five months in the county jail on a charge of larceny, may, according to the police, develop into the female "Bartles" of Salt Lake and prove to be the clever young woman who in one day successfully cleaned up merchants of the city for something like $100 in false checks. The La Moynie woman was arrested yesterday after she had been identified as the woman who passed a forged check of $10.50 in payment of 50 cents for cottage cheese, purchased from the Cash Mercantile company. The writing on the checks bears such a similarity to those passed a week ago as leads to the belief that the La Moynie woman was an accomplice in the recent flood of false checks.

EXTEND MOFFAT ROAD WEST TO PROVO

"When Work Begins It Will Be Pushed
Through Without Stopping,"
Says President of Line.

Denver, July 29.—"When the work of extending the Denver Northwestern & Pacific road is taken up again we will push the line right through to Provo, Utah, without stopping," said David H. Moffat today. Mr. Moffat returned last night from a trip to Steamboat Springs, Colo., the present western terminus of the Moffat road, in company with George H. Barr of New York and J. Winterbotham of Chicago, representing the financial interests that are to finance the completion of the line. Mr. Moffat added that arrangements for contracts for extension work are under way, although the work may not be resumed until early next spring.

AMUSEMENTS.

Corlinton Redivivus—It will come as a decided surprise to many when they read that the once famous play of "Corlinton" will be revived at the Colonial during G. A. R. week. A number of local people, headed by George Derr, have been in correspondence for some time with Al Swenson, the producer of the play, who took part in the original presentation, with a view to a revival of the play. The Colonial had the time open, and after some negotiations with Mr. Cort, manager of the house, Mr. Derr, author of the play, now in New York, and the owners of the scenery, which is still in storage, arrangements were finally concluded.

Theater—The Servant in the House, winds up its Salt Lake engagement tonight, tomorrow afternoon and evening. The impression it leaves upon its auditors is of the deepest kind, and every lover of the artistic and beautiful should embrace these final opportunities to see it.

Orpheum—Claude Dillingwater, who has been in the city for some time, was last seen in Salt Lake 18 months ago with Fritz Scheff in "Mile Modeste" in which he played the part of the millionaire who, when asked what a promoter was, replied, "A man who will furnish the ocean, if somebody else will furnish the ships." Mr. Dillingwater also appeared in "The Outfit" at the mouth of the canyon, and made a separate connection there for through passenger business, which will make a reduction of between 15 and 20 miles and a consequent saving of time on through business for the Union Pacific.

Grand—The usual crush is looked for at tomorrow's matinee of "The Man From Mexico." Next week's bill is "At the Old Cross Roads."

CHECKS ARE FOUND.

Those Taken From State Street Grocery Store Discovered Today.

Late this afternoon, persons residing at 144 west Fifth, South street, found the cash drawer taken from the safe which was cracked Tuesday night at the grocery store of E. D. Pidge, 333 State street. The drawer, containing checks amounting to $63.37, was found in some weeds behind a billboard. The police were notified and the property returned to the owner.

LATE LOCALS.

Funeral of Mrs. Miller—The funeral of Mrs. Minnie Miller was held this afternoon from O'Donnell's chapel, with interment in City cemetery.

Express Company's Removal—The Pacific Express company will remove from the old Short Line depot to its quarters in the new Union station early next week.

Sanitary Fountains—The city is erecting 12 sanitary fountains, each with four branches, in the business part of the city. The sale does not need any dipper, as the water comes out of the branch nozzles with just force enough to carry it up two inches, so that persons can drink by merely holding down and putting their mouths to the bubbling streamlet.

Back From Seattle—Observer V. H. Church of the weather office has returned from a pleasant trip to the Seattle fair. He reports the attendance at 24,000 people daily, which is double the number expected, so that if this keeps up the directors of the enterprise will be able to declare a comfortable dividend at the close. The government exhibit is attracting wide spread attention because of its completeness and value from an historical and ethnological standpoint. The mill exhibit in the Utah building is also the center of marked interest.

Resignations Get Quick Action—When the board of county commissioners met yesterday they received the resignations of H. C. Anderson steward, Mrs. Carrie Jones as laundress, Joseph Quigley as armorer, and Mrs. J. Spencer as cook. They gave no reasons for resigning. Upon the recommendation of Superintendent C. A. Anderson the following appointments were made to fill the vacancies: Thomas Belmont, steward; James Bennett, acting cook; Josephine Christiansen, laundress; William Peterson, farmer, Edith Hanson, second girl.

A. H. Vogeler has returned from Jordan, da., where he went to spend 30 days to secure a land claim under the Carey act.

FIVE YEAR TERMS IN STATE PRISON

Rose and Cummings Sent Up in Short Order by Judge
Ritchie.

WAIVE THEIR HEARINGS.

With No Word to the Court, They
Smile as the Proceedings Take One
Step After the Other.

This morning at 9:30 o'clock, John H. Cummings and W. O. Rose, with a nod of the head and a mumbled word of "guilty," admitted the truthfulness of a complaint charging them with the assault upon and attempt to rob D. F. Sweet, cashier of the Pullman company. Just 16 minutes later they were in the police patrol wagon on their way to the city and county building, where under a pre-arranged program they were to appear in the district court under similar procedure and accept their sentence.

The hurried incident of the morning was due to the anxiety of the two men to begin their term and "get it over with," after their ready confession, and the equal desire of the local authorities, after a week's strenuous work and the fruitless proffer of aid to the Ogden officials, to get the men off their hands. The two men were arraigned in Judge Bowman's chambers, personally charged with having struck Sweet, and charged with having struck Sweet, Cummings willingly pleaded guilty to the complaint as filed.

Rose also, pleaded guilty and both men were bound over to the district court in the hall of $2,000 each. From Judge J. M. Cummings in the city jail, and then to the jail office where they were given what few belongings had been taken from them. A minute or two later they were seated in the patrol wagon, accompanied by Chief of Detectives Sheets, Detective Geo. Chase, Deputy Sheriff Emery and Steele and Dist. Atty. Looftbourrow.

Within an hour this morning after leaving the city jail, Cummings and Rose were on their way to the state prison to serve a five-year sentence. When Judge Morris L. Ritchie pronounced the sentence, Cummings, who had been in the jail for less than 10 minutes, pressed a smile that played upon his heavy eyelids and during the proceedings, which lasted less than 10 minutes, Rose darted a furtive glance about the court room several times and seemed uneasy while the information was being read and the sentence was being pronounced.

SHORT SESSION OF COURT.

In order to get their case before Judge Ritchie it was necessary to get the consent of attorneys in a civil suit to allow an interruption. Mr. Looftbourrow, who had been in the jail for less than 10 minutes, pressed a smile that played upon his heavy eyelids and during the proceedings, which lasted less than 10 minutes, Rose darted a furtive glance about the court room several times and seemed uneasy while the information was being read and the sentence was being pronounced.

"Under these circumstances I recommend that they be sentenced to five years," District Attorney Looftbourrow said. "Well, what about Mr. Sweet? I would like to hear his version of the affair. Isn't he here?" Judge Ritchie inquired.

"No, he is not here," responded Mr. Looftbourrow, "but I have talked with him. He was confined to his bed for a couple of days, but he is out and around now attending to his work. He will say further that Mr. Sweet has been unable to positively identify his assailants and for this reason I have asked for a sentence of five years in each case."

Without further comment, Judge Ritchie asked the highwayman to stand up. When he asked them if they had anything to say they both replied in the negative and were sentenced. They were then turned over to Sheriff Joseph C. Shaw, who soon had them on their way to the state prison.

During the entire proceeding nothing was said of their past record. The assigned confessions were read and duplicated in the Utah Hot Springs hold-up where one man was shot, the robbery of the Bamberger depot in Ogden and numerous other crimes were not mentioned.

COURT NEWS

STOLE MARCH ON WIFE.

Arnoldus Shows His Decree of Divorce
To the Court.

In answer to his wife's suit for divorce, Hans J. Arnoldus, formerly proprietor of the Daily hotel on east Third South street, stated yesterday that he had obtained a decree of divorce from her in the district court of Big Horn county, Wyo., on May 11, 1909. He filed a certified copy of the decree to prove his statement, and will ask that her suit for divorce be dismissed.

This came as a surprise to Mrs. Isabelle A. Arnoldus, who secured an order of the court after she had filed her suit, commanding him to pay her $50 a month alimony. The ground on which he obtained his decree was adultery, and she charged him with desertion in her complaint.

They were married at Mantl on Jan. 24, 1894, and have three children. Arnoldus says that he intends to contribute to the support of the children who are now with the mother. Since May 15 last, he alleges that he has given $150 to their support.

MRS. CARESWELL'S CARES.

Mrs. Lottie Carewell seeks a divorce from her husband, Alfred R. Carewell, on the ground of non-support. She filed her complaint in the Third district court. She asks for alimony, but does not name the amount, attorney fees and the custody of a son. They were married in Salt Lake on April 26, 1899.

STOCKADE BOBS UP AGAIN.

The Rio Grande Lumber company brought suit against the Citizens' Investment company to foreclose a lien for material furnished in building the Utah West Side stockade. Besides the Citizens' Investment company, the Salt Lake Security & Trust company, O. M. Engdahl, the contractor, Fred A. Anderson, John Cheesley, creditors of the company, and Herman J. Mundt, the present owner of the property, are named as the defendants. The amount involved in the suit is $134,041 for material furnished by the lumber company.

SMELTER SMOKE DAMAGES.

Alma L. Hogenon and his wife, Mrs. May Hogenon, filed separate suits yesterday in the Third district court, against the United States Smelting company and the Utah Consolidated Mining company to recover for damages which have been done to their crops by smelter smoke. The damages in the case against the United States Smelting company is placed at $1,669.15 and the plaintiff demands $1,334.80 from the Utah Consolidated Mining company.

HUSBAND HAD A SHOTGUN.

John H. Gilbert is charged with assault with a deadly weapon in a complaint issued at the request of his wife, Mrs. Hattie M. Gilbert, by the county attorney. The complaint alleges that Gilbert threatened to kill her with a shotgun which he leveled at her last Wednesday. The Gilberts conduct the Colonial hotel in west First South street.

THE POLICE COURT GRIND.

Jack Burkette, whose arrest followed disclosures made in the trial of Anthony Woods upon a statutory charge in which John E. Evelyn, gardener, was the principal witness, was arraigned this morning, but asked until tomorrow to plead. Woods' hearing was again continued this morning until tomorrow in order to permit further investigation.

J. G. Gilbert denied this morning that he had threatened his wife, Hattie M. Gilbert, with a loaded shotgun a couple of days ago, but will have to wait until Aug. 3 to prove it. In the meantime in default of $500 bail he will think the matter over in the seclusion of Sheriff Shaw's domicile.

They got Henry Prushell's goat today and the goat is tied up for six months. Henry is the fellow who denied that he was a vagrant and wasted some of the day or four days of Prosecutor Rogers' time before the latter was willing to admit that Prushell was no vagrant. Of course the department always feels rather nervous when their plans go awry, and Henry's lingering in town after his discharge gave them another chance. That is, the chance was all for the department and Prosecutor Rogers, the latter to make good, but no chance for the defendant. In the last instance of the charge of vagrancy against Prushell his only chance to accept six months in the city jail.

Police society note—Police Judge Bowman is still a guest of the police department. He is to be seen both before and after the daily court sessions visiting and chatting with the chief or his lieutenants. Mr. E. A. Rogers, the assistant city attorney, also frequently drops in before and after the daily court sessions. Judge Bowman was petulant this morning and just because J. F. Hamilton, while in a hilarious mood, had, according to some of the bystanders, of the city, spoken too loudly, the court slapped Hamilton on the wrist with a 10-pound weight, measured either in dollars or days.

Police society note—A couple of days ago on a charge of indecent conduct, of which he may or may not be guilty. At any rate when his case was called yesterday he took the statutory time in which to plead. This morning he pleaded not guilty, and although ready for trial he will have to lie in jail until Aug. 11, because city Prosecutor Rogers failed to have his two witnesses present, because with the onerous burdens of his court duties, which require on the average a couple of hours a day, and maybe because he didn't want to try the case at present, the prosecutor asked that the date be set for Aug. 11, and that the defendant be held under $500 bail. As the defendant cannot provide that amount of money, he will have to wait the pleasure and convenience of the youthful attorney.

William Small, a waiter in a State street cafe, who was tried yesterday on a charge of having sold liquor after midnight and found guilty, was sentenced today to pay a fine of $200 or serve 200 days in jail. A stay of execution of sentence was granted until tomorrow.

LOCAL MARKETS

The local markets are in receipt of a car of onions, and a car of watermelons from California. The market is well supplied with watermelons, wholesaling at 2 1/2 to 3 cents, and retailing at 30 to 40 cents. Tomatoes are in good demand with Utahs arriving. The market is easy on lemons, the large size selling at low prices, the regulation sizes holding their own. There are plenty of bananas, which are selling well, as small fruits are so high that people are substituting bananas. Sweet corn is in the market, selling at 25 cents per dozen. The early consignments of grapes too are in fair demand. Eggs are stiffening, owing to the continued scarcity. The prices obtaining today are as follows:
