"On Wheels" Advertisements.

Chief of Police Pratt has received a good many complaints, especially from ladies who are accustomed to driving the family hack about the city during afternoons and evenings, on account of the large, grotesque "on wheels" advertisements that are being driven through the principal streets. The grievance is to the effect that these unsightly and ridiculous contraptions are constantly frightening horses. Already there have been several narrow escapes from serious injury from this source. Besides being a terror to high spirited city horses, teams from the country are made unmanageable and the aged says that the nuisance has prevailed too long and must now be stopped.

INSANITY FROM TEA DRINKING.

RARELY PREPARED TEA A CAUSE OF MENTAL FAILURE IN IRELAND.

A report upon insanity in Ireland, which for just fifteen years, enumerates among the causes of mental failure the injurious dosing of the poorer population, tending to produce anæmia and constitutional weakness, which favor the development of arteriosclerosis and nervous disease, and the immoderate use of certain nervous stimulants, particularly tea and tobacco.

"While the moderate use of properly prepared tea," the report adds, "is regarded as innocuous, at even considerable in its action on the nervous system, in Ireland it is almost invariably over-infused, the persons who make it their staple beverage at dinner are drinking of almost all the medicinal properties of the tea leaf, and most medical superintendents in their annual reports. Undoubtedly the method of preparation adopted, and the excessive use of this article of diet, now so general among our poorer population, leads to the production of dyspepsia, which in its turn leads to abuse of Nature's remedy, highly intoxicating in its properties of various kinds of narcotic stimulants.

"In many parts of Ireland it has been noted that those who have been emaciated for months or years, and of insufficient vital power, and the contrast of apparently is to put a quantity in the pot early in the morning and allow it to stew during the day, water being added as required."—London Standard.
